The statement we have laid before you, the General Manager's comments thereon and his suggestions as to our future, strike the keynote for most things that can be said about Canada during the past year. We are recovering from the world-wide stringency of 1907 almost too rapidly, and in marked contrast to the years following the panic of 1893. We certainly are not able to discover all the reasons for the remarkable difference between the two periods, but prominent among them, doubtless, are the celerity with which the trading nations of the world now act together when a money stringency arises, the continued large production of gold and the fact that there has been no general re-adjustment of prices, and therefore comparatively few failures. In the case of Canada there are some additional reasons. We are now fairly well advertised in Europe and still better in the United States, and we represent Opportunity to many of those who have energy out of proportion to their surroundings. This is attracting the immigrant as fast as we can settle him, the capitalist seeking industrial ventures, and still more, the capitalist seeking securities. The first of these two classes of capitalists still comes mainly from the United States, and the second from Europe, but they are not quite so sharply divided as heretofore. With a very large number of new settlers, many new industries and abundant capital, we needed only good crops and the prevailing high prices for food stuffs to accelerate our usual rate of progress.

During the early part of the year the volume of business was considerably smaller than usual and profits were much lessened thereby, but apparently our industries have not had as much to bear in these respects as those of the United States. Prices and the volume of trade, here and in the United States, have both improved until conditions are now, doubtless, almost as favourable as before the stringency. These facts are, of course, reflected in our clearing house returns and in the totals of our foreign trade. The total bank clearings of the fourteen Canadian clearing houses for 1909 are $5,204,000,000, against $4,-142,000,000 in 1908—a gain of 25 per cent. over 1908 and of 20 per cent. over the previous high record of 1907. In 1901 the figures for the eight clearing houses then existing were $1,871,000,000, and, comparing this with the same cities in 1909, the growth has been 150 per cent. in eight years. During this period the growth in Montreal has been 110 per cent., in Toronto 140 per cent., in Winnipeg 474 per cent., and in Vancouver 515 per cent. In 1909 Montreal represented 35.8 per cent. of the whole clearings, Toronto 27.6 per cent., Winnipeg 14.8 per cent., and Vancouver 5.5 per cent.

The total value of the field crops of Canada, at local market prices, is placed by the Census Department at $532,892,000 gathered from 30,866,-556 acres, as compared with $432,534,-000 gathered from 27,605,563 acres in the previous year.

Judged by the figures for the half-year ending September, 1909, our foreign trade has apparently almost reached the record figures of the year ending March, 1908, the intervening year having indicated the extent to which our trade was restricted by the stringency in money and by other causes. The record figures of the fiscal year ending March, 1908, were:—imports $370,731,000, exports $250,-066,000, a total of $650,797,000, the excess of imports being $90,736,000. For the year ending March, 1909, the imports were $309,674,000, the exports $261,512,000, a total of $571,186,000, the excess of imports being only $48,-162,000. For the six months ending September, 1909, the imports were $183,534,000, an increase over 1908 of $34,084,000; the exports $131,189,-000, a gain of $12,483,000. The excess of imports in the six months was enlarged by $21,601,000, so that the tendency to improvement in that respect has passed for the time being. It is worth while to compare the total foreign trade of 1908, $650,797,000, with that of 1888, $204,475,000, and that of 1889, $201,097,000.

The basis of our trade relations with Great Britain has been improving, leaving out of account the abnormal year ending March, 1909. Taking the years 1901, 1902 and 1903 together, for every $25 of products exported to Great Britain we received $15 in goods and $20 in cash. During the years 1906, 1907 and 1908, for every $39 of products exported we received $25 in goods and only $14 in cash. As we look to England to buy almost all of the securities with the proceeds of which we pay for our surplus of imports, and as practically all of the cash received both for surplus exports to Great Britain and for securities sold goes to pay the United States, any improvement in our imports from Great Britain at least tends to make the situation less one-sided. When we turn to our trade with the United States there is no improvement in the proportion between exports and imports. In the years 1901, 1902 and 1903, for every $38 of goods imported from the United States we sent to that country $31 in products and paid $17 in cash. During the years 1906, 1907 and 1908, for every $63 of goods imported we sent them $31.50 in products and paid them $30.50 in cash. It is well also to note that the increase of our exports to Great Britain in the short period used for comparison is as $39 to $35, while the increase of our imports from the United States is as $63 to $38. It would, undoubtedly, be wise for the United States to take payment to a greater extent in products, and we can afford to smile at threats of disturbance to such a total of trade as they enjoy with us. The discussion in the United States of the Payne tariff bill shows no disposition on their part to take a broader view of their relations with us; indeed, quite the reverse, if we are to judge by the power to any us given to the Executive of the United States. But the fact that we intend to manage our natural resources in our own way, to favour Great Britain in our tariff relations, and to make such trade arrangements as we choose with other countries which are disposed in turn to treat us well, will be accepted, and the great and rapidly growing trade between Canada and the United States will not be seriously checked, as it was in other days of tariff manipulation, when we were not so important as trading neighbours.

Ontario and Quebec.

The year has been a prosperous one for the farmers of Ontario and Quebec. Despite much unfavorable weather, the crops were, as a whole, above the average and brought excellent prices. The agricultural areas, the weather conditions and the nature of the crops vary so much in these Provinces that the yield has ranged from scanty to abundant, but there seems to be no district in which general prosperity among the farmers is not admitted, and in which this is not shown by their power to buy and to pay debts. The value of the field crops of Ontario and Quebec for 1909 as given by the Census Department was $290,469,000. In some districts steady improvement in farming is clearly evident. More attention is paid to tile-draining, the destruction of weeds, rotation of crops, good seed and manuring than ever before, and where the farming is at its best, the yield per acre of grain is not only increasing but puts to shame most other parts of North America. In other districts, however, the profits of farming are not what they should be, and it is hard to keep the young men from going to the West. Notwithstanding the world's high prices for wheat and the large yield per acre in these provinces, the quantity of wheat grown in them will, doubtless, lessen in proportion to other products, and even now there is very little to sell. The farmer finds his profit more and more in dairying, the raising of cattle, horses, hogs, fruit, vegetables for canning, poultry, etc. We do some things, however, badly. We could supply the world with the finest apples, and well-ordered orchards pay an unusually handsome return, but as a rule everything in the apple business, from the care of the trees to the landing of the fruit in Europe, is done in a more or less shiftless manner. On the other hand there are districts where direct attention is given to fruit-growing, and in these there is a marked improvement and the great value of these products is being realized. We have in our West and elsewhere great markets for horses, but we do not try very hard to improve the breeding, although we know that everything in the end depends on that. And as to breeding, the same may be said of those who rear cattle.

Because of the great increase in Western and other home consumption of articles produced on Eastern farms, our exports of certain articles—noticeably dairy products—are falling off. This falling off is much to be regretted, as greater energy would apparently have enabled us to supply both markets more completely. It seems, indeed true that in very many parts of Eastern Canada, while the money result makes the farmer comfortable, the land is not being worked to the best advantage, and the product must be less in quantity than in the past. Where the farming represents the high intelligence of our agricultural colleges, conditions are better than ever before and the outlook is excellent; but where intelligence is not so great, and especially where the land does not respond readily to cultivation, conditions are not improving, and we fear this statement applies to a larger area in Eastern Canada than does the more favorable one. From the less prosperous districts men are still going to the West, and in all parts of Eastern Canada an ever-present trouble is the lack of sufficient farm labor. This causes many kinds of difficulties, besides the obvious effect on the volume and cost of production. Indeed, we cannot have the best possible farming even where intelligence is at its highest, because every farmer finds himself forced to adjust his scheme of farming to the labor he can secure. Intensive farming would be best for the country as a whole, because by it the largest gross value per acre would be produced, and the farmer would thus have more to spend on labor and supplies; but scarcity of labor makes him turn grazier, so that he may get a satisfactory net profit with the least outlay possible for labor and supplies. On the other hand it has brought about an extraordinary advance in labor-saving farm machinery.

Partial drought and high prices have apparently lessened the number of animals on Ontario farms. As compared with 1908 the Government returns to 1st July show diminished numbers in milch cows and other cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, and only in horses is the number larger. The shipments of apples from Montreal were 581,000 barrels, the average for ten years being 445,000. The export of butter has nearly ceased, the shipments from the same port being 39,000 packages, against 578,000 in 1906, the collapse in 1907 being clearly maintained. A very largely increased home demand will hardly explain this. In cheese the shipments were 1,873,000 boxes, worth $17,826,-000, the average for five years being 1,996,000 boxes, worth $18,417,000. We used to explain the fall from the high figures of 1903 by the development of the production of butter, but now we must admit that we have less dairy products to export than formerly, whatever be the cause. At the same time, Great Britain does not need our dairy products as much as formerly. New Zealand, which five years ago supplied only 4 per cent. of the cheese imported from the colonies, now supplies 20 per cent. Notwithstanding improved facilities, grain exports are smaller than in 1907 and 1908, being 27,959,000 bushels, against an average for five years of 25,143,000 bushels. In flour, however, there is a large increase, the shipments being 1,713,-000 sacks and 210,000 barrels, against 1,128,000 sacks and 167,000 barrels in 1908. Live stock shipments are smaller than in any recent year, but for several reasons the figures do not illustrate the trade as a whole. The Harbor Commissioners are steadily improving the facilities of the port of Montreal, with the hope of making it the foremost port on this continent. The volume of shipments from Montreal and of inland shipments through the Lachine Canal both show a gratifying increase over 1908.

In manufacturing the conditions are very satisfactory, having regard to the recent check. As the year advanced, there was a steady increase in orders, with an improvement in prices. Not many new factories were built, but additions to existing plants were quite numerous. There are, of course, exceptions, but at the close of the year the majority of the factories in Ontario and Quebec were working at full time, many had increased their output over all past records, and nearly all have the promise of a larger volume of business in 1910 than ever before, orders from the West being unprecedentedly large in many lines. There has been great expansion in the volume of trade in steel, iron and metal goods of all kinds, with a considerable increase in prices. Flour milling has been abnormally profitable. In lumber the cut of pine this year has apparently been completely sold, and higher grades of lumber sell readily, but in box lumber and in lower grades the market still needs some improvement. The outlook as a whole is very good. The new cut of logs will be dearer than that of the previous year, because of a recovery in the wages of the men. The most important event of the year in connection with our forests was the action of the Government of the Province of Quebec in connection with the export of pulp wood with a view to the preservation of the great forest areas of that Province. Much activity in building is general throughout the greater part of Canada, and in the smaller cities as well as the larger ones business properties are being sold at prices which would have been very surprising a few years ago. To a satisfactory extent these sales represent investments of capital unaccompanied by mortgages for part of the purchase money.

The mining business of Ontario centres at Cobalt, and here the production is the largest on record. The growth of this mining camp is sufficiently remarkable to make the figures for the last six years interesting. The value of the production has been as follows:

1905	1,405,570
1906	3,573,905
1907	6,156,891
1908	9,133,879
1909 (estimated)	12,000,000
	$32,484,464

Taking into consideration the ore reserves in sight and without reference to the effect of the price of silver, the output of Cobalt alone may maintain this high level, or thereabouts, for a few years. Of the various other areas being either prospected or developed, little of a definite character can be said. Many millions have been spent in the work, but as yet practically no shipments have been made, although a moderate supply of ore awaits shipment at Gowganda. Lack of transportation facilities and the other great physical difficulties of work in the north country must make development slow, but eventually other camps of importance besides Cobalt will, doubtless, arise. There have been apparently important discoveries of gold in the townships of Whitney and Tisdale, about 150 miles north-west of Cobalt. In the meantime silver has become the mineral of second importance in Canadian production, having displaced copper, nickel and gold, and standing, according to the figures for 1908, in relation to coal as 12.6 does to 29.6. On the basis of our figures for 1908, we have now moved to the third position among the world's producers of silver, having displaced Australasia. This is the highest position we can hope to hold, as our production is still small beside that of Mexico and the United States. While the silver market was rather uncertain during the year, the price remained about the same until December, when the market showed a hardening tendency. The world's production has increased from 43 million ounces in 1888 to 109 millions in 1898 and 200 millions in 1908. This is not remarkable in comparison with other products, but the price has fallen from $1.32 per ounce in 1888, to 94 cents in 1898, and 53 cents in 1908. The total value of all minerals produced in Canada in 1908, as shown by the preliminary government report, was $87,822,000.

At the end of 1909 business generally in Ontario and Quebec, whether in manufacturing, ordinary trading in merchandise, building, dealing in real estate, mining, selling of bonds and securities, or otherwise, is distinctly active, and accompanied by increasing prices and larger volume in most articles. The legitimate basis for this state of affairs is our excellent crops and an easy money market. But the very activity of business will cause the easy money to disappear and the high prices are already causing a speculative tendency, which is sure, as usual, to end in loss and disappointment to many.

Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

We have, as you already know, another year of great prosperity to record for the Prairie Provinces. The spring in Manitoba was cold and backward, but good weather in May and June gave the crops as good a position at the end of June as in 1908, when the spring was early and favourable. In Saskatchewan and Alberta the spring conditions gave everything a good start, but July and August were very dry and the yield suffered because of too quick ripening. Southern Alberta suffered severely from winter-killing of wheat—as high as 60 to 75 per cent. in some parts—but this loss was largely repaired by re-seeding in the spring. In August there were further losses by frost and hail, and this part of the province did not bear out the first crop estimates, although the total results were fairly good. In August we published the estimate of our Superintendent of Central Western Branches, based upon reports from nearly 400 correspondents. This was as follows:—

Wheat	118,979,000 bushels
Oats	167,587,000 bushels
Barley	24,324,000 bushels

In this estimate allowance was made for shrinkage by rain, heat, hail, frost or other adverse conditions. The country, however, had ideal autumn weather, and some carefully made estimates now put the wheat yield as high as 130,000,000 to 135,000,000 bushels. Our estimates for other grains seem likely to be confirmed. The flax crop, to which we do not always refer, is this year about 2,-500,000 bushels, and because of the abnormal price will bring the farmers about $4,500,000. The grain crops are high in quality, 80 to 95 per cent. being suitable for milling. The grain crops altogether are the largest in quantity and in value ever harvested in these provinces, and the total result in money will be from $155,000,-000 to $160,000,000. The Census Department's estimate of the value of all field crops, cereals, roots, grasses, vegetables, etc., for the three provinces, is $192,339,000.

We cannot report very good prospects for the next season. It has been dry in the West for three or four months, and in consequence the ground is hard, making fall ploughing difficult. Unless the spring is early and favourable we cannot expect as large an increase in acreage as would otherwise be the case. These conditions should result more adversely in Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan than elsewhere, because of the greater need of moisture in these parts of the West.

As we have tried to emphasize regarding Eastern Canada, the country as a whole is deeply interested in the largest gross product from each acre of land, because every dollar not saved by the farmer is spent in Canada in labour and merchandise. The average farmer, however, will not adopt new methods beyond the point which gives him comfort, financially and otherwise. And so, because the pressure of population is slight and the rest of the world at the moment pays high prices for food-stuffs, we do not, except in a few isolated districts, raise from each acre nearly as much as we would if the pressure of necessity were upon us. When this means neglect of the land, as, indeed, it generally does, we may be sure that some day we shall be punished for it. Few farmers in the West take enough trouble in preparing the ground for the crop, weeds are getting a hold upon the country which will in the next generation cause the children to pay harsh things of their fathers, the land is not rested by changing crops or restored by fertilisers to any reasonable extent, and as yet the side profits from such useful adjuncts to grain crops as cattle, horse, sheep and hog raising, dairying, poultry farming, etc., are little in evidence, except in particular districts, where marked success has attended dairying and stock raising. Even if the present money result was no greater, mixed farming, in which the crops are partly used on the farm to feed stock, would so sustain the value of the land for grain growing as to pay handsomely in the long run.

Summing up the trade conditions for these provinces, it may safely be said that, as in the East, the volume of trade has increased as the year progressed, and that the level of 1908 has doubtless been reached by almost all trades, while many are doing a larger business than ever before. The extent to which retail trading is being done on a cash basis is gratifying, and in marked contrast to the early years of settlement in the eastern provinces.

The motion for the adoption of the Report was then put and carried. A resolution authorising the Directors to establish a fund to provide for the widows and orphans of deceased officers was submitted to the shareholders and passed. The usual resolutions expressing the thanks of the shareholders to the President, Vice-President and Directors, and also to the General Manager, Superintendent of Branches and other officers of the Bank were unanimously carried. Upon motion the meeting proceeded to elect Directors for the coming year, and then adjourned.

The scrutineers subsequently reported the following gentlemen to be elected as Directors for the ensuing year: B. E. Walker, C.V.O., LL.D.; Robert Kilgour, Hon. George A. Cox, James Crathern, John Hoskin, K.C., LL.D.; J. W. Flavelle, LL.D.; A. Kingman, Hon. L. Melvin Jones, Hon. W. C. Edwards, E. A. Lash, K.C., LL.D.; H. R. Wood, Hon. J. M. Gibson, K.C., LL.D.; William Mackenzie, Robert Stuart.

At a meeting of the newly elected Board of Directors held subsequently Mr. B. E. Walker was elected President and E. A. Lash Vice-President.

SAILING BACK from the PAST of CRIME AND TORTURE

FAMOUS Old Prison Ship Success, After 120 Years of Varied Adventure, May Visit America, Next Summer

By Paul Eve Stevenson

From Shipping Illustrated.

NO full rigged sailing ship that ever sailed the seas in all her stateliness could deserve the epithet of harpy of the deep, however sordid and abject were her later life. Nothing could deprive her of her pristine glory of slender spars and snowy royals, and the mind's eye can follow her across the Trades, heeling slightly as the balmy wind makes love to her.

But that valiant old full rigger, the Success, falls as nearly under the ban of opprobrium as an old time windjammer possibly can. The Success may visit the shores of the United States during the coming summer, and if she does she will furnish persons with congratulatory thoughts that they did not live in the days that brought all but dishonor on the brave old East Indiamen.

And East Indiaman she veritably is in more ways than one, for not alone did she tread the China Seas in the earning of her daily bread but she was built in the famous seaport of Moulmein, where the old pagoda looks eastward to the sea and the Burmah girls are supposed to be always thinking of you. But to her mid life the Success turned aside from her pleasant trade in tea and spice, and for year on year was given over to the harboring of convicts in Australia. And so she sank low from her high estate and dwelt in the midst of clamor and riot, a prison ship whose massive wooden walls re-echoed with the imprecations of tortured unfortunates.

One hundred and twenty years have passed since this stout old ship left the ways in the Moulmein yard, the most wonderful specimen of naval architecture that probably ever spread her canvas to the breeze. In actual size she is not great, as ships go in these days, measuring only 580 gross tons. But she was built like a ship of the line and her sides at the bilges were two feet six inches thick. Thirty inches of solid, time defying Eastern teak, and her breast hooks were like the trunks of the redwoods. On her quarter galleries were spread exquisite carvings, the fruits of the fancies of Burmese artists, and gilded shields and beaded fields of chiselled wonders shone along her bulwarks. The golden balls that crowned her trucks glistened in the tropic sun and the figurehead of a maiden smiled down at the blue sea.

For many years this wonderful ship transported tea from China to the British Isles, and as the Eastern waters were in those days infested with pirates of the most bloodthirsty sort, the Success was pierced for seven heavy guns, the evidences of which still may be found about her decks. It called for stout hearts to sail those turquoise seas that suddenly would swarm with Malay miscreants, and many a running fight the old Success endured, as with wetted sails she courted the sluggish monsoon breeze.

Nor were Eastern pirates the only foes the vessel found, for her hull to this day holds shot marks from a French privateer in the Bay of Bengal in 1815, while the iron Duke surveyed the slow destruction of Napoleon while a great dent in the mainmast—the original shot—bears witness to the marksmanship of the gunners of Fort William at Calcutta. There was a mutiny of the crew and a confusion of signals, and in the little bombardment from the fort one man was killed and several were wounded.

Disgrace Comes to Her.

This seems to have marked the beginning of her change of fife, for in 1839 the Success was chartered by the British Admiralty to carry settlers to Western Australia, a very different livelihood from the conveying of tea and nutmeg and other grateful condiments from the Spice Islands. Shortly afterward, though, she resumed her regular trading, but in 1847 she reverted to her passenger traffic and carried emigrants from Great Britain to Port Adelaide, Australia. This life suited her so well that she descended further and carried convicts from the dreaded Botany Bay to Tasmania in 1849, the days of our California gold stampede. Then she sailed to England, only to return once more to the old, wild life of Australia; and when she entered Melbourne Harbor on May 24, 1852, she ended forever her career as a merchant ship.

As wooden vessels go she was then approaching old age, having attained the antiquity of upward of sixty years. But so sound and scathless were her timbers and planking that when she finally lay moored fore and aft at Melbourne she was sixty years young, with less than half of her life behind her, and she is nearly as sound to-day as when she left the ways in Moulmein. Wrinkled, perhaps, but still game and cheerful in soul, the old ship cherishes her youthful grace, which, if all goes well, she will exhibit to us in a few short months.

When the Success anchored in Melbourne Harbor, in 1852, the gold mania had just developed in Australia. Men were gold-mad. They deserted their homes and families in quest of the soft, sulphur colored nuggets that nestled in the sands of Ballarat. Murder and arson rioted together, and human life was cheap and doubtful. Therefore when the Success had let go her mudhooks in the harbor all hands voted to abandon ship; so master, men and passengers immediately and permanently forsook her for the golden gravel of the uplands.

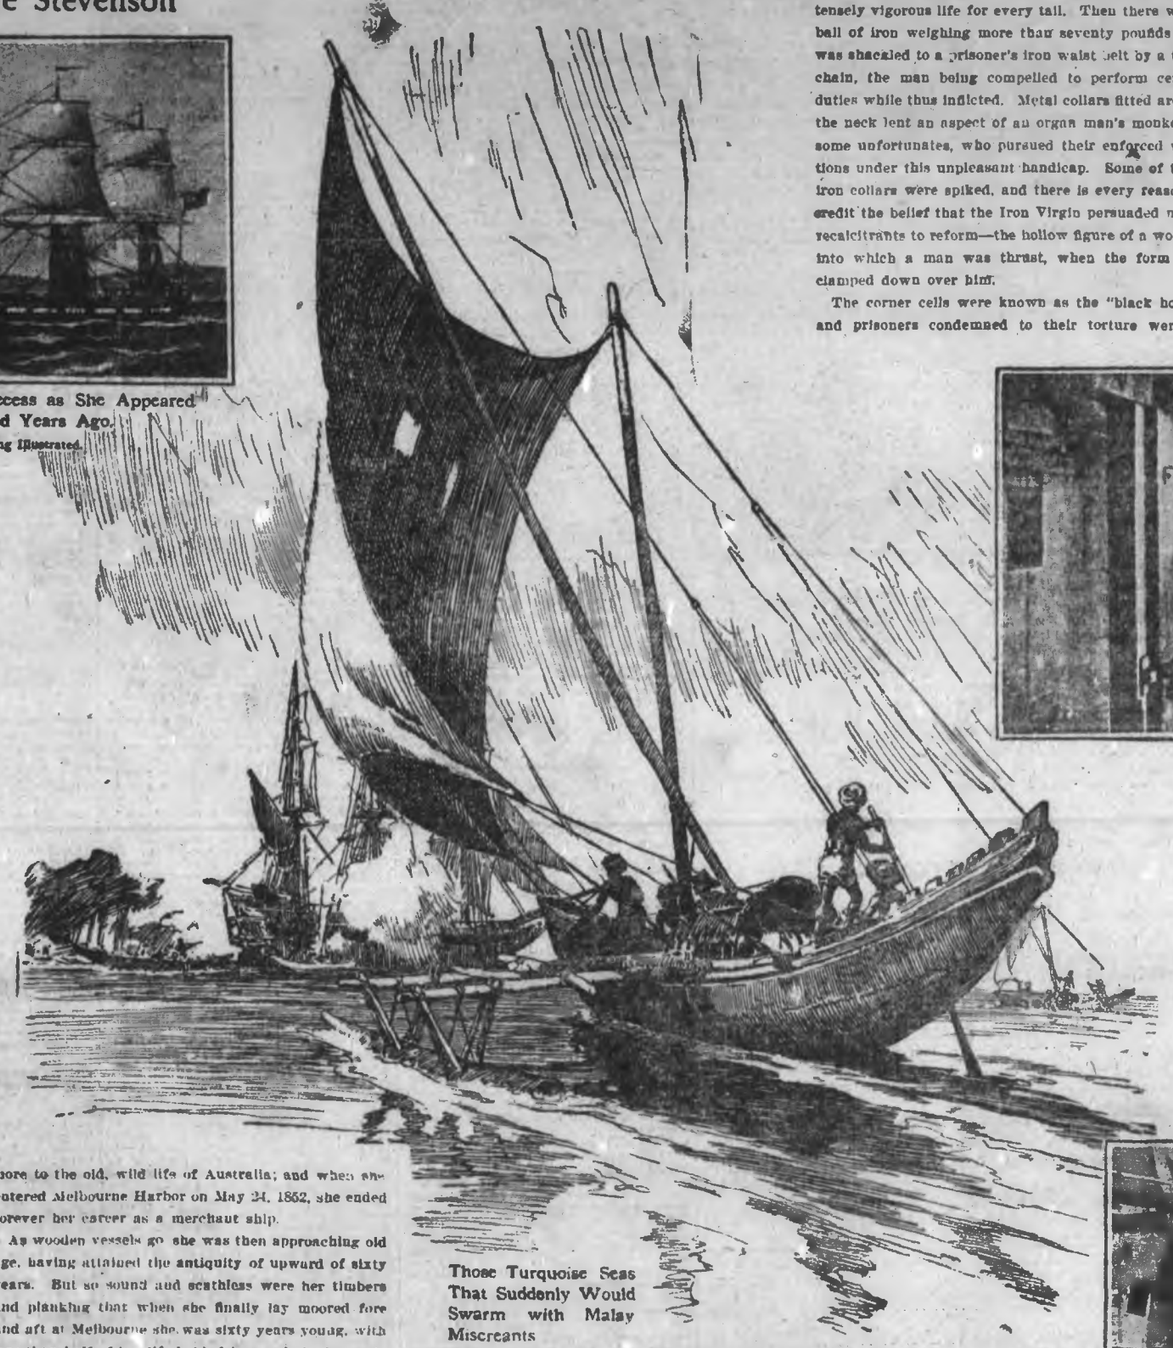
Deserted thus perhaps the old ship was not so much to blame for her impending fall, for she was offered by her owners for sale to the highest bidder, which happened to be the government of Victoria, Australia. Jails were scarce in the diggings, and the wildest scum of men answered the call of the gold, and bullets were better and quicker than words. So the old Success was bought by the colonial government and fitted with cells from keel to deck. Seventy-two of them were built into the ship, with accommodations for 120 convicts. The galley was shifted from amidships to the forecastle head and flanked on either side by a sinister sentry box, whence, from day to day, violent guests might be conveniently picked off.

Besides these precautions twenty-seven warders were installed, none being chosen because of his gentle temperament. Vertical iron ladders were by an error erected, connecting the upper and lower decks, for prisoners were never able to make use of them by reason of the weight of their fetters.

When necessity arose, which was presumably not particularly frequent, the convicts were hoisted on deck in squads of five or six by means of a winch. Which, being interpreted, means that a batch of men were linked together, an iron hook was snapped under the chain that bound them and they were "broken out" of the hold like ordinary cargo.

Whether these were prisoners hoisted into the fresh air to prevent their dying on the authorities' hands or whether they were newly freed convicts history does not divulge. If the latter, it is reasonable to imagine that they were more careful in the future, for what the interior of the Success must have been staggers the imagination.

Most of the cells were devoid of light, no provision of any sort being made for it. In these caves many prisoners lost their sight forever. After months, possibly years of total darkness, their eyes, like those of the sightless fish in the abysms of the Mammoth Cave, went out, and when the sun's light once more struck their faces there came no answering gush of joy.



Those Turquoise Seas That Suddenly Would Swarm with Malay Miscreants

Such was the number of desperate outlaws in the colonies that the Success never wanted for a complement of visitors, and at times they overran the "accommodations." A platform was accordingly built athwartships, considerably elevated, so as to command a full view of the vessel, which was paced day and night by sentries with orders to open fire on any prisoner who attempted to escape, and the grim record is handed down that "no prisoner was ever known to effect his escape."

Methods of punishment were apparently ingenious in the Australian colonies in the fifties. Refractory convicts were not likely to repeat their offences against the prison rules, although one of the corrections must have had a salutary result—that of the compulsory bath. This would not appear in the light of a dreaded penance, yet it is mentioned among the common methods of reducing criminals to a sense of the importance of their jailers.

For those among the convicts who insisted on free speech the gag was provided, and the cat-o'-nine tails always slept with one eye open, and she had an intensely vigorous life for every tail. Then there was a ball of iron weighing more than seventy pounds that was shackled to a prisoner's iron waist belt by a thick chain, the man being compelled to perform certain duties while thus inflicted. Metal collars fitted around the neck lent an aspect of an organ man's monkey to some unfortunates, who pursued their enforced vocations under this unpleasant handicap. Some of these iron collars were spiked, and there is every reason to credit the belief that the Iron Virgin persuaded many recalcitrants to reform—the hollow figure of a woman, into which a man was thrust, when the form was clamped down over him.

The corner cells were known as the "black holes," and prisoners condemned to their torture were so chained to the walls as to make it impossible either to stand or to lie flat. For many years the Success fulfilled her gloomy and repellent mission, and at some time or other she was the abiding place of most of the notorious criminals of the Australian gold diggings. The ship even to this day is hung with dismal mysteries, with man killing and every atrocity that is imaginable in the way of satanic punishments. Finally, so conspicuous did she become, so evil an odor arose from the noisome cells, that public sentiment in Australia turned against her. The convicts were transferred ashore to prisons properly constructed, and in 1857, the year of the Indian Mutiny, the Success was transformed into a prison for refractory seamen.

Matters were conducted in a much higher and more humane manner than before, and for three years she served as a sailors' jail, when she was again altered, this time into a woman's prison, and as such she was employed at Sandridge for eight years. In 1869 we find another shift of wind and she becomes a boys' reformatory, which ended her career of ignominy, for, although she was subsequently used as a store hulk by the Australian government, surely it is no disgrace to act as a warehouse for the people.

This seemed at one time to indicate the lifting of the curtain on the final act of the old ship's dramatic life and that the only work that remained for her to do on earth was the hoarding of stores and provisions. No one ever supposed that there still breathed within her the old time ambitions for a life of liberty in the trade winds and the jewelled tropical night. But they did not know how youthful she really was until she was bought by private capital and, greatly against the sentiment of Australians in general, she was fitted up for exhibition purposes and restored to her former estate as a convict ship.

Soon afterward she was scuttled and sunk in Sydney harbor by malicious persons, but was raised, and in 1895 the old ship once more faced the open sea and freedom. Under her own sail, this shy maid of 105 years started for London around the stormy Horn, once more a willing bride of the gray and hoary sea.

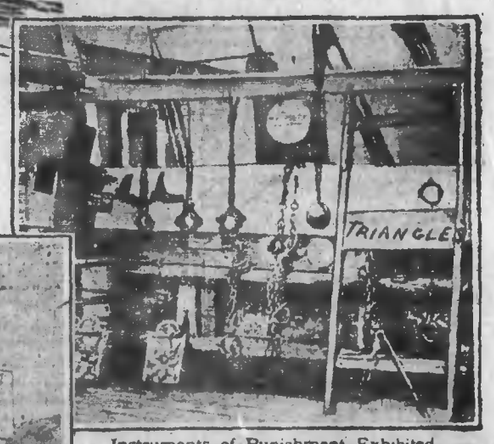
Cells on Lower Deck

Not a timber started during the passage of 165 days, though she rolled deep in the long arms of the southern ocean.

A Show Ship Now.

Since then, or for a matter of fifteen years, she has wandered from port to port in the British Isles for the purpose of exhibition. That she is yet sound enough to cross the Atlantic no one doubts, for her teak hull is harder than oak now from the curing process of more than a century; and if she comes to New York her oddly wrought Henry VIII. stern, with its square windows and great freeboard, is certain to attract all lovers of old fashioned ships.

Below she will be a model of what she was in the convict days of yore. More than that, she will hold many prisoners in captivity, though they will not live and breathe; for it is proposed to exhibit her here, as in England, with waxen effigies of convicts chained in their bunks to demonstrate most effectively just what these human beings suffered.



Instruments of Punishment Exhibited on Deck

In cell No. 64, on the middle deck, we will be able to refresh ourselves with the image of Frank Gardiner, a famous Australian bushranger, who served several years in the old ship and who, having been pardoned, went to San Francisco and conducted a thriving liquor business.

Then there will be a likeness of Inspector General Price, who so enshrined himself in the hearts of the convicts that they could not bear the thought of separation, so they killed him with some shovels in March, 1857.

George Loveless will also be there. He was transported from England for joining a trade union in violation of the law of 1834, but was pardoned after serving less than half of his sentence of seven years.

These three conspicuous former inmates of the ship will be exhibited in wax, together with two score or more of other figures, each illustrating in some manner life on the Success in the days of her abasement.

Visitors will view also the instruments of torture that were in actual use half a century ago and ponder on the upward trend of humanity since those ancient days.

All things considered, this wonderful maid of the sea is pretty certain to attract her share of attention next summer when she glides in through the and drops her anchor in the lower bay, the last of the ancient prison ships, the link that unites these days of ease with the raw red days of the past.

You can afford an Edison Phonograph

The price places it within reach of all. No family is too poor to have an Edison Phonograph. No family is too rich to enjoy it. Nothing that money can buy will furnish a greater range of amusement for every dollar invested.

Mr. Edison intended that his Phonograph should be within reach of everyone. He wishes to see it in every home. Prices range from $16.50 to $162.50. No one can buy a Phonograph cheaper than you can. No one should pay more for it.

The Edison Phonograph in your home would give it something that it now lacks—entertainment of the best sort at a small cost, always available and suited to everyone.

Do not forget these things. Remember that they are found only in the Edison Phonograph, because no other sound-reproducing machine is so perfect and so faultless. None other is made by the inventor of the Phonograph idea as the Edison Phonograph is.

ERRORS IN CREAM TESTING

From Farm and Dairy.

J. F. Singleton, Kingston, Ont.

Many patrons of creameries are either dissatisfied with the business, or indifferent to it. The dissatisfaction is largely over the testing of the cream and this is a problem which creamerymen must consider before long. In fact the trouble has become quite acute in some sections and one prominent creameryman has said that this is the most difficult problem with which creamerymen have to deal.

There is no uniformity among the different creameries in methods of testing. Some use the 17.6 c.c. pipette and do not rinse it after taking the sample; others rinse it after taking the sample and add the rinse water to the test bottle; others use the 18 c.c. pipette either rinsed or not. None are using the scales to weigh the sample. The difference between using a 17.6 c.c. pipette not rinsed and an 18 c.c. pipette rinsed, with the rinse water added to the test bottle, will make a marked difference in the reading of the same sample of cream.

TWO EVILS

This lack of uniformity, and this inaccuracy in testing has two evils. First, a correct comparison cannot be made between the price per pound of fat paid at different creameries, and secondly, any method of testing by means of a pipette will not do justice to the different patrons.

The creamery using the 17.6 c.c. pipette and not rinsing it does not credit the patrons with all the fat they deliver, consequently a higher over-run is obtained and an abnormally and fictitiously high average price per pound of fat is paid. The neighboring creamery may be using an 18 c.c. pipette and rinsing it after taking the sample. The over-run is not so high, neither is the price per pound of fat, but the patrons get as much money, other things being equal, in that they are credited with more pounds of fat. This causes dissatisfaction among patrons of both creameries, in the first creamery over the lowness of the test, and in the second creamery over the lowness of the price.

TEST BASED ON WEIGHTS

The Babcock test is based on weights and it is simply for convenience that we use a pipette in testing milk. Milk is fairly constant in weight so we can use the pipette in testing milk and get accurate results. But with cream we have an entirely different proposition, for it may vary in fat content from 11 per cent. to 50 per cent. or even higher. As fat is the lightest constituent of cream, the more fat cream contains the less will a given volume of cream weigh. This explains the inaccuracy of any pipette in testing cream. An 18 c.c. pipette rinsed and the rinse water added to the test bottle, will with a 27 per cent. cream deliver the correct weight into the test bottle. As the percentage of fat increases the sample becomes lighter and the test is too low, while as the percentage of fat decreases, the sample becomes too heavy, giving too high a test. This simply means that where a pipette is used in doing the testing, the man sending rich cream does not get paid for all the fat he sends, while the man sending cream containing less fat than 27 per cent. will get paid for more fat than he sends, and the greater the extremes the greater will the error be.

PREMIUM ON THIN CREAM

The patron is advised by creamerymen and instructors to get the test up somewhere between 30 per cent. and 35 per cent. and this has many advantages, yet the testing is done in such a way as to put a premium on low testing cream. The remedy for this is to use the scales and weigh each sample into the test bottle and each patron will get paid for what he sends. The use of the scales in cream testing will do away with much of the friction with and dissatisfaction among creamery patrons.

The sampling is usually quite accurately done by the hauler, but the samples do not in some cases receive the attention they should at the creamery. The samples should be warmed up occasionally and the preservative mixed with the fresh cream. They should also be kept well corked for if left unworked, moisture evaporates, leaving the test too high. This has no doubt been responsible for some low over-runs.

WINTER-KILLING OF SWOLLAN BUDS

From Farm and Dairy.

W. T. Macoun, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa

During the latter part of winter when the sun is beginning to get strong and when some days are quite warm there is often a premature swelling of buds, especially of the cherry, plum and peach. This warm spell may be followed by cold weather and there may be several such changes before spring. The buds being swollen and more or less active are more subject to injury from frost and changes than the dormant buds and the result is that they are killed. Great injury is often caused in the peach districts by the killing of swollen buds, and in the province of Quebec injury to the buds of plums and cherry is no doubt done when they are in this condition.

It was thought that if the ground could be kept frozen about the trees it would prevent the buds from swelling as the roots would thus be kept in an inactive condition, but it has been proved over and over again that this has no effect whatever in delaying the swelling of the buds. The expanding of the willow buds in our swamps before ice is gone is a good example of how buds will develop while the roots may yet be in a frozen condition. There is sufficient sap in the tree to supply the buds and even the leaves when they first expand and when the temperature about the top of the tree is high enough, growth begins.

Swelling of buds can be prevented by bending over the trees as suggested (in a previous issue) to prevent killing of dormant buds, but this could not very well be done on a large scale.

A few years ago experiments were conducted at the Missouri Station to determine if whitewashing the trees would retard the buds, the principle being used that white surfaces do not absorb heat as readily as darker ones. It was found that the whitewashing did retard the buds and in the case of peaches would sometimes prevent injury from frost. An experiment was tried at Ottawa in whitewashing plums and cherries, and it was found that it retarded the swelling of the buds. This means of prevention is not, however, a very practicable one as it is difficult to get the whitewash to cover the branches well for a long period. After further investigations at the Missouri Station it was found that the buds of varieties of peaches having the lightest colored twigs required higher temperatures to cause them to swell than those with darker colored twigs, and the former suffered less from killing than the latter. Not having in these lighter-twigged varieties the kinds of peaches required for commercial purposes the Missouri Station is now at work breeding good varieties with light colored twigs.

SAVE ALL WOOD ASHES

From Farm and Dairy.

The ash dealer who makes his rounds through the country bartering soap for ashes should not be encouraged. Ashes that are valuable to him, would be worth much more on the farm whereon they were produced. Unleached wood ashes contain a large percentage of potash. This potash furthermore is in a soluble form and, therefore, quite available to plant roots. Wood ashes contain anywhere from five to ten per cent. of potash; perhaps an average of ten per cent. Many farmers do not recognize the value of this fertilizer, else they would never allow it to be wasted, as is often the case, or to be sold from the farm.

Experiments conducted by the Ontario Agricultural College have shown that an application of potash to the soil has given marked beneficial results. Various authorities on agricultural chemistry recommend wood ashes as one of the chief correctives for soil acidity. Several experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College have shown wood ashes to almost double the crop on swamp lands.

Besides the potash contained, good wood ashes will also contain from one to two per cent. of phosphoric acid, which is also of great value, particularly as this constituent influences the maturity of the plant and the production of seed or grain. Lime is also a constituent of wood ashes, the percentage of which will vary, but, perhaps, on an average, wood ashes will contain somewhere about ten per cent. The market price for potash and phosphoric acid is about five cents a pound. From these figures, anyone may estimate fairly closely the value per bushel of wood ashes. It is readily apparent that it is highly desirable that wood ashes should be retained on the farm.

Our soils cannot afford to lose the enormous quantities of valuable wood ashes that are annually gathered and exported from this country. While much is exported, probably as great a quantity is wasted. We should recognize the cash value of wood ashes to the farm, and take all precautions to preserve and apply them where they will produce the best results.

These disfiguring skin diseases are caused by impure blood, which becomes disordered through Imperfect Digestion, Torpid Liver, or Inactive Kidneys. The pores of the skin close up, poisonous accumulations which should be eliminated are retained, and weaken and putrify the blood. Ferrozone has a specific action on blood impurities and drives them quickly from the system. It stimulates the Kidneys and Liver to healthy action, neutralizes Uric acid, keeps the pores of the skin open, and destroys germs. Ferrozone is a specific for every form of skin disease, and is used with astonishing success the world over. It acts directly on the blood, freeing it of the foul matter that breaks out in such painful and distressing blemishes. There are no unpleasant after-effects from Ferrozone, which does not depress the heart, and is free from Mercury, Potash, and harmful drugs. By using Ferrozone you have the BEST treatment for Skin Diseases and Blood Disorders. No doctor can prescribe anything better, probably nothing so good. Price 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold everywhere by druggists.

DRESSED POULTRY AT OTTAWA

From Farm and Dairy.

Among the special prizes for poultry at the Live Stock and Poultry Show to be held at Ottawa, January 17th to 21st, is $10.00 for best case of 12 fatted cockerels as per select grade, P.P.A., donated by Poultry Producers' Association of Eastern Canada; $10 for best collection of dressed poultry donated by Poultry Yards of Canada, Limited., Pembroke. Goods value $5 for second best collection of dressed poultry.

For the benefit of those wishing to compete for the Poultry Producers' special, the following information is given: The select grade to consist of specially fattened chickens, extra well fleshed, and of superior finish and appearance, unbroken skin, without blemish, straight breast bone, and neatly packed in packages that hold one dozen birds; the package shall be made after the plan recommended by the Department of Agriculture and illustrated in bulletin No. 7. One package shall include only birds of a uniform size and color of flesh and legs.

The package referred to is a case made of ⅛ inch to ⅝ inch basswood or spruce. For chicks weighing from 3¼ to 4 pounds each the boxes should be inside measurement 23¼ inches x 16¼ inches x 4½. For chicks weighing from 4 to 4¾ pounds it will be necessary to have the boxes 24¾ x 17¼ x 4½ inches and larger birds weighing from 4¾ pounds to 5½ or 6 pounds the boxes should be 26½ x 18 x 5½ inches.

The chicks shall be killed by dislocation or bleeding in the mouth, dry plucked and cooled. If preferred a shaping board may be used. They should be tightly packed in this case. Only a few feathers should be left at the neck. Take all the feathers off the hocks and the wings. Line the box with parchment paper and in packing the birds put them either abreast or backs up which is preferred. If the backs are well covered with flesh they will present a better appearance this way than with feet up.

STORING OF GROCERIES

Flour comes packed both in barrels and in bags, and the form in which it shall be purchased and kept is of importance to the housewife. Bags have certain advantages over the barrel for both producer and consumer; they pack into freight cars with no waste of space, and the cloth for 8 bags costs less than one barrel; for the consumer, also, it is often convenient to buy in small quantities. But, on the other hand, the bag is too often very flimsy in texture, so that it allows flour to sift out, and is also easily soiled by contact with a damp or dirty floor. The purchaser may well require that bags be made of good material, so that the contents may be protected from dust and dirt.

Aside from accidental contaminations, the chief destructive agencies in stored flour and similar materials are fungi and bacteria. The fungi or molds break down chiefly the starches of the flour, forming organic acids which make the flour sour.

The various prepared or "self-raising" flours are more expensive than the mixture that the housewife can easily make by adding the requisite amount of baking powder to flour and sifting it several times. It is a convenience and a saving of time to keep this mixture on hand, as one sifting provides enough for a month's use in cakes and muffins.

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

The health we enjoy depends very largely upon how the blood circulates in our bodies; in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This constant wearing out and expelling of the dead matter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that section of the body becomes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves.

This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the circulation, which should have been expelled, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membrane, and oppresses the nerve centres. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain there a species of blood poisoning will result and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of immense relief, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present to a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be amazing. The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Cooney—I am thankful to Mrs. F. E. Currah, your Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy. I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 3 years ago. Then I had a doctor, who told me I had a tumor, and could live no more than a year. If I went through an operation I would not live through it. A year later I sent for him again, and he gave me up to die. My husband then sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and it did me much good. I doctored with him 3 or 4 months, but became so bad again that I thought I could live no longer, and I began to long to die. One day my husband came home and threw a slip of paper to me with Mrs. Currah's address and told me a lady had advised him to write to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift a teacup without hurting me. Then the first doctor told me I was worse than ever. However, my husband sent for ORANGE LILY, and the third treatment brought away one tumor. Others followed, until 7 tumors had been expelled, 3 large ones and 4 small ones. I know if it had not been for ORANGE LILY I would have died, for I could not live much longer. I would have thought it cheap at one hundred dollars for a month's treatment, instead of one dollar. It is worth its weight in gold.—MRS. GEO. LEWIS, Huntsville, Ont.

The above letter is published with Mrs. Lewis' permission. All letters received are treated as being sacredly confidential, but occasionally some patient feels so grateful for being cured that she is willing to make the matter known for the benefit and encouragement of her suffering sisters.

ORANGE LILY is a positive, scientific remedy for all disorders of the female functions. As explained above these troubles are of local origin, and require local treatment. It is just as sensible to take medicine internally for female troubles as it would be to take medicine internally for a bruise, a boil or an ulcerated tooth. In all these cases some dead matter is being retained, and the cure is effected by employing local methods for expelling the dead matter. ORANGE LILY has antiseptic, soothing and healing properties, and also tones up and invigorates blood vessels and nerves. I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without cost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the following

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her address, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. INSTRUCTION IS APPRECIATED

From Farm and Dairy.

The marked success of the annual cheese factory meetings throughout the counties of Peterboro and Victoria which were addressed by Mr. Geo. H. Barr, who gave his illustrated talk on "The Care of Milk for Cheese Making," emphasizes the fact that the annual meeting is the place where instruction can best be given to patrons. A decided improvement was noted in the milk supply from those districts this past year where Mr. Barr gave this lecture the year before.

Our dairy industry will greatly profit through the continuance and the extension of this means of imparting information to the men who produce the milk. Factory proprietors, cheese makers and those who are directly interested in the condition of the milk as supplied at their factories should put forth efforts seeking to have appropriate instruction given at their next annual meeting.

The dairy instructors may well use their influence towards having expert lecturers for their annual factory meetings, as Mr. D. J. Cameron, the instructor for the Lindsay group, did last year towards having Mr. Barr at the annual meetings of factories in that district. That this form of instruction is popular is well shown from the fact that in spite of unfavorable weather at the time the meetings were held in the Lindsay district, the attendance at any one meeting was not less than 40 and reached upwards of 75. It is safe to predict that the influence of the information imparted to the patrons at these meetings will be evident next year in the improved quality of the output from these factories.

A NEW DISEASE OF THE APPLE

From Farm and Dairy.

"If the farmers in every community will band together to buy a power sprayer it will mean better fruit and better prices. There are a great many new diseases to cause apprehension, but as often as new disease appears a way to combat it can be found, so that on the whole there is nothing to be discouraged about. Every farmer I think, knows that if a good crop of fruit is to be expected, he must give his tree some attention.

"Early in the summer one of my inspectors secured specimens of apples which were disfigured by a curious and uncommon disease. The first specimens sent in resembled to a certain extent early stages of the apple scab, but a microscope examination and further study revealed that we had a new disease of the apple—new, at least, to Indiana horticulturists.

"The disease first makes its appearance on the fruit in the shape of small, light brown blotches which consist of lines running from a common centre in a radiant fashion, like the spokes of a wheel. The entire spot has the effect of having been spattered or splashed upon the apple. The size varies. As a rule the blotch seems larger on red varieties than on the yellow ones, though frequently a spot will increase in size if the apple is kept in storage. As the disease progresses the blotch will become sunken and will eventually crack, exposing the flesh of the fruit to a considerable extent.

"The disease is a fungous disease and like most of that type is best combatted by spraying with the Bordeaux mixture. Four spraying are recommended, the first one three or four weeks after the petals have fallen, the second two weeks later, and the third and fourth at intervals of three weeks. Success will, of course, depend upon the thoroughness with which it is done."

USELESS LINIMENTS

Are being fast driven off the market by the overpowering merit of Nerviline, which has more strength in one drop than is found in a quart of ordinary remedies. Full of pain-subduing properties, healing and soothing, its influence on rheumatism, sciatica, and lumbago is unsurpassed. Nerviline is without question the best household liniment made. For nearly fifty years a staple in every drug store in America.

DROP ALL OTHERS.

"I dropped all liniments but Nerviline because I found Nerviline the quickest to relieve pain," writes E. S. Benson of St. John's. "If my children are croupy or sick, Nerviline cures them. If a case of cramps or stomach-ache turns up, Nerviline is ever ready. We use Nerviline for neuralgia rheumatism, and all kinds of aches and pains; it's good as any doctor."

Use Only "Nerviline"

Good to rub on any part of the body—soothing, antiseptic, and just full of pain-relieving power. Just as good for internal pains, like cramps, toothache, dyspepsia, etc. You can't beat Nerviline as a general household panacea for the aches and pains of the whole family. Try it.

MODERN CHAIRS.

Evolution of Our Seats With Arms and High Backs.

Chairs with high backs and arms, after coming into general use with the renaissance, began to be ornamented with an amount of carving and gilding that has hardly since been equaled, which came naturally from the artistic tastes of the period. Their size, form and the amount of decoration lavished on them indicated the rank, fortune, authority or social position of their possessors. Bishops and abbots had seats corresponding with their dignity, while those below them sat on stools or benches. Only the king and queen and persons of high rank could be seated on chairs with arms and backs in the time of Catherine de Medici, and her sons, courtiers and favorites sat about them on stools called taborets.

This manner of expressing difference of rank prevailed under Louis XIV. and his successors down to the French revolution. To the chairs elaborately carved succeeded the armchair, so called in these times, which, with unimportant variations, is much the same as in the reign of Louis XIV. Specimens of the stools used by the favorites and ladies of honor of the king and queen may still be seen in the royal palaces of France. They were changed into the modern parlor chair by simply adding a back, which has hardly made them more comfortable. —Westminster Gazette.

A KINGLY PICTURE.

Distance lends enchantment to the imagination, as well as to the actual vision. This is a fortunate circumstance, for the real truth about some of the heroes of history might to a person today bring disenchantment and even disgust. Charles XII. of Sweden may claim the world's admiration as a military genius, but from Mr. Morfill's description of the monarch, given in the "Story of Poland," that gentleman would be anything but an agreeable addition to society.

"He wears a black crape cravat, but the cape of the coat is always buttoned so closely that one cannot see it. His shirt and wristbands are always dirty. He wears no ruffles nor gloves, and his hands are commonly the same color as his wristbands, so you can hardly distinguish them. His hair is light brown, very short and never combed but with the fingers.

"He begins dinner with a big piece of bread and butter, having stuck his napkin under his chin. Between every two bits of meat he eats bread which he butters with his thumb. He is never more than a quarter of an hour at his meals, eats like a horse and never speaks a word."

A kingly picture, indeed, savoring of romance and knightly fashion!

An Independent Element.

Carbon is an elementary substance widely diffused throughout nature. It occurs uncombined in two distinct forms or allotropic conditions—viz. graphite or blacklead and the diamond, which is pure crystallized carbon. It is, however, more commonly found in combination with other elementary substances than in the free state. United with oxygen, it occurs as carbonic acid gas (CO_2) and exists in the atmosphere, in natural waters, in limestone, dolomite and ironstone. In combination with hydrogen it forms the extensive series of chemical compounds known as hydrocarbons. It is also an important constituent of wood, starch, sugar, gum, oil, bone and flesh. No other element is so characteristic of the plant and animal world as carbon. In 1788 Lavoisier showed it to be an independent element. He furthermore proved the diamond to be the purest form of carbon and by combustion converted it into carbonic acid gas.—New York American.

Not the Usual Romance.

Recently one of our most fastidious young men bought a pair of overalls and found in them the name of the sewing girl who made them.

He very promptly wrote her a letter with all the offusiveness necessary in such a case and in due time received a reply, which, however, was void of the romance usual in such cases. Here it is: "I am a working girl, it is true, but I make a good living, and I do not care to support a husband, as I would do if I married some silly needle who gets mashed on a girl he never saw. Permit me to say that I do not know how my card got in that pair of overalls and that when I do marry, if ever, it will be some fellow who can afford something better than a forty-seven cent pair of breeches."—Muscotah Recorder.

Revised the Bill.

A young solicitor got a verdict for a client of considerable riches, but little beauty. Shortly afterward, in due course of business, he sent her a somewhat formidable account. On the following day his client called on him and asked him if he had been serious in his proposal.

"Proposal? But I have not proposed," replied the solicitor, somewhat aghast.

"What?" replied the fair client calmly. "You have asked for my fortune! I should have supposed that you would at least have had the politeness to take me along with it."

The next day she received a revised account as follows:

"Miss B., debtor to Mr. C. for legal business performed."

Then in place of "£ s. d." was "Total amount, Miss B."—London Telegraph.

Fishermen's Harvest.

Port Stanley, on Lake Erie, is becoming a fishing centre of importance. A fleet of a dozen fishing tugs are now at work, netting hundreds of tons of fish daily.

The owner of one tug states that for two weeks' fishing since the harvest began he received the sum of $5,000, and that while wages and expenses were heavy there was a good margin of profit, and that the present season would prove to be the best in the history of the port.

The U. S. fish trust secures the bulk of the catch, and one day recently two fishery officials from Ohio came across and, going out on fishing tugs, secured, it is estimated, 30,000,000 herring larvae from netted fish, to be taken across the line to enrich Ohio hatcheries. Ontario inspectors put a stop to the game as soon as information reached them, but the fishermen themselves were quite indifferent.

Ancient Sacrifices.

Many Roman and Greek epicures were very fond of dog flesh. Before Christianity was established among the Danes on every ninth year ninety nine dogs were sacrificed. In Sweden each ninth day ninety-nine dogs were destroyed. But later on dogs were not thought good enough, and every ninth year ninety-nine human beings were immolated, the sons of the reigning tyrant among the rest, in order that the life of the monarch might be prolonged.

A Far Sighted Man.

"Women vote! Never, sir, with my consent!"

"Why not?"

"What! And have my wife losing thirty dollar hats to other women on the election!"—Boston Transcript.

Cause For Thanks.

"Alas!" sighed the tramp dramatically. "No matter where I turns, there's a hand raised against me."

"Which shows you ought to be thankful fer one thing," said the farmer.

"What's that?"

"That it ain't a foot that's raised."

Self Possessed.

Mrs. Manykids—There is one thing about our girls—they are always self possessed. Papa Manykids (grimly)—Yes, they're too self possessed. I wish they'd get some one else to possess them.

BARRING OUT DAY.

Pupils in Ontario Annually Assert Their Independence.

One of these short, dull days there will be great excitement among the small fry of a certain small village on Georgian Bay. For it will be "Barring Out Day," and is it not a cause of pleasurable emotion that the smallest child in the school may, should fate give him the chance, with impunity defy the teacher? A very nearly extinct custom this, brought originally from Scotland by the settlers of this small burgh, and, as far as the writer knows, only celebrated in two schools in the province.

For several days before the auspicious day a deep air of mystery hangs over consultations between the biggest boys in the school. The "kids" and the "girls," say the wiseacres of eleven and twelve, must not be told the day (which day should be either on a Friday or before a general holiday) chosen for Barring Out "'cos they'd tell." But on the eve of battle the word goes around: "Be here early to-morrow! It's Barrin' Out Day!" And the youngsters go home quietly, conversing in whispering groups, lest the evening air should carry the news to the interested party—teacher. But the big boys do not go home. Perhaps they start, but as soon as the teacher is well on his homeward way they appear from all parts of the compass and, through a convenient window, once more gain the seat of learning. But not to their usual occupations. Very quietly, so they imagine, they begin preparation. Some energetically carry wood—(strange it does not seem to hurt their backs, or be too heavy for them, as it is at home in the evenings)—and soon the main door is strongly barricaded within. Others nail down windows or provide rulers and other weapons where they can be speedily snatched up, and soon they steal quietly home, leaving the room looking as if ready for a German invasion at the very least.

And next morning! Do mothers have to expend vast quantities of breath in trying to arouse sleepers? Are ever chores done so hurriedly or breakfasts eaten so quickly And caps and jackets are found, magically, surely, in correct places, and no one needs to say: "Hurry or you'll be late for school!" Whereat parents inwardly wonder until they hear a whisper concerning Barrin' Out and wonder no more.

And then, about an hour before regular school time, what a toiling of the bell! What shouting from the garrisoned school! What tearing races up the road, so that everyone shall be in before teacher comes! What craning of necks to get the first sight of him! And when he does appear it is a wonder the bell does not crack or, at least, descend, with such vigorous pulls; while every child shuts his teeth and prepares to sell his life dearly should the enemy attack his particular point of defence.

Now, if the teacher be a humorous soul, he charges fiercely at some particular window, whereupon everyone shrieks as loudly as he or she can, and everyone leaves his appointed place and rushes to the fray. And if the window can be lifted and teacher's hands enticed to enter, what willing hands bring down rulers, etc., and what joy is felt when teacher pretends he is seriously injured! "Make him think other people's hands aren't leather," growls some youth who has probably tasted fruits of disobedience not long since.

After some time of this useless fracas the teacher, be he a good sport and careful of his reputation, wends his way to "the store" and purchases a large bagful of "mixtures," which shortly he hands, as a peace-offering, through the window, at the same time proclaiming, by his departure, a not unwelcome holiday.

And after a "grab," from which the candies emerge considerably weightened by dirt and microbes (but who knows what they are?) from the floor, everyone lends a hand at clearing away barricades (all but the big boys, who have surely done enough), and Barring Out is over for another year.

CEYLON MENUS.

The Way Natives Wrestle With the English Language.

A writer in the Epicure tells of several menus with which he was confronted when traveling in Ceylon. The menu, he says, is an indispensable adjunct to a respectable luncheon or dinner table in Ceylon. As a rule, the head servant writes it out and from his elementary knowledge of English as "she is wrote" springs a host of quaint blunders. At the same time his fertile oriental brain is ever apt to add footnotes, which are perhaps his happiest achievement.

At one lunch there figured among the dishes "roast beef," but it caused the hostess some consternation when she discovered the additional legend in very small letters, "roast beef, smelling a little," the parenthetical note being meant to intimate that the dish was accompanied by a sauce of savory odors.

On another occasion there appeared this following acknowledgment of deficiency: "Steak and kidney pie; no kidney."

It was altogether delightful, continues the writer, to find at one dinner our old friend Welsh rabbit appearing as "Welsch rabbish." The same genius translated haricot mutton into "hurrygod mutton." Our own boy, he adds, on the occasion of a hastily improvised dinner, was unable to accomplish a dessert. Consequently he put the word "plates" at the end of the menu

Her Daughter Took Very Sick As Result Of Catching Cold.

Mrs. Dennis Delaney, Friar's Head, N.S., writes: "At the close of the year 1907, our youngest daughter, five years old, took very sick as the result of catching cold. She became very weak and could not move around at all. We consulted doctors and gave her various kinds of medicine but they did not seem to relieve her any. On the advice of a friend I procured a bottle of your valuable remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using the first bottle noticeable improvement was the result and after using three bottles she was entirely cured. I can certify that it was through your valuable remedy that she regained her strength and would advise every mother having young ones similarly afflicted to obtain your valuable remedy. For myself I would not be without a bottle in the house."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree combined with Wild Cherry bark and other pectoral remedies. It has stood the test for many years, and is now more generally used than ever. Price 25 cents at all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DECISION GIVEN AGAINST THE "SPEC"

Case Involved M. M. Robertson Formerly of Peterborough.

Hamilton, Jan. 14.—The action that F. C. Mills brought against The Spectator Printing Company for $3,000 damages for libel, and for an injunction to restrain that company from using his name in a manner derogatory to his reputation was concluded this afternoon. The jury brought in a verdict late in the afternoon in favour of the plaintiff for $400, and his Lordship allowed full costs. John King, K.C., acting for Mr. Mills, asked his Lordship to grant an injunction restraining The Spectator from using Mr. Mills' name in any matter that might reflect on his client. He said that libels had been published since this one, and he wished to have the practice stopped.

Solicitor and Client Differ.

The greater part of the morning was devoted to evidence for the defence. It was claimed that after the article which Mr. Mills complained of appeared in The Spectator he interviewed Mr. W. J. Southam, Managing Director, and agreed that if he was given the name of the writer he would not proceed against the company. The name was sent to his solicitor, and it was stated that Mr. M. M. Robinson was the writer. George S. Kerr, K. C., who first acted for Mr. Mills, understood that Mr. Mills instructed him to get the name and to inform the company that it would not be proceeded against if the name was given. In reply to this he received a letter from the company, and when he informed Mr. Mills of what had been done, Mr. Mills said he had exceeded his instructions in making any arrangement. He then sent back the letter to the Spectator without having opened it and withdrew from the case. Mr. Mills was recalled and denied that he made any such arrangement as that stated by Mr. Southam until the criminal libel case was about to be tried. He then said if The Spectator would give him the name of the writer he would discontinue his action against it. The company did not give him the name, and he proceeded with his action for civil libel.

HAIL TO THE FUTURE OF THOMAS EDISON

In Days to Come Manual Labour Will be Unnecessary and All Will be Rich.

Women of all classes and incomes will eventually be able to dress in the height of fashion and style, the labourer will some day enjoy an existence as pleasant as that of the man with a $200,000 income, radium may supplant coal as a fuel, and the nature of heat, light and electricity will some day be discovered, writes Thos. A. Edison, the famous inventor, in an article printed in an American monthly.

Mr. Edison devotes considerable space to the improvement that he maintains is now in progress in the labouring class and predicts what it will be in two hundred years. He declares that automatic machinery and scientific agriculture will contribute chiefly to his being placed on the level of the man with a $200,000 income. He declares there will be no manual labour in the factories of the future, that all work will be done by machinery and that man will be the superintendent of the machines.

"The clothes of the future will be so cheap says Mr. Edison, "that every young woman will be able to follow the fashions promptly, and there will be plenty of fashions. Artificial silk that is superior to natural silk is now made of wood pulp. It shines better than silk. I think that the silk worm barbarism will go in fifty years, just as the indigo of India went with the production of indigo in German laboratories.

"There is much ahead of us. We don't know what gravity is; neither do we know the nature of heat, light and electricity. We are only animals. We are coming out of the dog stage and getting a glimpse of our environment. We don't know—we just suspect a few things. Our practice of shooting one another in war is proof that we are animals. The make-up of our society is hideous.

"Communication with other worlds has been suggested. I think we had better stick to this world and find out something about it before we call up our neighbours. They might make us ashamed of ourselves. Not individualism, but social labour will dominate the future. Industry will constantly become more social and independent. There will be no manual labour in the factories of the future. The men in them will be merely superintendents watching the machinery to see that it works right. Less and less man will be used as an engine or as a horse, and his brain will be employed to benefit himself and his fellows."

ECZEMA CURED THROUGH THE BLOOD

By the Aid of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—That Wonderful Tonic Medicine.

Eczema or salt rheum is a disease of the skin, which shows itself in small, red, watery, blisters—these blisters break and leave a scale which may be rubbed off by the hand. The affected parts are intensely itchy and the victim cannot bear the touch of any article of clothing over the parts.

The disease is caused by bad blood and must be cured through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured many cases of eczema simply because they are the one medicine that acts wholly on the blood—the seat of the trouble. Among those cured by these Pills is Mrs. Chas. Davidson, of Amherst, N. S., who says: "I suffered greatly from salt rheum or eczema and my hands were badly cracked. I tried several ointments, but they did me no good whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and had only used them for a few weeks when the trouble disappeared and my hands were entirely healed. I am very grateful for what the Pills have done for me and would advise other sufferers from this trouble to try them."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mrs. Davidson they have done for many others—not only in cases of eczema and salt rheum, but for eruptions and pimples, chronic erysipelas, scrofula, and all other maladies which arise from poor blood. They banish these troubles simply because they clear the blood of all impurities and leave it rich, red and health-giving. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or direct by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

'ROUND THE STORES

At Cressman's, it looks like spring. While January prices predominate in this busy store from cellar to "annex," fresh intrest is infused by the appearance of advance shipments of new spring dress goods. The south window contains a delightful exhibit of these goods, which stand out in such tempting beauty as commands the inspection of the fair sex interested in the new makes for the coming season. Cressman's "Blue Pencil Sale" includes offerings exceptional in character, being the culmination of circumstances, which in themselves have been unique. The marked reductions afford opportunities to save money which prudence suggests should not be missed.

The Warne Drug Co. are "setting the heather on fire" by slashing reductions all this week, preparatory to their removal to new premises, a few doors north. It seems only necessary to direct attention to their advertisement in another column in order that the reader may have an idea of the cut prices.

The Peterborough Bookstore's Retiring Sale continues in progress all this month. The entire stock constitutes a bargain Mecca that the public patronize continually. The extensive stock of books still contains many chances for cheap reading for the home or for replenishing libraries. The prices have so little of the original marks, that shoppers, who can spare the time, should come in and look them over with perfect freedom.

SECRET SKIN SORES

Have you on some part of your body a sore, or eruption, or ulcer, or eczema patch, which, hidden from sight, yet causes you hours and hours of pain and inconvenience? Many persons suffer agonies in secret from such sores! Perhaps you have tried this and that and the other remedy, but all in vain, and are feeling disheartened and discouraged? If so, try Zam-Buk, the great herbal healer!

Zam-Buk is strongly antiseptic — more so than the crude carbolic acid; yet it causes no pain. On the contrary, it soothes pain, reduces inflammation and heals. No matter how obstinate the sore, Zam-Buk in the end will be found a cure. Many cases support this. For eczema, ulcers, eruptions, pustules, blemishes, fistula and piles it is without equal. Also heals cold sores, cracks, chapped hands, cuts, barbed wire scratches, etc. All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or post free in plain wrapper from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

IRELAND.

A painful fatal accident occurred at Ballinasloe recently. As Mr. Edward Colohan and his granddaughter, were driving home along the canal bank, the horse swerved and threw the car and occupants into the canal. Mr. Colohan's son, who was a short distance behind, made a gallant attempt at rescue, diving and recovering his father's body, but life was extinct when the bank was reached, Miss Colohan was thrown into deep water and her body was taken out soon afterwards.

After a trial extending over two days in Dublin, Joseph Heferman, farm labourer, was found guilty of the wilful murder of Miss Mary Walker, a telegraphist, near Mullingar, on July 7. Sensational evidence of a confession by the prisoner was given by a warder in Kilmainham Jail, who said that whilst in the prison hospital the accused said: "There is no use in denying it; I killed the poor girl right enough. The poor girl died easy." Sentence of death was passed.

SUFFERED FOR SIX LONG YEARS

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Richard's Diabetes.

East Chezzetcook, Halifax Co., N. S., Jan. 14. (Special).—Cured of Diabetes and Rheumatism from which she had suffered for six years, Mrs. Boniface Richard, well known here, is joyfully telling her neighbours that she owes her health to Dodd's Kidney Pills and to no other cause.

"My Rheumatism and Diabetes were brought on by a cold and a strain, and though I was attended by a doctor he could not help me. After suffering for six years I made up my mind to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and to my surprise they did me good almost at once. Two boxes cured me completely. I recommended them to everybody as a sure cure for Diabetes, Backache and all other Kidney Diseases."

PRESENTATION MADE TO A POPULAR TEACHER

Examiner Special.

Mrs. W. Campbell entertained the members of Mr. R. J.. McCamus' Sunday school class at her home the other evening During the evening the class presented their teacher with a beautiful pair of solid gold cuff links and the following address:

Mr. R. J. McCamus—

Dear Teacher,—It becomes our pleasant duty as members of your class assembled here to-night, to remind you that we are not forgetful of your untiring efforts in our behalf. For years you have served the church in different spheres of usefulness, but we wish particularly to draw your attention to the many pleasant hours spent together as teacher and class.

As a slight tangible expression of those faithful services we ask you to accept these cuff links and trust that they may ever remind you of our esteem and good will as a class.

In conclusion we sincerely hope that this festive season may bring you God's richest blessing, and that yours may be a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Cindy's Logic.

Cindy was an old black southern mammy," with all the lovable traits and inconsistencies of her kind. For many years she was cook in the Warren family and gave faithful and satisfactory service.

One summer the entire family were away for two months, and Mr. Warren gave Cindy a real vacation by paying her full wages for that time and giving her the keys to the well stocked storeroom.

A few days after the return of the family Cindy came bristling into Mrs Warren's sitting room.

"I wants mo' wages," she announced.

"Why, Cindy," exclaimed the surprised mistress, "you are getting better pay than any cook I know of in a family the size of ours. You have a nice, comfortable room and good treatment. Think how kind it was of Mr. Warren to give you a long vacation with your full wages."

"Dat's it," grumbled Cindy. "Mr. Warren paid me dat money fur doin' nuthin'. An' now all you folks is come back fur me to cook fur an' wait on. An' I gits more money or I leaves."—Lippincott's.

His Brutal Face.

A few days ago Hangman Radcliffe was in Montreal for the execution of John Dillon—whose sentence was afterwards commuted to life imprisonment on account of insanity of the condemned murderer. During his stay there, Radcliffe visited one of the newspaper offices to see a police reporter whom he has known for many years.

The word that Radcliffe, the hangman, was in the building was quickly passed about; and soon all the clerks and stenographers in the business office were on the watch to see him going out. Also some subscribers and others who happened to be in the office were informed of Radcliffe's presence.

The result was that when Radcliffe came out of the elevator all those in the business office were drawn up in two lines to receive him. He was accompanied by his friend, the police reporter, and also by the sporting editor, a very well known and very popular newspaperman.

The sporting editor stepped out of the elevator first, whereupon a country subscriber turned to her husband and said:

"My, but hasn't he a brutal face!"

RAY LAMPHIRE LEFT DETAILED CONFESSION OF THE MURDERS ATTRIBUTED TO MRS. GUINNESS

Mystery Finally Solved—Says He Killed Five Persons and Got Between Sixty and Seventy Dollars for His Trouble—Gave Men Chloral.

MURDERED WHILE ASLEEP

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—Ray Lamphere, who died recently in the Indiana penitentiary at Michigan City, while serving a term for setting fire to the home of Mrs. Bella Guinness, near Laporte, Ind., left a confession that he had assisted the arch-murderess in disposing of the bodies of three men.

Lamphere said he thought he had not received as much money for his part in disposing of the bodies as he considered himself entitled to, and that he went to the farm at night with a woman, chloroformed Mrs. Guinness, her three children and Jennie Olson, and robbed the home of between $60 and $70.

Mrs. Guinness' method of killing her victims, Lamphere said, was first to chloroform them as they slept, and then, if the drug did not itself kill, to cut off the heads with an axe.

The confession details how Mrs. Guinness informed Lamphere of the coming of her victims. The first man killed was from Minnesota. He never awoke from his sleep in the Guinness house. In the darkness Lamphere was ordered by Mrs. Guinness to drop a gunnysack and its contents in a hole that had been made by another farm hand for rubbish.

Mrs. Guinness never told him what became of the man, but Lamphere received money from her. Within a month another man arrived. He wanted to know his rights before paying off the mortgage on the Guinness farm, and Mrs. Guinness took him to St. Joseph, Mich., Lamphere thought, where they were married.

A few nights after they came back there was another buying of chloroform.

Than Andrew Heiglein came from South Dakota, with a cheque for $2,-883. This was cashed and Heiglein was given to understand he was nothing more than a farm hand. Lamphere was sent on an errand to Michigan City, to stay all night. He returned to the Guinness home, and through a hole in the floor heard Heiglein groan in distress and begging Mrs. Guinness to send for a doctor.

It was chloral she had given Heiglein, according to Lamphere. Presently Heiglein fell to the floor, and Lamphere said he saw Mrs. Guinness strike the prostrate form and end the man's life. Lamphere the following night buried his body with Mrs. Guinness' assistance.

Shortly after Mrs. Guinness and Lamphere quarrelled over money and he was ordered off the farm.

She put her money in the bank the afternoon before Lamphere, seeking money, chloroformed all the house and robbed and set fire to the place.

Lamphere said he was drunk the night he visited the place. He thought he would find $1,500.

APPOINTED TO DOURO PARISH

Rev. Father McGuire Succeeds the Late Father Kelly, Who Had Charge of St. Joseph's Parish —Rev. Father Kelly Goes to Wooler.

CHANGE MADE BY BISHOP

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor has translated Rev. Father McGuire, of Wooler, Ont., to the care of St. Joseph's Parish, Douro. Rev. Father P. J. Kelly, of the Cathedral staff, has been made parish priest of Wooler, as successor to Rev. Father McGuire. Rev. Father Kelly, who has been a life long resident of Peterborough, will be congratulated upon his promotion, from an outside point of view well deserved, for both as a priest and a man he enjoys a large popularity, and the best wishes of all classes fololw him to his more responsible field of labour. Congratulations are also due Rev. Father McGuire, who is welcomed as a new and desirable citizen of no mean county.

CASE DISMISSED

Charge of Supplying Liquor to "Indian List" Man Was Not Proven.

Frank Montgomery was charged with supplying liquor to an "Indian list man at the special sitting of the police court yesterday afternoon. Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C, conducted the prosecution and Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the accused and pleaded not guilty.

Joseph Stewart, license inspector, said that the man fined $20.00 in police court on Wednesday was on the black list. He put him on the "Indian list' at the request of his father.

The "Indian list" man was called. He remembered election day, January 3rd. He didn't remember meeting the defendant on that day nor on the day following It was either a day or two before the election or a day or two after. He got liquor from him, having asked him to get him some while the accused was in the witness' shop one day. He gave a bottle to him on Charlotte St., near George St.. If witness remembered rightly, he told Montgomery that he couldn't get it, but he would not say that he gave the reason. In court the other day, witness stated that he told defendant he was on the "black list." Montgomery asked witness to come down and have a drink with him. He told him he wouldn't because the hotel would not give him any. Montgomery then said that he would get him some.

Chief Roszel called swore that he remembered the previous conviction against the last witness. He admitted having laid an information against Montgomery but on the permission of the Magistrate he destroyed it.

Mr. Montgomery for his defence stated that he lived at Parry Harbour. He came here the Tuesday before the elections. He saw the second witness on the following Thursday in his shop. He went up to see him, he said, about voting on the Local Option by-law. He asked the "Indian list" man (not knowing he was one) if he had anything to drink. He was told no but the man expressed a wish for one and Montogmery told him he would get him a bottle and he did. He did not tell witness he was on the black list. A few days later, witness was asked to get some more liquor from and he told him [illegible] He then said he [illegible] refused to [illegible]

OTHER CITIES' AFFAIRS

In the following paragraphs there is a reference to current civic events in various places outside of Peterborough. They may be of interest to the city fathers, and those who follow their doings.

To Beautify City.

The development of a bigger, better, more prosperous, and more beautiful city—this is the purpose of the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the three experts it has employed — Messrs. Arnold, Olmsted, and Brunner. These gentlemen will find their work rather difficult, but it will be congenial and pleasant, for they will find the whole community in gracious mood, anxious to co-operate, willing to listen, and disposed to pay the bills if results can be guaranteed.—Rochester Post.

This from Hamilton might pass as a one-time reference to a certain sewer not many miles away:

"The Board of Control made a further investigation to-day into the base line by sewer question. Controllers Cooper, Gardiner and Allan inspected the work and reported that it had been bungled from start to finish; that the joints were made with the cement that could be picked out; that in crossing the Harvey Creek the pipe was laid so that the water would have to run up hill; that the plans were not followed, and that the specifications were not carried out, etc.

Will Build Houses.

The Ontario Gazette of Saturday has notice of the incorporation of Cosy Homes Limited of Welland at a capitalization of $40,000. The provisional directors are David Ross, Gordon Ross and B. J. McCormick, of Welland; and B. D. Cady and Fred W. Moore, of Port Huron, Mich.

The company will specialize on house property and will begin in the spring the erection of a large number of desirable houses for workmen. These houses will be built for sale. Welland will welcome the new company for a considerable increase in the number of new houses is very much needed.—Welland Telegraph.

Council Disqualified.

Our Haileybury neighbours thought they had got over the election muss very nicely by electing their Mayor and six Aldermen by acclamation, and everything was lovely until somebody came along and questioned the qualifications of several of the members, on the ground that they had not paid their taxes, and therefore, according to statute, were ineligible. The town solicitor was asked for a decision on the matter, and, upon looking it up, said that Mr. Busybody was right, and that the nominations and electing would have to be done all over again.

The Cobalt city fathers elect, however, have nothing to worry about on that score, for no time limit for the payment of taxes has yet been set in this town.—Cobalt Citizen.

Berlin's Board.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Berlin Board of Trade was held on Thursday evening, and was largely attended and very enthusiastic. There is a membership of over 260, and the board is in a prosperous condition. President Ed. Smyth presented an optimistic report and strongly advocated a progressive industrial policy, which will be formulated by a strong committee of the Board of Trade and Town Council.

Stratford's New Factory.

Stratford has acquired a new factory in the Imperial Rattan Co., Ltd., of Walkerville, employing sixty hands. Referring to it the Stratford Beacon has the following:

Rattan furniture workers are amongst the most highly paid in the furniture trade, and the Imperial Rattan Company stands at the head of the manufacturers of Rattan goods in Canada. The addition of this industry will therefore be in accordance with the policy of having none but furniture of the highest class turned out in Stratford.

The advantages of Stratford, as a point for the business were first pointed out to Mr. Strudley by Mr. Fitzsimmons, commissioner of industries of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, who is calling attention to suitable localities on the system for the location of industries.

Smelter for Toronto.

According to a special Detroit despatch, a strong and influential syndicate, headed by John W. Gates, the Chicago millionaire, and which numbers amongst its members several prominent German financiers, has been formed for the purpose of erecting in the vicinity of Toronto a modern steel smelting plant.

The plant will be one of the finest on the continent, and it is estimated that the cost will be two million and a half dollars. It is understood that negotiations for a site are now in progress.

It is the intention of the promoters to form a close corporation and to obtain its principal revenue from the refining of Cobalt ores, much of which now, necessarily, is taken to New Jersey.

The plans for the proposed plant and [illegible] prepared at Ottawa,

CLASSES AT NIGHT

Mr. D. W. Dumble Says Collegiate Institute Should be Used by Young Men Who Work During the Day—Greater Return for Money Spent.

WILL BE CONSIDERED

The question of night classes at the Collegiate Institute for boys and young men who desire to improve their public school education, was supported by Mr. Dumble at a special meeting of the Board of Education last night. Mr. Leake in the report on his inspection of the Manual training and domestic science work in connection with the Peterborough schools suggested that night classes might be established. Mr. Dumble pointed out that the citizens were expending some $60,000 on the schools and $20,000 of this is for the Collegiate, where the number of students is comparatively small, when that amount of money is considered. He thought that there would undoubtedly be a large number of young people who would be glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to increase their knowledge. They were compelled to work during the day time and the experience they had gained since leaving the primary school would be an added incentive to apply themselves, as they would then be appreciative of the value of a good education. The only additional expense would be for light and the salary of an additional teacher. Col. J. W. Miller and other members were pleased with the suggestion and the Supervision committee was asked to consider it.

ESTABLISH LEAGUE

Rev. Father Connolly Will Establish League of Sacred Heart.

Rev. Father Connolly, C.J., of Montreal, will establish a League of the Sacred Heart in the recently established parish of the Sacred Heart to-morrow. He will preach at the two masses at 8.30 and 10.30 a.m., respectively. Many of the southern parishioners have been members of the League at the Cathedral, and will unite in a strong league among the members of the congregation of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

POST CARD COLUMN.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

Editor Post Card Column.

Dear Sir,—If I could reach the ear of the City Council and License Commissioners I would say to them in regard to the matter of license reduction,—don't do it. Reducing the number of bars may make it a little more trouble to satisfy alcoholic thirst, but will it lessen drinking? Will it not, rather, concentrate drinkers and stimulate the iniquitous treating system, the seductive source of nine-tenths of drinking to excess? If treating in bars were abolished, hotel keepers would go hungry on the revenue of their bars, instead of becoming under the proportionate monopoly of license reduction, comparatively wealthy.

HELD MEETING TO-DAY

The executive of the County Teachers' Association met this morning in the Inspector's office with President O. S. Smithson in the chair, and completed arrangements for the programme for the annual convention, which will be held in the Normal School on May 20 and 21. An effort will be made to have either Dr. Colquhoun, Deputy Minister of Education, or Dr. Fahenham, address the evening meeting. Miss Wardo and Mr. Nelson were appointed delegates to the Ontario Educational Association.

THE RESULTS OF THE ELECTIONS

Ring up the Examiner, 234 or 57 to-night if you desire the results of the first day's voting in Britain. Arrangements have been made with the C.P.R. telegraph company for a bulletin service as complete as possible under the circumstances.

It is expected that the results of the voting in the 70 constituencies where polling takes place today, will begin to reach Peterborough about 8 o'clock. Great interest is being taken and the public generally is invited to take full advantage of the Examiner's service.

WHERE YOU SHOULD CHOOSE A WIFE

Gipsy Hawkins' Views on Dancing are Not Uncertain, to Say the Least.

Gipsy Hawkins' attitude toward the ball room is apparently one of unqualified condemnation. In his address at the Park St. Baptist church last night he spoke on the great blessing of a man having a good wife. Sam Jones, the evangelist, had said if he wanted to flirt he would go to the ballroom, but if he wanted a wife he would go to the prayer meeting.

The prayer meeting was where the good wives could be chosen from, said the speaker, and the ballroom was not the place he chose his wife from, and he did not think it wise that anybody else should choose his life's partner from the ballroom.

Game Was So Plentiful the Partridges Could Be Knocked Over With a Stick — Thos. Belley Shipped Dead Birds to Montrea

WAS CAUGHT AT LAST

Montreal, Jan. 15.—The wiles of the smuggler are well-known and the methods whereby he escapes the customs are novel, but Mr. Thomas Belley of Matebechounam, has, in his operations to avoid the game laws of the province of Quebec, injected some originality into methods of dodging the law.

It has been this gentleman's habit to ship trunkfuls of partridges into Montreal under the guise of clothing, where they naturally sold without much difficulty, with a considerable profit to the said Mr. Belley.

Mr. J. R. Innes, secretary of the Fish and Game Club, has just returned from Matebechounam, a place on the Canadian Northern, 187 miles due north of Quebec City. Here he had the pleasure of fining Mr. Thomas Belley of the aforementioned place $169 for killing and selling 169 partridges.

Mr. Innes describes the country he visited in the most enthusiastic terms. It is a veritable sportman's paradise. Partridges are so plentiful that they can be knocked down with a stick. Deer and moose are also very numerous. So Mr. Belley had no difficulty in getting the game to fill his trunks.

The way the gentleman in question got caught was that he tried to negotiate a sale with one of Mr. Innes' agents, and the fact of his selling partridges was consequently made known to the secretary of the Fish and Game Club in short order.

MARKET PRICES

Meats Were High, Eggs Scarce, Butter About as Usual.

At to-day's market there was a noticeable increase in the price of beef and pork and the men who offered it for sale were eager to boost it to higher figures. There were great quantities of beef, but pork was inclined to be limited in supply. Every second farmer had a long sleigh of beef and the first man questioned wanted nine and ten cents. The talk of booming the city and approaching prosperity seems to have effected the country people who according to one citizen are playing a double game of "bleed." The farmers received 5 1-2 and 6 1-2 or 6 and 7 cents for front and hind quarters respectively. Pork brought 12 and 13 cents and some asked 13 and 14 cents. Butter at 25 cents was offered freely, although eggs at 35 cents were inclined to be scarce.

SERMON ON MARRIAGE

Rev. Canon Davidson Will Continue His Course of Sermons.

To-mororw evening at St. John's Canon Davidson will continue his course of sermons on Religion, as applied in different spheres of everyday life. The subject to-morrow will be "Religion in the Home, the Making and Marring of Marriage." The subject at 11 a.m. will be "The Importance of Meditation in Modern Life."

EAST RIDING LIBERALS.

By announcement elsewhere in this issue it is to be seen that the annual meeting of the East Riding of Peterborough Liberal Association will be held in the Town Hall, Norwood, on Saturday, Jan. 29th, at one o'clock p.m. It is arranged that some of the members of the Dominion Parliament, now in session, will be present to address the meeting.

A BIG COUNTRY HAS BIG NEEDS.

We are accustomed to receive as a just due the tribute paid to Canada's Northwest Mounted Police as the finest body of their kind in the world. They seem to be omnipresent and are almost omnipotent. They can catch the most rapidly fleeing malefactor. There is, however, one thing they cannot catch, cannot cope with and that is the rapid growth of the Northwest. Commissioner Perry, in the last annual report of the N.W.M.P., states that villages, towns, cities and isolated settlements are springing up so suddenly and increasing so rapidly that the strength of the force would have to be doubled, to be able to meet all the demands made upon it. Yet we have pessimistic little Canadians tell us that the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, was not needed in the interest of the settlement of the West. Mr. Borden, opposition leader, complains that it parallels the Canadian Pacific Railway, a circumstance that stamps it as superfluous. The equator parallels the 49th degree of latitude, yet there are several thousand miles' space between them. In the far flung distances of our west one railway may seem to be running within hailing distance of one another, yet the two enclose millions and millions of acres. The building of the Transcontinental railway has brought a splendid settlement of hitherto unserved regions. Farmsteads, villages, towns, soon to grow into cities, have sprung up like magic in its wake or alongside it and the line is yet uncompleted. The Grand Trunk Pacific will duplicate in the west the romance of development and up-growth compiled by the Canadian Pacific and do more in the east, for it serves a better country with more untapped and untouched resources to be developed. They looked wisely ahead who conceived and built the C.P.R. The same credit is due the founders of the Transcontinental and the Canadian Northern railways. Canada is a big country and its discovery of itself needs big men with big minds and big enterprise—men who think in continents and not in parishes—statesmen, not ward politicians.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA.

In another column will be found the seventy-eighth annual report of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and it shows another record of prosperity and success, such as have made its history a progressive advance for the past three-quarters of a century. With a smaller capita than some of our first-rate banks, by favour of exceptionally good management, it achieves a large profit. Last year its net earnings, with all losses anticipated, amounted to $404,133.57, which permitted the payment of four dividends at the splendid rate of 12 per cent. per annum. All the interests of the bank are in a sound and satisfactory condition. The bank is represented in Peterborough by Mr. J. H. Ferguson.

predecessors. It is called "The Commercial Handbook of Canada." It is this and much more. It not only contains every sort of information, useful to, or required by a man in business, but also information that will appeal to every Canadian who wishes to have intimate knowledge of Canada, its resources and its varied interests of every kind. The information is brought quite up to date, the "index to the customs tariff," containing sections defining French products under the French treaty, entitled to the benefit of the Intermediate Canadian Tariff and also French products entitled to special tariff. Under "general information" is given a classified list of business opportunities in cities and towns in all parts of the Dominion. Heaton's Annual is a very complete and valuable compendium of useful knowledge, encyclopoedic in its range, and of blue book reliability. Toronto Heaton's Agency, price $1.00.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

The reports presented at the recent annual meeting of the Candian Bank of Commerce were a revelation of a year of national prosperity, and of efficient aggressive and intelligent financial administration on the part of the bank. The outstanding feature of the annual meetings of this great financial organization is the annual address of its president, Mr. B. E. Walker, the financial commercial historiographer of Canada, par excellence. As it appears elsewhere, it furnishes instructive and inspiring reading. All who want to be well informed in regard not only with regard to the details of the financial, commercial and industrial activities of the Dominion, but with the economic principles involved, turn instinctively to the great annual document of Mr. Walker. The facts presented are not mere theorising, for the branches of the bank cover the Dominion, literally from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and even to the remotest recesses of Canada, the Klondyke, so that the opportunities for first-hand authentic information are as exceptional as omnipresent. The prosperity of the country as well as that of the bank, is reflected in the increase in deposits of more than 25 millions of dollars, the largest annual increase in the history of the bank, and the commercial and industrial activity is shown by an increase of loans of more than 21 millions. A large increase in the new branches opened testifies to the enterprise of the bank, and its evident determination to cover a field as fast as it opens. The Bank of Commerce is a tremendous factor in building up and developing the resources of the country. The local branch in charge of Mr. D. Hughes Charles, manager, had its share of contribution to the great success shown by the reports.

ROYAL BANK.

The annual statement of the Royal Bank of Canada printed elsewhere in this issue, makes a very interesting exhibit, and should prove very satisfactory to the shareholders of the Bank. The figures indicate that the Bank must have been particularly fortunate in the class of business it handled during the year, as the net profits which amounted to $838,306, showed an increase of close to $100,000 over similar figures of the previous year. This was equal to 1808 per cent. on the average paid up capital of the Bank for the year, of $24,636,000. As indicating the rapid progress the Bank is making throughout the country, and the general prosperity very large increases are shown in all classes of deposits, those bearing interest have increased during the year by over $11,000,000 from $24,300,725 to $33,456,628, while the deposits not bearing interest advanced from $13,090,264 to $16,955,930, making an increase for the year in the total deposits of over $14,000,000. A very strong feature as indicated by the statement, is that notwithstanding the large increase in deposits, there was also a marked increase in the percentage of quick assets, these now being equal to over 56 per cent., as compared with 52.63 per cent. at the close of the last fiscal year. This large increase in the deposits naturally resulted in a very substantial gains, not only in the current, but more especially in the call loans. These call and short loans on stocks and bonds at the close of the present fiscal year, amounted to $9,638,209.62 as compared with $3,286,141.29, an increase of over $6,000,000 for the year, while the current loans now stand at $33,644,705.10 as against $26,736,164.99 of the last fiscal year. An issue of stock made with a very substantial premium during the year, has resulted in an increase in both the paid up capital and reserve fund, the paid up capital now standing at $5,000,000 and the reserve fund at $5,700,000, an increase for the year of $1,100,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A member of the Toronto Board of Control advocates the dismissal of Toronto's industrial commissioner. Is this wise? Will anybody be found to chant Toronto's praises without being paid for it?

REDUCING LICENSES.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The following are the clauses of the Liquor License Act providing for a reduction of the number of licenses by the council of any municipality:

The Council of every city, town, village, or township may, by by-law, to be passed before the first day of March in any year, limit the number of tavern licenses to be issued therein for the then ensuing license year, beginning on the first day of May, or for any future license year until such by-law is altered or repealed, provided such limit is within the limit imposed by this act.

The council shall cause a certified copy of such by-law to be sent immediately after the passing thereof to the license commissioners of the district in which the municipality is situated.

The council of every city, town, village or township may by by-law to be passed before the first day of April in any year, limit the number of shop licenses to be granted therein for the then ensuing license year, beginning on the first day of May, and by such by-law or any other by-law passed before the first day of April may impose any restrictions upon the mode of carrying on such traffic as the council may think fit and such last-mentioned by-law may be made to come into force on the first day of May then ensuing, or on the first day of May of the succeeding year, and any such by-law so passed shall not be repealed during the three years next after the year in which the same comes into force.

It shall be the duty of the clerk, immediately after the passing of such by-law to send a certified copy thereof to the license commissioners within whose license district the municipality is situated, and such by-law shall be binding upon the license commissioners, and any shop license to be issued shall conform to the provisions thereof, and such by-law shall remain in force for any future year until repealed. Any clerk who neglects, omits, or refuses to send such certified copy, shall incur a penalty of not less than $40, nor more than $100.

The intricacies of the Liquor License Act are certainly innumerable. Presumably the intention of the act is that a municipal council shall have power to reduce the number of tavern and shop licenses, but, as will be seen from the above, it is specifically provided as to the latter class of licenses that the action of the council shall be binding upon the license commissioners, whereas regards the former there is no such stipulation. This may not be an important matter, but it as least opens the way to litigation.

FAT REDUCTION IS NO SIN

The purpose of Beauty is to refine the native uncouthness of human nature. We all bow to its power. It is the only autocracy and has no nihilist shadow. Alas! this means the fat woman must serve instead of rule, for beauty in woman is a composite of both line and feature.

Thousands of fat women are beautiful of face. But they lag behind in the race for preference — because a too ponderous outline dashes the favour their face has gained them.

Now, pretty fat women can reduce that fat (not the good pure-lined flesh) in a very simple way. No exercise—no dieting is necessary. Let them take one Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime for a month. The fat will simply fade. No wrinkles or pouches of skin will form, but the loss will be uniform. The fat will go as stealthily as it came; fade away. The health will improve, the eye grow more brilliant, the wit sprightlier. Marmola Tablets are a boon—and harmless (being made from the famous fashionable prescription, ½ oz. Marmola, 3-4 oz. Fluid Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 4 3-4 oz. Peppermint Water), and are likewise cheap, a large case of the druggist or the Marmola Co., 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., costing only seventy-five cents.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S SERMONS

An acknowledged feature of The Daily Examiner during several months past has been the publishing of Pastor Russell's sermons. These appear in the Daily Examiner every week, as a rule, and they have been read with interest by the majority of subscribers. Beginning with the 16th of this month Pastor Russell will deliver a series of four discourses on "The Great Church Federation" in the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Subscribers wishing to secure extra copies of these sermons should communicate with the Examiner at once.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Through one cause or another a large majority of the people are troubled with some form of heart trouble.

The system becomes run down, the heart palpitates, you have weak and dizzy spells, a smothering feeling, cold clammy hands and feet, shortness of breath, sensation of pins and needles, rush of blood to the head, etc.

Wherever there are sickly people with weak hearts Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will be found an effective medicine.

Heart Trouble Cured.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott, Angus, Ont., writes. "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I suffered greatly from heart trouble, weakness and smothering spells. I used a great deal of doctors' medicines but received no benefit. A friend advised me to buy a box of your pills, which I did, and soon found great relief. I highly recommend these pills to anyone suffering from heart trouble."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE IDLE QUESTION

I'm tired of the bootless questions that rise in my vagrant mind; I gaze at the stars and wonder how many may be behind; a myriad worlds are whirling, concealed by the nearer spheres; and there they have coursed their orbits a million million years. I gaze at the spangled spaces, the bed of billion stars, from the luminous veil of Venus, to the militant glare of Mars, and wonder, when all is ended, as ended all things must be, if the Captain will then remember a poor little soul like me? I'm tired of the endless questions that come, and will not be gone, when I face to the East and witness the miracle of the dawn; the march of the shining coursers o'er forest and sea and land; the splendour of gorgeous colours applied by the Captain's hand; the parting of crimson curtains afar in the azure steep; the hush of a world-wide wonder, when even the zephyrs sleep. And I look on the birth of morning as millions have gazed before, and question the wave that questions the rocks and the sandy shore. "When all of these things are ended, as ended these things must be, will the Captain of all remember a poor little soul like me?

Dear Sir,—Just a line to let you know what a great benefit I have derived from your excellent course. I may say that a person in conversation with me now would never imagine that I ever stuttered, and I owe my present condition wholly to your instructions. I sincerely believe that any person, no matter how badly afflicted, may be cured in a very short time if they will but follow your instructions, and I will certainly recommend you to any stammerer that I may come in contact with.

The Visit To Ganada Of A Very Notable Company Of Players

Next Thursday Peterborough theatregoers will be favoured with a visit by what is certainly the most distinguished organization of dramatic players upon the American continent, who will appear in a play by a noted American author. This company is under the management of Messrs. Liebler & Co., and is headed by Viola Allen, well known as one of the leading legitimate artistes of her time.

The drama that will be offered is F. Marion Crawford's dramatization of his own book, entitled "The White Sister," a work of great dignity and power, which has already won the approval of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore the present season, many of the best authorities asserting that "The White Sister" is the best play that Miss Allen has yet appeared in. The folowing is a sketch of the personnel of the members of this famous aggregation of players:

VIOLA ALLEN.

The career of Viola Allen is unique among leading American actresses. It has been said of her that no actress connected with our dramatic stage has wielded a greater power for uplifting her profession than she has. By her simple, unostentatious daily life Miss Allen has set a mark that many stars would do well to emulate. During her long conection with the drama this excellent woman has never allowed her name to be associated with an attraction that has been in the least "off colour," and so scrupulous has she been in this regard that occasionally the actress has been accused of prudishness. So insistent in this has she been, that often she has been called the exponent of the pure drama.

It will be noticed that in her long line of parts from Esmeralda to Glory Quayle in "The Christian," and Giovanna in "The White Sister," not one could be questioned as leaning in the least toward immorality, and this is wholly in accord with one of her principles of life. Miss Allen's first dramatic instruction was given her by her father, Leslie Allen, who is known as a high-minded gentleman of the old school of acting. Early in life the daughter gave evidence of possessing great dramatic ability, and she got her primary instruction at home as soon as she had finished her convent education—which, by the way, she received in Canada. As can be said of very few actresses of note. Miss Allen never served a stage apprenticeship.

Viola Allen entertains "notions" regarding the stage that are unusual, to say the least. The chief of these is that the public is not interested in the private affairs of the actress, and it is for that reason that only on rare occasions has she consented to be interviewed. On this point the actress said, not long ago:

"While we players want to please the public in every way, and strive hard to make them take an interest in us, I do not understand why they should desire to know all the little details of our lives—matters that in the life of any private citizen are given not a thought. The life of the player away from the theatre differs not at all from that of a person not in the profession. After the play is over we go quietly to our homes, rest, perhaps rehearse, eat our meals regularly, and then back to the theatre again. We have our routine the same as other people in other professions, and I cannot make myself believe that the public is interested in all this."

She has always urged that there are two roads to success on the stage. One is through the avenue of notoriety and the other by way of conscientious effort, leading to an honestly-acquired fame.

Even with friends who visit her the actress would vastly prefer to discuss subjects other than herself, and with her fine education and superior mentality she is equipped to talk most entertainingly upon almost all topics, whether they would happen to be of dramatic art, Bernard Shaw's latest book, or the most recent phase of the Cook-Peary controversy.

Speaking to a friend recently of her part in "The White Sister," Miss Allen said:

"I am impressed with the play and the role myself, and I think the idea they embody of a life devoted to the care and happiness of others a most beautiful one. I am myself a member of the Chuch of England—very high church. When a girl I was put by my parents in an Anglican school near Toronto, of which a sisterhood had charge; so, though they were not exactly like the Catholic Sisters, I can very well appreciate the feelings and the principles of the nun in the play."

Miss Allen's favourite exercise is fencing, in which she is most proficient,—so proficient, in fact, that she has surprised several well-known fencing-masters by her skill in the art. Fencing was taught her by her father, that sterling actor, Leslie Allen.

JAMES O'NEILL.

James O'Neill came originally from Buffalo, and early in life removed with his parents to Cincinnati, where his first stage appearance took place, while he was a mere boy. The first really important engagement he got was with Mrs. Barney Macauley, in repertoire. This organization was quite popular in the middle west of the United States, and it was during this time that O'Neill began making his reputation as an actor. John Ford heard of him, and sent for him to come to Baltimore and join his stock company, which was one of high standing.

Next young O'Neill went to San Francisco, where we find him in the same cast with Lawrence Barrett and John McCullough. Soon after his engagement with these great men O'Neill accepted an engagement with Salmi Morse and John McGuire to appear as the Saviour in the Passion Play in the same city. The Passion Play was closed by the authorities after a few performances on the ground that it was sacrilege, and O'Neill and a few of the principals were thrown into jail. (This occurred in 1878, and, strange as it may seem, the very sect who were perhaps foremost in legally prosecuting the projectors and performers of the Passion Play only last October produced the very version of this play in San Francisco that O'Neill and his associates had used, with more than 500 people on the stage. The performances were at first scheduled to run a week, but were so successful that the engagement was prolonged to two weeks, thus demonstrating in a remarkable manner the revulsion of public sentiment in thirty years in respect to what constitutes proper stage entertainment.)

Immediately after the Passion Play was stopped in San Francisco, Henry E. Abbey brought Mr. O'Neill to New York with the intention of producing the Passion Play at Booth's Theatre, but was dissuaded from the project.

Then we find O'Neill, whose reputation by this time had become national, supporting notable female stars in the classic drama. He was leading man for Adelaide Neilson, and Mary Anderson for several seasons. It was while playing a leading support for the latter artistic, under the management of John R. Stetson, at the Globe Theatre, Boston, that O'Neill sought the opportunity of purchasing the American rights and the production of "Monte Cristo" from John R. Stetson. Stetson had a high-salaried company playing the piece, but he didn't have the right kind of a man in the dual role of Edmond Dantes and the Abbe Busoni. O'Neill was quick to detect this, and gave Stetson $2,500.00 for the attraction. O'Neill then resigned from the Mary Anderson Company, and went to starring in "Monte Cristo" on his own hook. He has played the great Dumas romance upwards of 6,000 times, and made a fortune.

James O'Neill has a fondness for ecclesiastical roles, of which he has played seven, starting with that of the Saviour in the Passion Play and ending with Monsignore Saracinesca in "The White Sister."

Mr. O'Neill is one of the thrifty business men of the stage, and has accumulated a bountiful supply of the world's goods. He owns a fine home in New London, Conn., which his family have named the "Chateau Monte Cristo," together with property interests in New York and New Jersey. Less than a year ago he embarked in a commercial business enterprise in New York which is already paying excellent returns.

WILLIAM FARNUM.

William Farnum, who plays the part of Captain Severi in "The White Sister," has virtually been reared on the stage. His father, G. Austin Farnum, was a theatrical manager of note when William was born, and later, as the youngster showed a marked tendency and fitness for a stage career, he was given plenty of opportunity to prepare himself. The family lived in Boston, and when William was but eight years old he acted sixteen weeks as a super in Booth and Barrett's Company in the Boston Theatre. It was during this period that he got his first real knowledge of acting. When he was eighteen years old he was selected by the management of the Boston Museum Stock Company to play the part of Armand in "Camille." After this engagement Mr. Farnum went with Robert Downing's legitimate dramatic company, where he remained for a number of years, playing classic and tragic repertoire. It was during this long period of association with Robert Downing that Mr. Farnum got his schooling in the heroic drama which served him in good stead, and when the projectors of "Ben Hur" were looking for an actor to play the title-part he was the man selected, and every theatre-goer who keeps pace with the trend of theatrical affairs knows of Farnum's tremendous success as Ben Hur. Then, three years ago, when the same managers produced "The Prince of India," Farnum was chosen for the principal male part, that of Mahomet, in which he appeared for two seasons.

As evidence of William Farnum's great versatility, it may be stated here that in the romantic drama he has also achieved great fame as leading man with Olga Nethersole, Mrs. Fiske Viola Allen, and other actresses.

The three Farnum brothers—William, Dustin and Marshall—are all actors, and are all under the management of the Messrs. Liebler & Co. William Farnum is Viola Allen's leading man in "The White Sister." Dustin is playing the title-role in Booth Tarkington's play, "Cameo Kirby," now running at the Hackett Theatre, New York; and Marshall is playing a prominent part in Eleanor Robson's company presenting "The Dawn of a To-morrow."

Four years ago Manager Shea, of Buffalo, got up what he called the "Farnum Festival" in his theatre, and put on "Julius Caesar." William Farnum played Brutus, Marshall played Cassius, and Dustin played Antony. The festival was so successful that Shea prolonged it a week longer than the original time.

William Farnum is under contract with the Messrs. Liebler & Co. for a term of years, and next season they will star him in a Scriptural play that has been written for him by a well-known author.

MINNA GALE.

One of the most brilliant members of the cast of the Viola Allen Company is Minna Gale. Miss Gale served a very limited stage apprenticeship, joining Edwin Booth's Company as leading lady in less than twelve months after she had made her stage debut. She was then but 18 years old. From 1887 to Booth's last public appearance in May, 1891, at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, Miss Gale rendered the great actor worthy support, never missing a single performance. She was most admired, perhaps, for her Portia, her Ophelia, her Lady Macbeth and her Parthenia. It was during a portion of this period that the association of Booth and Barrett occurred, and Miss Gale was the leading lady for the joint stars.

After the death of Edwin Booth, Miss Gale went on tour as star under the management of Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau, who assembled a very capable supporting company. During this tour she added to her repertoire Juliet, Rosalind, Julia in "The Hunchback," Pauline in "The Lady of Lyons," and theDuchess of Padua."

Then, after a season of starring, Miss Gale was married to Archibald C. Haynes, the wealthy New York insurance man. So, after an absence of seventeen years, this favourite artiste returns to the stage to find that her popularity has suffered no diminution.

In "The White Sister" Miss Gale plays the part of the Countess Chiarmonte, and just recently she announced that, due to the influence of the beautiful character of Giovanna (the White Nun, played by Miss Allen), she finds herself in the possession of a strong tendency toward Catholicism. For several months, the actress writes, this inclination has been growing on her. I believe that my tendency towards Catholicism has been strengthened, but such close association with Marion Crawford's beautiful story of 'The White Sister.' Sister Giovanna is certainly a charming and exceptional example for anyone—Protestant or Catholic."

FANNY ADDISON PITT.

Mrs. Fanny Addison Pitt is one of the best-known character actresses of the present day, and it was her five years' association with the famous Boston Museum Stock Company that has made theatre-goers so fond of her. Mrs. Pitt is an English woman, and before coming to America appeared with such stage celebrities as Sir Henry Irving, Sir Charles Wyndham, George Alexander, Mrs. Kendal, Ellen Terry and Kyrle Bellew. From 1878 to 1884 she starred in England with her own company in several comedies.

Mrs. Pitt's first engagement in America was at Wallack's Theatre, New York, when Lester Wallack's famous stock company was in existence. Shortly, after this engagement (which started Mrs. Pitt's American career in the right way), Mr. Harry Pitt, husband of Fanny Addison Pitt, appeared under the management of the Mallery Brothers, at the Madison Square Theatre, New York, in "The Rajah," in which both husband and wife scored hits.

When asked not long since what her favourite part was, out of the long list that she has played, Mrs. Pitt replied: "I think I should now say Mrs. Malaprop—with Mrs. Hardcastle a good second." At the same time, the fine old actress casually remarked that she had played 125 parts during her professional career. When asked how old she was, Mrs. Pitt replied: "Any woman who will tell her age will tell anything, so I'm not going to tell you mine."

The present is Mrs. Pitt's second season with the Viola Allen Company, and during the Montreal engagement of this organization she will play the part of Madame Bernard in "The White Sister."

JOSEPH WHITING.

Joseph Whiting, who plays the doctor in the Viola Allen Company's performance of "The White Sister," has a long record of association with the very best theatrical attractions, and is well known all over the country as a fine artist. During the years that A. M. Palmer's Union Square Stock Company had the reputation of being the first of its kind in America, Mr. Whiting played prominent parts and became a New York favourite. For several seasons before the death of Richard Mansfield Mr. Whiting was a member of his company.

Mr. Whiting and Mr. O'Neill were associated in the same company twenty-five years ago in San Francisco, and the present one is the first professional association they have enjoyed since that time.

RICHIE LING.

Richie Ling, who is now playing the part of Lieutenant Basili in the Viola Allen Company's performance of "The White Sister," is an Englishman, and made his first reputation in this country as a tenor singer. He has been leading tenor for the Lillian Russell Opera Company, the Lulu Glaser Opera Company, and a number of other well-known musical organizations. When connected with light opera companies, Ling became known as the best acting tenor on the American stage. This is accounted for from the fact that in England after leaving college he was educated for a dramatic career. He was possessed of a beautiful voice, and while attending the famous London school of Ballad an American manager of light opera chanced to hear him sing, and made him an offer to go to America and join one of his companies.

After a number of years of distinguished service on the musical stage, Mr. Ling suffered an injury to his throat which affected his singing voice and now he has returned to his first love—the dramatic stage.

SORE THROAT

Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head, soon the ears begin to buzz and ring, the head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up, and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile, filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMIC CATARRH, which say strength, depletes the vital energies till Consumption is the u[illegible] result.

It doesn't matter how long you have suffered, or how often you have failed to get relief, even though colds and Catarrh may affect every organ in your body, you can be permanently cured by inhaling the soothing vapor of Catarrhozone.

A few breaths through Catarrhozone Inhaler clears the phlegm out of the throat and stops coughing. The nostrils are cleansed of offensive mucous discharge, and sneezing and sniffling stop at once. Partial loss of hearing and headache (very common symptoms of Catarrh) are quickly cured, and in a short time every trace of Catarrh disappears.

We are so confident that Catarrhozone will cure your Catarrh that we are willing to refund the money in every case a purchaser is not fully satisfied. Catarrhozone has afforded a lasting benefit. Nothing could be fairer. Now is your chance to get cured. Get Catarrhozone to-day and satisfy yourself as to its wonderful curative powers.

WIDOW WANTS MONEY BACK

WINDSOR, Jan. 15.—A part in proceedings brought by Mrs. Victoria C. Dray, a handsome young widow of this city, against J. D. Kuppenheimer of Montreal, now charged with swindling her out of $3,000.

She met Kuppenheimer in Montreal, when he said he owned an island in the St. Lawrence, near Montreal, and he was its ruling prince. He afterwards introduced a woman as his wife, and the princess of the island. He wanted Mrs. Dray to invest money in the Draper Co., Limited, of Montreal, with offices in Toronto and Detroit. Among Toronto names he gave as members of company were: Dr. A. H. Garratt, Peter Aitink, Messrs. Derrick and Ballinger. Mrs. Dray invested $3,000, and was given a position as traveling salesmay at $40 weekly.

Drapers, Limited, was organized under the laws of Canada in February, 1909, with a capital of $100,000. A. W. Draper of Toronto was president and general manager. He claimed to have discovered an indestructible ink. The entire stock of the company was under his name, with the exception of one share, held by Kuppenheimer.

The firm recently opened a branch factory in Detroit, and since then creditors of company it is charged have found that there has been shrinkage in stock, with $12,000 unaccounted for.

Will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions, to any sufferer from woman's weakness. I want to tell all women about the cure which restored me to perfect health. Just suppose I am a stranger to you, and you are suffering from some female trouble, and I ask you to let me tell you how to get well and stay well. Don't you think you would do me a favor to let me tell you? Well, you owe it to your self, your husband and children to write me for my free home treatment. Don't drug yourself with nauseous stuff, but write me and I will tell you how I was cured of a bad case of female trouble, after suffering for years. Don't suffer another day, but write me to-day. Don't be afraid to write me in plain envelope, as I do not use printed matter. Address me as follows:

$60,500 Required By The Board Of Education For Present Year

Mr. D. W. Dumble, Finance Committee Chairman, Presents Detailed Statement of the Finances of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools for 1909 and Submits Estimates of Expenditure and Receipts for the Year Just Begun—Public School Account Was Not Overdrawn.

SPECIAL MEETING HELD

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last night for the purpose of considering the appropriations for the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute for 1910. Mr. L. M. Hayes presided, and the members present were Messrs. D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman, John Crane, Robt. Fair, W. H. Hill, Harry Adams, Col. Miller and Dr. Morrison. The usual preliminary business was transacted in the ordinary way.

A letter was read from Mr. J. C. Smith, in which he pointed out that he had served the Board of Education as teacher for nineteen years. He presented reasons for asking that the Board of Education consider his services and make him a retiring allowance. The communication was received, and it was stated that no action could be taken. A grant cannot be legally made unless the teacher has served 20 years. Another teacher had asked for a similar allowance last year and no action had been taken.

A communication was received from Miss E. Perry for the appointment to the Public Library Board. As the governing body of the new library has not been appointed yet it was decided to notify Miss Perry to that effect and to advise her to write that board.

Inspector's Report.

The report of Mr. A. H. Leake, who inspected the manual training and domestic science classes in connection with the Public Schools and Collegiate Institute was received from Mr. A. H. U. Colquhoun, of the Education Department, showing most satisfactory conditions. The report was as follows:

Manual Training.

Mr. Scarrow is doing excellent work. The equipment is in good condition. Accurate records are kept and the room is tidy and neat. The boys are enthusiastic in their work. Altogether a desirable foundation is being laid for a desirable extension of the work to elementary metal processes. Now that the subject is well established, it would be advisable for the Board to consider the question of evening classes for apprentices and artisans in workshop arithmetic, mechanical drawing and practical bench work.

Household Science.

The work here is highly commendable. The equipment is in good condition, and carefully looked after. The room requires more frequent scrubbing, and the attention of the caretaker should be called to the necessity of scrupulous cleanliness in the kitchen.

ALBERT M. LEAKE.

The report was referred to the Property committee, and a second copy was ordered to be sent to Inspector Mowat.

Accounts Paid.

The payment of the following accounts were confirmed on motion of Messrs. Ackerman and Dumble:

For Collegiate Institute	20,000.00
	$60,500.00

On motion of Mr. Dumble and Mr. Fair the complete statement was received and referred to the City Auditor.

From the above it will be noticed that the Public School expenses last year were kept within the appropriations.

Mr. Crane, speaking to the Board, stated that it was only fair to notice this fact as the Public School expenses amount to two-thirds of the Board's total outlay.

The increase in the amount required for this year is explained by the overdraft of $2,353 in the Collegiate Institute account, and engaging of an additional teacher will mean at least in extra $1,000.00.

Moved by Mr. Dumble and Mr. R. Fair that the City Council pay the Treasurer of the Board in monthly instalments, the money to be used for current expenses of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools, as follows:

January 15, 1910	$ 5000.00
February 15, 1910	5,800.00
March 15, 1910	5,800.00
April 15, 1910	5,800.00
May 15, 1910	5,800.00

August 15, 1910	1,200.00
September 15, 1910	1,200.00
October 15, 1910	5,800.00
November 15, 1910	6,400.00
December 15, 1910	6,400.00
	$60,500.00

And that the Secretary forward a copy of this resolution to the City Council.—Carried.

ACCOUNT RETURNED TO BOARD OF HEALTH

First Meeting of the Finance Committee Held Yesterday.

A meeting of the Finance committee was held yesterday afternoon for the first time this year. Ald. Bradburn occupied the chair, and all the members were present. It was decided after some discussion to have a by-law prepared for the granting of pawn brokers' licenses to Messrs. Wm. Snowden and Mr. Tooley. The license fee is fixed by law at $60

The committee recommends that the city renew its membership in the Ontario Municipal Association.

Dr. Young's Account.

Dr. Young has an account for a couple of hundred dollars against the city for professional services during the outbreak of smallpox last summer. Dr. Young claims to have looked after several cases just before Dr. McPherson was appointed medical health officer. It was just about that time that smallpox was first discovered. He sent his account to the Board of Health and that body sent it on to the council. The Finance Committee decided, that, as the council had nothing to do with engaging Dr. Young, the account be sent back to the Board of Health to deal with.

CHURCH SERVICES

ST LUKE'S.

The regular meeting of the A. Y. P. A. was held here last night, and attended by a large number of members and friends. The special feature of the meeting was the lecture given by Rev. Dr. Marsh on "A Night in the Skies," illustrated by stereopticon views.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was in the chair and opened the proceedings with prayer. The business of the society was first transacted. The President, Miss Ethel Pakenham, having removed from Peterborough to Toronto, required the election of a successor. The choice fell upon Mr. Chas. Crane; his office of vice-president was given to Mr. Harry Moore, both elections being very heartily endorsed, as both gentlemen are great favourites in the A.Y.P.A.

The programme for next Friday is a sleight drive to the residence of Mrs. H. Markey, Douro, where the evening will be spent. The programme last night consisted of the following numbers:

1. Vocal solo, Miss Quartermaine.
2. Vocal solo, Mr. Harry Moore.
3. Lecture, Rev. Dr. Marsh.

The lecture was a great treat to the audience. It was given in a most pleasing manner. The subject itself, very interesting, was made wonderfully clear by the lecturer, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him by Mr. R. B. Rogers and Mr. Frank Adams. Refreshments were then served. With the national anthem, the meeting closed.

English Victims Fleeced of Coin

Gold Brick Fraud Worked From America and How It Relieved Old Country People of $250,000.

ONE MAN ARRESTED

London, Jan. 4.—In the person of Charles Adams, an elderly grey-haired man, the New York police believe they have arrested the leader of a notorious gang of mining swindle operators who have fleeced their victims — mostly English people — of £50,000.

The scheme of the gang, according to the police allegation, was to scan the death announcements in the English newspapers. When a prominent man died they would write to him a letter which naturally fell into the hands of the heirs. The writer would pretend to be an old friend of the deceased, bound to him by ties of gratitude. He would announce that he was now rich, and invite him to share his good fortune by investing in a mine. The object was of course, to get the executors to provide money.

Several of these letters, addressed to dead men in England, have fallen into the hands of the police, who state that one woman, the widow of a wealthy Londoner, was fleeced of £10,000.

Scotland Yard Warning.

"Gold brick" letters, nearly all of them couched in identical terms, have reached England in hundreds, and the scandal a little while ago attained such proportions that Scotland Yard issued a warning to the public explaining how the fraud is worked. The police warning stated that if the story of the swindlers was believed it led sometimes to "the despatch of a messenger to America to receive the bullion fund. When this stage is reached a demand for money is on some pretext or other sprung upon the victim, who in the end is generally fleeced to a very considerable amount by the production of what appear to be bars, or bricks, of solid gold."

A widow in England was recently offered a half share in a gold mine of fabulous wealth, but she was required to pay £7,000 in cash. Questions raised by her bankers when the money was being withdrawn proved her safeguard. Another widow who was about to advance £4,000 "to develop the mine," was also saved by the common sense of her bankers. In another case a man left for America carrying with him a large sum to pay for a share in a mine, but soon after his departure further inquiries were made and a cablegram saved his money.

FUNERAL OF HON. ARCHIE GORDON

Fiance of Miss Violet Asquith Laid in the Grave—"To My Beloved."

London, Jan. 13.—The weather was cold and stormy and the country roads were blocked with snow when the funeral of the Hon. Archie Gordon, youngest son of the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, took place on Thursday in Methlick Churchyard, two miles from Haddo House, Aberdeen. A service was conducted before the interment in the private chapel, where besides the members of the family there were present the Prime Minister and Mrs. Asquith, Miss Violet and Mr. Arthur Asquith, Lord Tweedmouth and Lady Desborough.

The pall-bearers were Lord Aberdeen, Lord Haddo, the Hon. Dudley Gordon, the Prime Minister, Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, Lord Pentland, and the Hon. Jasper Ridley.

There were over 100 floral tributes, and after the coffin had been lowered into the grave Miss Asquith placed upon it a wreath of sweet violets, with a card attached bearing the words, "To my Beloved."

CHILDHOOD INDIGESTION MEANS SICKLY BABIES

The baby who suffers from indigestion is simply starving to death. If it takes food it does the child no good, and it is cross, restless, and sleepless, and the mother is worn out caring for it. Baby's Own Tablets always cures indigestion, and give the little one healthy, natural sleep. Mrs. A. P. Daigle, Lower Sapin, N. B., says: "For severe cases of indigestion I think Baby's Own Tablets are worth their weight in gold. My little one suffered terribly from this trouble and the Tablets was the only thing that removed the trouble." GENERALLY SPEAKING

In last Tuesday's edition of the Globe a very palpable error occurred in the article referring to Mr. T. P. O'Connor, the well-known Irish member of parliament for one of the Liverpool constituencies. J. A. M. is so well seised of his facts in everything he writes that this makes the mistake all the more unaccountable. In the article in question he makes T. P. O'Connor the author of a diatribe against D'Israeli, of which he was entirely innocent. M. A. P. writes:

"Gladstone, too, was one of his idols, as D'Israeli was one of his aversions. Indeed, his smashing chapters on Lord Beaconsfield helped him first into notice as a vigorous writer. He described him as 'a lineal descendant and hair-at-law' of the impenitent thief that died on the cross."

No less a personage than Daniel O'Connell was the author of that saying, and he gave vent to it in one of those acrimonious political controversies which were so prominent a feature of the early Victorian era. In Justin McCarthy's "History of our own Times" the following account of the incident is given:

"We have all read the history of the contest carried on between him (D'Israeli) and O'Connell, and the savage ferocity of the language with which O'Connell denounced him as 'a wretch,' 'a liar,' 'whose life is a living lie,' and finally as 'the heir-at-law of the blasphemous thief, who died impenitent on the cross.' Wm. D'Israeli begins his reply by describing himself as one of those who "will not be insulted, even by a Yahoo without chastising it," and afterward, in a letter to one of O'Connell's sons, declares his desire to express "the utter scorn in which I hold his (Mr. O'Connell's) character, and the disgust with which his conduct inspires me," and informs the son that "I shall take every opportunity of holding your father's name up to public contempt, and I fervently pray that you or some one of your blood may attempt to avenge the inextinguishable hatred with which I shall pursue his existence."

The amenities of public discussion were certainly not on as high a level in politics or in literature in the early days of the last century as they are at the present time.

The Amenities of Literature.

The atrocious language of writers in the Quarterly and other reviews strikes the modern reader with amazement. The finest poets and prose writers of the time were not too great to be brought under the critic's lash. For instance, Christopher North, (Dr. Wilson) describes Leigh Hunter as "holding his stinking breath"; Hazlitt is "a loathsome dunce"; Martin, the philanthropist "that Irish Jackass"; Cobbett, "an old ruffian"; and McCulloch, the political economist, "an infuriated blackguard." Again, this is the way in which a writer characterized Leigh Hunt in Blackwood's Magazine.

"Our hatred and contempt of Leigh Hunt is not so much owing to his shameless irreverence to his aged and afflicted king; to the leprous crust of self conceit with which his moral being is indurated; to that loathsome vulgarity which constantly clings round him like a vermined garment from St. Giles; • • • We were the first to brand with a burning iron the false face of this kept mistress of a demoralizing incendiary.")

Elsewhere Mr. Hunt is stigmatised as "the meanest, the filthiest and the most vulgar of Cockney poetasters," and is apostrophised as "You exquisite idiot!"; "Sensualist that you are."

Mr. Hazlitt is called "a mere ulcer"; a sore from head to foot; a poor devil so completely flayed that there is not a square inch of healthy flesh on his carcase; an overgrown pimple, sore to the touch."

People sometimes say that the world is lapsing into savagery. Of course those who talk in this way are not only wrong, but foolish into the bargain. Anyone who is at all conversant with literature well knows that whilst at the present time there is a seeming dearth of genius in the ranks of writers, a very high plane has been reached in the observance of the amenities of the profession.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR

All Come From Dandruff, Which Is Caused by a Germ

Split hair, hard hair, lustreless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a measly little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into dandruff scales and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root causing the several diseased conditions of the hair till it finally falls out. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbe, which is combined in Newbro's Herpicide, the delightful hair dressing. Allays itching instantly and makes hair grow as silk. Take no substitute; nothing "just as good." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Please tell me how to make friends. I want to be friends with people, but somehow almost everybody thinks I am proud and haughty, and really I am not at all," a little girl wrote to me the other day.

And for her sake and the sake of any who may be in a similar case with her I am going to requote a sentence of Emmerson that I used the other day.

"The only way to have a friend is to be one."

Whenever I hear people bewailing their inability to make friends readily I always think of that quotation and long to ask—

"You want to make friends, but are you ready first to be friends?"

Are YOU?

That YOU means anyone does not make friends quite so readily as he would like.

When you meet new persons, is your first thought to do something for them, to set them at ease, to be friendly towards them, or are you thinking about how oyu can make a good impression upon them?

Forget that you are trying to make your new acquaintance like you and concentrate on liking him and see if you do not find that you have made a friend.

I know that people are often unjustly stigmatized as being proud and haughty when they are merely diffident and self conscious, just as the little girl who wrote to me undoubtedly is.

And I realize that diffidence and self consciousness are hard to conquer because, the more you think about trying not to be self conscious the most self conscious you always get.

But there is one perfectly good way to get over these big barriers to friendship, and that is to think so hard about other people that you won't have time or energy to think about yourself and how you are appearing.

If my little girl will try that rule for a time I am pretty sure that she will find that people will soon cease to regard her as proud and haughty.

In speaking of a woman who, although extremely good and generous, somehow failed to make many friends, Alice Freeman Palmer explains the failure as the result of—

"An absence of heart culture; of that sunshine which melts its own way."

Many people who are not actively proud and haughty are passively at fault, like this woman, they lack "heart culture; that sunshine which melts its own way."

Do YOU?

Perhaps the people who feel that the world has not done their desire for friendship justice; who want more friends than they yet possess; who feel within themselves the possibility of being loved and loving more than they yet have, will do well to take the pledge of friendship that the great president of Wellesley College, whom I quote so much, made to herself—

"I will give all the years have brought to my own soul.

"God help me to give what He gave—myself—and help me to make that self worth something to somebody; teach me to love all as as He has loved for the sake of the infinite possibilities locked up in every human soul."

PETERBOROUGH MAY ENTER EARL GREY COMPETITION

With Madrigal Club and Soprano and Violin Soloists---Conservatory Madrigal Club to be Strengthened for the Contest.

Earl Grey took a practical and delightful way of stimulating the development of the dramatic and musical talents of Canadians. In 1906 he forwarded what is known as "The Earl Grey Musical and Dramatic Trophy competition."

A week is given over to these competitive events in some selected place, and, as a rule, large audiences witness or hear the several competitive events. The three previous contests have been held successfully at Ottawa, Quebec, and Montreal. The coming contest will be held in Toronto in the week beginning April 4th, next, in the Royal Alexandria Theatre.

In the competition for the musical trophy the selected composition to be sung by "mixed voice chorus" is Dudley Buck's "Hymn to Music"; besides one composition will be selected by the competing chorus.

Mr. Gliddon, director of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, proposes entering the Conservatory Madrigal Club, consisting of 24 voices, which is to be strengthened to 50 or 60, according to the number of voices available, and it is probable that a Peterborough soprano soliste and violin soloiste will be entered in the competition.

As all the competitions will be, of course, amateur, the possessor of a good voice and ability to sing fairly well, need have no hesitation in entering the contest. With the abundance of musical talent in the city there should be no difficulty in increasing the present membership of the madrigal club to the necessary number. There is no fear that the best musical harmony will not be produced by the club when organized to full strength. The musical harmony in advance is what is needed. For the sake of the good name of the city eligible musicians should, setting aside every other consideration, heartily unite to help constitute a chorus which will be alike creditable to the musical talent as well as musical spirit of the citizens and city. If the proposed chorus should not win the trophy it will suffer no disgrace, for with so many competing only one can win. Besides the educative preliminary training, and the education involved in noting so many styles of training, represented by the performance of the several musical organizations will be a valuable experience.

To make the proposal a success requires the active cooperation of practically musical people, and the practical encouragement and assistance of leading citizens.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments, reserved at the Hotel."

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday, January 28th.

SMALL BORE CRITICISM.

The Review last night fell afoul of a little reference made by the Examiner to the local Canadian Club, and a mild deprecation of a course that involved "the sacrifice of the general good to individual interests." In self-exemplification of this fault the Review seems to construe the remarks of the Examiner into an attack upon the officials of the Canadian Club. It was not this, for there was and is no ground for such an attack. The officials are not the club; and if they were, no imputation would lie; for they have done their duty. Without knowing how many attempts the president has made to convene a meeting for the election of officers for organization for another year, it is to be stated as a fact that a quorum for such a meeting has not yet been attainable. It is to the apathy or indifferences of the member that criticism should be directed and it is left to the conscience of those who are remiss in their duty, to accept or repel the spirit of our comment, as their attitude towards the Club and its interests suggests. Instead of helping citizens pull together, our contemporary seems to be doing a little disintegration on its own account.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,
Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MAY BUILD AT MONTREAL

Canadian Warships May be Constructed There—Belief That Yards Will be Opened There.

ALSO AT HALIFAX

Montreal, Jan. 15.—There is a growing belief that the two shipbuilding points in Canada will be in Montreal and on the Dartmouth side of Halifax harbor, where Swan & Hunter purchased a site some time ago. It is said in Montreal that the Government will not subsidize any steel shipbuilding plant, but will ask for tenders for the construction of war vessels both here and in the old country, believing that if the work can be done in the Dominion, even for 25 per cent. more than abroad, the people would justify the additional expenditure.

The announced arrival of the leading shipbuilder of Glasgow in this city to-day would appear to indicate that Montreal has been fixed upon as one of the great shipbuilding centres of the country. Then it is stated that Swan & Hunter will spend a million on the proposed Dartmouth plant, and that in a year's time they will be able to construct first-class cruisers as well as merchant ships.

It is also understood that the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. will add a plate mill to their establishment at Sydney, the product to enter into the construction of war vessels at both Montreal and Halifax harbor.

Then another important announcement is made to the effect that Maxim, Son & Co. will build an establishment here, as well as the proposed dock, and that they expect to be in a position to carry on all kinds of steel work, besides steel vessels and war ships, on the St. Lawrence in the east end of Montreal.

Freight Thieves Sentenced.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 15.—Magistrate Fraser yesterday passed sentence on the freight car thieves arrested last week.

R. R. Bentley, married, with four children, first offence, was allowed suspended sentence. Ben Warren got a year in the Central; Wm. Leach, for receiving stolen goods, six months, and Clarence Stevens, the ringleader, three years in penitentiary.

Joseph Quaglarcello, an Italian, brought back from Pittsburg for passing forged notes, was sentenced to nine months. F. W. Griffith, his counsel, pleaded that he had been a victim of Jack Flynn's gambling den on the New York side and suggested that, as his client said Flynn had committed the forgeries, he should be extradited on that charge, and then held for his alleged part in the big express robbery.

Early Closing Bylaw Fight.

Yesterday they succeeded in having the city attorneys declare the bylaw illegal, consequently it could not be brought before the council as expected. There is no doubt that the majority would have voted in favor of the measure.

Then, Manager Weldon of the Windsor, has taken proceedings against all the aldermen who voted the second reading of the Carter measure. W. J. White, K.C., being his counsel. The claim is made that the measure is a direct attack against a business in which millions of capital is engaged, and which means the ruin of many citizens.

ANAEMIA

Pale Cheeks, Bad Color

Chlorosis or anaemia is simply thinness of blood.

If confined too much indoors anaemia develops, because the lungs are insufficiently supplied with oxygen, and the blood is consequently ill-nourished and half-starved.

But there is a cure.

Dr. Hamilton has solved the problem in his famous pills of Mandrake and Butternut, as a blood enricher their equal is not known.

Richness and purity are instilled with wonderful promptness into the vital flow. Healthy color supplants pale-pasty, sallow face. Better appetite, strong digestion, and dreamless sleep are sure to follow, because of the increased blood supply furnished by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

WESTERNER A DEBATER

Mr. Congdon of Dawson Says That the Klondike Is Not Played Out by Any Means—Dr. Clark of Red Deer, Offers Suggestions Regarding Trade Affairs—Messrs. Crothers and McGrath Also Speak.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The Government's tariff policy, particularly in relation to the granting of bounties to the iron and steel industries, and the situation in the Yukon, were yesterday the themes of two of the finest speeches that have been contributed to the budget debate in the House of Commons. Both were by young members, and, in addition to their other qualities, both were distinguished by a frankness and freshness of treatment not often found in party controversy. Dr. Clark of Red Deer jumped into the front rank of Parliamentary debaters in the first speech he delivered last session, when he boldly but successfully crossed swords with Mr. Foster, and he more than sustained his reputation yesterday. A confirmed believer in the efficacy of free trade and a fearless exponent of its principles, Dr. Clark not only riddled the economical fallacies of Mr. Foster and his "school," but offered some very pungent criticism of the bounty system as practiced by the Government.

T. W. Crothers, West Elgin, suggested that Dr. Clark should hold a series of revival meetings and get his Liberal friends back to the principles of 1896, from which they had departed. If the people had accepted the principles of the Liberal party, Canada would have been an annex of the United States to-day, politically as well as commercially.

Mr. Crothers disputed the claim of the Government members that the prosperity of Canada was due to the political sagacity of the present administration, and contended that every great project for the development of the country had been conceived and executed by the Conservative party.

Another excellent speech which was much appreciated was that of Mr. Congdon, member for the Yukon, who dealt with the situation in that Territory in a more illuminative way than it has ever been handled before. The Yukon, he declared, far from being played out as a gold producer, was only on the threshold of development, and, speaking with the knowledge of one who has studied the subject, he predicted that within 25 years Canada would be first among the mineral-producing countries.

O. A. Magrath, Medicine Hat, with reference to Mr. Fielding's announcement of the surplus from the postoffice department, challenged the policy of the administration. The late Conservative Government had been criticized for having a deficit, but he considered that no intelligent Government would turn the shekels of the postoffice into other departments. He did not believe in the attempt to make the postoffice a money-making business. The profits should be spent in the development of postal facilities.

Talking of the outside civil service, he thought something should be done to make these men more independent. Occasionally he visited the public accounts committee, and he saw some things that were not agreeable to him as a citizen of this country. For instance, he believed that as a witness an outside civil servant had juggled with the truth. He was at the mercy of the Minister gazing into his face. The whole system was wrong.

Mr. Paquet (L'Islet) hoped that a French-Canadian would be appointed to the I.C.R. board of management, and Mr. Turcotte (Nicolet) approved of the Government's naval policy.

John Best (Dufferin) and Mr. Sharpe of Lisgar also spoke, the former making his maiden speech.

Freed on Bigamy Charge.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—James Weir, alias Jack Kenward, who came here from the vicinity of Cornwall, Ont., where he deserted a wife and child, and married a Detroit girl, and who was shot by a local detective while trying to escape after having been arrested on a charge of bigamy preferred by his second wife, was discharged from custody yesterday. The complainant, Miss Meikle, failed to appear to prosecute. At the time Weir was shot, it was believed that he could not recover. Miss Meikle went to the hospital and they became friendly again.

The Insurance Bill.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The Senate committee yesterday passed clause 1 of the Insurance Bill. It deals with interpretation of terms only. There was a long discussion as to whether the bill should be divided into fire and life sections. Senator G. W. Ross strongly advocating it. The matter was left in abeyance till Wednesday.

FIGHT HAS COMMENCED

Chamberlain, Hills and Guinness Are the First Three M.P.'s In the New House, Having Been Elected by Acclamation—Present Contest Is One That Has Not Been Heard of For 300 Years in Britain.

London, Jan. 15.—Last night witnessed the close of the Parliamentary election campaign. It has been fought on an issue entirely novel to the people of these times—an issue that has not been raised before in 300 years; and it has been fought with an intensity of conviction, energy and bitterness unparalleled in Great Britain in the present generation. Even the Gladstonian home rule campaign, which came near destroying the Liberal party, failed to arouse the political factions to anything like their present vehemence.

The conflict that opened the ballot boxes yesterday for the first general election since 1906 is a death struggle between the two great political parties in the state—the aristocrats and the democrats. "Vote to protect the vote" is the exhortation addressed to the people last night by the leading Liberal organ, and it then succinctly portrays how the conflict presents itself to the Liberals. 'On the opposing side is ranged every possible influence in support of the privilege classes.

Proof that the struggle is concentrated in the demand of the House of Commons for a limitation of the powers of the peers may be found in the fact that all attempts to make home rule and the danger of the dissolution of the union a factor in the contest have proved unavailable. The British elector, so far as at present may be judged, declines to concern himself greatly with home rule, and its alleged dangers.

The Weekly Spectator, a free trade organ, representative of moderate men of both parties, makes a last despairing appeal last night to the Unionist free traders to vote against the Government and risk a return of the protectionist party, rather than to endanger the integrity of the kingdom, which, it says, is in far greater peril than ever before, owing to the apathy the country displays toward the Irish question.

Balfour has not given the slightest indication of the details of his intended tariff, except that he committed himself to the assurance that no duty would be placed on raw cotton.

The campaign has been notable for the enormous use of picture posters and similar devices. The tariff reformers even opened shops in different district in order to display samples of foreign imports "dumped" into England. This led to amusing incidents—the discovery of one case that an alleged American chair really had been made in London.

The question of the cost of food in the United States and Germany also was illustrated in a similar manner. There were displays of British and German bread as object lessons, and there was much trouble over the Liberal allegations that the German poor subsisted on unpalatable black bread and horseflesh. Then a German baker in London came forward to testify that the alleged black rye bread was a luxury, and that he had a contract to supply it regularly to Buckingham Palace.

The Liberals tried hard to avoid one of their greatest dangers triangular contests due to the intrusion of Laborites; but despite their efforts, there still are fifty seats where there is a possibility of the Liberal constituencies returning in Unionist members through this cause.

The House of Commons consists of 670 members. Three candidates were returned unopposed yesterday by the Unionists, leaving 667 seats to be filled during the general election. Of those England will return 462, Wales 30, Scotland 72, and Ireland 103. When Parliament was dissolved last Monday, the composition of the House was as follows:

Ministerialists: Liberals, 385; Labor, 83; Nationalists, 81; Socialist, 1. Total 500.

Unionists, 168.

Ministerial majority 332.

Joseph Chamberlain, for Birmingham West, the high priest of tariff reform, was the first man entitled by this voting to append the letters "M.P." to his name, though, because of failing health, he never will be able to take his seat in the House. The other two successful ones were John Waller Hills for Durham City, and Hon. Walter Guinness for Bury St. Edmunds.

The first real test of strength is on to-day, when a dozen London constituencies and such manufacturing centres as Manchester, Birmingham, Bolton and Wolverhampton are voting.

Should Lancashire, heretofore regarded as an impregnable free trade fortress, give a notable measure of support of tariff reform, the candidates of the present party of protection will be entitled to regard victory as within their grasp. The Unionist agents actually claim that they will gain fourteen seats in Lancashire.

Lord Lansdowne is now credited with the worst bunder yet made by the Conservatives by declaring in a speech last night, in reply to a question concerning the Conservatives' attitude toward the old-age pensions, that he did not "suppose anyone claimed that future administrations would not be entitled to modify the conditions under which these pensions are awarded."

The Liberals are scattering the statement broadcast, declaring that it means that the Conservatives favor decreasing future old-age pensions. The effect has been to infuriate the workingmen, and many think that the blunder will change 500,000 votes.

The cotton spinners of the Lancashire districts employing approximately 1,000,000 men, raised their voice against the adoption of a protective policy.

THOMAS HODGINS DIES.

Admiralty Court Judge Passes Away Very Suddenly.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—His Honor Thomas Hodgins, M.A., LL.D., judge of the Admiralty Division of the Exchequer Court, and Master in Ordinary of the Supreme Court of Ontario, died suddenly at his home, 23 Bloor street west, yesterday afternoon between 4 and 5 o'clock, while endeavoring to answer the telephone. He had been ill with stomach trouble and in bed for some days, but got up to speak to someone who had called him up, but fell in a faint owing to heart failure, and passed away without regaining consciousness.

Judge Hodgins was the son of William Hodgins and Frances Doyle, and was born in Dublin in 1828. In 1849 he emigrated to Canada.

His education was obtained in Bristol, Eng., and in the University of Toronto, in which he won the university scholarship in civil polity and history, and from which he was graduated in 1856 as a bachelor of arts with first-class honors. He was granted the degree of bachelor of laws in 1858, that of master of arts in 1860, and that of doctor of laws, honoris causa, in 1906. He was called to the Bar in 1868, was appointed Queen's counsel for the Dominion in 1873, and for Ontario in 1876. In 1874 he was elected a bencher of the Law Society of Upper Canada. In 1876 and again in 1893 he was chosen a member of the senate of the University of Toronto.

The affiliation of the University of Toronto with the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge was arraigned by Dr. Hodgins. He was the one also who investigated the claims of the University of Toronto against the Government, as a result of which there was added to the university's endowment 150,000 acres of land and to its income $7,000 a year.

In 1878, he was engaged as counsel, in association with Sir Oliver Mowat, in the arbitration proceedings over the matter of the boundary of Ontario. He entered the Ontario Legislature as member for West Elgin in 1871, and held his seat till 1878, in which year he contested West Toronto for the Dominion House of Commons in the Liberal intercat, and he ran for West York in a similar way in 1882.

English Arrogance Unpopular.

London, Jan. 15.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—In connection with the proposed public School League of the Empire, Field Marshal Lord Roberts has written a meeting of headmasters at the Guildhall to the effect that while in Canada, attending the Tercentenary in 1908, he noticed with painful surprise that the Canadian did not always view the Englishman with unalloyed satisfaction.

"It must be remembered," wrote the observant Bobs, "that Canadians cannot put up with the arrogance shown in the English belief that young men with colonial ways are not so good as the English."

Would Murder Rich Man's Heirs.

Kansas City, Jan. 15.—"An arrest probably will be made in a few days," said John H. Atwood, an attorney for the Swope family yesterday, regarding the investigation of the death of Col. Thomas H. Swope, an aged philanthropist.

Col. Swope's death on Oct. 3, was at first attributed to apoplexy, but a quick succession of deaths and illness among heirs of the Swope estate led to an investigation, culminating in the exhuming of the body of Col. Swope, and the submitting of his stomach to chemical analysis.

The alleged murder plot has for its supposed end the extermination of all the Swope heirs.

It is stated that shortly before Christian Swope's death, which occurred Dec. 2, a man visited the office of a well-known bacteriologist in Kansas City, and procured some typhoid fever germs. With these it is asserted the man hoped to inoculate members of the Swope family.

Yale Chair to Honor Editor Laffan.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 15.—A gift of $100,000 from J. Pierpont Morgan for the establishment of the William M. Laffan professorship of Assyriology and Babylonian literature at Yale University was received by the Yale corporation at its meeting yesterday and and accepted. The gift is a memorial to Mr. Laffan, editor of The New York Sun, who died recently.

Fire Chief Was Justified.

JAN. 23. WHAT BAPTISTS AND DISCIPLES MUST YIELD. — JAN. 30. WHAT EPISCOPALIANS, CATHOLICS AND LUTHERANS MUST YIELD. — FEB. 6. THE CHURCH MILITANT AND THE CHURCH TRIUMPHANT.

The doctrinal points to be surrendered by the various denominations are little understood by the public. Every member of every denomination should be fully informed as to what his own and other sects propose doing. All should secure for themselves and friends copies of this paper containing the Pastor Russell Brooklyn Tabernacle Sermons of above mentioned dates. These sermons are a regular feature in about five hundred leading papers, reaching about ten million homes. Pastor Russell speaks from an independent position and will give plain, unvarnished facts so every one interested may be thoroughly conversant with the great CHURCH FEDERATION proposition.

Traveler Loses His Samples.

Belleville, Jan. 15.—A commercial traveler, who is on the road for a Hamilton firm, lost a grip here and $200 worth of costly silverware. The grip was lost at the local station, and the loss was not discovered till the traveler reached Port Hope. It is still missing.

A FRIEND TO WOMEN

What most women require to make them strong and healthy, and to restore good complexion and a well rounded form is more blood, more, rich, red blood, such as is added to the system by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Headache, indigestion and the weaknesses and irregularities which accompany exhausted nerves soon disappear when this great restorative treatment is used.

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

THE PETERBOROUGH ICE RACES PROMISE TO BE SUCCESS

The Peterborough annual winter ice races will be held at the Driving Park for two days this year, and those who enjoy this outside sport may feel assured that the competition for the large purses will be a keen one, and that all arrangements in connection with the races will be in the hands of efficient officials. The track at the park is in excellent condition already ,and special care will be taken to see that this important department receives every attention. The new preside nt, Mr. D. B. Denison, and Secretary F J. A. Hall, will be pleased to furnish information in regard to any detail of the program. The committee is composed of Messrs. H. Kendry, E. W. Jones, J. Cox, R H. Leary and Dr King. Horses from Toronto, Orillia, Lindsay, and other places will be entered, besides the local steppers Single fare has been secured on both railways.

First Day.

Thursday, January 20, 1910.

Named Race—Purse $30.

2.35 Class—Purse $150.

2.16 Class—$150.

Second Day.

Friday, January 21, 1910.

2.22 Class—Purse $150.

Free-for-all—Purse $150.

Conditions of Races.

Entrance: Five per cent, with five per cent. additional from all money winners. Five to enter and four to start. N.T.A. rules (of which this club is a member) to govern, with the exception that hopples are allowed. Mile heats, best three in five.

Right reserved to change the order of races as appearing on programme. Money divided 50, 25, 15, and 10 per cent. No horse is entitled to more than one money. Five seconds allowed trotters in all mixed races. Usual weather conditions to govern.

SECOND GAME IN JUNIOR SERIES ON MONDAY NEXT

The scond game in this group of the junior O. H. A. series will be played on Monday night at Brock Street Rink, between the Collegiate Institute and the Colts, and from this distance it looks like one of the snappiest little exhibitions of the season. The two teams battled last Monday night, and when it was all over the Collegiate were two goals to the good. Their team work gave them a victory over the young Petes. The latter had never been together before as a team, and although individually they classed up with the winners they did not work together and consequently they lost a hard battle. With the experience gained in the first contest, however the Colts are expected to do much better and their supporters look for a victory over the garnet and gray team on Monday night. The Students, of course, cannot see anything but victory ahead. for the doughty little seven representing the Collegiate. They say that their team can perform even better than they did last week, and that the resistance put up by the Colts was unexpected. This time they will be prepared for a hard game and will act according ly. The game will be called at 8.15 o'clock, with Bill Rose handling the bell. There will no doubt be a big crowd on hand to see the struggle.

SPORTING NOTES

The standing of the City Hockey League is as follows:

	W	L	T	P	Fr.	Ag.
West Ends	2	0	4	17	6
Strathconas	2	0	4	21	9

Games next week—Keene vs. T.A. S. 8 o'clock. West Ends vs. Strathconas 9 o'clock

Fred Whitcroft was out with the Peterborough Club at practice last night and showed his old time form stick handling and skating in his old time form, while he has exhibited a most dangerous shot. There was a big turnout and the practice was one of the snappiest of the season. Two teams were chosen, mixing up the juniors and intermediates.

The intermediates out were Derocher, Dusty, Seymour, Weatherstone, Campbell, while the juniors had Heffernan, Short, Pratt, Hall and Mills in uniform.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—The Edmonton hockey team, Stanley Cup challengers, arrived here this morning and had a fast workout in the afternoon at the local arena. They had all the regulars but Whitcroft, in line, making a splendid showing. Edmonton's chances of winning the Stanley Cup are considered bright, for Taylor will be missed from the Ottawa team and Kerr has been too ill to be expected to be at his best. Shore will play cover point in the Edmonton games. Mallen and Roberts being held as spares, Edmonton will practise steadily until they meet Ottawa in the first game next Tuesday night. Manager Jack Winchester predicts an Edmonton victory in both games. Eastern teams are already after Edmonton players, Renfrew being credited with making a great offer to "Hay" Miller. The Edmonton boys declare that they will stick together, win or lose the cup.

The Bell Telephone Company's team challenge the Park Street Church team to a game of hockey to be played as soon as possible at Brock St. Rink.

Goal—Richardson.
Point—Geale.
Cover—Denison (Capt.)
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Burritt.

Trade With United States.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The highest record ever made in trade between Canada and the United States was that of the last calendar year, according to official figures of the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor. Imports from Canada in 1909 aggregated $35,500,000, while in 1909 they increased to $38,000,000. In the same period the exports from the United States to Canada increased from $86,000,000 to about $190,000,000.

Canadian official statistics show that in 1909 60.4 per cent. of all Canadian imports were from the United States, compared with 46.08 per cent. in 1889.

Sees Her Babe Swallow Poison.

Buffalo, Jan. 15.—On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Frieda Buchert fell from the Lackawanna viaduct. When found three hours later her clothing was frozen to the ground and she was unconscious from exposure and the result of her injuries. Last night, while lying helpless in bed she saw her 18-months-old baby pick up a bottle of tincture of opium and drink the poison. A three-year-old child, the only other person in the house, was sent to a neighbor's to call for help. The baby will die.

Kingston, Jan. 15.—In a runaway Thursday night, Miss M. Bruce of Harrowsmith was thrown against a post and had her left shoulder badly crushed and fractured. A. H. Guess of Murvale had his left hip seriously bruised and injured.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $2.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.00 per day up

Grafton & Co's mid-winter sale is now in full swing. This semi-annual event illustrates the two-fold purchasing power that enables this store to maintain an underselling reputation for high-class goods. The thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise offered at reduced prices are up to the Grafton standard. And while the prices are dropped down systematically in January, it is done without a corresponding drop in qualities. Men's winter overcoats, spick-and-span new, that were formerly $15, sell now at $10.98, and men's tweed and fancy worsted suits that formerly sold up to $10.00 are now only $6.98. Premium tickets are given, as usual, during this reduction sale. Hundreds of items in the underwear and furnishing department are also ticketed with a fifth and a quarter off.

White and Gillespie's grocery store has always something good to offer for the table and pantry, no matter whether it's January or December. Housekeepers that keep in close touch with this family store all the year around, noticed that it enjoys a steady trade. On Saturdays, it is a great rendezvous for farmers and farmers' wives, who find it convenient for the disposal of their fresh eggs, butter, poultry and other produce, and who get a good exchange therefor in prime groceries and provisions. There are women who stick to White and Gillespie's because of their good coffees and teas; there are men who never go anywhere else for a good piece of cheese; and there are housekeepers who get every ounce of butter they use out of White and Gillespie's refrigerators. Everybody connected with this grocery store is an advertiser at heart. A telephone enquiry is answered promptly and intelligently. And the windows, like the store, are kept bright and attractive with new goods, and dressed with taste.

A man must make up his mind, if he is going to succeed, that when he takes the other man's dollar he must give back to him an honest return. That's how a shopper at J. T. Etenson & Sons' shoe store is impressed The firm has not yet announced a January sale, but the tickets on the goods in the window as well as prices asked about in the store lean that way; good values, at Stenson's, is a maxim religiously adhered to, day in and day out.

Buy furniture now and put money in your purse. The E. B. Clegg Furnitre Co. are making prices so reasonable this month that you may make genuine savings by investing now. New prices have come forward to fill gaps made by heavy December selling, and every day this month will be marked by extra special prices on many articles in the Clegg warerooms. Nothing nicer for the bedroom than a white enameled iron bed; always clean, always neat, no crevices for dust or vermin. Perhaps you are not aware that the E. B. Clegg Co. are specialising iron beds at present, along with other home furnishings. Homes are furnished complete here, and as the marriage register is a sure index to the establishment of new homes, young housekeepers can't do a wiser thing than to keep an eye on Clegg's shop and Clegg's ads. in The Examiner.

If people will only start out on the new year with a strong desire to retrench and avoid the extravagances which good times usually beget, they will have overcome a deadly enemy. Theoretically, the place for economy to begin is with the individual. But he finds it hard to do it. When the individual refuses to retrench, he is using the increased cost of living as an argument for an increase in salary. Every increase in prices, whether it be in wages, rates or commodities, comes out of the consumer. He must pay the bills, sure.

CRESSMAN'S ANNUAL WHITE GOODS EVENT

There's always a "best time" to buy anything—now's the time to make your choice of Lingerie Articles and Lingerie Materials. The customs of to-day have a great deal to do with the merchandise events or sales that are so common at this season of the year. There was a time, and not long ago, when the average woman neglected to do her summer sewing until the warm spring and summer days—she soon found that it became a burden, so began to get busy in February and March, when the weather was not so inviting. The custom has grown until now everybody begins looking for White Goods as soon as Xmas is over—nor do they stop at white fabrics, they lay in a supply of lingerie undergarments and the merchant buys accordingly. We anticipated the needs of our many customers away back in last year and have had exceptional luck in securing great values—prices talk. Note the following carefully—better still, come and see. Everything displayed for easy seeing. :: :: :: :: :: :: :: :: :: ::

"THE IMP OF THE BOTTLE"
A beautiful and very interesting dramatic picture play. The story is clearly and happily told and the bottles magic properties are taken full advantage of.

"A WINTER'S TALE"
This is a very funny comedy, showing the trouble as well as the immense amount of fun Jack Frost caused in the House of Mr. Smith in good old Winter time. It is filled with genuine fun and varied situations.

"A VISIT TO BISKRA"
A beautifully coloured Pathe picture presenting many scenes taken in Biskra, a French possession in Arabia. It is a most interesting picture, showing the manners and customs of the inhabitants.

"A LUCKY HUSBAND"
Another of Pathe's very funny comedy picture plays, showing a dream a man's wife had and the great troubles she went through before she awoke.

UNIONISTS HAVE FAILED TO STAMPEDE ELECTORS

They Did Well in London, Birmingham and Manchester But Their Gains Have Fallen Far Short of the Necessary Number---Liberal Leaders Predict a Big Majority ---Sunday Brought Respite.

London, Jan. 17.—At the close of Saturday's voting, the standing of the various parties, including uncontested seats, was:

Unionists	43
Liberals	37
Laborites	6
Nationalists	5
Unionists gains	18
Liberal gains	3
Laborite gains over Liberals	1
No change	69

Of the twelve seats contested in London, the Liberals hold seven, and the Unionists five, three of the latter being gained in North Lambeth, Brixton and Fulham.

In the provinces, the Unionists gained Southwest Manchester, Stalybridge, Salisbury, Rochester, Burnley, two seats in Devonport, Cambridge, Falmouth, Gloucester, Wolverhampton, West and South, Wednesbury and two seats in Bath.

The Labor gain was in East Manchester.

Sunday was given a welcome respite from strenuous work at the election stations, and an opportunity for calm reflection over the prospects of both parties striving to gain control of the Government.

The greatest animation prevailed yesterday at the rendezvous of politicians and Saturday's results were discussed from all possible view points. Although both sides preserve an air of confidence, it was evident the Conservatives have at least abandoned hope that the party will form the next Government. The utmost they dare expect is that the Liberal majority will be reduced in the next Parliament as to place the Liberals at the mercy of the Nationalists.

Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, in a speech some days ago, said the great political issues now in question would not be settled by one general election, and perhaps not by two. Clearly the ex-Premier accurately measured the situation, and the hopes of tariff reformers must now be centred upon some future general action.

As forecasted, an unprecedented number of electors came to the polls. An average of 84 per cent. of the registered electors voted.

This increase in the voting strength seems to have been largely cast on the Unionist side. In London the twelve seats won gained an average increase of 12,845 to the Unionist vote and a slight decrease to the Liberals, while the provinces increased the Unionist vote 45,942, and the Liberal vote only 4,513.

This increase is a source of greatest satisfaction to the Unionist press, as showing the rapid growth in favor of tariff reform.

The editorials in the morning newspapers take up an attitude of temperate enthusiasm on both sides regarding Saturday's results, as a "good beginning," which should serve to provoke adherents to the respective parties to renewed energy.

Rev. C. Sylvester Horne's election in Parliament for Ipswich establishes a record. Under the law clergymen are incapacitated from sitting in Parliament, but a non-conformist minister is not recognized as a clergyman. There have been several other clergymen and retired dissenting divines in the House of Commons, but Rev. C. S. Horne is the first acting pastor to be elected to that body.

The popular vote goes strongly against the Liberals. The members of that party who hold seats won them Saturday by majorities ranging from 50 to 60 per cent. below their majorities in 1906, except in a few boroughs where special conditions figured in the campaign. The popular votes polled by the Liberals for the twelve London seats show a stronger hold on power than in the provinces. The majority of the London boroughs were labor districts. Of these the Unionists carried five, three being captured from the Liberal column, but by small margins.

Manchester and Birmingham gave heavy Unionist gains. Birmingham has been strongly Conservative, largely the result of Joseph Chamberlain's crusade for protection, and Unionists carried the city solidly by increased majorities, nearly 8,000 larger than in 1906.

In Manchester the Unionists increased their votes, for while the Liberals still have five of the six seats, the Liberal majorities were decreased nearly 9,000.

The most exciting scene of the campaign occurred at Grimsby Saturday, where a menacing crowd threatened David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, compelling him to flee from a hall where he had been speaking, under police protection, much as he was driven from a pro-Boer meeting at Birmingham during the South African war, when he escaped in a policeman's uniform.

FATALLY BURNED

Farmer Near Brockville Injured in Saving Children

Special to The Examiner.

Brockville, Jan. 17.—A farmer, Lee, living eight miles from Brockville, was brought to the hospital this morning suffering from burns, which will likely prove fatal. While his wife was putting their three children to bed last night the lamp was knocked over, setting fire to the carpet and driving Mrs. Lee from the room. The father rushed from down stairs and saved the children, receiving terrible burns himself. The house and contents were completely destroyed.

POLLING TO-DAY IN 104 CONSTITUENCIES IN BRITAIN

Special to The Examiner.

London, Jan. 17.—Polling is taking place to-day in 104 constituencies, which 31 are in London constituencies and 73 provincial boroughs. The unionists in the late house held 36 of the 104, the liberals 52 and labourites 16. Among those up for election to-day are Hon. A. J. Balfour, the opposition leader, John Burns, President of the local government board, Hon. Augustine Birrell, Postmaster General Philip Snowden, one of the labour leaders, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, and Mr. A. Bonar Law, the Canadian. John W Redmond and six other Irish Nationalists were returned unopposed to-day.

A NEW RURAL MAIL DELIVERY IS ESTABLISHED

A rural mail delivery has been established between Lakefield and Lakehurst, and the contract has been entered into by the Post Office Department with Mr. Shearer for the delivery of rural mail. It now depends upon the farmers themselves along the new route whether they will take advantage of the system and obtain the benfit therefrom or whether they will remain indifferent to the privilege. Patrons along the route between Lakefield and Selwyn should have their mail addressed to Lakefield, the patrons between Selwyn and Hall's Bridge to Selwyn, and between Hall's Bridge and Lakehurst, to Hall's Bridge, in order to ensure the earliest delivery. Any farmer who desires to have a box placed at his gate should make application for the same to the Post Master General at Ottawa. The only cost of rural delivery to the farmer is the cost of the box—$3. The box is the property of the patron and may be taken away by him in the event of his moving to any other mail route. The post master at Lakefield will, no doubt, facilitate matters by giving any information about the new route to any farmer inquiring of him.

Was Thrown From A Rig Had His Leg Fractured

Mr. J. Sanderson, driver for Wm. Stock and Sons, was painfully injured on Saturday morning about 11.30 o'clock in an accident that might have resulted much more seriously than it did. The accident occurred at the corner of Dublin and Aylmer Sts. As Mr. Sanderson was driving around the corner the sleigh, which was laden with bread, upset, throwing the driver out and the sleigh fell upon with the result that his left leg was fractured below the knee. He was picked up and taken to Nicholls hospital, where an examination revealed the state of his injury. He is still in the hospital and is doing as well as can be expected.

CANADIAN NAVY.

The proposal to build a Canadian navy is not a concession to any jingo spirit; it is the natural outcome of past history and present conditions. Canada is a part of the British Empire; her present intention is to remain a part of the British Empire. As such she has her duties and her obligations which she cannot shirk. Her own importance as a nation, as well as the position she occupies in the Empire, has forced upon her the facing of the problem of self-defence.

But in the determination to face this problem, there is nothing of the spirit of jingoism. The cause of peace and good will among nations has no more genuine friend to-day than Sir Wilfrid Laurier, nor is there a people in the world more thoroughly committed both by temperament and conditions to a policy of peaceful history and good neighbourliness than are the people of Canada. —Sentinel Review.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The memory of Gladstone remains green in the Balkans, and, indeed, in all Eastern Europe. On the occasion of the centenary of his birth there were celebrations in Athens, in Sofia and in Belgrade, while the Italian Minister of Agriculture addressed a telegram of appreciation to Lord Morley. In this message he called Gladstone "the distinguished Liberal statesman, the great financier, the initiator of religious liberty in Ireland, the ardent votary of Homer and the youth of the Greek world, the apostolic friend of nations suffring in servitude, who understood and avenged the tribulation of the Italian people in bitter days of oppression."

PRACTICAL VALUE OF THE BRITISH CONNECTION.

(Montreal Herald.

An address on Canadian Nationalism and the Imperial Tie, delivered by Prof. G. M. Wrong, of Toronto University, before the American Political Science Association and the American Historical Association in New York, is published in extenso in some of the leading American papers. It sets forth in a very practical way the value of the British connection to the Dominion. The audience of educated New Yorkers made no secret of their appreciation of the suggestive and interesting discourse.

Prof. Wrong put before his hearers in the form of dollars and cents some aspects of the value of a tie which is retained because there was never any reason why it should be broken. He was very frank about Canada's position, as compared with that of the republic. When the United States began life on its own account it had no powerful neighbour. Canada has a powerful neighbour, and is wise in retaining a tie that gives her more weight in a time of difficulty. On the practical side, John Bull is a wealthy old gentleman with plenty of money to invest, and Canada is a vigorous young man cramped by want of capital. What more natural than that demand and supply should meet? What is needed is confidence. This the political tie accentuates, and Canada is able to secure vast sums of money at a very low rate of interest. She has a preference in the money market. In the year 1909, out of [illegible] issues of more than [illegible] Canada sold 94 per cent. in Great Britain, and last year the amount and the proportion were still larger. The Government and the railways of Canada now owe more than $800,000,000 in Great Britain, nearly the whole of their bonded debt, and vast sums in addition in municipal and other bonds. It is necessary, in order to continue in the enjoyment of these advantages, that standards of political and commercial integrity should be followed which will commend themselves to the British investors, but these standards are good for Canada herself. They exert a steadying influence, beneficial to a new country. Another factor of mutual advantage is the granary of the Canadian West, which constitutes a practically indispensable part of Britain's food supply, and realizes the money that comes to Canada through that source. Then there is the league of world States—Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, all helping to promote a great destiny for each and lofty aims for all.

CRIME IN CANADA.

(London Advertiser)

Law-abiding Canadians will find little that is gratifying in the volume of criminal statistics for the year ended Sept 30, 1908, only recently issued by the department of agriculture. The convictions are divided into two classes—those for indictable offences and those made summarily before magistrates. In the former are included the more serious crimes; in the latter such offences as petty theft, drunkenness, etc.

The figures in the report made known the disagreeable fact that crime in the Dominion is increasing at a greater rate than the population, the number of convictions having more than doubled in a decade. The figures of convictions for both indictable and summary offences in each of ten years are:

	Indictable.	Summary.	Total
1899	5,713	32,997	38,710
1900	5,768	35,835	41,603
1901	5,638	36,510	42,148
1901	5,638	36,510	42,148
1902	5,660	37,876	43,536
1903	6,521	43,862	50,383
1904	6,754	48,192	54,946
1905	7,624	54,935	62,559
1906	8,092	62,798	70,890
1907	9,110	70,060	79,170
1908	11,334	77,299	88,633

The convictions for indictable offences—i. e, crimes against person or property—show a great increase over the preceding year. The figures are:

	1907	1908
Murder	8	15
Attempted murder or manslaughter	32	41
Crimes against decency	189	204
Shooting or wounding	130	150
Grave assaults	1,364	1,835
Offences against property with violence	681	893
Ditto without violence	5,509	6,796

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Peterborough People.

Too many Peterborough citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping of lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest, and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

W. Wormington, of 121 Brock St., Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I had suffered with rheumatism for over three years. I found little or no relief in any of the remedies I tried. I became so stiff and sore that I could scarcely turn in bed, and had to lay off from my work. The urine was highly coloured and filled with a heavy, sand-like sediment, which plainly told the disordered state of the kidneys. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at McDermid & Jury's Drug Store, and was surprised to see how quickly the urine cleared. The kidneys were soon active and the uric acid went from my system. The rheumatism gradually became less severe and finally left me. I am better than in years previous and could not hesitate to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

O Captain Loose, of the good ship Goose, won't you tell us a seaman's tale
Of the wave-washed deck and the ghastly wreck, and the rocks, and the groaning gale?
"I was 'fore the mast," answered Captain Fast—or Loose, as the case may be—"and our dancing bark, it was called the Shark, and the year was ninety-three.
And there came a blast that upset the mast, and rended the rudder chains; and we drifted south in the snarling mouth of a frightful hurricane. Week after week in the fume and reek, and the roar of the salt sea spray, we drifted on till our hope was gone—and we never left Broadway. And monsters dire with their eyes of fire, all over the bulwarks crept, and forty-foot eels and bears on wheels surrounded me when I slept; and there came forth from the wintry north vast coveys of [illegible] geese; aye, I heard their cries with my tarry eyes, or my name's not Captain Loose! And I might go on till the break of dawn, a-telling my awful tale, when I sailed the Shark o'er the waters dark, in my [illegible] in a cheap hotel!"

BIG REDUCTION IN INSURANCE RATES

Benefit of Installation of Waterworks System Felt in Guelph.

Guelph, Ont., Jan. 17.—Word has been received of a ten-cent reduction in mercantile insurance rates which the Underwriters' Association of Canada have decided to make in this city, owing to the completion of the new waterworks system, and the reorganisation of the fire department. This is a flat reduction of ten cents on every thousand on all risks under the mercantile section. Just what percentage off it gives on an average is difficult to estimate, as it depends upon the individual policies on which it is reckoned, but an example of what it means may be that of the New Winter Fair building. The insurance on this building costs about 75 cents a thousand, equalling a total of $187.50, the reduction of ten cents per thousand just takes $25 off the annual cost of insuring this building and makes it $162.50.

The total saving to the property owners who are affected by this reduction would also be difficult to ascertain, but, while he did not want to be quoted in the matter, one of the most prominent local fire insurance men, in an interview with The Courier correspondent, estimated the saving as being something over $10,000 a year. This will mean to each a saving in his insurance more than sufficient to maintain the whole new fire department. To the city at large, speaking in a general way, it more than pays the $8,000 odd that it costs to maintain the present reorganized fire department.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema developes from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

TRADE INTERESTS TO BE CONSIDERED

Committee of Commerce May be Established in London, Ont.

London, Jan. 17.—The London Board of Trade have taken up an important matter, of interest to all the Dominion, in the shape of a proposal to petition the government for the establishment of a body to be known as a committee of commerce. It is pointed out that the best interests of trade are not always considered and in some cases there are conditions in existence detrimental. To insure proper protection it has been suggested that a committee be established to act for trade as the railway commission does for railway matters.

The idea when proposed at the London Board of Trade, met with warm approval and it is probable that in the near future the boards of trade in the different cities will petition for such a body to be established.

The needs of such a committee were brought to the board's attention by a communication from the board of trade of Hamilton, calling attention to a private bill to be presented to the government asking for more power for trade combinations or co-operative societies which are claimed to damage materially the interests of trade. These societies or clubs are organised so as to take in hundreds of people. They are not responsible for goods they may purchase and in some instances wholesalers have been losers by them.

It is to meet just such questions as these that the proposed committee would have a very useful place.

POPULAR SONG WRITER MAY BE DIVORCED

Author of "My Wife's Gone to the Country" Finds Himself in Trouble

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Mr. George H. Bernhammer, known to the musical and theatrical world at George Whiting, who wrote "My Wife's Gone to the Country, Hooray, Hooray!" and other popular ditties in a similar strain, became so popular that he did not give his wife an opportunity to go to the country, but "hiked" to New York with a woman named "Erma," deserting his wife here, according to statements made in her suit charging him with abandoning her.

She began divorce proceedings against him last July. His wife is known on the stage as Trixie Harris. Mrs. Bernhammer says popularity turned the head of her husband, who was a fairly compnaionable sort of person as long as she was providing the groceries and paying the rent, while he was trying to get his songs on the market.

HAD TO PAY $7.65 FOR AN ASSAULT

Young Men Who Engaged in Fight Appeared in Police Court.

A young man, an employee of the C. G. E., was fined two dollars and costs this morning for assaulting another young fellow of the same factory. The case was heard at some length, Mr. G. N. Gordon appearing for the defendant, pleading not guilty. Several witnesses were called.

The plaintiff stated that he was coming out of the gate when he met the accused who offered to fight him. Witness said that he didn't want to fight. Defendant then struck him in the eye, which looked quite black this morning. He fell down and was struck again. After rolling on the ground for a few minutes some of the by-standers pulled the accused off. The row arose out of the defendant interfering with the complainant and another fellow who had had some words.

Several witnesses were called who swore to having seen the defendant strike the plaintiff but the testimony of some of them was to the effect that the assault was provoked by the complainant and the accused only fought after having been repeatedly taunted by his opponent tht he could 'lick' him.

The defendant said that he was taking a message to the brass department on Friday last when he saw the plaintiff and another fellow having some words. The latter asked witness to wait for him at the gate as the plaintiff was going to beat him. The complainant turned to him and told him that it was all the same, he would take him instead. Witness waited at the gate for him and asked him if he was going to fight. His opponent struck him in the ribs with his elbow. Defendant pulled off his coat and struck him. A scuffle followed and both fell.

Nervous Prostration For Three Years

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me of a period of nervous prostration of over three years duration, and the Anti-Pain Pills are as necessary to us as the roof of our house. They have been household remedies with us for many years."

WM. J. LOUGHRAN,
1214 Catherine St.,
Philadelphia, Penna.

Much sickness is due to nervous troubles. Headache, dizziness, epilepsy and insanity are nervous troubles. Then there is a large class of disorders which arise from a weakness of the nerves of an organ or part, as weak lungs, heart, stomach, kidney, bladder, eyes, etc. Dyspepsia and indigestion are usually the result of nervous disorders.

Restorative Nervine

soothes the irritated nerves, and assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle fails to benefit, your druggist will return your money.

COST OF FEDERATION

PASTOR CHAS. T. RUSSELL DISCUSSES CHURCH UNION.

The Old Dogmas Are Passing and Few Barriers Now Stand In the Way of a United Organization—Differences of Calvinists and Methodists—Presbyterians and Congregationalists Are One.

Brooklyn, N.Y., Jan. 16.—To-day began a series of Christian Mass Meetings, which are to continue during four successive Sunday afternoons in the largest Auditorium of Brooklyn, the Academy of Music, under the auspices of "People's Pulpit Association." The topic for the day was:

Pastor C. T. Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle delivered the address. The spacious and elegant Auditorium was crowded so that an overflow meeting with another speaker was deemed advisable. On the platform behind the speaker were several hundred men, including a number of ministers. The audience as a whole was a very intelligent one. The Hon. J. F. Rutherford, attorney-at-law, introduced Pastor Russell, who said:

I take for my text the Word of the Lord through the Prophet, "Say ye not, A Confederacy, to all them to whom this people shall say, A Confederacy; neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid" (Isaiah viii, 12).

The desirableness of oneness in the Church of Christ is beyond dispute. The impropriety of sectarianism or division is now generally conceded, although twenty years ago many defended the divided condition of the Church as being helpful. They pointed to our Lord's words, I am the Vine and ye are the branches; every branch in me that beareth not fruit my Father, the Husbandman, taketh away. And every branch that beareth fruit he pruneth, that it may bring forth more fruit (John xv, 1-5). They claimed that the denominations were the branches. The evident teaching of the Master here is that his people are related to him in an individual sense and not as parties, sects or denominations, and that they are dealt with from the individual standpoint as one Church and not many.

St. Paul enunciated the same great truth (I. Corinthians xii, 13), declaring that the Lord Jesus is the Head of the Church, which is his Body, and that as the human body has many members under the full control of the head, except when diseased, so the Church, as members in particular of the Body of Christ, are all to be subject to the Lord as their Head. They are all to be so connected with their Head, and thus with each other, that when one suffers, all suffer with it, and when one rejoices, all rejoice with it, because they all have fellowship in the one spirit of the Head. Hence the eye cannot say to the hand, nor the hand to the foot, I have no need of you, for every member is necessary to the prosperity of the Body as a whole. And as the joint supports and strengthens the limb and is joined thereto by sinews, etc., so individually God's people are united to each other in the bonds of grace and truth and love.

It must be conceded that Church Federation or Confederacy is in many respects quite a different thing from the Church's oneness illustrated by our Lord's parable of the vine, and the Apostle's illustration of the human body. Nevertheless since a Federation is proposed as the nearest possible approach to the spiritual enjoined Union, it is proper that we and all Christians everywhere should enquire carefully the cost and the gain implied in the Federation movement. As the program shows, this series of meetings will consider impartially the cost of Federation to the creeds of the most prominent denominations. First in the list to-day we consider the sacrifices of Congregationalism, Presbyterianism and Methodism.

(1) As to church government very slight concessions will be required of any of the federating denominations. Denominational liberties as respects forms of worship and methods of government and discipline are to be permitted very loose rein. The Federation proposes merely the regulation of home and foreign mission work and a general watch-care over the interests of the federated systems along the lines of political influence. The expectation is that the political power of the Federation will have considerable to do with moulding of legislation favorable to the Federation, and later on, unfavorable to the smaller denominations not associated in the Federation.

(2) It is along doctrinal lines that the sacrificing in the interest of Federation will be chiefly demanded.

Doctrinally Congregationalists and Presbyterians are one; hence we may consider their sacrifices of doctrine in the interests of Federation as the same. They both accept the Westminster Confession of Faith with its Calvinistic foundation—that God, before the foundation of the world, foreordained whatsoever comes to pass; that he predestined an elect, saintly few to heavenly glory, and equally foreordained that the remainder of thousands of millions of non-elect should be maintained in eternal life to all eternity, in order that they might suffer excruciating pains, both mental and physical, never-ending, as a part of the supposed penalty of the "Original Sin" committed by our first parents in Eden.

Evidently there will be few people in these highly intelligent Christian bodies ready to insist, as our forefathers did, that this element of faith is essential to salvation. Few of us would agree with Brother John Calvin, the great architect of this creed, that fellow-Christians rejecting this doctrine should be burned at the stake, as Brother Calvin decided in respect to Brother Servetus. No, thank God! We have outgrown some of the narrowness which so terribly fettered some of our brethren during the dark ages.

Few any longer believe that there are "infants in hell not a span long," because non-elect. Even where the doctrine of Election is still blindly held, few have the temerity to state their belief that any innocent infant was predestinated to everlasting torture. But Brother Calvin's contention expressed in the Westminster Confession is that there are no innocent infants—that the condemnation of Original Sin was to eternal torture and that Adam's children, "born in sin and shapen in iniquity," were therefore not innocent, but guilty—born under the sentence of eternal torment and salvable from it only through membership in the Church of Christ. Indeed we may say that this theory was still older than Calvin, for did not St. Augustine first declare the danger of infants to eternal torture and the necessity of their being brought into the Church of Christ by baptism in order to escape eternal torture? And is not the force of this teaching still manifest amongst both Protestants and Catholics, as evidenced by their fear to have an infant die unbaptized—so that some, in extreme cases, even practice "baptism in utero?"

Doctrinally Methodism is indirectly opposed to Calvinism in every sense of the word. Possibly Methodists will have less to concede than Calvinists, because, although in Wesley's day the doctrine of Free Grace was combatted on every hand, it is now the tacit faith of the vast majority of Christendom. The doctrine that God had premeditated and irrevocably foreordained the eternal torture of our race except a handful of the Elect was too horrible a one to stand. So the Methodist doctrine of Divine Love for all and Free Grace as respects salvation has appealed more and more to the growing intelligence of mankind. Nevertheless we cannot do otherwise than concede that it will matter little to the thousands of millions which all "orthodox" creeds consign to eternal torture whether they shall suffer eternal agonies as a result of Divine lovelessness in foreordaining their sufferings or to Divine inability to outwork for their benefit the supposed advantages of Free Grace arranged for them by Divine Love.

Our suggestion is that now, in the lapping time of this Gospel Age with the oncoming Millennial Age, as the are electric light casts the candle of the past into the shadow so the clearer light now shining from the pages of God's Word casts into the shadow all the doctrines of the "dark ages," relieving us of the horrible nightmare which once beclouded our hearts and lives and made us fearful of our Creator as an all-powerful, but merciless sovereign. In this blessed light now shining from God's Book have we not a basis for Christian union? Let us see! If we can find in God's Word that the doctrine of Election and the doctrine of Free Grace are both true, both Biblical, but that one belongs to the Church in this Gospel Age and the other to mankind in general in the coming Millennial Age, will not this solve our problem and give us doctrinal union instead of a mere federation based upon the ignoring of doctrine? We can all assent to this, therefore let us examine the facts.

The Bible assuredly declares a Divine election according to a Divine purpose foreordained—but not such as election as Brother Calvin outlined. God foreordained the selection of a Church, predestinating the number who would constitute its membership and the character of each one who would be acceptable as a member. He foreordained tests of the worthiness of these members and the glorious reward that should be theirs and a great work which they shall be privileged to do for mankind—limitedly now, fully during the Millennium. Accustomed to the election of fellow-citizens to the Presidency, to Congress, etc., where they will have the opportunity for blessing the non-elect, we should have carried this same thought to the Divine election of the Church. We should have discerned that the elect Church, the "Seed of Abraham" (Galatians iii, 29), is specially intended to be the channel of Divine blessing to "all the families of the earth" Genesis xxviii, 14).

How strange that we overlooked this and the assurance that with the completion of the Church Messiah would exalt her in the "First Resurrection" to be his Bride and joint-heir in his Millennial Kingdom, to be established for the blessing of all mankind! How strange that we did not notice that [illegible] text of Scripture used by our [illegible] brethren to substantiate their doctrine of Free Grace belongs to the Millennial Kingdom! As for instance, the Bible, after telling us of the completion of the Church now espoused to the Lamb and after her marriage or union with him at his [illegible] in the "Book of the Lamb's Wife," says that then the Spirit and the Bride shall say, Come and whosoever will may come and take of the water of life freely" (Revelation xxii, 17).

Ah, yes, we failed disastrously to keep the Apostle's command, "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of Truth" (II. Timothy ii, 15). We failed to thus divide the Truth and to note the portion applicable now and the other portion applicable during the Millennium. Thank God, we are not yet too old to learn. We surely have been thoroughly sickened by our mistaken interpretations of the past, which made nonsense of both the doctrines—Election and Free Grace—and worse than this, defamed and vilified our Heavenly Father, "the God of all Grace."

In the light now shining we may see that the terms of the Divine election of the Church are in every sense of the word without partiality, except as regards character and faithfulness. Those now called with the heavenly calling to be of "the elect" are indeed invited to eternal life on the spirit plane, to be like unto the angels, but more exalted, while the opportunities to be granted to the world in general during the Millennium will be inferior, earthly, restitutionary—yet grand (Acts iii, 19-21). But this difference of reward is counterbalanced by the severer trials and testings of those now called to be of the elect. They must walk in faith and not by sight, they must take up their cross and follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. They must count their lives not dear unto them, but willingly sacrifice their earthly interests that they may be participators with their Redeemer in glory, honor and immortality, and in his great work of the Millennium—the blessing of the world of mankind with a mental, moral, social and physical uplift.

Cannot we all, Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists, and all others of God's people, unite as one body upon this Scriptural hypothesis? Are we not satisfied with the terms of this election—that they are sufficiently stringent to exclude all except the saintly? Hearken to the Apostle's declaration, which we once so grievously misunderstood: He says of God's election, "Whom he did foreknow he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son." In other words, when our Heavenly Father foreknew and predetermined to gather an elect Church as the Bride of Christ, he also predetermined that none could be members of it unless they attained through faith and obedience in the School of Christ character-likeness of Jesus—heart likeness to him—hence, as nearly as possible, an obedience of the flesh to his Law.

Surely no one will claim that any but a little flock has ever attained to this honored condition; hence our former ideas respecting the non-elect would consign the majority of our families, neighbors, friends and all the heathen, to endless woe. But now how differently we see in God's Word that the elect class is selected in advance, that in God's due time, with the Redeemer, it may bless every creature with fullest opportunity to return to human perfection in a Paradise regained—restored during the Millennium. This proposition of the Scriptures includes those who have gone down to the prison-house of death—into Sheol, in Hades, both the evil and the good. All shall then know, from the least to the greatest, that "Jesus Christ, by the grace of God, tasted death for every man." They shall know that the redeeming blood was not shed in vain, but will secure to each member of Adam's race, not eternal life, but an opportunity to attained eternal life—either on the heavenly plane during this Age or on the earthly plane during the Millennium.

I address you, dear friends, not from a sectarian standpoint, but from a Federation standpoint; yea, more than this, from the standpoint of those who desire to be doctrinally, as well as outwardly, in agreement with the Lord and with each other. Have we not, in this beautiful election of the Bible, the basis for the grandest of all hopes, the highest of all ambitions—to be "heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ our Lord?" Can we want more than this for ourselves? And does it not enhance the glory of this prize to have the prospect of conquering the world for Jesus and for the Father during the Millennium, in the only way in which it ever can be conquered—God's way?

Is it not for this Kingdom that our Redeemer taught us to pray, "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven?" Is it not for this Kingdom that he taught us to wait, saying, "Fear not, little flock; it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom" (Luke xii, 32)? If it not for this Kingdom that the world waits? "Unto him every knee shall bow and every tongue confess." "The knowledge of the Lord shall fill the whole earth." "All shall know him from the least to the greatest." "And it shall come to pass that every soul which will not hear that Prophet shall be destroyed from amongst the people" (Acts iii, 23). Shall we, then, stop merely with an outward federation or confederacy? Shall we not rather unite our hearts and heads and hands along the lines of the Divine promise given to us—"In thee and in thy Seed shall the families of the earth be blessed?" (Galatians iii, 29).

No Papers In Denver.

Denver, Col., Jan. 17—Denver breakfasted Saturday without its morning paper. The cause was the difficulty between the publishers and the local organization of pressmen.

The demand of the local union originally was for a seven-hour, instead of an eight-hour day, and an increase of $1 a day, the changes to date from March 1 last. These conditions were agreed to, but before final adjustment could be made, the pressmen demanded that they be granted time and a half for the extra hour they had worked under the new scale from last March. This the publishers refused.

Overcome by Gas.

New York, Jan. 17.—Eight men were overcome by coal gas as they snoozed on cots in a Turkish bath establishment in Harlem yesterday morning.

Two more sturdy bathers ran from the place clad in pyjamas, and, nimbly hopping several fences, summoned the police and ambulances. Timely aid revived the eight; all will recover.

JUDGE BREAKS TIE.

Arch. Greer Is Now Reeve of Mulmur by One Vote.

Orangeville, Jan. 17.—About 10.30 Friday night fire broke out in the cellar of M. E. Clark & Co.'s store. After pouring water into the cellar for some time, the firemen found flames had originated from the top of the furnace and were burning along joists and up the wall.

People dwelling over the store were almost smothered with smoke. Irvine's jewelry store, next door, was filled with smoke, damaging the stock.

On Jan. 3 John Reaburn was elected reeve of Mulmur Township, over Arch. Greer by one vote. A recount was applied for, which was granted. The ballots were counted before Judge McCarthy Saturday. The judge declared the vote a tie, 348 votes being according each. The casting vote was given to Mr. Greer, he being declared elected.

Mr. Greer is now an aspirant for the wardenship of the County of Dufferin. His most formidable opponent is Jas. Reith of Grand Valley. The County Council meets here on Tuesday, the 25th.

Customs Regulations.

Ottawa, Jan. 17.—Regulations recently issued by the Department of Customs relative to certificates of origin on goods entered under the British preferential tariff, and those covered by treaty or convention rates, come into force on and after Feb. 1.

Inspectors and exporters are notified that the country of origin, in respect to each article, must be specified on the margin opposite to each article, or elsewhere in the invoice, when the articles are for entry in Canada, under the British preference tariff, and that the certificate of origin must be written, printed or stamped on the face or back of all invoices, except for raw and refined sugars.

It is also provided that all goods for entry under the British preferential tariff are to be invoiced separately from other goods, and that in future the German surtax certificate can be dispensed with on British goods.

New forms are provided for goods under the British preference, and also for those covered by treaty or convention rates.

ENDS INDIGESTION IN A FEW MOMENTS

Gas, Heartburn, Headache and All Misery In Stomach Vanishes.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapepsin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of Indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, belching, Gas on Stomach, Heartburn, Headaches from stomach, Nausea, Bad Breath, Water Brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no Indigestion or Sleepless nights or Headache or Stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapepsin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the Stomach or sour odours from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.

When Menelik Dies.

Rome, Jan. 17.—The Ministry of War is mobilizing two army corps at Naples and Pisa in readiness to embark to Erythrea and Benadir, on the east coast of Africa, in case of disturbances following the death, which is expected any day, of Menelik, Emperor of Abyssinia.

The present garrisons in the Italian possessions in Africa are too weak to insure quiet.

Troubled With Backache For Years.

Thousands of women suffer untold misery every day with aching backs that really have no business to ache.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way they have cured thousands of others, and they sure to stay cured.

Mrs. W. C. Doerr, 18 Brighton St., London, Ont., writes:—"It is with pleasure that I thank you for the good your Doan's Kidney Pills have done me. Have been troubled with backache for years. Nothing helped me until a friend brought me a box of your Kidney Pills. I began to take them and took four boxes, and am glad to say that I am cured entirely and can do all my own work and feel as good as I used to before taken sick. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all you claim them to be, and I advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering specify "Doan's."

That the best body-building and strengthening tonic for

Delicate Children

Vinol

"My 9 year old daughter was weak, pale, and had no appetite. I gave her Vinol, and she began to thrive at once. She gained rapidly in weight, color and strength."—Mrs. W. H. GILMORE, Durand, Mich.

"My two children, who were puny and ailing, rapidly gained flesh and strength when I began to give them Vinol. I proved that Vinol is a splendid tonic for delicate children."—Mrs. C. ALLEN, New Bedford, Mass.

Vinol builds up healthy flesh and makes thin little limbs round and plump. Children love to take it.

YOUR BLOOD IS POISONED

If You Suffer From Headaches or Neuralgia.

Frequent attacks of Headaches or Neuralgia are Nature's warnings of Blood Poisoning. The pain is due simply to the tortured nerves, inflamed by the blood being overloaded with impurities, because of inactive bowels, kidneys or skin.

There is usually chronic Constipation and the foul matter, instead of passing from the body, is absorbed by the blood. The kidneys are not as strong as they should be and fail to filter from the the blood, the necessary amount of impure matter.

Instead of the skin throwing off one and a half pounds of waste matter every day, it becomes inactive and does only half its work, leaving three quarters of a pound of this waste to poison the body. Headache powders and pain killers simply numb the nerves and have no helpful action on the organs causing this poisoning of the blood. To cure Headaches and Neuralgia, the blood must be purified, which can be done only by making the kidneys, bowels and skin healthy and active.

"Fruit-a-tives", made from concentrated and intensified fruit juice, is the greatest blood purifying medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives", or "Fruit Liver Tablets", is a scientific cure for Headaches and Neuralgia, and never fails to cure because "Fruit-a-tives" stops the cause of these troubles.

50c. a box, 3 for $1.50, or trial box, 25c. At dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Do YOU Study human nature?

I don't mean just casually observe its eccentricities and occasionally make wise or otherwise comments upon them.

I mean really study human nature just as diligently and scientifically as you once studied your arithmetic or your Latin verbs.

I think you should if you expect to succeed in life.

It makes no difference whether your position is that of a business man or school teacher or stenographer or opera singer or bootblack, or lady-hunting for a husband, or policeman or crumb-bucket man, you will find that there is no knowledge on earth so valuable as a knowledge of human nature.

I wish it were possible to establish a course in human nature in all the colleges in the land. Indeed I think it would be possible and I wish it could be established and made a compulsory course. I think that if that were done there would hardly be one graduate but, looking back over his college career, would say:—

"That's the most valuable study I took up in my whole four years."

The husband of Alice Freeman Palmer, the first and most famous president of Wellesley College, in writing of his wife's skill in managing her household affairs, said:—

"No doubt in order to select a good servant one should be a good judge of human nature; but indeed he who is not will hardly find ease in any of the relations of life."

Several times I have seen a plain girl become far more popular than most of her pretty friends simply through her knowledge of human—especially man—nature.

Even the newsboy who can size up his prospective customers sells more papers than the boy who treats them all alike.

For instance, one day I saw a newsboy cleverly appeal to a dignified looking young woman and sell her a paper after two or three of his ilk had waved their wares in her face quite in vain.

How did he do it?

Well, instead of shrieking at her or thrusting a paper at her as he would have at a business man, he evidently sized her up, and addressed her accordingly.

"Would I offend you by asking what paper youse wish?" he politely inquired.

The young lady admitted that she wouldn't be offended and bought the paper.

Most of us are subconscious students of human nature, of course. We half consciously shape our actions and speech by our estimates of our friends and associates.

But that is not enough.

The man who possesses definite knowledge on any subject is always better off than the man with vague ideas.

And the men and women who definitely study the people with whom they come into contact are more likely to win out in what they are doing—other things being equal, of course—than the merely subconscious students of human nature.

GIPSY HAWKINS TELLS THE STORY OF HIS LIFE

ADDRESSES OVER

The great interest taken in Gipsy Hawkin's meeting of Thursday and the enthusiasm he has aroused by his meetings here was convincingly indicated at the Park St. Baptist church Friday, when an audience that the auditorium proper was unable to accommodate assembled to hear the evangelist tell the story of his life. The people were seated in the aisles in chairs and at the rear of the church outside the inner entrance doors and the intensely interesting address was followed with marked attention.

To begin with the speaker said that a preacher without a text was like a ship without a helm and the text announced by him was from Psalms 126-3: "The Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad." He expressed his intention of making the text a personal reference to himself. The speaker said he would speak on the story of his life. "From Gipsy Boy to Preacher."

Thirty-eight years ago Gipsy Hawkins made his first appearance in the world in either a gipsy tent or gipsy caravan. He was not certain as to his birthplace but from what he gleaned from the conversations of his father and mother he thought he was born in Peebleshire, Scotland. If that were true he was a Celt.

But while he couldn't be sure where he came from he knew where he was going to. As a sinner washed in Jesus blood he was going to the promised land beyond and he would like every one of his listeners to go with him. The majority of the people on the contrary knew where they came from but they didn't know where they were going. If you asked them they could not give the answer.

The first ten and a half years of the speaker's life were not spent in the city amid sin and squalor and temptation but in the open air amid singing birds and babbling brooks and in the refreshing environement of nature.

He remembered when he was between ten and eleven years of age and the gypsy caravan he was with in company with his parents, was on its way to London. He didn't know, then, as he knew now that Gipsy caravans made their way to the big cities to replenish their stores. The caravan had travelled as far as Richmond Hill on its London-ward trip. On the top of the Hill there was a public house opposite which the caravan stopped and the gipsy boy's father went in. The farmer was a man who when he went into a public house there was no telling when he would came out. In connection with his visit to the public house what the speaker had to say was a very painful matter for him. He wished to preface the relating of the incident which had been of such significance to him by saying that the gipsies were as kind and considerate to their families as any other people. His father was kind enough when he was sober but when he was under the influence of strong drink he was irritable, ill-tempered and easily annoyed. While the father was in the inn the boy took a horse to get a drink at a nearby stream and the animal being spirited began to rear and prance and finally broke away. When the father came out of the inn he was three-quarters drunk and gave the boy a blow that knocked him to the ground, and then went to look for the horse saying he would break the boy's neck when he returned and the little fellow had to take several lashes with no provocation.

A terror, a dread seized him and he made up his mind he would run the risk of having his neck broken and with two shillings in his pocket he ran to Richmond Hill Station and asked for a ticket to London. He got one to Waterloo station, London.

When he reached that city, the largest city in the world, for the first time in his life a great feeling of loneliness crept over him and while there were thousands passing him by there was not one friend in all the passing throngs.

Gipsy Hawkins' first commercial activities were in selling London newspapers. He met a little waif on Westminster bridge and the two of them became the warmest of pals. The little gipsy boy was handicapped to a great extent in the work of selling newspapers for he had not been to school a day in his life. He got others to read the headline announcements for him however and also listened to what the other boys called and so be managed to get along.

But he often thought of his parents and longed for his lost gipsy mother. "From the hour I left the gipsy caravan on Richmond Hill to this day," he said, "I have never been able to get a clue as to the whereabouts of my father or mother. From that day to this they have been lost to me and I have been lost to them."

The speaker kept his audience interested with his relating of his various experiences in London and his trials for an honest existence as a juvenile candidate for a living in the big metropolis made a story full of pathos and with not a few rays of humour which brightened the highly entertaining narrative. After telling papers the gipsy boy and his little chum were taken in at the philanthropic institution that has done so much for the waifs of London? The South London Refuge and Shoe Black Brigade Society. There he was given a start with a bootblack's equipment and plied his trade on the streets of London. After a year at this work he took up his apprenticeship as a shoemaker and worked three years as a journeyman at that trade before his conversion and his adoption of his career as evangelist.

It was a coincidence of great interest that Mrs. Smith, a lady who sat in the congregation only a few feet from the speaker was a daughter of a gentleman who for three years had been superintendent at the home to which Gipsy Hawkins had been admitted.

The story of the able evangelists's struggle from early life to manhood and of the wonderful blessing the gospel had been to him and of the privilege he had in conveying it to his fellowmen proved one well worth hearing in ever yrespect In an evangelistic sense it was also a vitally important and very profitable discourse.

"THE WHITE SISTER" CARRIES CHORUS

Young Ladies of the Ensemble of Viola Allen's Company are Talented Musicians.

"The White Sister" has the distinction of being a dramatic show which carries a chorus Thus far, it is the only play of this sort to do so. The young ladies of the ensemble are high salaried singers with more than ordinary ability, and their efforts are required to furnish choir and solo music in the convent chapel scene. Special music was composed by William Furst, and like a musical organization, a travelling musical director is a necessary evil. The Viola Allen Company will present "The White Sister" at the Grand next Thursday, Jan. 20th. The seat sale will open to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE ROYAL CHEF.

"The Royal Chef," the tuneful Jerome comic opera, which made such a spontaneous hit here several years ago, paid a return visit to the Grand on Saturday afternoon and evening, and pleased two large audiences. Loaded to the gunwale with song hits, bright lines, and funny situations, "The Royal Chef" is entertaining to the highest possible degree, and presented as it was here cannot fail to win favour wherever it may be presented. The principals were clever and the chorus, while not large, was well favoured, and sang above the average.

Walter A. Bohme, in the title role, was deliciously funny, in his comedy methods, and his peculiar mannerisms and pulverized English, kept the house in a gale of laughter every moment he was on the stage. The supporting company was good, the honours being carried off by Chas. Vaughan, who sang the tenor role of Lieutenant Parks in splendid fashion. His singing of "When Old Glory Floats from Everywhere," "What Coloured Eyes do You Love," and other song numbers was one of the bright features of the programme, and he combined a pleasing personality with a good voice.

A graceful tribute to Canadian audiences is the singing of "O, Canada," by the chorus.

Among the song-hits were "Let Me Go Back," "It's a Way They Have in Chicago," "O'Reilley," "The Tale of the Tailless Frog," "In the Morning," "Wishing," and "Kippineu," the last two numbers being interpolated.

Miss Leona Heimerman, who was cast as Kitty O'Reilley, and to whom fell a number of the most pleasing song numbers, did justice to the part and her work was one of the bright spots of the production.

MEN OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH TO MEET

At the request of a number of the men of St. John's Church, Rev. Canon Davidson has called a meeting of those interested in the Laymen's Missionary movement, for next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. In announcing this meeting yesterday Canon Davidson referred to the annual banquet of the laymen of Toronto, held recently, at which he was a guest. He spoke of what an inspiration the gathering of so many men interested in the missionary cause, was.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Jan. 14, '10.

Sir,—By-law or no By-law, there is an unwritten law in all civilized countries: there shall be no taxation without representation; therefore, the poll tax cannot be collected until a citizen has been on the voters' list. Apart from this fact and the irregular way in which the whole business is done, I had bought a lot and paid $25 a few months after I came to Peterborough, therefore I was legally exempt. To wait until the next year and fine me in my absence is atrocious, and to talk to a British subject about roads !) and sidewalks—a nation of paupers which depended for centuries on our generosity. Whew!

THE ELECTION RETURNS

Great Interest Was Displayed in Peterboro the Results

Considerable interest was shown in Peterborough in the results of the first day's voting in the elections in Britain on Saturday, and the bulletin service received by the Examiner was popular. From early in the evening until midnight on Saturday night the 'phones in the Examiner office wer worked over time in answering queries as to the results, while many people gathered in the vicinity of the office to hear the returns. Through the instrumentality of the C. P. R. Telegraph Company the returns came in promptly and the Examiner was enabled to announce the results promptly. To-night those interested may secure the result of to-day's voting by calling up the Examiner.

A HANDY REFERENCE

Copland Brewing Company Sporting Records are More Complete Than Ever.

The Vest Pocket Reference Annual, published by the Copland Brewing Company, Toronto, and edited by the veteran sporting editor, H. J. P. Good, has made its appearance for 1910, being the 14th year of publication. It comprises 64 pages of sporting records, principally Canadian, and 30 pages of blank paper for memoranda, besides the game and fishery laws of Ontario, Quebec, and Manitoba, rates of postage, money order rates, value of foreign coins, of course a calendar and other useful information. It is neatly bound in red cloth and is circulated free. It is a most concise, well edited and valuable little book.

USED THE GERMS

Alleged That Murderer Inoculated His Victim With Typhoid.

Special to The Examiner.

Kansas City., Jan. 15.—"An arrest probably will be made in a few days," said John H. Atwood, an attorney for the investigation of the death of Colonel Thomas H. Swope, the aged philanthropist.

Col. Swope's death, on Oct. 3, was at first attributed to apoplexy, but a quick succession of deaths and illness among heirs of the Swope estate led to an investigation, culminating in the exhuming of the body of Col. Swope and the submitting of his stomach to chemical analysis.

The alleged murder plot had for its supposed end the extermination of all the Swope heirs. It is stated that shortly before Christian Swope's death, which occurred on December 2, a man visited the office of a well known bacteriologist in Kansas city and procured some typhoid fever germs. With these, it is asserted, the man hoped to inoculate members of the Swope family.

That the epidemic was not due to unsanitary conditions was shown by the report of two physicians who made thorough investigations of the premises.

THE BARTON MURDER

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Jan. 17.—The Provincial Attorney-General's department has decided that Frederick Gebhardt, who is under arrest at Long Island, N.Y., for the murder of Anna Luther, and who is believed to have made a business of marrying women and making away with them could not have been the murderer in the famous Barton township murder, near Hamilton.

LEAGUE OF SACRED HEART ESTABLISHED

Enthusiasm Among Sacred Heart Parishioners—Officers Elected.

Twenty years ago Rev. Father J. J. Connelly, S.J., of Montreal, established a league of the Sacred Heart at St. Peter's Cathedral. Yesterday, with fitting ceremony, he returned to Peterborough to establish a similar league among the parishioners of the new Church of the Sacred Heart. The purpose of this organisation is to unite the members in a special manner for a strong devotion to and love for the Sacred Heart of Jesus, and in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion a triduum was commenced yesterday to close on Tuesday. During the service to-night, beginning at 7.30 o'clock, a sermon will be delivered by Rev. Father Connelly, and will be followed by benediction. Similar services will be held to-morrow evening at the same hour and mass will be at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. Father Connelly preached a powerful sermon yesterday morning, and another in the evening. During the latter he explained the aims and objects of the League of the Sacred Heart, which is found in practically every Catholic parish. He referred to the coming of the wise men at night to the lowly place in which Jesus had been born as typical of the devotion of men to God.

On Sunday afternoon a meeting of the ladies of the parish was held in the vestry, when the officers of the new league were appointed as follows:

President—Mrs. F. Christopher.
Vice President (city)—Mrs. Thos. Henry.
Vice President (country)—Mrs. S. Redmond.
Treasurer—Mrs. N. T. LaPlante.
General Secretary — Miss Mamie Theobald.
Secretary for country—Miss A. Crowley.

The institution of the league has been attended by many evidences on the part of the members bespeaking the realization of the aims for which it is intended. The mass this morning was largely attended and everything points to a zealous league of the Sacred Heart in the parish honoured by that name.

Listerine Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

SOME CAUSES FOR MATRIMONIAL DISASTERS OUTLINED IN SERMON

Rev. Canon Davidson Preached on "Christian Courtship" at St. John's Church Last Evening—Its Human and Divine Factors.

SUBJECT NEXT SUNDAY

As a sphere specially favourable for the operation of practical religions, Rev. Canon Davidson, at St. John's church las tnight took up home life, the particular subject being changed to "Christian Courtship." The address was founded on Genesis 24: v.40, "The Lord will send his angel before thee and prosper thy way and thou shalt take a wife." Being so important a turning point in life, fraught with results of either great happiness or unspeakable misery. Marriage was not a thing to be merely laughed about or left to chance, but should be faced thoughtfully and seriously with divine help. It was the institution of God intended for the generality of men. Probably more people were intended to marry than did so, unworthy difficulties being allowed to bar the way.

The speaker pointed out that the radical differences between men and women were divinely ordered with the object of close relationship, spiritual, mental and physical, otherwise impossible. An attractive picture was drawn of the union of two souls each developing its own side of life and character and power knit in wedlock, facing together with combined effectiveness for life's joys and difficulties. This was an earthly faint shadow of the blessed Trinity of which the persons were distinct, yet united.

As to the obtaining of this great happiness the God who instituted this beautiful estate might be relied on to lead men to it if no human obstacles were interposed and if human operation were given. Among the obstacles instanced were frivolity, failure to develop outward and inward attractiveness and refusal to come into close and unaffected intercourse with other people. The matter of this intercourse with its dangers and duties was then taken up and it was shown that "falling in love" was not wholly a matter of fate.

Outward appearances were often deceptive. Whited sepulchres with their ghastly contents were not confined to cemeteries and under an immaculate dress suit or a resplendent ball room gown might easily work unchecked selfishness, hideous moral depravity or spiritual death. The lifelong union of a pure devout soul with such an opposite was terrible to contemplate. No wonder a divorce court judge had urged social reformers to begin at courtship instead of at the other end.

After dealing with closer and more general and open intercourse as a means to discover real character, Canon Davidson went on to consider the courtship of Isaac as showing how Divine direction and human wisdom and cooperation could be effectively combined.

He referred to the heroism of those who chose or cheerfully accepted a single life in order to perform family duties or some lofty mission, necessitating this. In this and other momentous matters men should ask and avail themselves of the help of God's guiding angel. That Angel might not lead in the direction in which our hearts were set, but He was to be heroically followed and would inevitably lead to the happiness and usefulness intended for us by a loving God.

The subject of Canon Davidson's sermon next Sunday will be "Marriage Relationship."

CHARLOTTE STREET

RESULT OF THE BRITISH ELECTIONS

tility shown toward him was caused by the Chancellor's unusual course in addressing the voters on polling day, which has never obtained before in England, and which is considered by many as unconstitutional.

The Chancellor's speech included a prediction of disaster to the German fleet if it fought the British.

Referring to the invincibility of the British navy, he declared: "If the German fleet in a moment of madness ever attacked Great Britain, it would be at the bottom of the German ocean in a very few hours."

The Chancellor retreated within the building and a cordon of police was drawn up to keep back the crowd.

The chief constable, with an escort of police, conducted Mr. Lloyd-George out of the back door, and the party retreated a quarter of a mile along the railway, where a small station was used as a refuge.

An automobile was telephoned for, and in the meantime, the Chancellor busied himself in writing letters.

When the motor arrived, he drove into town by a circuitous route.

In London, Richard Jebb, the vigorous reform tariff candidate, furnished one of the interesting events of the day. He visited the headquarters of his rival to denounce charges against him. A fight followed and Jebb was thrown into the street.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

It is announced that the Manitoba Legislature will meet Thursday, Feb. 24.

The Northern Elevator Co.'s storage elevator at Emerson, Man., was burned Saturday. Loss $30,000.

Right Rev. Neil McNeill, Bishop of St. George's, Nfld., has been made archbishop of the Metropolitan See of Vancouver, according to advices from Rome.

Fire, which broke out last Saturday night in a tenement house in St. John, N.B., destroyed three houses and rendered nine families homeless. The loss was about $5,000, with little insurance.

A crowd of fifty Brockville and Ogdensburg cock fighters were surprised about midnight by three constables of the local force, who swooped down upon them in a barn outside the town limits. Only one arrest was made.

Scotland is deeply aggrieved because of the Government grant of $100,000 to Capt. Scott's Antarctic expedition. Scotia has an Antarctic expedition of her own, headed by Dr. W. S. Bruce, supported by the Royal Scottish Geographical Society, and equipped with Scotch money.

Was Not a Passenger.

London, Ont., Jan. 17.—One of the most complicated cases in the history of the local courts was decided Saturday morning in the case of Walter Barnett, a butcher, who lost both his legs in an accident in the G.T.R. yards. Barnett was going home and jumped on a Pere Marquette train going east near Waterloo street. A G.T.R. engine pulling out a switch struck the rear platform of the car on which Barnett was standing and he was crushed so badly that he lost his limbs.

The jury Friday night found that if damages were due him they should be awarded to the extent of $6,000, but the jury returned answers to questions submitted by his lordship on a matter of law, which rendered it practically incumbent on the judge to dismiss the action. The questions were: "Was the plaintiff at the time of the accident upon the train of the Pere Marquette Railway Co. by the permission of the company; was the plaintiff on the platform by permission of the Pere Marquette Railway Co.?"

To both of the questions the jury returned this answer: "No."

The points of law were argued by counsel before his lordship, the replies of the jury decided that as the defendant was unlawfully riding on the Pere Marquette train there was no recourse for him through the courts. His lordship recommended in dismissing the action that the Grand Trunk take into consideration the unfortunate condition of the plaintiff, who had lost both legs in the accident, and that they recompense him as they could see fit.

Social Demonstration In Germany.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Social demonstrations were made yesterday in favor of the reform of the Prussian franchise.

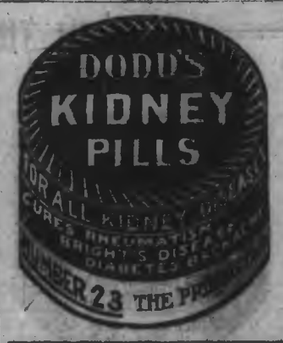
A heavy rain fell all through the day and there was little disorder.

Resolutions were adopted demanding universal direct and secret suffrage.

Similar demonstrations were held throughout Prussia.

Convict Heir to a Million.

New York, Jan. 17.—J. Edward Boesch, who is serving a seven-year sentence in Sing Sing prison for a big jewelry swindle in 1907, may fall heir to more than a million dollars left by his uncle, J. C. Lounsberry of St. Paul, who died there last January in squalor.



Fears Mohammedan Uprising.

London, Jan. 17.—Lord Crawford, ex-president of the Astronomical Society, who has widely traveled in Africa and India, fears a general native uprising and massacre of Christians by fanatical Mohammedans when Halley's comet appears in the sky in the coming spring. Agitators, he says, will seize the opportunity to stir up the uneducated, superstitious natives, using the comet as fiery sign of Allah to drive out Christians. He has recommended the Government to issue placards with pictures explaining the phenomenon throughout north Africa, and especially in Egypt and India.

An Alleged Highwayman.

London, Jan. 17.—Robert Hobblethwaite, believed to be from Toronto, and who has an alias of Densmore, was arrested, with Thos. McDonald of Chicago, and will be charged with robbery with violence from boarders at the Hudgins' House. A watch was taken from a boarder, and Geo. Bains of St. Mary's had his pockets gone through and was left bruised and bleeding.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

Large sums of money are; no doubt, realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement, they enjoy the confidence of the public, and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. Even a child or a dog soon learns to distinguish between real friends and foes in disguise. A humbug may be advertized with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found the statement truthful. To-day they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey, and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood and is effective in Debility, Influenza, Anaemia, Throat and Lung Troubles, and Eastine Complaints. Dr. M. D. A. says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. It is a scientific remedy, and a food with a delicious taste and flavour. Sold by all chemists the world over.

Stoughtessy Is Dubious.

London, Jan. 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy interviewed said he did not favor extensions Hudson Bay-wards, because of weather risks. It was absolutely impossible to set a term to Canada's impossibilities in grain production. She would produce enough to sell to England and the United States, if desired, for a longer period than any one now could see ahead.

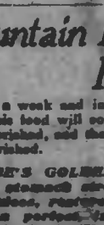
A Federal Appointment.

Brockville, Jan. 17.—From the Department of Railways and Canals, John H. Shenwick, a Brockville G.T.R. brakeman, has received the appointment under the Railway Commission of inspector of railway equipment and appliances in the jurisdiction of Ontario. Shenwick has been railroading for twenty years.

Wage Increase for Miners.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—Ten per cent. increase in wages for the bituminous miners of North America probably will be the demand in annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America, which will open here Tuesday.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach



A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of correct componency. Any such concoction: They must know of what it is made—why it has been for nearly half a century the most widely sold medicine of its class. Write Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

RENOWNED PROFESSOR

Professor Emeritus of Toronto University and Former Head of Department of Anatomy Passes Away In That City After Illness Extending Over a Year—Came From Northumberland County.

Toronto, Jan. 17.—Dr. James H. Richardson emeritus professor of anatomy of the University of Toronto, the first medical graduate of the University of Toronto, and one of Canada's grand old men, died at his residence, 26 St. Joseph street, at the age of 87, at midnight, Saturday. He was in ill-health for over a year.

Dr. Richardson was born at Presqu'isle, near Brighton, Northumberland County, in 1823. His grandfather and father were shipowners and masters during, and for many years preceding, the war of 1812. In the attack on Oswego his father lost his left arm. Dr. Richardson first studied medicine in 1841, with Dr. J. Rolph, who was then an exile in Rochester on account of the part he took in the rebellion of 1837. He then attended the first course of medical lectures at King's College, Toronto. There being only one other student, who was absent most of the time. Dr. Richardson was the first graduate. In 1844 he crossed the ocean and entered Guy's Hospital, London, and was present at the first demonstration of ether in London. In 1847, having graduated, he returned to Toronto and commenced practice.

In 1850 he succeeded Dr. Sullivan as professor of anatomy in the medical department of the University of Toronto, which had only been constituted a short time before. When that faculty was discontinued in 1853 he accepted the chair in anatomy in the Toronto School of Medicine, which he held until 1887, when, the medical faculty of the university being restored, he returned to his old position. He resigned that position in 1902.

Dr. Richardson was for a long time surgeon-major of the 10th Royal Grenadiers. He had a medal for the active part he took in suppressing the Fenian raid.

Night Watchman Fought Fuel.

New York, Jan. 17.—A duel of four hour's duration between night watchmen in Park & Tilford's store in Broadway resulted yesterday in the death of one of the participants. After finally running down and shooting his companion, the survivor sat down and wrote a letter to the police, telling them all about it, and then finished his night's work by cleaning up and putting the store in order.

John Ferris, who has worked for the firm for twenty-five years, is under arrest, charged with the shooting. The victim of the duel was John Woods. There had been bad blood between the two men and during the night they renewed their quarrel. Ferris told the police that Woods slapped him in the face, and that for hours they chased each other all over the store, upstairs and down.

Several shots were exchanged, but none took effect until Ferris finally caught Woods in the engine room and sent a bullet into his head.

May Have Been Foul Play.

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 17.—In connection with Friday morning's fatal fire, in which Mrs. Henderson, her two children and two children belonging to Alex. Reid, a neighbor, lost their lives, and sensational rumors are afloat which may or may not be substantiated by the post-mortem examination upon the bodies, now being conducted. This is a course most unusual where death results presumably from burns or suffocation.

The sixth victim of the terrible affair passed away Saturday morning, when Alex. Reid, who risked his own life for those of his children, died.

Woman's Strange Death.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 17.—From a speechless trance in which she had lain for three months and a half, Mrs. Kate Mendelsohn passed on to death at a hospital here yesterday. Her husband, on the night of Sept. 30, awoke to find the woman in a comatose state. Their baby lay on the floor uninjured, apparently having fallen out of bed. Mr. Mendelsohn thinks his wife must have been shocked into unconsciousness when the baby tumbled out of bed. She must, he believes, presumed that the child was killed. She had been frail, but in normal health.

To Control Transportation In N.Y.

New York, Jan. 17.—Control of the Fifth avenue motor bus line and the New York Transportation Co., which operate between 500 and 600 taxicabs, has been acquired by the Interborough Transit Co. and the Metropolitan Securities Co.

There is a rumor that J. Pierpont Morgan and Theodore Shontz are the moving spirits of the merger, and that it is the initial step in securing the control of all the transportation in this city by a corporation dominated by Mr. Morgan.

Snowstorm Costs City $500,000.

New York, Jan. 17.—Nine lives were lost and six persons injured in one of the worst storms that ever visited New York City. The total snowfall was 14 1-2 inches, second only to the blizzards of 1888 and 1888.

Eighteen thousand men have been put to work clearing the streets. It is estimated that the cost of removal will exceed $500,000.

Big Women's Wear Corporation.

New York, Jan. 17.—A corporation capitalized at $20,000,000 to control everything pertaining to the manufacture of women's wearing apparel is under consideration by the associated waist and dress manufacturers.

Kaiser Honors Shackleton.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Emperor William singled out Lieut. E. H. Shackleton the Antarctic explorer, for special distinction Saturday afternoon, when he attended a private lecture delivered by the explorer.

GRAFT IN SMALLPOX

Dr. Ross of Hyde Park While Testifying In Suit at Assizes, Says Reeve Kimball of London Township Made a Crooked Proposition to Him—Kimball Says That Ross Made the Offer to Him.

London, Ont., Jan. 17.—A sensational charge of graft was made at the Assizes Saturday afternoon, against ex-Reeve Geo. Kimball of London Township, by Dr. Ross of Hyde Park, arising out of the smallpox outbreak in that municipality.

Kimball made a counter-charge against Ross.

Ross is suing the township for $2,875, claiming that he had an agreement with the township to receive $100 a week while he attended the cases.

In the account which he rendered to the township council, he offered to accept $1,500 in cash, settlement of this account without jeopardizing his claim. The council offered him $350, in full of his claim.

Ross, on the witness stand, stated that Kimball said to him in effect: "I can put an account for $1,200 through the council; you only want $1,000 of that."

Kimball denied this and claimed that Ross said: "If you put it through for $1,400 you can come to my mill and take that boiler you want any time."

Ross denied this charge and both stuck to their denials under cross-examination.

The case was tried without a jury by consent, and Chief Justice Meredith reserved decision, intimating that further evidence would not hurt and at the same time inclining to Ross' side.

65 Per Cent. Was Graft.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Sixty-five per cent. or about $228,000 of the money spent for labor during 1909, in the Chicago sewer bureau, was wasted in the opinion of Benj. F. Welton, a New York expert, who spent six weeks investigating the operation of the bureau of the Merrian Commission, which is investigating alleged municipal graft.

He says that he found men, supposed to be cleaning streets, in saloons, while one was asleep at the mouth of a sewer in which he was supposed to be at work.

The explanation is given as the "political pull" of team owners whose influence at the City Hall made it impossible for city foremen to remedy the situation.

Bourassa on War Path.

Montreal, Jan. 17.—Henri Bourassa is on the war path against the Government naval bill, an address from the local member for St. Hyacinthe being announced for Thursday evening at the Monument Nationale. It does not appear, however, as if the masses are to be admitted, as an entrance fee will be charged and even reserved seats are announced.

Le Nationalist states that the people must be consulted before the navy bill can become law, so it looks as if Mr. Bourassa would either demand a plebiscite or a general election.

The articles also throws the whole blame upon Earl Grey, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and R. L. Borden.

Polluting Niagara River.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 17.—Steps are to be taken by State Commissioner of Health E. H. Porter, to stop the pollution of the Niagara River in the City of Niagara Falls, N.Y., where it is stated garbage is thrown into the river through a chute below the falls. The attention of the State Department was called to the matter by Charles A. Hodgetts, chief health officer of Ontario, who stated that a petition from the City of Niagara Falls, Ont., asking for authority to operate a similar chute in that city, had been denied by the provincial officials, and asking that if possible steps be taken to prevent the pollution of the river on the American side.

Lake St. John and C.N.R.

London, Jan. 17.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Quebec & Lake St. John debenture-holders' agreement to the Canadian Northern scheme has been formally withdrawn and a resolution passed declining to consider any offer before a full and independent investigation has been made.

Everyone Thought She Was Going Into Consumption.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

The blood reaches every portion of the body to distribute nutriment and remove effete matter and waste products. Clearly then, any influence, good or bad, affecting the blood, must necessarily affect the entire system for good or evil as the case may be.

Get pure blood and keep it pure by removing every trace of impure morbid matter from the system by using Burdock Blood Bitters. It exerts a curative influence unapproached by any other remedy.

WEST ENDS AND STRATHCONAS CLASH WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Leaders of the City League Race Come Together in What Promises to be One of the Hardest Games of the Season---Excitement is Intense Over the Result.

The big game of the first round of the City League is billed for Wednesday night of this week, when the West Ends and Strathconas clash in what promises to be by long odds the most bitterly fought and exciting game of the season. Neither team has been defeated so far this season, and as there is the keenest possible rivalry between the two clubs the excitement will be at fever heat. These are the two teams which have done the most active scouting for players and both are dead anxious to win the pennant, and Wednesday's game, as a stepping stone thereto. While the result does not put the losing team out of the running, as there is a double schedule, it will, however, help some to win out, and both teams may be counted upon to work their hardest. The teams are in shape and ready for the contest, and it promises to be the fastest and hardest City League battle to date. Jack Oldham's West End bunch are picked by a large number of the critics to win out. They are young, fast and clever, and will be right in line for everything that is doing in the goal getting line. The players and their supporters are confident that they will administer a defeat to the Strathconas. On the other hand the Strathconas, while hopeful of the result, are not overconfident.

"The West Ends look like the hardest team we have gone up against in years," said one of the players today, "and if we beat them at all it will be only after a hard fight."

There is the greatest possible speculation among the fans over the result and from the different opinions advanced it would look as if the City League patrons were at sea trying to pick out the ultimate winners. However, it is certain that it will be some game, no matter which team wins out and the margin between the two will not be very big.

The game between the leaders is the second on the bill-of-fare, the T. A. S. and Keene teams supplying the curtain raiser. Although the two teams are at the bottom of the heap the game should be interesting, as from their previous showing the teams are evenly matched and will put up a hard-fought, interesting struggle. As to the winner it will require Wednesday night's game to settle the point. At this distance it would take a staff of experts to say which will win. Keene will have a stronger team than last week and will make a big effort to win.

The Park St. hockey team challenge the Auburn woollen men, Mercantilers, to a game of hockey to be played in the near future.

The Park St. Baptist church team accept the challenge of the Bell Telephone Co., and are ready for the fray at any time.

A very interesting and instructive game of hockey was pulled off at the auditorium rink on Saturday evening, when the Frozen North End of the brass department clashed with the meek and mild South End of that department of C.G.E. Co. The result ended in a complete victory for the Southerners, much to the surprise and dismay of the northern stars, who did not shine as stars generally do. The line-up was as follows:

South End—Goal, A. Saunders; point, M. Watson; cover point, G. Tovey; rover, J. E. Brebar; centre, W. Davidson; left wing, M. Heath; right wing, J. Sanderson.

The score was 9-3.

Wm. McLaren officiated as referee to the satisfaction of all, especially the Southerners.

FAST JUNIOR GAME TO BE PLAYED TO-NIGHT

A week ago to-night the Collegiate Institute and Peterborough Colts met in a junior O.H.A. game and after the smoke of battle had blown away from as tight a junior game as has been seen in the Brock St. arena for many moons, the Students had won by a score of 5 to 3. To-night the same two teams meet in the second game of the series and this time the young Petes say that there will be a different story to tell. The Cubs went out last week after having had only one practice together and gave the Collegiate a bad scare. To-night they expect to profit enough by their experience last week to reverse the situation. Whether they will succeed or not is another proposition, but this much is certain that the game will be well worth seeing and that there will be little to choose between the two teams if last week's form can be taken as a criterion.

The game will start at 8.15 o'clock with the following line-up and S. W. Rose referee:

Collegiate.
Goal—Richardson.
Point—Geale.
Cover—Denison.
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Burritt.

Colts.
Goal—Halpin.
Point—Munro.
Cover—Heffernan.
Rover—Weir.
Centre—Hall.
Right Wing—Mills.

SPORTING NOTES

The intermediate O. H. A. hockey practice was a success last evening, a large number of members being present. The ice was in splendid condition and the playing in the various positions was most encouraging. Captain Stoddard was present and put the boys through a good work out. Owing to Gamble being on the sick list, Connors, of the last year's Bankers acted between the nets in his old form

The team will be chosen on Tuesday evening next, when another practice will be held. It is understood Cote has resigned from the left wing of the team but his position will be filled.

Frank Cote has been a reliable player and has been identified with the Lindsay team for many years, having been on the team last year when the cup was won and his resignation will be a hard knock to the club. He was slated for his old position this year but he imagines better players are about the town. A man to fill his position, as he did, will be hard to find.

The official schedule for this district has been received by Captain Stoddard and gives Lindsay the first game.—Lindsay Post Gamble, the O. H. A. intermediate chosen goal keeper is on the sick list and was unable to be out to practice last evening.

The colours for the team this year will be blue and white, the sweater will be blue with a white sash with L-I-N-D-S-A-Y in letters of blue.

Blomfield may land at centre again, but Lane looks good at that position.

The Peterborough intermediate O. H.A. team will practise to-night before the junior O.H.A game All the players are expected to be out at 7 o'clock as there will be a game on Friday night and it is necessary that the team get all the practice possible this week

The Grand Opera House hockey team challenge the brass department of the Canadian General Electric Co. to a game of hockey to be played at the Auditorium rink as soon as arrangements can be made for the use of the rink.

The Quakers and Canadian General Electric Company's team will play a Mercantile League game at Brock St. rink to-night, following the junior O.H.A. game between the Collegiate and Peterborough Juniors.

MANY SPEEDY HORSES HERE FOR THIS WEEK'S RACES

Judging by the quality and number of the horses which are here or are coming to Peterborough for the ice races at the Driving Park on Thursday and Friday of this week the two days' programme promises to be the most exciting and interesting in the history of harness horse racing in this city. The entries include all the best performers on the Canadian winter circuit, including the pick of the speeders who will perform at Ottawa next week. The list so far is as follows: Mattie Chimes, winner of the free-for-all at Lindsay, and owned by W. Toor, of Dunnville, Major Brino, W. Hodson, Montreal, Joe Patchen, City Queen, Lou Bennett, Port Hope, Togo, Tom Dillard, Wire Patchen, Patterson, Walter G., Queen's Bourbon, Forest Pointer, Wawa, Flying Jib, McAdams Jr., Mattie Bryson, Lulu Mack, Harry Direct, Tom Tariff, Honest Billy, Lulu Chimes, Lou Keswick, Lady Gothard and Queen's Baron.

In addition a couple of Orillia horses have entred. The enries close on Wednesday night and the secretary will be at the National Hotel on Wednesday evening for the purpose of receiving any further entries.

OTHER CITIES' DOINGS

When Ald. Craig's motion comes before the City Council next Monday night to reduce the number of tavern licenses from 28 to 25, an amendment will undoubtedly be made to make the reduction four instead of three. Ald. Harrison and Armstrong intimated to The Standard to-day that such an amendment would be made by some one, although they were not prepared to say by whom.

Ald. Harrison said that four would not be an unreasonable number to cut off. Some of the Council had stated that last fall a reduction of four could have been secured if the Moral and Social Reform League would have accepted that number. If that was so, he thought the hotel men should still be willing to allow four to be cut off, and thus subject themselves to less opposition than if they refused to consent to a reasonable reduction.

Ald. Armstrong, while expressing his desire to have eight licenses cut off, the number asked for by the Moral and Reform League, said that "half a loaf" would be better than none. He would not be satisfied with a reduction of less than four.

The fact that the League declared last night that it would not accept a reduction of less than four this year, practically assures that an amendment to Ald. Craig's motion will be moved by the League's representatives at Council to reduce the number of licenses by four.—Kingston Standard.

Operate Oil Fields.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 15—A highly important step towards the development of Canada's great Hinterland was taken on Saturday, when the Athabasca Oil and Asphalt Company was organized at a meeting held in the Royal Alexandra Hotel. Many of the leading capitalists of Canada and the United States were present or will be associated with the company which will be capitalized at five million dollars, and which will concentrate its efforts in the operation of the oil fields in the vicinity of Fort McMurray, three hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton, which are believed to be the richest in America. Amongst those present at the meeting were the following representatives: Winnipeg business men—Messrs. E. J. Hutchings, W. J. Christie, Arthur Stewart, W. A. Campbell, John Salt, Thomas Kelly, R. A. Fraser, Senator T. O. Davis, John Mochray, W. R. Mullock, K.C., G. F. Carruthers, W. C. Lestikow.—Winnipeg Free Press.

WEDDING BELLS

MAHOOD—RUTH.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ruth, 208 Lake street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, at five o'clock, Jan. 12th, when their daughter, Amy, was united in marriage to Mr. B. J. Mahood, of Smith Township.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of the Charlotte Street Methodist church. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the drawing-room, to the strains of the wedding march, played by her cousin, Miss Annie Devell. The bride was prettily attired in an Empire dress of cream cloth, trimmed with duchess satin and braid, and carried white carnations. Miss Irene Ruth, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and was dressed in cream batiste, hand embroidered, and carried pink carnations. Mr. Ernest Mahood, cousin of the groom, acted as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahood left on the 9 o'clock G. T. R. train for a short trip. On their return they will reside in Smith.

FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Millions of leaflets are being circulated among the people of the Empire, informing the masses how to guard against Tuberculosis, of which 100,000 Germans die every year. The time is fast approaching when this disease will be treated like diphtheria and smallpox—the patient being isolated and removed from contact with others.

Meantime it is to be hoped the masses will learn the all-important lesson of guarding against coughs and chest colds, from which tuberculosis always springs. When your throat tickles, your chest feels tight and sore, when you sneeze and feel cold shivers up your back — that should be your warning.

Nerviline Will Assist

The following treatment is known to be very efficient: Give the chest and throat a vigorous hand-rubbing with Nerviline, and take twenty drops of Nerviline in hot, sweetened water. If there is any hoarseness or cough, gargle well with Nerviline and put a Nerviline Porous Plaster over the chest. By following this advice you can keep clear of colds, pneumonia, bronchitis, and preserve uniform good health. This is worth cutting out and preserving.

A Neat Bank Calendar.

The Bank of Toronto has issued a very neat and convenient calendar for 1910. It merits special notice because of the excellent taste displayed in its production. The 6 x 8 inch tablet is made to stand on the desk and is a good representation of mahogany, upon which the white embossed lettering and coat of arms has a pleasing antique effect. The calendar pad, printed on dark purple paper with white ink, harmonizes well with the rest of the tablet. The whole forming a genteel and unobtrusive little office almanac for the year.

INAUGURAL MEETING OF TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

North Monaghan, Jan. 15.—The inaugural meeting of the Township Council was held on Monday, Jan. 10th, at 2 p.m. There were present the following members: Messrs. Howden, Forster, May, Morrow and Robson. After each had made and subscribed the statutory qualification and of office, the Reeve, Mr. W. J. Howden, in a few introductory remarks, organized the Council, and allotted each a chair at the municipal board for the ensuing year. Mr. Howden referred to many matters of importance that may come before the Council during the year. The question of the system in road improvement and the matter of introducing the ward system of election had both been brought before the Council by petitions. The matter of the construction of an outfall sewer by the City of Peterborough to pass through the Township into the Otonabee River might also come up, and the question of the reconstructing of several old bridges might require some attention. Mr. Howden was pleased to inform the Council that from the financial statement, as presented to-day by the Township Treasurer, it appeared that the new Council would be able to begin the year with a substantial balance to their credit in the Bank.

The Reeve, then asking of each member a careful and thoughtful consideration of these matters, as well as for any others that may from time to time be brought forward, called upon the Clerk to read the minutes.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from the following:

J. Ross Robertson asking a grant to the Hospital for Sick Children.

The Ontario Municipal Association, asking the Council to join.

The National Sanitarium, asking for a donation.

A petition was presented from R. Thompson and fifteen others, asking to have their road work performed upon the seventh and eighth concession, in place of as at present.

Accounts were handed in and read from the following:

Robert Fowler, one cord hardwood, $5.50.

G. M. May, rent S. H. No. 2, $4.00.

J. J. Bennett, D.R.O. and P. Clerk, $4.00

B. Sanderson, D.R.O., and P. Clerk, $4.00.

Moved by Messrs. Forster and Robson that the accounts as read be passed and paid.—Carried.

It was moved by Messrs Forster and Robson, that a grant of the sum of $50 be given to the Sick Children's Hospital, in Toronto.

This was carried. It was moved by Messrs May and Forster, that the committee of the Whole Council as appointed by the Council of 1909, be reappointed to investigate the matter of making such alterations as seem to be desired by the petitions presented relative to the system of local work in the township. This committee will report to this Council before the regular meeting on the 12th day of February next. This was carried.

Amount of roll $7111.30
Amount colected 6936.67

Amount to collect. $204.63

The collector was instructed to proceed and take such action as may be necessary to have this balance paid in forthwith

It was moved by Messrs. Forster and May that T. M. Hunter and Bert Sanderson be re-appointed auditors for the accounts of 1909 at the same salary as that paid last year. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Robson ,that Mr. J. Harper be re-appointed a member of the local Board of Health for a term of three years This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Robson, that Mr. B. Johnston be re-appointed assessor of the township at the same salary as paid last year. This was carried.

By-laws No. 620, to appoint auditors, No 621, to appoint a member of L. B. of H, No. 622, to appoint an assessor, and No. 623 to appoint poundkeepers and fence viewers, were then introduced, regularly read and finally passed and signed and sealed.

Council then adjourned to meet in the county committee room in Peterborough, on the 12th day of February next at 2.06 p.m.

UNIONISTS GAIN 29 SEATS IN TWO DAYS AT THE POLLS

Big Attempt to Overwhelm John Burns in Battersea Proves a Failure---Result up to Present is Satisfactory to the Government, and Protectionists are Defeated, Declares Lloyd-George.

London, Jan. 18.—At the conclusion of yesterday's polling in the general elections, the parties stood as follows:
Unionists, 92.
Liberals, 77.
Laborites, 16.
Nationalists, 13.
Net gains for the Unionists, 29.

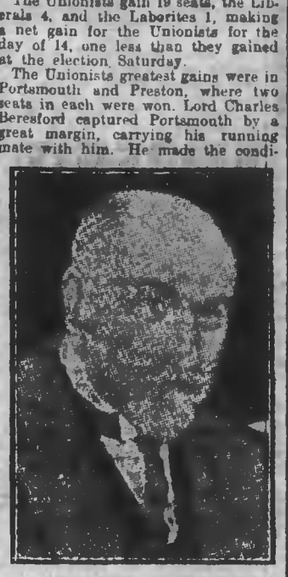
The Unionists gain 19 seats, the Liberals 4, and the Laborites 1, making a net gain for the Unionists for the day of 14, one less than they gained at the election Saturday.

The Unionists greatest gains were in Portsmouth and Preston, where two seats in each were won. Lord Charles Beresford captured Portsmouth by a great margin, carrying his running mate with him. He made the condition of the navy his campaign cry, and his election was received with remarkable enthusiasm in London.



JOSEPH MARTIN.
Who Has Been Elected In Pancras, E.

From returns so far received, the results by well-defined "districts" show:
Midlands: Unionists, 8; Liberals, 6; Unionist gains, 4.
South of England: Unionists 11, Liberals, 4; Unionist gains, 7.
London: Unionists, 182; Liberals, 9; Unionist gains, 5; Liberal gains, 1.
Scotland—Liberals, 3.

A significant feature of the polling were the losses sustained by the Labor party, half-a-dozen seats going to the Unionists and one to a Liberal candidate. Will Crooks, the prominent, was among the fallen.

Although in the great landslide of 1906 he won by 1,600 votes. His normal majority is about 200, and in yesterday's hard fought battle, he beat A Shirley Benn, the Unionist, by 555.

Among the fallen is T. Hamar Greenwood, the Canadian, who represented York and was considered a prominent candidate for high office. He is beaten by about 100, but it is expected that a seat will be found for him.

Lloyd-George, referring to the election results, said that protection was already beaten. The Liberal prediction had so far been fulfilled to the figure.

Churchill, at Dundee, said a substantial progressive majority was assured. The only question is whether its strength will be sufficient for the great and unusual labors, for the supreme trials, which lie immediately before it.

McKenna, at Newport, said they had had to expose a very extended front to the enemy, but had offered only a very small face to attack. The election had gone far enough to assure a majority for the Government.

Unionist Gains—Bedford, Bromwich W., Chatham, Cheltenham, Chester, Colchester, Christchurch, Exeter, Finsbury (Central), Greenwich, Kensington, Paddington, Portsmouth (2), Preston (2), Walsall.

Labor Losses—To Unionists: Chatham, Finsbury (Central), Preston (Harold Cox), Sheffield (Central), Wakefield, Woolwich (Will Crooks); to Liberals: Gateshead.

Elected Unopposed.—Nationalists: P. O'Doherty, N. Donegal; J. O'Connors, N. Kildare; E. H. Burke, Tullamore, King's County; J. F. Hayden, Roscommons; J. Cullinan, S. Tipperary; J. R. Redmond, Waterford; Sir T. Esmonde, N. Wexford; J. Muldoon, E. Wicklow.

Unionist: J. B. Lonsdale, Mid-Armagh.

Quaker Oats Co. Promise To Erect $80,000 Warehouse

Mr. W. H. Denham, Speaking to Council in Behalf of the Company, States That Four Storey Building Will be Commenced in the Spring if City Will Grant Certain Conditions.

The erection of a large warehouse costing $80,000 will be undertaken by the Quaker Oats Co. in the spring if the city looks favourably upon their request for certain privileges as presented to the Council at last night's meeting. Mr. W. H. Denham was the speaker for the deputation representing the company and in a concise manner laid the proposition before the Council and asked that their requests be granted.

Mr. Denham, probably unknown to himself, made a hit with the citizens, a large number of whom remained after the license reduction problem had been temporarily dropped. When the genial superintendent mentioned a new $80,000 building, broad smiles beamed here and there and a hearty clapping of hands upon resuming his seat seemed to show that the people present were pleased.

The building will be 294 ft. long, 59 ft. 5 in. wide and four stories high with basement. The lower stories will be built strong enough to support additional stories, making the proposed warehouse ultimately as high as the mill. The structure will be of brick and concrete. The warehouse will accommodate 350 carloads. Owing to the daily output being 4,000 bbls. of flower they are handicapped for room. The new building will not materially affect the number of employees at first but it will give steadier employment all the year round. If the flour mill were to be enlarged this new building would be transformed into a new mill.

On motion of Ald. Morgan and Graham the company's request was referred to the committee of the Whole Council.

Company's Demands.

The company asks for the closing of Quaker St., which stretches north and south west of the building and on part of which the new building will be erected. These requests are explained by the following clauses from Engineer Hay's report upon the proposed alterations:

1st.—The company asks for a triangular piece of Hunter St. on the north side from the river bank westward to Quaker St., in exchange for which they will give a small piece of land on the south side between the river and a road allowance now the property of the city, leaving a full width of 66 feet for Hunter St.

2nd.—The company proposes to lay an additional siding west of the present siding to serve a new building to be erected, and to raise the grade of the present siding eight or ten inches on Hunter St.

3rd.—The company proposes to close Quaker St., part of which will be occupied by new building and siding.

The only objection to the first proposal is, in the event of a high level bridge being built, access for a low level road on the north side would be impossible, as the bridge would occupy most of the 66 feet.

The piece on the south side between the river and the railway is a deep depression which would have to be raised to grade at considerable expense.

In event of this agreement being made between the city and the company, the latter should waive all claim for damages in the future on account of being unable to get to the low level road from the high level bridge, it will however be able to do so by going under the bridge.

There are no objectoins to raising the grade of existing sidings, except that it will increase the height of high level bridge when built.

The proposed new siding will be on same grade as present ones when raised, but will not increase the danger materially.

The city's present agreement requires the company to instal better protection when considered necessary.

Yours truly,
T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

CROWD WAS LINED ACROSS SIDEWALK

There was a great demand for seats when the advance sale for the appearance here of Viola Allan in "The White Sister" opened this morning. The people began to gather about half past eight and a few minutes past nine o'clock the line extended right out to the end of the sidewalk. Everone had to wait their turn but the crowd was handled well and before any telephone calls were answered the management attended to the wants of those at the wicket. The seats are going arpidly, but there are still a number of good ones to be had.

GIRLS ON THE STREET.

The following from the Lindsay Post applies with the same force to conditions in Peterborough:

"Before closing our report we beg to mention the apparent tendency of very young boys and girls to parade the streets when they should be at home."

The above paragraph, taken from the excellent report of the Secretary of the Childrens' Aid Society, means a great deal to the parents of children and more especially to those who have children addicted to this practice.

The Post has from time to time referred to the carelessness and gross indifferences of parents in allowing their children (and more especially the girls) to run riot on the streets at night. It seems, however, that some fathers and mothers have turned a deaf ear to the words of warning uttered, as every evening groups of young girls of tender years can be noticed on the streets and more especially on the unfrequented streets, often in company with young men and boys, whose loud and boisterous remarks and suggestive sentences very plainly illustrate the terrible fact that the down grade in their career has been reached. The Post is not exaggerating the condition of affairs. It is all too true, and besides, we could tell of scenes which have come under our observation that would bring sorrow and shame to certain homes in this town.

We cannot conceive how parents can become so criminally negligent and neglect the duty which is incumbent upon them to watch over the little ones whom they have brought into this world, and for whose upbringing they will be held responsible before the Great Judge. It is a terrible thing to realize that there are parents in this town who allow their girls every evening to spend hours on the street with never a thought about their whereabouts or the dangers that beset them on every side. It would have been better if the children had not been born than to be allowed to live on the streets at night and become confirmed flirts and consorts of men who would not hesitate to rob them of that which they should hold so dear, their virtue. The early street influences of many young girls' lives have patterned their destinies and the advances of some soulless brutes found them with no knowledge of the great sacrifice.

Many homes in Lindsay have been saddened in the past by the actions of a wayward boy or girl, against whom society has barred the doors of its heaven, and in the majority of such sad instances the fault rested with the parents.

"As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined." Bring your children up in the path of righteousness and virtue, and above all, show them a good example, and in after years your head will not be bent in shame and the family name disgraced.

BRITISH PAUPERISM.

(Hamilton Times.)

So much is heard about pauperism in Great Britain that it may be informing to many to have a presentation of the situation from authorative sources, so as to be able to be found their views of the subject upon facts. The British Government report upon "Public Health and Social Conditions" furnishes the figures from which these facts are taken. This table deals with England and Wales, and sets the total average daily pauperism per 1,000 of the estimated population:

Period	Inclusive of insane or casual poor	Exclusive of insane or casuals
1850-59	49.2	48.80
1870-79	35.4	34.0
1890-99	28.4	23.4
1900-08	25.3	21.9

There is nothing in that showing to justify the lamentations about an alleged increase of pauperism in recent years, but rather grounds for satisfaction with the great and steady improvement in conditions.

The showing in Scotland is still better, the gross volume of pauperism being lower, the average daily pauperism, inclusive of insane and casual poor, being 40.5 for 1850-59, and 22.7 for 1900-08.

It is of importance not only to note the wonderful decrease of pauperism, but to compare the components of pauperism in 1849 and 1908. Of the 63.3 out of every 1,000 persons classed as paupers in 1849, only 0.9 or 1.4 per cent. were idiots or insane. In 1908, of the 26.6 in every thousand classed as paupers 3.2, or 12.1 per cent., were idiots or insane.

Again, casual or vagrant poor, which represented 0.8 per cent. of the poor of 1849, remains at 0.5 per 1,000, but the decrease in pauperism makes the percentage of this class in 1908 appear much larger, 1.08.

Ordinary able-bodied adult paupers were 13.5 per 1,000 of the population, or 21.3 of the pauperism of 1849. They numbered only 3.5 per 1,000, or 12.9 per cent. of the poor of 1908. Fewer men able to work are paupers now.

Pauper children made up 257 per 1,000 of the population, or 40.6 per cent. of the paupers of 1849—an awful showing—while they number only 6.7 per 1,000, or 25.3 in 1908.

The aged and infirm paupers numbered 22.7 in the 1,000 of the population in 1849, or 35.9 of the total. In 1908 the figures were 12.7, or 47.9 per cent. of all. Britons are more humane now

It is worth while observing that while pauperism has fallen from 63.3 in the 1,000 of the population to 26.6 in the 60 years considered, able-bodied adults and children made up 61.9 per cent. of the total in the former years, and only 38.2 in the latter. That is a very good showing. Were we to go into the matter of handling the paupers, the case would be made stil better for the present time.

There is, it must be clear, no honest, well-informed student of the British situation who charges increase of pauperism, or sees in the present situation any reason for alarm. Those who do so have some ulterior object to severe that cannot be advanced by the facts of for deductions from them.

TAKE A COLD SERIOUSLY

The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, usually begin with a simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and ensure success by using Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It allays inflamation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tubes from danger.

'ROUND THE STORES

Stock-taking is on at E. N. McWilliams' fur store, and the way prices are being reduced makes it worth while visiting "The Spot for Good Values." The reduced prices on some of men's fur coats would seem to make it a good investment to pay bank interest, if necessary, in order to open a savings account with Mr. McWilliams' fur store. The average winter has some good stiff blizzards, and lots of below zero weather coming after this date to make a fur coat do lots of good service before the swallows begin to fly. The tickets in the window and the stacks of furs in the store point to bargains during stock-taking time at McWilliams', which fact is further confirmed by reading Mac's. advt. on the sporting page of this issue.

Coleman's for dainties for afternoon teas, etc. Fancy cookies, cakes, biscuits and other delicacies; bonbons, both imported and home-made, such as will grace a table to the heart's content of the most ambitious hostess. These are the specialties at Coleman's, now in preparation for New Year functions, etc. This firm bestows extra attention to catering for public and private events, and the service they give is known to be very satisfactory.

Did you stop to think how much nicer you would feel if you always paid cash for your groceries? Discount the times you have had trouble over your grocery bills, which could all have been avoided if you had paid cash instead of asking to "charge it." Grocers have introduced scores of methods for persuading their patrons to adopt the "spot cash" habit, and, in some instances, improvement has resulted. A local grocery firm, Messrs. E. P. Mason & Co., is just now testing another plan. It will be seen by reference to their announcement in our advertising columns that their customers are offered the full amount paid in cash for the purchases made on some one day of this month. The date of this particular purchase is not made known until next month, when the full amount of cash paid will be refunded on presentation of their bill. It will thus be seen that customers paying cash are certain of a rebate of some one day's cash purchase during January, which is certainly worth trying for.

An event that should rouse every woman in the city and country to the quickest action is the annual white wear and white goods sale now in progress at Turnbull & Co's. big department store. The large patronage which this firm enjoys, speaks for the values and qualities of its varied stocks. The whole store is overflowing with every day needs for women and the whole household; and this is an unusually good time for money saving. A glance at the windows, and no special aptitude for mental arithmetic is needed in order to appreciate the economic possibilities of the particular lines of goods displayed. The new white undermuslins, embroideries, laces, and new spring wash materials present a refreshing sight in January. But the prices noted by us certainly appeal to bargain lovers, in the face of advancing prices of cottons and linens. Exquisite lingerie, in the advanced new styles, are underpriced to a degree that makes January buying a good investment. Women's night dresses of fine Lonsdale with yoke of all-over embroidery are marked $1.39; fine cambric night dresses with very handsome yoke of rows of embroidery insertion and tucks at $1.48. In sheetings and cottons, the discounts offered are worthy the attention of every household buyer. Table cloths, napkins, and towelling are all underpriced, and so are pillow shams, and white curtain muslins, lace curtains, and curtain nets. The showing of women's white petticoats furnishes further opportunities for saving of about twenty per cent.

Housekeepers will have to travel a long distance to find a more complete and varied stock of good things to eat than is to be found at Mr. S. A. Oke's meat, provision and fruit store, 340 George street. The bill of fare is sufficiently attractive to satisfy the needs of most any householder. The meat racks and refrigerators contain the primest beef, lamb, pork and mutton, and the supply of poultry, hams, cooked meats, and oysters is abundant. In the fruit and provision line fresh importations of oranges, lemons, grapes, and other delicacies are shown every day.

One of the busiest stores on Charlotte street, is Mr. W. J. Routley's. This week the prices on flour, sugar, tea and coffee are special. Close prices prevail, also on all kinds of groceries, and here may be founud quality and variety that make shoppers satisfied. Those that have been regular customers of Mr. Routley's, know that he does just as he advertises, and if you really care to save on your household expenses you cannot well afford to pass this store.

The new confectionery store of Haggis & Co. 322 George street, is doing a satisfactory business. After the holiday season, which was a record-breaker, loads of candy made with the view of pleasing the most fastidious, is turned out freshly from their own premises. With great care and high-grade materials, the quality of Haggis' confectionery is making new patrons. Their bon-bons and other fancy makes are superior in flavour delicacy, and richness.

THE PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

"Ten million bones," said good John Dee. "will reach the Sunny South from me; this hookworm scourge that ruins men, and lays a country waste again, must be suppressed at any cost—those broken men must not be lost! To make them feel like men once more, to drive gaunt Famine from their door, to make them like strong Saxons live, ten million bones I'll freely give. The victims of the hookworm scourge, the toilers at the loom and forge, the humble yeoman at his plow, may see some ray of comfort now! I shudder when I read the tales of ruin in those Southern vales: too tired to do the simplest chores, men lounge all day about their doors, and when the sun's low in the West, the whole caboodle go to rest. And thus these tillers of the soil burn mighty little of my oil. When this outrageous worm decamps, they'll trim the wicks and light the lamps, and read the books they have in stock, and all sit up till one o'clock. The hookworm's acted very mean in shutting off the kerosene, and so I'll send a good big roll, to put the blamed thing in the hole."

Has the "Black Knight" come to your home?

Let him show you the quick and easy way to shine the stove.

It's a paste—so there is no watery mixture to be prepared.

Just a few rubs with cloth or brush brings a mirror-like shine that "you can see your face in". And the shine lasts!

Most dealers handle and recommend "Black Knight" Stove Polish. If your dealer cannot supply it, send 10c. for a big can—sent postpaid.

MOTHERS BLESS ZAM-BUK

Read How it Gives the Little Ones Ease

A most important thing for mothers to watch is the treatment of rashes, chafed or chapped places, etc. When you put an ointment on to a child's skin it gets into the blood through the pores just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach. Did you ever think of that? How important, therefore, that the salve or balm should be pure! Zam-Buk is absolutely pure; contains no animal fat; no mineral colouring matter; no acid astringents; no burning antiseptics—yet it is antiseptic! It is purely herbal, and thus meets all the needs of the skin in that superior way in which nature always provides.

Mrs. R. Gentleman, of 1090 St. James St., Montreal, says: "My two-year-old daughter had eczema for over six months, on face and body. Doctor didn't cure. We tried various remedies in vain, but could give the little one no ease. When Zam-Buk was tried it was very different. It soothed the pain and the irritation, and the child ceased to scratch. Perseverance with Zam-Buk brought a complete cure."

Mrs. C. W. Bowerbank, of 126 Denison Ave., Toronto, says her baby's face was covered with a burning eruption. Little one was terribly pained—scratched, and made the places very bad. Zam-Buk cured.

Scores of similar cases could be cited. Zam-Buk should be in every home, because it heals sores, stops pain, and ends skin diseases. Eczema, itch, ulcers, bad leg, poisoned wounds, abscesses, cold sores, cracked hands, scalp sores, whether in children or adults, are cured by Zam-Buk. It is also a cure for piles. All druggists and stores at 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Send a one-cent stamp (to pay return postage) and we will mail you a free trial box.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleriver, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Belleriver, Quebec.

Anotner Operation Avoided.

Adrian, Ga.—"I suffered untold misery from female troubles, and my doctor said an operation was my only chance, and I dreaded it almost as much as death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me without an operation."—LENA V. HENRY, R.F.D. 3.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The French war sloop Martial was wrecked in the Mediterranean.

Mr. H. S. G. Mackenzie has been sworn in as provincial treasurer of Quebec.

Fred. Dudenhoffer of Atherley was killed by the caving in of an embankment on the Canadian Northern line.

C. B. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Co., was arraigned at New York on a charge of conspiring to defraud the U. S. Government.

Striking milk wagon drivers in New York yesterday attacked non-union strikebreakers, who ventured out without police protection. Shots were exchanged.

Pauline Russell, an animal trainer, is dead from injuries. She was attacked by a trained leopard during a rehearsal at Huber's Museum, New York, a week ago.

Rev. James Burelay, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Montreal, the highest paid pastor in Canada, has placed his resignation in the hands of the session.

Edwin Faber, a constable of Mendota, Ill., wrote Miss Sadie Hauser of La Salle that he intended to kill her, and on Sunday entered the cafe where she was employed and shot her and himself.

Ship Crew Arrested.

Hamburg, Jan. 18.—Thirty-eight of the stewards and waiters of Kaiser Auguste Victoria, of the Hamburg-American Line, were arrested upon the arrival of the steamer at Luxhaven yesterday.

The prisoners are accused of stealing provisions, particularly meats and preserves.

The discovery was made by three detectives who made the last westward trip on the vessel, two as steerage passengers and the other as a steward.

The detectives allege they found the existence of a system through which provisions were smuggled into the quarters of the steerage passengers by the connivance of stewards with the waiters, and sold to those in the steerage at low prices.

Will of D. Ogden Mills.

New York, Jan. 18.—The will of the late D. Ogden Mills of New York divides his large estate equally between his son and daughter, Ogden Mills and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the American Museum of Natural History and the Home for Incurables in this city are bequeathed $100,000 each; $50,000 is left to the New York Botanical Gardens and the American Geographical Society and the American National Red Cross receive $25,000 each.

Funeral of Mrs. Gordon.

Kingston, Jan. 18.—Yesterday afternoon the remains of the late Mrs. Daniel M. Gordon were conveyed to Cataraqui Cemetery. Eleven hundred students and all the faculties of Queen's were in the cortege. President Falconer, Toronto University, and Principal Gandier of Knox College, Toronto, attended.

Howard D. Vansant, U. S. consul, will leave Saturday for Dumferline, Scotland.

Dr. de Van's French Female Pills—the Wife's Friend

A reliable regulator; never fails. While these pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system, they are strictly safe to use. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5.00 a box, or three boxes for $10.00. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

Will Crooks' Election Message.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Will Crooks, M.P., who arrived from Australasia on the eve of the polling at Woolwich, said that the message from workmen all over the English-speaking dominions is: "Get your budget through; limit the power of the Lords; don't believe Tory stories that loyalty is being strained. We are firm. We reject with scorn the suggestion that we need a preference which would make the lot of your toilers harder."

Brilliant Lawyer's Probable Death.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Arthur J. Hogle, a one-time brilliant young lawyer, was yesterday found dead in the basement of a cheap lodging-house on St. Paul street. Hogle was a victim of the liquor habit. He leaves a wife and two children, who were some years ago compelled to leave him.

Was Weak and Nervous.

Heart Would Stop Beating.

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ, and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anaemia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THEY ACTUALLY CURE RHEUMATISM

Gin Pills Prove It

It is one thing to claim to cure Rheumatism. It is quite another to do it.

Gin Pills bear out every claim we make for they are not a "favorite prescription" or a "marvellous discovery" or a "wonderful secret preparation."

They are simply a common-sense, scientific combination of medicines that have proved their value in Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and Disorders of the Liver.

Ogden, N. S., July 1st, 1909.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and advised me to go to the hospital but all of no good until a friend told me to try Gin Pills. I did so and after using a few boxes, I am perfectly cured. I am recommending Gin Pills." D. J. LAWLER.

There is no reason why Mr. Lawler's case should be any different from yours. He took Gin Pills and cured himself of Rheumatism. Why don't you take them and cure yourself?

We will let you test them free. A sample of Gin Pills will be sent you, absolutely free, if you write the National Drug & Chem. Co. Limited Dept. B. Toronto. 26

CITY WITHOUT WATER.

Montreal Accident Leaves Business District In Peril.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—For six hours Sunday night the whole central district of Montreal was without water. Private houses were summarily cut off and remained so till seven yesterday morning. The break was one of the most serious in the history of Montreal, though fortunately it occurred in an auxiliary main and will not necessitate any water famine during repairs.

The break had occurred under the street, and the escaping water, making its way down the sewers, hindered workmen from finding it. So heavy was the loss from water that some of the uptown fire stations registered no pressure at all on their gauges, while the water in one of the large reservoirs was lowered three feet.

Serious loss by fire was the direct result of the water shortage about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. A blaze started in the store of Dubuc Freres, corner Wolfe and Robin streets. The fire department was soon out in force, but it was impossible to get streams playing. Finally the hose had to be laid a quarter of a mile to Sherbrooke street, and by this time the fire had spread to an adjoining tenement block, which was also gutted, being of flimsy material. The total loss was about $20,000.

French-Canadian Conference.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—The French-Canadian conference opened to-day. The delegates, who come entirely from within the province, will number about 800.

The main object of the gathering is to organize a French-Canadian Educational Association, but the chief work of the association when organized will be to take such steps as will improve the conditions of French-Canadian children in the schools, both public and separate. It is said a demand for the use of French in the public schools will be made.

McQuillan Farm Secured.

Guelph, Jan. 18.—The last two hundred acres of land required for the new provincial reformatory has just been secured from McQuillan Bros. by the Government.

The McQuillan farm was the most valuable block of land of the entire 800 acres to the Government, as it has much valuable lime and building-stone and the C.P.R. runs through the quarries on the farm.

This was the only farm the Government had any difficulty in securing, and for it they paid eighty dollars an acre.

Allard Candidate In Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—At a special Liberal convention held here yesterday evening Albert Allard was nominated to contest the bye-election. The seat was rendered vacant by the retiral of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. August Lemieux, K.C., a brother of the Postmaster-General, was accorded the unanimous nomination ten days ago, but he proved distasteful to the Premier and was forced to retire.

To Search for Missing Lord.

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 18.—In an effort to find Lord Osborn Beauclerk of Sussex, Eng., and Warlington Pike of Victoria, B.C., whose whereabouts have been a mystery since Nov. 10, a young plainsman of Arizona, Albert Grafaldo, accompanied by a party of five, will sail around the Lower California Peninsula.

British Pastor Refuses Call.

Birmingham, Eng., Jan. 18.—Rev. John H. Jowett, pastor of the Carr's Lane Congregational Church, Sunday announced to his congregation his decision not to accept the call to the pastorate of the Fifth avenue Presbyterian Church, New York. He was offered $12,000 a year to go to New York.

Laurier and Landry.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Senator Landry publishes in L'Evenement of Quebec a long letter addressed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier demanding that the question of establishing a Canadian navy be submitted to the people. The letter was written on Dec. 29. Sir Wilfrid did not answer it.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY CO. WAS HELD

President, Superintendent and Secretary Presented Encouraging Reports on the Work of the Past Year.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held in the City Council chamber yesterday afternoon, the following directors and shareholders being present: Messrs. W. H. Moore, K.C.; E. A. Peck, F. Wise, James Stevenson, J. J. Lundy, W. G. Morrow, B. Shortly, T. A. S. Hay, Wm. Collins. The President, Mr. W. H. Moore, was in the chair.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the Secretary, Mr. E. A. Peck, and upon motion, were adopted.

Directors' Report.

To the shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery.

The directors of the Company present the following report for the year 1909:

Your directors are pleased to be able to report continued progress during the past year in beautifying the cemetery and in making lasting improvements to the grounds; also in being able to add to the fund for future maintenance.

At the beginning of 1909 your directors had in the bank to their credit $752.14. There has since been bought a city debenture for $1,000 from money in hand, and there is now in the Bank $1,241.81 to their credit.

Your directors during last year, made considerable repairs to the chapel and had the outside wood-work painted, also improved the driveways and pruned the shade and ornamental trees.

For some years past your directors have considered the propiety of placing a mortuary vault beneath the Chapel, in lieu of that in the grounds, which occupies the site or twelve lots, and has been injured by frost getting under the walls, and rendering them, in a measure, unsafe. A contract has been let for the necessary work on the new vault, the cost of which will be more than met from the sale of the lots where the old vault stands. Your directors justify their action in the course they have taken, for the reasons given, and also because the present vault is viewed as detracting from the good appearance of the grounds, and that in all modern cemeteries this necessary convenience is not placed in the open, among the lots, but beneath the chapel.

Lastly, your directors obtained a City debenture for $1,000.00, and from the statements to be submitted it will be seen that another for $1,000.00 may be taken from the surplus moneys, which will bring the invested fund for maintenance to the sum of $13,917.31, bearing on an average four per cent. per annum interest. A portion of this money has come in under contracts with individual owners, for assurance that their plots will continue to avail themselves of this security against future neglect.

The Superintendent's and Auditor's reports will be laid before you for consideration.

W. H. Moore, President.

Superintendent's Report.

The Superintendent's report was read as follows by Mr. F. Wise:

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

Gentlemen,—Another year of work in your cemetery has gone by, and, although not much new work has been taken up considerable renovating of the grounds and buildings has been done.

At a meeting of your Directors, held at the cemetery in May last, it was decided to paint the Superintendent's residence, the Chapel, tool shed, lavatories and tie posts. This work was proceeded with at once, and two coats of paint were put on nearly all the work mentioned, at a cost of about $125.00. It was found that the chapel required a great deal of repairs to the wood and brick work. This was also done at a cost of about $175.00. The upper portion of the chapel is now in a good state of repair.

The new greenhouse, built last year, was found of great benefit to the growing of plants and flowers, and I was able to give the lot owners better satisfaction, as the plants, owing to having more room, were well grown and in a very healthy condition. The temporary addition made some time ago to the first greenhouse, was taken away and replaced by a permanent structure.

Tree pruning has been done in all the upper portions of the cemetery, and will be proceeded with throughout as time will permit. Several trees were taken out where they had become crowded.

A great many of the dilapidated lots of families, who have become extinct, and owners, who have gone away, and their addresses not known, were filled up and made respectable. This work will be continued as we get the time and material to do it.

In my report last year, I referred to a new entrance gate, which is required, as the present one is in bad condition. It was hoped at that time that some citizen might wish to place a memorial entrance there, and save the money, which it would be necessary to expend upon it, for the future maintenance of your cemetery. I still trust that some public-spirited citizen may undertake this work.

It is very gratifying to know that lot owners are still making provision for the future maintenance of their lots. The moneys received for that purpose are shown in my financial statement.

The number of lot owners who are having their lots cared for are on the increase. Special men are now detailed for this work, and I am glad to say that under these conditions instead of complaints of neglect, I am thanked for the efficient way in which the work is arried out.

The ladies waiting room, wash room, and lavatory, placed in the cemetery last year were much appreciated during the summer months. This building, situated as it is, near the entrance of your cemetery, was a much needed convenience.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. WISE, Superintendent.

When Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cured her Chronic Liver Complaint

Mrs. R. Smith, of Winnipeg, Man., tells an interesting story of relief from almost intolerable sufferings:

"I can hardly tell you how great my sufferings have been. Chronic liver complaint accompanied by biliousness were a daily source of trial to me. Every day I experienced the sickening effects of these ailments. I longed for some medicine that should permanently drive them away.

Hearing of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, I thought they were worthy of a trial. My surprise was indeed great. From the very first I experienced relief. Continuing with them I found my troubles were slowly but surely leaving me, and before long I once more knew what it was to be free from the harassing effects of the ailments that had long sickened and weakened me. So great is my faith in Dr. Morse's Indian Pills that I shall never on any account be without them."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Are you well groomed?

In the street car yesterday I saw a young girl who caught and held my attention by her attractive appearance.

And yet she did not have a particularly pretty face nor an unusually good figure. Her attraction was simply the fact that she was perfectly groomed.

If you have a distinctly plain face you can scarcely make it so pretty that people will pause to admire it.

If you are built on basically ugly lines it is almost impossible to correct them so that people will turn to admire your splendid figure.

But no matter what outfit you start with you can make people enjoy looking at you because you are so well groomed if you put time enough on it.

Of course that "if" is a mighty important one.

For Rome could be built in a day quite as easily as any woman could become well groomed in a short space of time.

A slatternly woman cannot say, "I will see that all my clothes are very neat and spruce looking and I will put them on very carefully," and thereupon become well groomed.

Some people fancy that neat, attractive clothes carefully put on are all that is necessary to make a woman well groomed, but they are vastly mistaken. These are merely the finishing touches instead of the whole thing.

Quite as much as genius, good grooming is the result of "an infinite capacity for taking pains."

An appearance such as that of the young girl who attracted my gaze means minute attention to details and years of such attention.

For instance, it means frequent baths and unremitting care of the nails and facial massage when the complexion needs it, and carefully fitted underwear and something more than a cursory daily attention to the hair.

And then of course it means infinite care and patience in putting on one's clothes.

No woman who is always in a hurry, who gets up three-quarters of an hour or an hour before she is due at her train, can possibly be well groomed.

The half dozen women in my acquaintance whom I would select as deserving honourable mention in this direction say that they spend an hour to an hour and a half in making their morning toilets, including in that time, of course, the morning plunge or shower.

And then to be well groomed one must have taste and appreciate the value of simplicity.

No matter how well she may conform to the other requirements one would hardly pick out the girl who wears a feather boa and a gold chain and a huge lace jabot and a few fancy pins trailing down the front of her shirtwaist as a well groomed woman.

It seems to me that it is a valuable asset, both in a business and social way, to be known as a well groomed woman, but if you do not think it is an asset worth spending time and energy and thought to possess, let me advise you at once to strive for it, for you will certainly never attain it.

Moral Reform League Asks Council To Reduce Number Of Hotel And Shop Licenses

Want Only Eight Licensed Hotels and Two Shops—Council Will Consider the Question at an Early Meeting—Hotel Men Represented by Speakers—The Addresses.

LARGE ASSEMBY OF CITIZENS

The question of the reduction of hotel and shop licenses will be discussed by a committee of the Whole Council at a meeting to be called by the Mayor in the near future.

Such was the decision arrived at last night when the Council at a special meeting received the representations of the Moral Reform League and likewise the reasons against the proposed reduction as presented by counsel for a number of hotel and shop proprietors. That the question is a momentous one was evidenced by the large assembly that crowded the Council chamber. Prominent members of the Moral Reform League, clergymen, business men, professional men and others were among the earliest arrivals and were conspicuous among the front ranks of the crowd while the hotel men and their friends were present in no small numbers, occupying the rear of the room and when the league members stood up along the railing that divides the city fathers from the general citizens the hotel men stood on the seats and from this point of vantage surveyed the miniature forum now and then applauding remarks made by the gentlemen who spoke in their behalf. The crowd was even more numerous than that which marked the presentation of the Local Option petition about a year ago and not a few found seats on the radiators behind the aldermen's seats.

Rev. J. G. Potter was the only speaker to represent the Moral Reform League. There were a number of gentlemen prepared to address the Council along the same lines, but as the time was fleeting no others were heard, the League waiving the privilege. Mr. A. P. Poussette, Mr. D. O'Connell spoke against the reduction of the present number of licenses and Mr. R. E. Wood against the reduction of the licensed shops.

All the members of the Council were present and after Mayor Morrow had started the civic machinery Ald. Phelan and Hicks moved that the deputation be heard.

Rev. Mr. Potter's Remarks.

As an introduction to his remarks Mr. Potter stated that public notice had been given of the presentation of the League's request and all parties interested had thus an opportunity to be present. A little over a year ago a meeting was held regarding the restriction of the liquor traffic in Peterborough. It had been unanimously decided to prepare for the carrying out of an educative campaign toward that end. Mr. Potter referred to the Local Option campaign and the open above-board methods that had characterized it. No influence had been brought to bear upon any of the Council, those who were seeking election nor the Mayor by any authorized member of the league. Although there had been irregularities in the form of tampering with electors entering various booths it was decided for the welfare of the city not to take legal action against the result. Instead it was decided to ask for license reduction. It was admitted, Mr. Potter stated, that 23 licenses were too many for a city with a population of 17,000. Some hotel men had admitted that fewer licenses would be a good thing for the city of Peterboro'. They had not been animated by any selfish motive. Had the law been duly observed the request of the Moral Reform League might never have been made.

"We believe the 2206 who voted for local option represented at least 12,000 of the city's population. If the Council granted our request and kept within the limit of the law, striking off all the licenses but two, there would be a large number of citizens support them. But what the citizens were unwilling to do we cannot expect the Council to do. Considering all things fairly there are five or six hotels in the city that cater to the travelling public and two or three cater carefully to the country trade. If eight licenses were issued to hotels and two to shops, that would more than provide for the thirst of the men of our city." Mr. Potter asked the Council to consider the question fairly and candidly and the citizens would stand by any arrangements made in this regard. In conclusion he pointed out that the proprietorships of many of the hotels were constantly changing and the Council had to do with men who were changing rapidly.

Mr. A. P. Poussette.

Mr. Poussette remarked that Mr. Potter had presented his case in a very fair manner. He sympathized with the members of the Moral Reform League in their effort to reform the city if it has to be reformed. If it is so immoral and drunken that it has to be reformed he felt that the reformation should be carried out. The question was whether the reduction of the number of places where liquor may be obtained is going to be a real benefit to the moral conditions of Peterborough. There are 19 licensed places, according to the population a fewer number than the Legislature has authorized the issue of. "In as much as that is the case we are well within the law and within the wisdom of the Province. When it is asked that the number of licenses be reduced it shows conclusively to the Council that the Legislature is wrong in the point it takes that the number of licenses authorized per 1,000 is greater than it should be. It is not for us or you to override the provision by law in this regard."

Reduction would only concentrate the traffic in the hands of a few. It is not a question of the number of hotels but to whom the licenses are to be granted. Mr. Poussette dealt with the yard and dining room accommodation of many of the smaller hotels upon which the farmers were largely dependent on market day. The reduction of shop licenses from four to two would simply mean that the two shops would do twice as much business as formerly. In conclusion Mr. Poussette stated that the granting of the request would be contrary to British fair play.

Mr. D. O'Connell.

In considering the question the Council should drive out of their minds all sentiment and deal out even-handed justice to the people concerned, Mr. O'Connell said. He referred to the Local Option campaign stating that the members of the Moral Reform League had known of the three fifths clause and after having failed in a fair fight, having received an adverse decision they were not satisfied with the decision of the people as defined by law, but wanted that verdict overridden. The assessed value of the property owned by hotel keepers is $343,000 practically a half a million dollars when the property is quoted near its true value. By the reduction of licenses this property was absolutely destroyed to the proprietor. Many men were employed in the business. They had spent three years engaged in it and were dependent upon it for a livelihood. The amount paid in salaries to them amounted to $142,000 a year. These men would be placed out of employment and practically helpless. Mr. O'Connell made a strong appeal on the grounds of justice and fair play to the owners of the properties concerned and the men who would be deprived of the work they were accustomed to.

Mr. R. E. Wood.

There was no mandate from the people regarding shop licenses Mr. Wood stated. There had never been the shadow of a complaint. He explained that if the Council passed a by-law recommending the reduction of shop licenses the commissioners would have to act upon it, whereas in the case of hotel licenses they did not have to cut them off, as a result of the Council's by-law. It is binding in the case of the shop licenses but not against the hotel men.

While Mr. Wood was speaking a voice from the crowd interrupted him in his statements regarding the licenses for shops. Mr. Jas. Kendry pushed his way through the crowd to the railing at the same time. Apparently he had spoken the words to the effect that Mr. Wood was wrong and he would show him. Mr. Wood remarked that he did not make the law which was in the statute even as he had read it. Mr. Kendry did not say anything upon reaching the clearing.

Mr. Potter replied to some of the points brought out by the gentleman who opposed the reduction.

Several motions.

Ald. Buller and Ald. Bradburn moved that the question be taken up by the committee of the Whole Council at a meeting to be called by the Mayor. They considered that before the Council reached any decision they should thoroughly consider all phases of the question.

Ald. Morgan and Turner moved in amendment that the Council prepare a by-law recommending to the License Commissioners that the nuber of hotel licenses be reduced to eight and the shops to two.

The amendment was supported only by Ald. Batten in addition to the mover and seconder and was consequently lost. The motion carried.

Rev. Mr Potter asked that the Moral Reform League be notified of the meeting that representatives would be enabled to be present. The Council was agreeable.

The different speakers thanked the Council for the hearing given them. Ald. Duncan objected to a statement made by Mr. Poussette, to the effect that the aldermen had not allowed themselves to be stampeded.

Rev. Mr. Potter's Letter.

The letter received from Rev. J. G. Potter, president of the Moral Reform League, in connection with the reduction of licenses, was as follows:

Your Worship and Gentlemen.—On

Annual Meeting Of Nicholls Hospital Board Of Trustees

Financial Statement for the Year—Five Hundred and Fifty Patients Treated During the Year—Private Wards Have Been Continually in Use—Superintendent's Illness.

A SATISFACTORY YEAR

The annual meeting of the Nicholls Hospital Trustee Board was held on Monday afternoon in the Dominion Bank chambers.

The reports presented were very gratifying and evidenced the continual popularity of this excellent institution.

It is worthy of note that the total cost of maintaining the Hospital for the past year, some $20,000, has been accomplished without one cent of cost to the ratepayers, while a large amount of indigent persons have been treated absolutely free.

There were present Messrs. Richard Hall, Wm. Madill, John McClelland, Rev. Mr. Coon, John Green, Jas. Stevenson, W H. Hill, Wm. Kemp, Robt. Fair, Waldridge and his Worship the Mayor.

The secretary-treasurer presented the following report of receipts and expenditures, which was adopted and referred to the city auditor.

The chairman then made the following remarks:

Board of Trustees, The Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, Ont.—

Gentlemen,—I have again the pleasure of reporting a very satisfactory year at the Nicholls Hospital.

The number of patients treated during the year was 550 and from reports gleaned from them I am able to assure you of the general satisfaction expressed by them of their treatment while in the Hospital. They all testify to the kindness of the nursing staff and care and attention of the medical men and generally to the excellent appointments of the Hospital.

The private wards have been continually occupied and more rooms could have been used had they been available.

During the year considerable money has been spent in cleaning and improving the interior of the Hospital with a view to having the various wards as cheery and bright as possible—this has been done at a minimum of expense and the outlay is fully justified by the appearance of the wards.

The nurses' apartments have been improved—a piano installed and everything possible done to ensure comfort for these young ladies.

The Government Inspector recently visited the hospital and his report is gratifying and very commendatory.

I regret to advise you of the recent illness of the Lady Superintendent, Miss De La Matter, the continued and unremitting care bestowed by her in her work resulted in a nervous breakdown, but I am glad to say she is slowly improving and we should strongly urge her taking a rest before resuming her responsible duties. During her illness Miss McGregor has been in charge and has managed the affairs in a very capable manner.

I desire to thank the gentlemen of the Board for their continued interest in the Hospital and bespeak the same interest during the coming year.

Chairman's Address.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, resulting as follows:

Richard Hall, chairman.

W. H. Hill, honorary secretary.

A special committee was then elected to strike the standing committees for the year. Their report was adopted as follows:

Supervision Committee—W. Madill (chairman), W. Kemp, W. Aldridge, chairman and hon. secretary, (ex-officio.)

Property Committee—John McClelland (chairman), J. J. McBain, W. Kemp, chairman and hon secretary (ex-officio.)

Finance Committee.—R. Fair (chairman, John Greer, Rev. J. G. Potter, chairman and hon. secretary (ex-officio.)

Visiting Committee. — The whole Board divided into sub-committees as follows:

January and July, Rev. Mr. Coon and Robt. Fair.

February and August—John Greer and J. W McClelland.

March and September Rev. Mr. Potter and W. Aldridge.

April and October, Wm. Kemp and J. J. McBain.

May and November, W. Madill and J. W. Bennet.

June and December, Jos. Stevenson and Rev. Dr Langfeldt

In cases where a trustee is not reappointed to represent a congregation his successor shall act on committees on which his name appears

Before the Board adjourned the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

That this Board learns with regret of the illness of Miss Dela Matter, the efficient Lady Superintendent of the Hospital and desires to express to her the sum of its appreciation of her valued services during the past four years.

The Ladies' Aid of George St Methodist Church will hold a Birthday Party at the home of Mrs. Cressman, Brock St, on Wednesday afternoon, January 19th, from four to six o'clock. Admission 15 cts. 2d13 behalf of a very large number of prominent and public-spirited business men of this city the Moral Reform League take this opporunity of addressing you.

Owing to the very large majority vote (510) in favour of the complete abolition of the taverns, (voted upon by the largest municipal vote ever polled in this city) and in view of the fact that the power to reduce the number of licenses is reposed in your honourable body, we have, after careful consideration, concluded to ask you to reduce the number of tavern licenses to eight and two shop licenses. The citizens of Peterborough, by their vote, would, of course, prefer all the bars removed, but it is the general and widespread feeling throughout the city that all classes of citizens are expecting that a very substantial reduction shall be made in the number of license holders, and we are positive that the Council will give effect to such restrictions of the liquor traffic as will fully express the very strong conviction of so large a proportion of the citizens of Peterborough.

Yours respectfully,

JAMES G. POTTER, President.

Council Will Deal With The Appointment Of Commissioner

Board of Trade Presents the Resolution Passed at Meeting in Collegiate Assembly Hall Nov. 9 —Mr. D. O'Connell's Address.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR IT

The Board of Trade is determined to keep fresh in the memories of the Council the resolution passed at a meeting of the Board and representative citizens in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall on November 9. It is generally understood whether the City Fathers admit it or not, that this was virtually a New Year's resolution, which if carried out, would mean a great deal towards Peterborough's advancement.

At last night's Council meeting a deputation from the Board of Trade was present Messrs. D. O'Connell and D. Hughes Charles being the speakers. The former stated that Peterborough was in a position to undergo considerable growth. The time was ripe for the appointment of an industrial commissioner, or whatever official could do the work. The deputation formally presented the motion passed at that meeting of the Board, and suggested that owing to the importance of the question the appointment be considered as soon as possible.

Ald. Phelan and Buller moved that the whole Council take up the resolution in cooperation with the Board of Trade.

The Resolution.

The resolution passed at the Board of Trade meeting may have grown dim in the memories of some and is reproduced herewith as a reminder of the enthusiasm expressed for a greater Peterborough and a modern, aggressive public spirit:

Moved by Mr. Daniel O'Connell, seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles:

Whereas the present rapid development of Canada must necessarily result in increasing the number and magnitude of the manufacturing industries of the Province of Ontario, and

Whereas it is apparent that it is only such municipalities as adopt energetic and effective means of bringing their advantages to the notice of the manufacturing public, that are likely to procure their proper share of such industries; and

Whereas the City of Peterborough possesses in an exceptionally high degree, local and natural advantages, resulting from its geographical position, railway facilities and water power; and

Whereas it is imperative, in the best interests of the city, and necessary for its future progress, that proper and effective means be adopted, at once, to lead to a comprehensive and clear understanding of the extent and value of these advantages, and to have them utilized in such a way, as will tend to promote the future industrial development of the city.

Therefore be it resolved, at this meeting of the citizens of Peterborough, called at the instance of the Board of Trade, that it is the opinion of this meeting, that effective and energetic means should be forthwith taken by the Municipal Council of the City of Peterborough to promote the industrial interests of this city, and that the services of a competent and efficient officer be procured, who will devote his whole time and energy in acquiring knowledge of the peculiar advantages possessed by this city in consulting and advising with the Municipal Council respecting the same, and in promoting and in advancing the industrial welfare and interests of the city generally, and that proper funds be placed at his disposal for efficiently carrying out the objects of his appointment, and for the purpose of defraying his salary and expenses, provision be made by such additional levy as may be necessary, which, in our opinion, would be covered by half a mill on the dollar.

SMALLPOX FRIGHTENS

Yet Statistics Easily Show That More People Suffer and Die From Ordinary Kidney Disease in Three Months Than Die by Smallpox in a Year.

Mentions Fine Prescription to Prevent and Cure Kidney and Bladder Disorders.

The appalling number of people who neglect the slight signs of kidney derangement is responsible for the high death rate of this class of mankind. A little attention, at the very first symptom would tend to greatly lessen the fatal maladies. No organ in the body keeps such faithful records of health or ill health, as the kidneys and bladder. A cramp-like pain in the back, a burning dragging pain in the spine, or early morning weariness are signals from disordered kidneys. Frequent (especially at night) burning, smarting, profuse or scanty urination, and dull pain in the bladder region, puffed eyes, swollen ankles, weakness and lethargy all should be taken as signals of distress to be answered promptly. Nature needs assistance and a few of nature's properly blended drugs, make sick kidneys and bladder quickly recover. This is superior and harmless, too; Fluid extract buchu 1 oz., com. fluid balmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound 4 oz. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring, and very soon all symptoms vanish and health again reigns.

KIDNEYS ACT FINE AND BACKACHE GOES

A Few Doses Regulate Disordered Kidneys and End Bladder Misery.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick-feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

ATTACK ON THE SENATE

Resolution Favoring the Abolition of the Senate Is Voted Down With Only a Few Conservatives and Two Liberals Favoring It—Tom Wallace Brings Up Walter Blythe's Pardon In House.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—In the House yesterday, E. A. Lancaster moved a resolution similar to that moved by him last year, declaring that "This House is of the opinion that the Senate is no longer required, or advisable, for the properly carrying on of responsible Government in Canada, * * * * and that the abolition of the Senate would greatly conduce to the welfare of the Dominion of Canada and promote the interests of the British Empire."

Mr. Lancaster urged that Senate reform had been a plank in the Liberal platform in days gone by and both parties were agreed that matters were not right. In Toronto, Sir Richard Cartwright had once said the Senate was a millstone around the necks of the Canadian people, which he prayed that providence would soon remove. When he became a Senator himself, his cries ceased.

Sir Oliver Mowat in 1893 had said: "We are agreed as to the necessity of a fundamental reform of the Senate, if for any reason it must or should be retained."

Mr. Lancaster, however, regarded the Senate as an entirely useless body, which should be abolished.

H. H. Miller, South Grey, said he would vote for the abolition of the Senate.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he regarded the Senate as a body necessary for the protection of minorities. No case where Senate intervention had to be invoked in this regard had occurred in Canada, but it might occur.

"Of course," he said, "the wish is expressed that there should be a reform of the House of Lords, and indeed it is probable that which ever party succeeds in the present election as a consequence of the election, the House of Lords will in some way be reformed. But I am sure that there is no suggestion that the House of Lords should be abolished. I think it would be unfortunate if the second chamber were abolished. The same principle applies here."

Mr. Lancaster had said that the character of the legislation of the House had so much improved since forty years ago that there was no apprehension now of dangerous legislation passing. The Premier did not think legislation had so much improved that people would care to see the Senate removed. He was shocked and scandalized that he was compelled to defend Conservative principles against Conservative members.

Hon. John Haggart said for years he had waited in vain for the Premier to implement his promise made to the people that he would reform the Senate. He said the feeling was nearly universal that there should be not abolition, but reform.

Dr. Sproule opposed abolition, but favored reform.

On a vote being taken the motion was defeated, the following voting for Mr. Lancaster's motion:

Conservatives—Lancaster, Magrath, Lewis, Chisholm of Huron, Taylor of New Westminster, Crothers, Kidd, McCall, Currie of Simcoe, Sexsmith, Thornton, Wallace, Russell, Bost, Meighen, McCarthy.

Liberals—Emmerson and Miller.

On Friday next the sub-committee of the Railway Committee of the House of Commons, to whom were referred E. A. Lancaster's three bills to amend the Railway Act, will hear the arguments of the railway companies against the proposed measures.

One bill amends section 340 of the Railway Act concerning the liability of railway companies when goods are carried at a rate lower than the standard rate, another amends the procedure in case of appeal from the Board of Railway Commissioners to the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Clarke, M.P., of Essex, is chairman of the sub-committee.

In the House yesterday, Sir Frederick Borden, in reference to a letter which Sir William White had written to The London Times, declaring that the naval stations at Esquimalt and Halifax were not being kept in anything like an orderly manner, said that, as the result of special enquiries made, he was informed the naval base at Halifax was believed to be in as good condition as when the Imperial authorities had charge of it, while as to the naval station at Esquimalt, it was still under the Imperial authorities.

In reply to Mr. Foster, the Minister of Railways stated that $20,000 had been spent in surveys to ascertain the most desirable route for the possible new, or enlargement of the present Welland Canal. It was estimated that $25,000 would be required to complete the surveys.

Mr. Graham also furnished the information that the cost of the Quebec bridge enquiry had been $31,765, and that of the board of engineers which had prepared the new plans had been $123,159 up to Dec. 30, 1909.

Mr. Jameson was informed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier that 117 applications had been received from persons desiring to serve in the Canadian navy.

Mr. Aylesworth stated that Chief Justice Dubuc of Manitoba Court of King's Bench, had resigned voluntarily.

In the House last night Capt. Tom Wallace (Centre York) moved for a copy of all papers, telegrams, documents, etc., concerning the postponement of the execution of Walter Blythe, and also in respect to his second trial. There had been a good deal of dissatisfaction in his constituency over the matter, and he thought the reasons for the postponement should be made public.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth said he was glad of an opportunity to explain away some of the misapprehensions which appeared to exist, but was sorry to see a motion of this kind brought forward, as it was not desirable that such papers should be made public.

After explaining the prerogative of mercy as exercised by the King through the Governor-General, Mr. Aylesworth said that the Government was responsible for the reprieve, which had been granted because the constitution provided that in capital cases His Excellency acted only upon the advice of his advisers.

HAPPY RESULTS OBTAINED.

By The Use of the New Scalp Antiseptic.

It wouldn't take long to number the hairs in the heads of some people, the reason being they haven't many to number. In most instances, however, the fault is their own. A germ at the root soon plays havoc with the most luxuriant growth and causes it to fade and fall out. A remedy for this has recently been discovered, called Newbro's Herpicide, that acts by destroying the germ that does the damage, besides removing all impurities from the scalp. In addition it permits new life and vigour to enter the scalp, and happy results are sure to be obtained from its use. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Father Fatally Burned.

Brockville, Ont., Jan. 18.—The residence of James Lee, a few miles from here, was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday night, and he was probably fatally burned in rescuing his three daughters. The fire was caused by a young child upsetting a coal oil lamp. One of the daughters, aged nine years, ran to a neighbor a quarter of a mile away in deep snow for assistance.

Had to Change the Name.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Some months ago the British consul at Antwerp entered a strong protest against the Canadian office opened there ten years ago being advertised or carrying on emigration work. A Canadian Government office has no status in a foreign country like Belgium. It is now called the Canadian information office.

Boy's Murderer Arrested.

New York, Jan. 18.—Barrow Rothman, unkept and long-haired, was arrested yesterday afternoon by officers searching for the lunatic who murdered Robt. Louras and shot Arthur Shibley, 8-year-old boy coasters on Washington Heights, last week. The prisoner talked incoherently, but the police say, admitted he shot a boy who threw snowballs at him.

Mine-House Dynamited.

Harley, Wis., Jan. 18.—The dry house at No. 1 shaft of the Windsor Mine, operated by the Odenah Iron Co., one mile west of Harley, was dynamited early yesterday, and H. Davis was killed, Henry Grover, mine boss, and Capt. Camello seriously injured, and four Polish miners were seriously hurt.

THE SITE OF PORCUPINE

Member of T. & N. O. Board Says That the Official Town Will Be About Two Miles North of Milepost—Prospectors Are Enthusiastic About Prospects For Rich Discoveries Up There.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—A spot two miles and a half north of Milepost 222 on the T. & N. O. Railway, within easy distance of the Iroquois Falls and unlimited water power, is now considered the most likely site for the establishment of the Government townsite of Porcupine. Mr. Fred Dane of the T. & N. O. Commission, who returned yesterday from a comprehensive inspection trip of the district, seems pleased with the proposed location. The Government, he said, had had the spot under consideration for some time.

"At Milepost 222," said the commissioner, "there is also a possible site. But at this place there is a siding which was laid down in connection with the development of a timber limit. The owner claims exclusive rights. The site to the north has few drawbacks. It is particularly desirable because of its proximity to Iroquois Falls, an immensely valuable water power."

Mr. Dane took with him Messrs. A. A. Cole, mining engineer; F. B. Clement, chief engineer; W. Young, general roadmaster; G. Lee, general agent, and A. H. Black, superintendent. Cole, Clement and Lee entered the Porcupine country by way of the Matheson; Mr. Dane and the others of the party went in from Milepost 222.

"The Matheson townsfolk are quite convinced that they have the best and only route into the mining district," said Mr. Dane. "They have cut a good road right through, and are willing to keep it in good repair. The citizens supplement this by mentioning the other advantages of Matheson — its hotels, freight sheds, telegraph equipment, and telephone connections. They say," remarked the commissioner, with a smile, "they are quite willing to construct a telephone line right into the camp.

"People coming out of the Porcupine district," said Mr. Dane, "seem to be quite satisfied. There is gold there, and particularly good samples of ore have been obtained in the townships of Whitney, Tisdale and Shaw. The commission will, however, soon be receiving reliable information."

Buxton's Message to Canada.

London, Jan. 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Hon. Sydney Buxton, Postmaster-General, wires the Canadian Associated Press as follows: "The interest of the colonies in this important election is much appreciated. The election involves, as we Liberals believe, representative control, social reforms, equitable taxation, free trade with its unhampered and friendly industrialism and naval and military defence in which Canada gives such practical help."

George Lukacs; Minister of Justice, Warships and Education, ad interim, Dr. Szelky; Minister of Agriculture, Count Serenyi. The new Ministers will be sworn in at Vienna to-day.

Not an Alien.

Chatham, Jan. 18.—The C. W. & L. E. Railway was acquitted yesterday morning of a charge of violating the alien labor act, brought by Thomas Martin on the claim that the railway had engaged P. J. Shiels, general manager, by previous contract. It was found, however, that while Shiels came from Utica, N.Y., his parents came from Ireland, and had never been naturalized. The court therefore held that Shiels was a British subject.

Strike to Cut Prices.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—An anti-meat strike as a blow at the increased cost of living is in full swing here.

It is estimated that fully 6,000 men have signed a pledge to abstain from meat for a month in an effort to break high prices.

An effort will be made by the promoters of the plan to spread the doctrine of anti-meat to all parts of Ohio.

RHEUMATISM Strikes the Heart and then Kills

Causes: A run down condition of the system, poisoned blood, and Uric Acid. The joints become clogged with irritating secretions and grow stiff. Every movement tortures and racks the sufferer. Cure is not possible until the blood is purified. The most potent blood purifier is Ferrozone. It is a perfect solvent for Uric Acid and an antidote for all other poisons liable to cause inflammation or Rheumatic Pains. But Ferrozone doesn't stop here. It provides the enfeebled sufferer with an abundant supply of pure, invigorating blood. This quickly results in more strength with which to fight the disease, starts a rebuilding of the system, ends in a permanent cure. Mr. Thos. Egan, of 92 Pearl Street, New York, suffered so intensely from Rheumatism that his friends believed he could not recover. "The Rheumatism," writes Mr. Egan, "crippled me for four years. It seemed to run to the joints, which swelled and caused dreadful pain. I wasn't able to walk and my strength rapidly decreased. My heart became so weak I had to be bolstered up in bed. I was at my wits' end when I heard of the wonderful cures of Ferrozone. Twelve boxes cured and I am now strong and perfectly well." There is no better remedy. Severe tests have proved it superlative to all others. If you want the BEST and most scientific treatment for Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, or Sciatica, use Ferrozone. No case too chronic. THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

STUDENTS HAD EASY TIME WITH WEAKENED COLTS

Garnet and Gray Won by a Wide Margin the Second Game in the Junior O. H. A. Series Last Night---Figures Were 11 to 4 Against the Colts Who Were Behind 9-0 at One Stage of the Game.

Through a chapter of accidents the Peterborough Juniors had to send out a patched-up seven against the Collegiate Institute in the second game of the Junior O. H. A. series at Brock Street Rink last night, and the Cubs were not equal to the task, the students winning out by the somewhat badly balanced score of 11 goals to 4. At the half it was 6 to 0, in favour of the Kennerites, who ran wild during the first twenty minutes and were all over the Colts, tricking them with their combination, and breaking up their rushes by good defence work, and persistent checking back. They had the ability to work in on the nets and the grit to take them there and when they combined this with accurate shooting, it was no wonder that they ran up a score.

However, the Colts were not as badly outclassed as the score would indicate. They would hammer away around the Collegiate nets for a period, looking dangerous all the time, and then the garnet and gray line would flash down together, exchange a number of passes at full speed, shoot from close in, and hang up another goal. The young Petes were handicapped by the fact that their forwards had never worked together before and were playing in positions that were new to them. The result was that they did not hold their positions any too well and bunched after the rubber, making combination utterly impossible.

The first half was all Collegiate, the only chance the Colts had of scoring being spoiled, when Referee Rose stopped the play to penalize Denison. The Colts were tearing right in on the nets, and would undoubtedly have scored had it not been for the bell. Outside of this opening, however, the Colts were held pretty well out, while the combination and stick-handling of Crane and Burritt brought scores for the students.

In the second half the Colts made a much better showing. They worked like Trojans and although they still failed to show much team work they hammered their way through to the nets, and had quite as much of the play as had their opponents. The Students annexed the first three goals of the half, but then the Colts came back with a rush and annexed three in jig time. Two more by the Collegians followed and then the Juniors ended the scoring by banging in the fifteenth goal.

In spite of the one-sided score the game was always interesting and at times lightning fast. It was, however, far from clean, both teams being guilty of considerable slashing and tripping, which resulted in a lengthy penalty list in spite of the fact that Referee Rose kept increasing the length of the absences from the scene of hostilities. There was, however, no ill feeling manifested between the players, and the offences were not deliberate.

Burritt and Crane were the stars of the Collegiate forward line, the pair getting ten of the counters between them, seven coming from Murritt's stick. The two combined beautifully, and carried the rubber in on top of the nets, nearly every time they broke away. Their rush together the length of the rink for the fourth goal was the prettiest piece of work of the night, half a dozen passes being exchanged on the way down.

All the defence played sterling hockey, Denison rushed nicely, and Geale was a stonewall at point, using his body to good advantage. The Colts were disorganized, but did some good individual work. Pelton jumped out in the goal position at the eleventh hour to take the place of Halpin who was hors de combat with an injured foot, and considering the fact that he had had no practice did very well indeed. The defence worked well. Heffernan being especially in the limelight by his fine checking and splendid rushing.

Giroux and Weir were the best of the forward line, both working like demons all through the chapter, their checking back being of much assistance.

The teams were:

Burritt got the first for the Collegiate after four minutes' playing, following a combined rush after Weir had made a nice individual raid into Collegiate territory. Crane annexed number two, two minutes afterwards on a nice shot from the wings. Then Burritt and Crane got away together and neatly placed a pass to the centre man, followed by an effective shot, ended in another counter. Denison got two minutes for tripping and was followed by Mills, for a slash.

Giroux came off soon after for the same offence. Crane and Burritt carried the puck nearly the length of the rink on a combined rush, and Burritt slammed one behind Pelton.

Two minutes later Burritt scored again on a combination rush and Matthews made it 6-0 two minutes afterwards on a nice shot from the side. Munro upset Geale after the latter had torn off a nice rush and was penalized. Giroux served a second penalty for slashing and Crane was also sent away. Denison tripped a Colt forward and went into the cooler just before Giroux was released. Playing seven men to five the Colts could not find the nets and the half ended with the figures the same.

The Collegiate opened the second half at top speed, getting their seventh goal in thirty seconds on a rush by Denison, followed by a pass to Crane at the right moment. Crane broke his skate and went off, with Mills. Halpany drew, two minutes for tripping, and before he got back on the ice Giroux came back to the timers. Hall followed suit, and as Halpany was back on the ice by this time the Colts lined up four to six. However they managed to keep the Students from scoring until their men were back. Giroux, however, went back again for the fourth time, for jabbing Halpany, and tht latter was handed a penalty for slashing soon after.

Burritt made it 8-0 for the Students by taking a pass from close in from Matthews, in 13 minutes.

The next one came in one minute, Denison going down the ice and centring to Burritt.

Weir was sent away for tripping Denison, and Crane came off again. Hall was the next to go. Weir made it 9 to 2, in four minutes, and Mills shoved one through in a scrimmage, in one minute, leaving the figures 9 to 3.

The Collegiate got one back in one minute on a shot from Burritt, from a pass from the corner by Matthews. The latter was penalized a moment after. Hall broke a skate and went off, Halpany retiring with him. Crane and Burritt united beautifully for the last goal for the Collegiate.

Giroux got the last for the Colts two minutes afterwards, ending the scoring, but not the penalty list, as Crane was rail-roaded for tripping Giroux.

The summary follows:

1—Collegiate, Burritt, 4 mins.
2—Collegiate, Crane, 2 mins.
3—Collegiate, Burritt, 3 mins.
4—Collegiate, Burritt, 3 mins.
5 Collegiate, Burritt, 2 mins.
6—Collegiate, Matthews, 2 mins. Half time.

EXCITEMENT OVER TO-MORROW'S CITY LEAGUE FIXTURE

Excitement is at fever heat over to-morrow night's game in the City League series between the Strathconas and West Ends, and the indications are that the record crowd of the season will be on hand for the game. Although the present weather conditions do not look any too favourable the weatherman has promised a turn for the better to-night, in which case the two teams will get the hard ice they have been looking for to-morrow night. Both teams claim that they are at their best when the going is slippery, so naturally both are anxious for colder weather.

However, no matter what the temperature may be to-morrow night, it will be a grand game, be the ice soft or hard, as the teams are in the best possible physical condition, and fit to go the route on the boards if necessary. A month's practice has rounded out the men in good fashion and there will be little let up in the play to-morrow night.

The West Ends seem to be selected as having the best chance to win out, according to the majority of the fans, although the Commissioners have a few supporters, who say that the red and white team will make the Westerners extend themselves to the limit. West End supporters can see nothing but the yellow and black and there is no getting around the fact that they have a grand little team, who will make them all step to town to beat them. They will have their strongest line-up on, and altogether it looks like rocks ahead of the Commissioners. The latter will play the same team as has represented them in the last two games.

Both T. A. S. and Keene claim that they will break away from the bottom of the heap to-morrow night. Neither is out of the running yet, and as they have strengthened up considerably will have to be looked out for as contenders.

The Keene-T. A. S. game opens the festivities at 8 o'clock, followed by the West End-Strathcona game at nine o'clock. Bill Rose will handle both games.

CURED BRONCHITIS

Mrs. Hopkins Says Her Life Was Saved—Choked and Gasped for Breath

"Some five years ago I was taken with a bad attack of bronchitis. I was affected with a bronchial cough and cold, the cough was generally much more apparent at night, and I would wake up choking and gasping for breath, and there seemed to be a terrible stoppage in my throat and tubes. My throat was tender and irritable, and had an aching sensation, which was especially bad at times. I doctored and used several remedies, but received no permanent relief until I used Hyomei. This remedy is certainly infallible, and it saved my life, and I accord it the credit which it deserves. There is nothing too strong for me to say regarding Hyomei." Mrs. Ada Hopkins, 8 Cutter Ave., Coldwater, Mich., August 22, 1908.

Wm. Madill sells Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and he guarantees it to cure bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, croup, hay fever, coughs and colds, or money back.

PETERBORO' TEAM CHOSEN FOR LINDSAY GAME

The Peterborough intermediates had a rattling practice at Brock St. rink last night in preparation for Friday night's game with Lindsay and ran up and down the rink for an hour in a fashion that delighted the rail birds. A big squad was out and showed good form. After the practice the line-up for the opening game with Lindsay was chosen and will be as follows:

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Campbell.
Cover—McDougall.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Dobson.

As will be seen the team is a City League outfit, comprising, Derocher, Campbell, Ray, McMillan and Dusty of the Strathconas, Dobson of the West Ends and McDougall of the Keene team. The men are all in the best of shape and should make a good showing against the Lindsay champions. They have had three weeks' campaigning in the City League to season them and will take a lot of beating. With the exception of Derocher the defence is new. Allan Campbell at point played for the T. A.A.C. Intermediate team last year and McDougall was at cover for the intermediate Eureka, of Toronto.

LAKEFIELD TEAM BEAT PETERBOROUGH MIDGETS

The Peterborough Midgets journeyed to Lakefield last night and played a friendly game with the Lakefield Alerts, the latter winning an interesting and well played game by 7 goals to 5. Lakefield had all the better of the first half, leading by 5 goals to 0 at the turning point, but the Midgets came strong on end and outscored the Villagers in the second period. The teams were:

Peterboro Midgets	Lakefield Alerts
Goal.
Mutry	Hill
Point.
White	Crawford
Cover-point.
Conroy	Graham
Forwards.
Morrow	Blewett
Neill	Pemmitt
Heard	Hunter
Halpin	White

The goals were scored as follows:

1 Lakefield Pemmitt 3 mins.
2 Lakefield, Crawford, 2 mins.

For Coughs, Colds,

BRONCHITIS, SORE THROAT, HOARSENESS, CROUP, ASTHMA, PAIN or TIGHTNESS IN THE CHEST and all BRONCHIAL or LUNG TROUBLES there is nothing to equal

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It contains all the virtues of the world famous Norway pine tree, combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Nasty Hacking Cough Cured.

Mrs. John Peich, Windsor, Ont. writes: "I was troubled with a nasty hacking cough for the past six months and used a lot of different remedies but they did me no good. At last I was advised by a friend to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and with the first few doses I found great relief and to-day my hacking cough has entirely disappeared and I am never without Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in the house."

The price of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 25 cents per bottle. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, so be sure and accept none of the many substitutes of the original "Norway Pine Syrup."

DOCTORS ADVISE MEDICATED AIR

It Cures Catarrh, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Throat Troubles, Hoarseness.

For diseases of the lungs, throat and nasal passages mountain air has always been deemed salutary because of its pureness and freedom from disease germs. The air of pine forests, laden with minute particles of volatile germ-destroying principles, has enjoyed an almost unexampled reputation in these diseases also.

A MARVELLOUS DISCOVERY.

After years of exhaustive tudy a chemist devised a means of supplying right at home a healing balsamic remedy that is even more effective in catarrhal diseases than the air of the pine woods. Of course, this remedy was copyrighted in every civilized country and was at once offered to the public under the name of "Catarrhozone." Its success has been phenomenal.

Just think of it! A healing, soothing substance capable of destroying these noxious organisms which excite and maintain disease. Capable, also, of allaying congestion and of stimulating the healing processes of nature, which are combined in that invaluable compound so well and so favorably known to the medical world as "Catarrhozone."

CATARRHOZONE CURES.

Catarrhozone is simply the concentrated qualities of the air of pine woods. If you breathe it you will derive more benefit in one hour than you could possibly get from the woods in a year.

This great advantage arises from the fact that, in addition to those healing emanations from pine, other ingredients distilled from the vegetable kingdom are so united as to give results that could not possibly be derived in the simple form in which nature supplies medicated air.

20,000 PHYSICIANS ENDORSE IT.

For all diseases of the nose, ear, throat, bronchial tubes and air passages—for catarrh in every form—cure is certain with Catarrhozone, which is not a nostrum, but a high-class scientific treatment. Large size, sufficient for two months' use (guaranteed), price $1.00; smaller size 50c, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

City Disposes Of Nicholls Property, Simcoe Street For $11,000

Property Committee Accepted Mr. Stratton's Offer and Their Recommendation Was Approved of by the Council—Agricultura Society Ask for $500.

DEPRIVED OF VOTE

A special meeting of the Council was held last night with Mayor Morrow presiding, and all the members present. Delegations from the Moral Reform League, the Quaker Oats Co. and the Board of Trade were heard, reports of which are found elsewhere. Ex-Ald. Robt. Leary headed a deputation of directors of the Peterborough Fair. Mr. Leary smiled broadly when he faced the city fathers. In fact it was not the first time he had beamed upon the Council. Last year, on behalf of the Fair, he asked for a grant of $500, but it was rather late in the year and as the money had been appropriated only $400 had been set aside for the Fair. The directors remembered this fact, and at their annual meeting decided to get in early to avoid Porcupine rushes that might have occurred. Thus it was that President Leary reminded the Council last night of the efforts of the directors to make the show a success. He felt that the citizens appreciated the efforts to assure the fair's success, and asked for a grant of $500 this year.

On motion of Ald. Phelan and Duncan the request was referred to the Finance Committee.

Communications.

The following communications were received:

From C. E. West, clerk of Campbellford, asking this city to help meet their expenses amounting to $51, in connection with the death of and last illness of William Lightheart, a former resident of this city.

From O'Connell & Gordon, a writ in Cranby vs. City of Peterborough, for $2,000.

From City Solicitor Hall stating that all aldermen must be re-elected next year under the ward system. One for two years and one for one year, and thereafter one each year for a term of two years.

Christina L. Smyth, in a letter to the Mayor, congratulated him upon his election, and in the next sentence stated that she had a grievance. She went to vote on Jan. 3rd, but the Clerk told her she had no vote for the property, 228 McDonnell street which she owned, and that Mr. J. J. Lang, who owned 226, McDonnel street, and assessed for the place. He was also assessed for 236 McDonel street, and she said her name had been erased, and the ditto sign had been placed instead, thus making her property appear to have been assessed to Mr. Lang. The writer did not believe in being cheated out of a vote, and wanted the matter taken up.—Referred to Legal Comittee.

Property Committee.

Ald. Duncan read the report of the Property Committee, which was passed, as follows:

We recommend that the request of the Peterborough Club for permission to place a porch door on the north side of their premises, opening outwards, be granted.

We recommend that the matter of procuring small supplies for the market and city hall be left in the hands of the Chairman.

We recommend that the matter of repairing and repainting the Dan M. Spence ambulance be left in the hands of the Chairman to look after.

Your committee received an offer from the Honourable J. R. Stratton of $11,000 for the building on the north side of Simcoe street, given to the city by the Executors of the estate of the late Charlotte M. Nicholls, and, after full consideration, we recommend that this offer be accepted.

Council adjourned shortly afterwards.

PROMINENT RESIDENT OF THIS CITY PASSES AWAY IN GUELPH

Death of Mr. John Carnegie Last Evening—Had Gone to Guelph for Medical Treatment—Took Keen Interest in Public Affairs.

WAS BORN IN DOURO

The news of the death of Mr. John Carnegie, of this city, who passed away in Guelph yesterday, came as a great shock to his many friends here. Mr. Carnegie went to Guelph a few days ago for medical treatment. While he had been in poor health for some time his death was quite unexpected.

The late Mr. Carnegie was born in Douro in March, 1837, and was therefore in his 73rd year. At an early age he took an active part in public affairs. In 1864, 1865 and 1866, he was reeve of Douro, and represented that township in the County Council. At Confederation, in 1867, he was elected the Conservative candidate for West Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature, and sat in the first Parliament of the Province. At the next election he was defeated by T. M. Fairbairn, and in December, 1883, Mr. Carnegie was again the successful candidate for the Legislature. In 1886 he was defeated by Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., and again in June, 1890, unsuccessfully opposed Mr. Stratton.

For many years the late Mr. Carnegie was the energetic supporter of and platform advocate for the Conservative party, and especially his part in the National Policy campaign of 1878, and subsequent Dominion elections on this issue will be remembered. During recent years the state of his health did not permit him to take part in public matters.

Mr. Carnegie became connected with the Review, as Editor, while it was published by the late Robert Romains, and later, about the year 1877, the Review was purchased by Mr. Carnegie and Mr. E. J. Toker, and published by them under the firm name of Toker & Co. In 1884, the Review Printing and Publishing Co. Limited, was organized, and from that time, although he retired from active participation in the affairs of the company and paper, in 1887, Mr. Carnegie was President of the company until his death.

For many years Mr. Carnegie was Secretary of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society. He was also Secretary of the Peterborough Trust Commissioners, and for a number of years was one of the commissioners, and was several times arbitrator in the adjustment of the accounts respecting the administration of justice between the city and the county. He always took a deep interest in the progress of the city, and was interested in several of the leading local manufacturing industries.

Mr. Carnegie was a member of the Presbyterian Church. He was twice married, first to Miss Eleanor Hilliard, a sister of the late George Hilliard, M.P., and subsequent to her death on July 5th, 1876, to Miss Frances Snyder, daughter of the late William Snyder, who survives him, and was with him at the time of his death. He also leaves one son, Mr. J. Hilliard Carnegie, of Osgoode Hall, Toronto, who, for years, represented North Victoria, in the Ontario Legislature, and four daughters, Mrs. Geo. Orde, of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mrs. Adams, of Coboconck, Mrs. W. L. Innes, of Simcoe, and Miss Carnegie, of Peterborough. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. W. E. Sherwood, of Los Angeles, Cal.

The body will be brought to Peterborough this evening, for interment, at the Little Lake cemetery.

NEW PROPRIETOR

Mr. William Gould has assumed the proprietorship of the bowling and billiard apartments formerly carried on by Mr. John T. Smythe, who has retired from business. Under the new management the patrons are assured of every courtesy that could be shown them and these up-to-date alleys will be conducted in the same capable and efficient manner.

"THE LIFE OF MOSES" Part I
This is one of the Vitagraph's latest and best masterpieces. It is a picture play of the life of Moses by the Rev. Madison Peters and is most beautifully staged. It takes five reels, of 1000 ft. each of film to tell the story and this is the first release. No one should miss this Part I as the other sections will be shown at the Royal from time to time as released.

"IMPOSSIBLE TO GET SLEEP"
This is a very funny picture depicting the many troubles of a poor nervous unfortunate who could not find a quiet spot to rest his weary head.

"TODDIES UNCLE BURT"
Another of Pathe's very funny ones showing how fond Toddy was of his Uncle Burt and the many funny tricks he played on him. It is a roar of laughter from start to finish.

WILL STOP THE TRUSTS

Minister of Labor's New Bill Provides For the Ordering of a Court of Investigation by a High Court on the Complaint of Six or More Persons Who Suffer From a Combine Against Trade.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—In the House yesterday afternoon, Hon. Mackenzie King, Minister of Labor, introduced his bill to provide "for the investigation of combines, monopolies, trusts and mergers, which may enhance prices or restrict competition to the detriment of consumers."

"It is believed," said Mr. King, "that the bill will afford a ready and convenient means whereby parties who have reason to believe that any combination is unduly enhancing prices or unfairly restricting competition will be able to obtain an investigation, and an effective remedy against any evils which may be found to exist.

"This it is sought to obtain in the first place by providing that six or more persons who feel that a combine exists, and that prices have been enhanced or competition restricted by reasons of such combine to take detriment of the consumer, may make application to a judge of the high court for an order to grant an investigation of such a combine.

"The judge may call before him witnesses, but all that it is necessary for him to assure himself of, before granting the order, is that a prima facie case has been made out.

"When the judge issues an order for an investigation, the order is directed to the Minister of the Department, and the Minister then calls upon each of the parties concerned to name a member of the board of investigation. The act in this particular proceeds along lines somewhat similar to the procedure under the industrial investigation act. The complaint and the parties accused are called upon to name representatives on the board and the two men thus chosen confer together with the view of selecting a chairman, who in this case must be a judge of the courts.

"The board thus constituted shall have all the powers of a court of record. After due investigation the board must draw up a report and submit that report to the Minister, who in turn is required to make it public through the official gazette and to distribute copies to the press, if so desired.

"There are certain classes of evils in the remedying of which it is believed publicity is more effective than penalty. It may not be that publicity will in all cases prove an effective remedy, but in industrial matters it has many times in the past proven to be effective. While this act provides machinery of a nature calculated to let in the light on the working of these large corporations, the legislation does not rely entirely upon publicity to bring about the desired remedy.

There are other remedies proposed, and one is the remedy already existing in connection with such articles as are protected by the tariff. The statute in this particular gives authority to the Governor-General in council, where the reports show that prices have been unduly enhanced or that competition in being unfairly restricted in virtue of the protection given that particular article or to remove the tariff altogether.

We Lay Particular Emphasis on the excellence of our copies of Old Prints, Paintings, Daguerreotypes, Tintypes, etc. It is worth while investigating if interested.

Unionists Make Further Gains

Premier Says Vote Shows That England as a People Is Opposed to Protection—Day's Polling Results In 21 Unionists, 10 Liberals, 3 Laborites and 1 Nationalist Being Elected—How They Stand.

Unionists, 21.
Liberals, 19.
Laborites, 3.
Nationalists, 1.

Unionist gains, 12; Liberal gains, 1.

Unionists, 120.
Liberals, 98.
Laborites, 20.
Nationalists, 38.

Total gains—Unionists, 51; Liberals, 9; Laborites, 1.

Unionist Gains—Boston, Brighton (2), Chelsea, Coventry, Kidderminster, Liverpool (Abercombie), Mile End, Southwarth W., Tower Hamlets (Bow and Bromley), Warwick and Leamington, White Haven.

Liberal Gains—From Unionists: Bermondsey. From Labor: Middlesbro.

Notables.—Elected: Sydney Buxton, Walter Runciman, Winston Churchill, Sir W. S. Robson, Rt. Hon. A. Lyttelton, T. P. O'Connor. Defeated: Rt. Hon. Col. Seely, Rt. Hon. R. K. Causton, Silas Hocking.

The Unionists had decidedly the better of the elections held yesterday. Of 44 seats contested they won 21, of which twelve were represented by Ministerialists in the last Parliament.

The only consolation for Liberals was in Bermondsey division of Southwark, where the Government candidate, H. G. Glanville, recaptured the seat which went over the Unionists in the bye-election last November. J. Humphreys, who was elected then, had but one opportunity to pass the bar of the House, that being on the day of his introduction.

Several of the Liberal losses, as on preceding days, were caused by three-cornered contests, the intervention of a Labor or Socialist candidate precluding the success of the Government supporters.

Fourteen of the London boroughs returned eight Liberals and six Unionists as compared with eleven Liberals and three Unionists in the last Parliament.

The Unionists gains include Southwark West, Mile End, a division of Tower Hamlets, where H. L. W. Lawson, manager of The Daily Telegraph, was elected; Bow and Bromley, Chelsea, one division of Liverpool, Whitehaven, Boston, Warwich and Leamington, Kidderminster, Coventry and two seats in Brighton. Most of these were Unionists before the great Liberal victory of 1906.

While there were not so many contests yesterday as on Saturday and Monday, there were more prominent politicians with fortunes at stake. Two of these, Col. J. E. B. Seely, Under-Secretary for the Colonies, and R. K. Causton, Paymaster-General, lost their seats for the Abercrombie division of Liverpool and Southwark West, respectively. The loss of Col. Seely is especially severe for the Government, as he has been the spokesman in the House of Commons for the Colonial Office, and was one of the younger men in line for promotion.

Sir W. S. Dobson, the Attorney-General, also holds his old seat for South Shields.

T. P. O'Connor's grip on the Scotland division of Liverpool was proved by the increase of 500 which he received over his big majority of four years ago.

Mr. Asquith, speaking at Leven, asked what could be more remarkable than the verdict given by the great ports and centres of industry.

"I wish to put it on record at the earliest possible moment," he said, "that I draw from it this inference whatever may happen, the remainder of elections, that one thing is absolutely certain, that in the new Parliament, tariff reform, in the sense in which the phrase is used, that is, the abandonment of free trade and the substitution for it of a fiscal system of more or less disguised protection, is a political impossibility. (Loud cheers.)

"No statesmanship, however ingenious or audacious, can attempt to construct a tariff in defiance of the opinion of so many great industrial representative centres."

Mr. Asquith added that he promised no legislation of any kind until they had settled conclusions with the House of Lords.

Lloyd-George at Newtown, Wales, also declared that the Liberals would not legislate until the Lords question was settled, and it must be made perfectly clear that if the Lords rejected the bill sent up by the Commons, a second time, it would be sent straight through to the throne. (Cheers.)

The London morning papers yesterday on the Unionist side concern themselves more with the personal victories at the polls than the general results, which are admitted to be scarcely up to expectations. They admit, however, to such contrasts as the enormous vote recorded for Mr. Balfour and the reduced majority for John Burns, and to the greatly increased majorities received by the Unionists even where they failed to vanquish their Liberal opponents, as proving how large a section of the community was against the Government, and the growing strength of the tariff reform movement.

The Morning Post considers the Unionists' decisive supremacy in the Midlands as showing that the whole country will sooner or later be brought under the inspiration of Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's policy.

The Daily Graphic sees looming the danger of Socialism in the heavy pollings of the working-class constituencies, which, it says, ought to serve as a "lurid warning" to the middle classes.

The Liberal papers, on the other hand, are all jubilant and predict that the Government majority, while it will be smaller than in 1906, will be larger than Gladstone's in 1895. They are greatly encouraged by the staunchness of big cities, like Leeds, Sheffield, Blackburn, Oldham, Stockton and Wigan, to Liberalism and free trade.

The Chronicle, however, reads the Liberals a warning not to indulge in over-confidence, as much will depend on the size of the majority by which the Government is returned.

The great tasks ahead, says the paper, can only be performed by a powerful and independent government.

RACING IS NECESSARY

Special Body Appointed by the Commons to Take Evidence Regarding Present Betting System Hears the Experts—They Say Wagers Are Necessary to Keep Up Breed of the Canadian Horses.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—The special House committee on H. H. Miller's bill to wipe out the clause in the criminal code which permits betting on race courses, and to make more stringent the prohibitions of betting elsewhere, held its first sitting yesterday morning, and was faced by a strong array of talent, representing interests that would be injuriously affected by the passage of the bill in its present terms.

Mr. Miller presided and all the members were present except F. D. Monk of Jacques Cartier. W. E. Raney, K.C., H. E. Irwin, K.C., and Rev. Dr. Shearer, all of Toronto, appeared in support of the bill, which is the production of the Moral Reform Council.

J. H. Moss, K.C., appeared for the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society; Leighton McCarthy, K.C., for the Ontario Jockey Club; F. Meredith, K.C., for the Montreal Jockey Club; J. W. Counsell for the Hamilton Jockey Club and G. E. Powell for the British Columbia Thoroughbred Association. Other interests, including that of the harness horses, through Hartley Dewart, K.C., and Ald. Sam McBride of Toronto, are expected to be added to-day to the forces of the opposition.

Mr. Raney wanted to call Rev. Dr. Shearer to open the evidence, but as his testimony is to consist chiefly in putting in documents and expatiating on the moral standpoint, it was decided to take up other evidence first.

Mr. Raney said the bill sought to make all bookmaking, on or off the track, illegal, and to prohibit the business of the tout or the tipster, as well as the publication by papers of racing odds and advertisements. He agreed with the opposition that the absurd requirement of movement on the part of a bookmaker at a race track to keep within the law should be wiped out.

The tracks in the Canadian racing associations he divided into two classes. The Woodbine was essentially a social and sporting event, with race betting on the side, managed by strong men and Canadians. The Fort Erie, Windsor and British Columbia tracks, he said, were business propositions solely, and controlled by foreigners. On being challenged with regard to the control of Windsor and British Columbia tracks he accepted correction, and withdrew the statement. He added that, while admitting a genuine sporting and horse interest at Woodbine, Hamilton and Montreal, all the tracks were on the same basis under the law.

The only witnesses called at the morning sitting were Dr. Rutherford of Ottawa and Dr. Quin of Brampton, the evidence of the latter not being concluded when the sitting ended.

Dr. Rutherford is Dominion Live Stock Commissioner and Veterinary Director-General. He has had many years of experience as a breeder and manager of breeding establishments in Canada and the States. His evidence was of the most direct and positive kind as to the absolute necessity of thoroughbred blood and of racing to preserve the desirable qualities of that blood.

Major Wm. Hendrie, Col. Sheard and Albert Dyment, vice-president of the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding, also gave evidence in behalf of the present system.

Socialist's Kick on Deposit.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—Albert St. Martin, the Montreal Socialist leader, wants to be a candidate for the Board of Control, but he does not want to put up the required deposit of $200, and because the city officials will not accept his papers without the cash, St. Martin will apply to-day for a writ of mandamus, compelling the city to accept his papers.

No 'Count Wash

A Lazy Darky Who Is Spooned Into Hoeing Taters.

By FRANK H. SWEET.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

"Wash no 'count? Don' say dat, sah," Uncle Mose was wont to plead. "He's jes' projectin'. Boys will projec', yo' know, sah. Dey's fo' all de worl' lak calves an' colts an' kittens. W'en dey's young dey kicks up dere heels; den dey stendies down an' chews dere cuds an' pulls dere loads an' ketches dere mice jes' lak 'sponsible t'ings mus'. Wash he ain' nary bad spot in him, sah. He don't t'ink; dat's all. W'en his heels git plumb steady on de groun' he'll pull his load shore 'nough. Yo'll see, sah."

But in spite of the sanguine expectations of Uncle Mose, who was not Wash's uncle at all, but his grandfather, the boy continued to "projec'." He was now fourteen, and his chief labor seemed to consist in devising ways of eluding chores and school and just punishments. His habitual movements were skulking, and, though his eyes danced fearlessly and his mouth broadened into almost perpetual merriment, he sought rather the solitary paths of the pine woods and Suwanee banks than the more populous lanes and roads of his native Ellaville. There he was apt to be reminded of unfulfilled contracts, stolen melons, decorated doors and fences and of many other matters which he preferred to let sink into forgetfulness. Of his own family Uncle Mose was the only one with whom he condescended to fraternize, and this concession was due as much to the fact that the old man excelled him in his own chosen pursuits of trapping and fishing as to his being openly sympathetic.

There were few spots inside a radius of ten miles with which Uncle Mose was not familiar, and this familiarity was especially comprehensive in regard to the fishing holes of the Suwanee. Fifty years before he had been a slave boy on a neighboring plantation, stealing off to the river on every possible occasion, and this love for the sport had been the one great pleasure of his life, interrupted only through the score of years which followed his emancipation, during which time he was working hard to provide himself with a home and to fit his children for a future which should be worthy of them as free citizens.

But as they grew up and branched out for themselves he returned more and more to the pleasure of his childhood until now there was scarcely an afternoon which was not spent in part upon the Suwanee banks. And with accumulating years and stiffening joints his early wanderings up and down the river had narrowed down to a bank beneath a wide spreading, moss grown tree, from which he could cast a line into water which experience had taught him was congenial to fish. Here after the sun had begun to throw shadows to the east he could generally be found either alone or in company with Wash.

His son Link was of a different nature. He was hardworking, shrewd, more tolerant of faults than of frivolity or carelessness, able to read a little and subscribing for several political papers, narrow in his politics and party and voting at every opportunity and on every possible pretext. He was an example of strong, ambitious manhood weighted down by a lack of knowledge. Between him and Wash there could be only misunderstanding—apprehension and avoidance on the one side, disappointment and upbraiding on the other. But before an open break came there were rumors of war, its declaration, a call for troops, and then before the family realized what was happening Link had volunteered and been accepted, the first to join the immunes from his county.

The day after he left Uncle Mose did not even look toward the river. Wash skulked down and fished under the big tree for awhile, then wandered off into the woods to look at his traps. The next day he went to the big tree again, but apparently did not like fishing alone, for he soon bid his pole and once more wandered off into the woods. And the third day and the fourth were the same, but after eating dinner on the fifth, instead of hurrying out to dig bait, as usual, he looked wistfully and irresolutely at Uncle Mose and when the old man rose and went out followed him to the truck patch behind the cabin.

"Ain' yo' gwine fishin' no mo', gran'pap?" he asked disconsolately.

"Not till yo' pap gits back, honey," he answered. "Dar's heaps o' wuk roun' dis place now. Yo' pap been do hit mawnin's an' arter he done git from wuk at de sawmill nights, an' 'cep'n' I tuk his place hit'll shore fall on yo' mammy, an' she hab mo' now den she ought. No, no, honey, yo'll hatter look out fo' de fish an' let de ole man ben' his back ober de taters an' inyuns an' t'ings."

The boy dug his heels into the sand. "I reckon yo' ain' car' fo' fishin' nohow, gran'pap," he said irritably. "If yo' did yo'd fix de wuk some way."

Uncle Mose sank the blade of his hoe among the weeds at his feet.

"I's been fishin' off an' on mo'n fifty yeahs," he said defensively, "an' yo' ain' mo'n ten. Dat means I car' fo' hit five times mo'n yo'. But we mus'n leabe wuk fo' good times, honey. I most fix de truck patch wuk, lak yo' say, but dar's odder t'ings. I aim to he'p yo' mammy 'bout her chickens an' washin' an' housewuk. She ain' strong lak she mout me."

Wash dug his heels deeper into the sand and sniffed. As he heard it a sudden hardness came into the old man's eyes.

"An' dar's anudder t'ing," he continued, leaning again upon his hoe handle and looking straight at Wash. "I aim to chop an' pile up a heap o' nice wood fo' yo' mammy. She hab to go out an'er de trees mos' ebery day to pick up bits o' stick an' bark an' chips to kin'le her fire, case dey ain' not'in' round de wood pile 'cep'in' big sticks w'ich yo' pap brung an' w'ich ain' chop up. I aim to cut hit all an' pile hit 'gin'st de do' whar hit'll be handy fo' yo' mammy. No, no, honey, I cayn't go fishin' nohow. Yo' mus' do de fishin' yo'se'f now."

Wash dropped his gaze to the ground, an unusual thing for him; but, then, the woodcutting was one of the chores he so studiously shirked.

"I's gwine wuk hard w'en I's bigger," he muttered deprecatingly. "My mammy say boys mus' make mos' o' dere playtime. W'en I's a man I's gwine wuk hard lak my pap, an'—an' be a soger," for in spite of their antagonism, Wash regarded his father as embodying all that was manly and heroic.

"Yo'll nebber be lak yo' pap," Uncle Mose said. "He study an' wuk hard w'en he's a boy. Yo' mo' lak ole ragged Jake." Then his gaze dropped in sudden abashed consciousness of having upbraided his favorite, and if the boy had waited a moment longer he would have heard the most abject apology and a contrite "Don' yo' min', honey; hit's jes' de ole man a talkin'. Yo's a good boy, a sho' nough good boy."

But Wash did not hear. He was speeding toward the woods with dim eyes and heaving breast. He like disreputable Jake, the scoff of the entire community! If his father or any of those who were accustomed to upbraid him had said the words he would not have remembered them a minute after they were spoken, but Uncle Mose, who had never scolded him in all his life before and from whom a harsh word could not be wrung except by direful provocation!

The words were true. He knew it even while combating them in impotent anger and wrath. And they stung and lashed him to the big tree, to his traps, to a spot in a dense thicket where he lay for a full hour picking vindictively at the leaves and finally to his bed in the loft. He not to be like his father when everybody said he was growing up big and strong and would some time be his very image! And this was his last thought when, far in the night, he fell asleep with two big tears still undried on his black cheeks.

The next morning Uncle Mose's first thought was of reconciliation with Wash. But the boy was not in his bed nor in the kitchen below, and only when he went to the door and heard a faint click-clicking from the truck patch did he understand that Wash was digging bait for an unusually early start. Shuffling in the direction of the sound, the old man stopped at the corner of the cow shed in sudden incredulous amazement, for there was the boy, not digging bait, as he had supposed, but hoeing potatoes.

Wash looked up with an odd smile on his good natured face.

"Yo' better go he'p mammy wid her chickens, gran'pap," he commented, not even pausing to rest on his hoe handle as he spoke, but working vigorously on. "I finish dese taters."

Then, as the old man opened his mouth without seeming able to make a sound, the boy continued:

"I t'ink 'bout what yo' say, gran'pap, an' I's gwine be lak pap, an', I ain' gwine be lak ole Jake. An' I reckon yo' right 'bout mammy. I ain' nebber notis befo', but dis mawnin' I 'low she do look perty. W'en dese taters is done I's gwine chop dat wood an' do lots odder t'ings. Now yo' better go 'long, gran'pap, case I's in a hurry."

This was the beginning of a big reformation in Wash—a reformation brought about by the force of example. And this is the origin of all reformations. Great military leaders have not said "Go," but "Follow me." The Christian martyrs supported the infant religion by an example that was effective not only 2,000 years ago, but is a shining light to millions of Christians to the present day.

And so it is in our everyday life. Uncle Mose, it is true, spoke to the boy about what he was doing, but only to explain why he did it, that he might make the lesson of his own industry the more effective.

A week later there was not a weed left in the truck patch, not a stick of wood that was uncut and not a chore about the place that was in urgent need of being done.

Uncle Mose was acquiring a chronic habit of rubbing his hands, mammy was smiling to herself almost continually, and Wash grinned even while his hands were being blistered by the unaccustomed tools.

And then one day, at mammy's instigation, Uncle Mose and Wash made a compact. It was to spend every Saturday afternoon under the big tree on the Suwanee.

And what Saturdays they were! Wash has learned that pleasure is mainly a contrast with work. One cannot enjoy rest without being tired. One cannot enjoy idleness without having been busy. So Wash, after a hard week's work, knew the pleasure of indolence.

As a Beautifier of the Skin Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment holds a unique position. It does not clog the pores as do unsanitary powders but positively promotes a healthful action of the skin and thereby makes it clear, soft, smooth and velvety.

It soothes irritation and inflammation, cures chafing, pimples and blackheads, and all kinds of skin eruptions, including the worst cases of eczema and salt rheum.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment

Stops itching promptly and heals the skin quickly. It is absorbed and therefore of utmost value in preventing blood poisoning when applied to scalds, sores and wounds.

The Mississippi.

Before the coming of the whites to America the Mississippi river was known by a different name every few miles of its course. Each tribe that dwelt along its banks gave it a name, and more than thirty of these local designations are preserved in the narratives of the early travelers.

Barnum's Will Was a Long One.

P. T. Barnum's will was 700 pages long. The shortest will on record is that filed in London in March, 1908. It reads "All to mother—C. T.," and disposes of $40,000.

The Elephant.

The only pace of the elephant is a walk, which is capable of being increased to a fast shuffle of about fifteen miles an hour for a very short distance. The elephant can neither trot, canter nor gallop, nor can it make the smallest spring either in a vertical or a horizontal direction.

Russian Cross of St. Andrew.

The Russian Cross of St. Andrew has a remarkable peculiarity attaching to it. All who are decorated with it have the right once to demand a pardon for a Russian subject condemned to death.

The Tammany Tiger.

The origin of the tiger as an emblem of Tammany is said to date from the time when William M. Tweed, then foreman of "Big Six" fire company, took a fancy to a picture of a royal Bengal tiger in the fifties. Tweed adopted the emblem for the Americus club, and it soon was accepted by all Tammany.

Fungi.

Fungi give off carbonic acid like human beings, and not oxygen, as does other vegetables. This peculiarity is accounted for by the absence of green coloring matter.

Candles of the Sky.

Dr. Charles Fabry of the French Academy of Sciences announces that careful measurements of the light of the star Vega, one of the brightest in the heavens, when it is seen near the zenith in calm weather, show that it is equal to that of a standard candle burning at a distance of 3,600 feet from the eye.

THE LIGHT THAT NEVER FAILS

CHRISTMAS ANNOUNCEMENT

THE Company has allotted extraordinary BONUSES to its Industrial policy-holders payable in 1910. These are CASH BONUSES which may be used in payment of premiums upon their Industrial policies. They were not promised in the policies, either expressly or by implication, the policies being strictly non-participating. No such bonus has ever been given by any company to its policy-holders, and no such bonus ever will be given by any other company.

BONUSES TO LIVING POLICY-HOLDERS

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy of the Company who shall pass the age of 75 during 1910, a bonus on its anniversary date thereafter equal to premiums for ..... 52 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial policy in force issued in 1879 and 1880, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for ..... 26 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial policy in force issued in 1881-2-3-4-5, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for ..... 20 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy in force issued in 1886-7-8-9-1890, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for ..... 15 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life policy in force issued in 1891-2-3-4-5, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for ..... 10 weeks

To every holder of an Industrial whole life or increasing life and endowment policy issued in any year from 1896 to 1905 inclusive, a bonus on its anniversary date equal to premiums for ..... 5 weeks

These bonuses are thus for percentages varying from about TEN to ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. of the amount of weekly premiums for a year. It will be observed that the bonuses are graduated by the age of the policies.

The whole life policies issued between January 1, 1907, and July 1, 1909, have received a reversionary dividend of about ten per cent. of their face during the past year (that is, have been increased in amount about ten per cent). This cost the Company $600,000 in 1909; and will cost many hundreds of thousands of dollars in subsequent years in increased Reserve. The whole life policies, issued since July 1, 1909, have been increased about ten per cent. in amount above the amount of insurance previously provided for the same respective premiums.

BONUSES ON DEATH CLAIMS

Death Claimants on whole life policies issued between January 1, 1907, and July 1, 1909, whose claims had been settled, have received in the last six months a payment of mortuary bonuses of about ten per cent. in addition to the amount previously received, at a cost to the Company of over $250,000.

Payment on Death Claims in 1910 will be increased over and above the face of the Industrial policies by amounts determined by the following scale:

When death occurs after policy has been in force over 5 years 5%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 10 years 10%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 15 years 15%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 20 years 20%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 25 years 25%
When death occurs after policy has been in force over 30 years 30%

The cost to the Company of these CASH bonuses is estimated at

$5,204,639.95

Added to the bonuses heretofore paid for the last sixteen years OVER AND ABOVE THE PROMISES MADE IN THE POLICIES, this will bring the total CASH bonuses up to Twenty-one Millions of Dollars in CASH in 17 Years!

The Additional Cost of Concessions in Reserve Liability has been Four Millions of Dollars

The sources of these bonuses are:

1. Decrease in expenses—TEN PER CENT. in nine years to the close of 1908.
2. Saving in the Mortality which was expected when policies were issued.
3. Gains in Interest actually earned over the amount required by statute for accumulation of Reserves.
4. The fact that on a premium income of nearly $50,000,000 a year the Stockholders receive only $140,000, which is more than earned from the income of their own capital and surplus; the balance of such income going to the increase of the fund from which Bonuses are paid.

ROBIN HOOD FLOUR IS DIFFERENT

Every housewife who uses flour must be interested in ROBIN HOOD "the flour that is different."

You hear it makes a bigger loaf, that the loaf is sweeter-flavored, more nutritious, more easily assimilated than bread made with other flours.

We can tell you why ROBIN HOOD Flour makes that kind of a loaf, but what ought to interest you more than "why it does" is that "it does."

You can prove what we say as true at no risk of loss to yourself.

It is largely a matter of making up your mind to use "Robin Hood."

NEWFOUNDLAND'S WOODS.

Island's Pulp Forests Have a Chain All Their Own.

Paper-making is one of those rare trades which keep alive the romance of elemental life and are curiously beneficent to the long chain of their workers, says W. Beach Thomas in The Montreal Standard. I write with the smell of fir and pine in my nostrils, and through the trunks gleams a spacious river, gold with the sunlight of Newfoundland's sunny autumn. The great plains of Alberta and the Northwest of Canada loom spacious and ample in the imagination of Europe, but they lack the supreme charm of Newfoundland, the wide rivers sweeping between woods to the fretted coast.

In these woods the romance of paper-making begins, and the romance appeals as nearly to those who desire the woods for their own sake as to the others who find their romance in the sound of "the iron axe that hammered the iron heart of the oak" or in the elemental lives of cheery woodmen. The thing most abhorrent to the woodman and to his science is "denudation." He prunes the forest to the end of its better constitution, just as a gardener prunes his fruit trees. Gardeners cut out boughs to let in light and give freedom of growth to other branches. The woodman, whether he cuts for paper-making or for shipbuilding, fells trees with as good a motive and as great a precision as the gardener clips twigs and boughs.

While he cuts for present use his eye is on a distant future, and I must believe that some of the charm of character in the Newfoundland woodman comes from this habit of regard for the days to come. Let no one deny the impressive marvel of an untouched fir forest, but it is melancholy as well as splendid. It is propped by decaying pillars, and beams of dead wood lie aslant or rot among the mosses. See such a wood before and behind the march of the woodman, and you will never again think of him as a devastator. He is compelled by his art and his contract to the negative duty of cutting the dead away, just as he is compelled, like the fisherman, to take out only trees of the greater girth. In the primal fir forest thin and weak trunks strive vainly, like a child in crowded slums, to achieve robust form in the competition for air and light. The life of these weaklings is saved by the forester, and behind his advance growth begins at a healthy rate new to the forest nursery in its primal days.

The woodman's march, as seen from a distance, leaves patterns, sometimes roughly geometric, sometimes haphazard and sinuous, which curiously enhance the interest of the landscape. A piece of the wood, as you look at it from the river or one of the great lakes, appears almost unbroken gold with no more than points and dots of green. This patch will be alongside a wood of which the greenery is only broken by veins and pools of gold.

But for the color, you would hardly have noticed that the denuders and "commercial devastators" had finished with the one piece and left the other. From the one the taller spruce and pines—none less than eight inches in diameter—have been spared, and the birches—which hold their golden leaves till November—have been left. The woodland is clean of rotting timber, and the suns of a very sunny climate dapple the mossy floor.

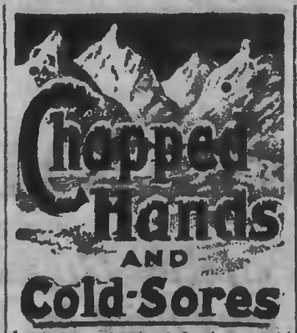
The birch, which abounds throughout Newfoundland, is the nurse of the cone-bearers. The spruce, in three varieties, the balsam fir, the white pine, which we call in England the Weymouth pine, all trees intolerant of light, sprout from seeds deep in the soil, under the cool canopy of the birches, till they attain in thirty years or so a commanding height. At the moment when the usefulness of the protection is over the nurse begins to surrender to the child, and the green spires of fir and pine master the spreading birch.

The Wheat Outlook.

It is estimated that this year the combined wheat crops of Canada, the United States, France, Hungary, Russia and Roumania, are 300,000,000 bushels, or one-sixth larger than last year. These countries produce two-thirds of the world's supply. Australia promises big yields and so does Argentina. The heavy crops abroad must be considered in forecasting the price of Canadian wheat during the next twelve months. At the same time a leading Canadian grain dealer holds that Europe's stores are greatly depleted, that it must come to Canada for much wheat in the next few months, and that this factor will keep up prices.—Toronto News.

Italian Brigandage in 1848.

One summer evening in the crowded theater an impatient house demanded the drawing of the curtain preliminary to the first act. When at last it was upraised Il Passatore and his armed band occupied the stage, with muskets aimed at the affrighted audience. The chief stated that he should levy a tax per head, which he then and there collected. The gang made off with their booty unmolested.—Lady Pressburch's "Essays."



Are your hands chapped, cracked or sore? Have you "cold cracks" which open and bleed when the skin is drawn tight? Have you a cold sore, frost bite, chilblains, or a "raw" place, which at times makes it agony for you to go about your household duties? If so, Zam-Buk will give you relief, and will heal the frost-damaged skin. Anoint the sore places at night, Zam-Buk's rich healing essences will sink into the wounds, end the smarting, and will heal quickly.

Mrs. Yellen, of Portland, says: "My hands were so sore and cracked that it was agony to put them near water. When I did so they would smart and burn as if I had scalded them. I seemed quite unable to get relief from anything I put on them until I tried Zam-Buk, and it succeeded when all else had failed. It closed the big cracks, gave me ease, soothed the inflammation, and in a very short time healed my hands."

Zam-Buk also cures chafing, rashes, winter eczema, piles, ulcers, festering sores, sore heads and backs, abscesses, pimples, ring-worm, etc., cuts, burns, bruises, scalds, sprains. Of all druggists and stores, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Price 50c a box.

A COSTLY TRIFLE.

It Brought Bankruptcy to an English Iron King.

It was a common penny postage stamp that brought Hobart, the great British "iron king," to his ruin. At the time of the Whitworth period, when there was a big crisis in the iron trade, he had agents in all parts of the world who kept him posted. Sometimes they telegraphed news to him in cipher, but those in England were nearly always instructed to write. At that period his principal agent, who was also his chief partner, was in Sheffield and wrote him from there warning him to sell out all iron interests for the time on account of the Whitworth crisis.

Hobart had frequent fits of irritability, and he had been receiving a lot of unstamped letters of no importance on which he had to pay double postage. One morning in anger he gave orders that such letters were to be returned to the postman. The very first unstamped letter received after this was from his partner. It was rejected as soon as it arrived.

Consequently, knowing nothing of the existence of the letter or the all important private news it contained, Hobart pledged himself next day for more iron deals than even his mighty credit was good for. The great drop in prices came two days later, and Hobart, once a millionaire, was involved in a hopeless bankruptcy from which he never recovered.—London Telegraph.

Pillsbury's Wonderful Memory.

Harry N. Pillsbury, the chess player, offered one day in South Bethlehem, Pa., to memorize thirty words, no matter how hard they might be, the selections to be read to him only once.

Professor Merriman of Lehigh university and Dr. Threlkeld-Edwards of Bethlehem picked out most of the following words: Antiphlogistine, periosteum, takadiastase, plasmon, ambrosia, Threlkeld, streptococcus, staphelococcus, micrococcus, plasmodium, Mississippi, Freibelt, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, athletics, no war, Eichenberg, American, Russia, philosopher, Pict-Potgieters-Rost, Salmagundi, Oomsillecootsi, Bangmamvato, Schlochter's Nek, Manzinyama, theosophy, catechism, Madjescomsiops.

Mr. Pillsbury immediately repeated these words in the order given and in the reverse order.

Depressed.

"I am afraid Biggins has met with reverses."

"What makes you think so?"

"He goes about with a gloomy look saying there is no such a thing as disinterested friendship. That is almost a sure sign that a man has been trying to borrow money."—Exchange.

HOUSES ON WHEELS.

Novel Enterprise Proposes to Go to Hudson Bay by Motor.

One of the most interesting enterprises of modern times is that of the Hudson Bay Motor and Access Association, which has for its object the opening up of a virgin forest and waste to the prospector, the tourist, the sportsman and to commerce. The company has now under construction a motor line from Jack Fish on the C.P.R. to Hudson Bay.

Smith Bros., Duke and Parliament streets, Toronto, have just shipped six portable houses, which will be used in the construction of this road. The house are on wheels, and can also be put on sleighs. Two of the houses are fitted up to contain 24 beds. One house is used for a kitchen, with a small compartment in which are two beds. This fits on to a dining-room with accommodation for 12 men. There is also a reading-room, and, now under construction a house for storing the trunks of the men, and another for bathroom and wash-house. All these different compartments are on wheels and can be readily put up and taken down.

As each half mile of the road is built the houses will be drawn on; so that the employes will always be close to their work. All the houses are covered with galvanized iron and there are two thicknesses of paper between the iron and the woodwork, so that warmth in the coldest weather is assured. A huge scow for taking the houses across lakes also accompanies the outfit.

The route will be by motor car and motor boat from Jack Fish to Long Lake, which is forty miles in length, thence to Devil Fish Lake and Eskigongs Lake, and the Albany River, which is navigable for large steamers and war vessels.

This road will be used for bringing down the large catch of salmon to Ontario and American points, which now goes via Hudson Bay and Labrador to eastern points. Several motor boats will be shipped for use on the different waterways. Nineteen hundred and ten and nineteen hundred and eleven are the tercentenary years of the discovery of the bays and the death of the explorer, Henry Hudson, which it is proposed to celebrate. It is expected that the line will be in operation next year. Charles Thompson Harvey, C.E., is in charge of the work.

Fate of Andre.

An interesting story connected with the long lost Andre, the explorer who twelve years ago left Spitzbergen in a balloon in search of the north pole, and never returned, has been told by Bishop Pascal of Prince Albert, who has been the guest of the Oblate Fathers in Ottawa.

Bishop Pascal has charge of an immense territory extending even so far north as the pole. His story had to do with the country in the eastern portion of his diocese between Saskatchewan and Hudson Bay. There is a young priest, Father Turquotille, a member of the Oblate Order, who resides at Reindeer Lake, who had traveled extensively among the Eskimos in the northern part of the region in order to learn their language.

On one occasion he went with a nomadic party about six days' journey to the northeast of Reindeer Lake, and there met another party of Eskimos. Noticing a revolver which the priest carried the Eskimos told him that some years before a "white house" descended from the sky and contained white men who had killed many caribou to supply themselves with food. They intimated that the white men were in a half starving condition. None of the men were now living, they stated, but the "white house" was still in existence and was used by members of the tribe as a sort of supply house for rope with which it was covered.

It is thought that this may explain the disappearance of Andre and his companions, as Andre may have landed at the place indicated and perished. Father Turquotille, said Bishop Pascal, will make another journey shortly and will endeavor to get all the facts.

Mergers Are Costly.

Whether coal and iron will be any cheaper is another matter. There is an object lesson in the cement merger. It represents an enormous trust, and the immediate effect has been an increase in the cost of cement. There will be a saving in the operations or the expenses of the coal and iron company, but will inure to the advantage of the stockholders, and it will be a mercy if the people, the consumers, do not have to pay tribute to some one. In every direction there is the tendency to trusts—in groceries, in fuel, in leather, in cement, in plumbers' supplies, in paper, in everything in which men or money can command or control. It would be all right if the people did not suffer, but usually they are ground between the upper and the nether millstone.—British Whig, Kingston.

The Troubles of a Navy.

The New York Herald discovers a danger in the creation of a Canadian navy. There is no fear that the international good-will which now exists between Canada and the United States will be interrupted because Canada proposes to build and maintain a navy. We may believe that we do not now remain at peace, because we are not armed and well prepared to fight. But The Herald finds ground for fear in the entanglements likely to ensue in consequence of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. In the event of trouble between Japan and the United States, the Canadian navy, in the opinion of The Herald, would necessarily operate in conjunction with the British navy against the United States.—St. John Sun.

West Wants Railways.

The results of two provincial elections in the west show most conclusively that the people want railways. They are not very much concerned just now about what they are to cost, but they want the lines, and the men who say they will provide them are packed on the back and sent to the Legislatures to see that the railways are built.—Calgary Herald.

Iceland.

Iceland was discovered by the Scandinavians about 860 and settled in 874. In 930 the soil was tilled by Irish, Swedes and Danes.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Pure Flour, Madam, Needs No Bleaching

Now, Mistress Housewife, with regard to this Bleaching Business.

On that there has been a tremendous contest.

And the learned "high brows" are scrapping yet.

Eminent medical authorities maintain the artificial whitening of the "housewife's delight" is harmful to health.

Chemists equally eminent declare the process is in no way injurious, that its only effect is to give the flour a uniform colour.

So there you are.

But the LONDON LANCET says:

"The destruction of the natural colour of flour by bleaching agents synchronizes with the destruction of its flavour. Such tampering with the "staff of life" should be made illegal."

And, you know, physicians swear by the LONDON LANCET—ask yours.

Then, listen to Prof. Shepherd, Chemist, South Dakota Food Department:

"Artificially bleached flour—flour whitened with nitrous acid—a powerful antiseptic and extremely harmful to the digestive organs."

Can't say, Madam, we only use FIVE ROSES—never bleached; we have never tired of the taste.

* * * *

On the other side of the fence stand chemists and millers galore, whose integrity is unquestioned and who claim bleaching is not harmful.

So there you are, Madam, take your pick.

* * * *

Bleaching, you see, Mistress Housewife, is a chemical process by which a stream of flour is passed through nitrous acid fumes and artificially whitened, giving to the freshly milled product the appearance of "kept" or properly aged flour.

Now you couldn't tell one from the other in the sack, you'd never know which you were buying.

FIVE ROSES, Madam, needs no chemical bleaching: it is so clear, so immaculate, so absolutely desirable in every way.

Every bag is properly aged before being sold; the colour of FIVE ROSES is Nature's own colour as it exists in the sun-ripened Manitoba wheat.

* * * *

Using the healthiest, ripest spring wheat berries the Manitoba soil can produce.

Extracting only the creamy, meatiest heart of the polished kernels—why in the name of purity should we bleach?

If you don't want the bleached article, Madam—

Say "FIVE ROSES" to your grocer.

Otherwise—well, you can take your chances.

INSURANCE COMPANIES BAR GAMBLERS

On the Advice of Their Perfectly Organized Secret Service They Refuse the Risks of Gamesters Who Live Amid the White Lights, Revolutionists, Arctic and African Explorers and Men Who Live Double Lives

POSSIBLY, from brief experience with life insurance companies, or from no experience at all, you imagine them as addressing the public in general from a soap box, with a ready made policy in one hand and a ready, capacious hat in the other.

Possibly you have acquired the common conviction that they go up and down with glib, rapacious eagerness, seeking whom they may buttonhole and hypnotise into giving up a premium. Perhaps a recent article in the SUNDAY HERALD on the "tricks of the trade," as practised by the life insurance agent, has contributed to your impression.

If so, you are wrong. Contrary to the rough hand opinion that grew out of the early days of life insurance the obtaining of insurance bristles with restrictions, not merely upon the applicants, but upon the methods of the companies themselves. And the restrictions increase in number. The big life insurance companies refuse, on an average, one out of every nine persons who apply for policies. It is a fact seldom considered that they spend large sums of money and employ extensive staffs merely to guard themselves and their policyholders against business which is not absolutely desirable and free from suspicion. The agent has no more influence upon their attitude than the candidate for insurance.

Of all the private detective and protective bureaus employed by corporations to prevent imposition and to gather necessary information none is so well organized, so discreet or so trusted as those of the big life insurance companies. It might be added that none is so little known to the public or carries on its work so quietly.

You never read in your morning newspapers of the wonderful exploits of Detective Blank, of the Grapnel Life Insurance Company; his consummate cleverness in unravelling mysteries or unveiling a dangerous situation. He is never sung in romance or in news report. But he is there—considerable numbers of him. It is his duty to dig for secrets that have a bearing upon the issuance of policies, and if he should ever write his memoirs, which he never will, they would contain many strange and interesting things. He supplies the points by which his employers decide acceptance or refusal in doubtful cases. One word from him will weigh more than all the affidavits and credit lists and certificates and frantic pleading of agents conceivable.

The Case of Mr. Ruiz.

There lives in New York a Spanish-American who owns a wholesale importing business worth fully half a million dollars. He is a man in middle life, in perfect health, living contentedly with his family and free from all unusual worries. His firm is absolutely stable, dealing with products that involve no chance of sudden depreciation. His name is not Ruiz, but that will serve.

Came to him one day a bustling agent for one of the large insurance companies. "Ah—ha, Mr. Ruiz, have you ever thought of life insurance?" asked this enterprising agent. Mr. Ruiz had not, but he was willing to give up an hour or so in listening to the many fine things that the visitor had to tell him. He was not hard to convince, the idea seemed good and he was won over at the one sitting. The agent was delighted.

"How much do you think you would like to carry?" he asked. Mr. Ruiz said that he thought $50,000 would not be too much. The agent was all smiles and made an appointment for the usual physical examination.

The physician came, sounded and pounded Mr. Ruiz and sent in his report to the company. He pronounced Mr. Ruiz not only a good risk, but an excellent one. He had rarely seen a man so well equipped to live to a ripe old age. Mr. Ruiz was glad to know it and awaited the outcome with confidence. Some weeks later he received a letter from the company, couched in vague, polite terms, and informing him that his application was regretfully refused. It might be inserted here, as an incidental tragedy, that the enterprising agent on hearing of the physician's report had hied him to the suburbs and made first payment on the house he had had his eye upon for some years in premature enjoyment of his commission, thereby vividly illustrating a number of venerable adages.

But Mr. Ruiz was not content to let the matter rest. He wanted it. After he had retired baffled from several attempts to obtain explanations he found the next step easy. An agent for another company pounced upon him joyfully. History does not say whether this agent was a close friend or only a rival of the first, but he rubbed his hands and smiled cheerfully when he heard the size of the policy that Mr. Ruiz wanted.

"Certainly, Mr. Ruiz. I haven't the shadow of a doubt that we can satisfy you," was his comment.

Again Mr. Ruiz was sounded and pounded, and again he waited the outcome. After some misty correspondence the second company came out flat with the statement that it could not give a policy to Mr. Ruiz.

It may be supposed that Mr. Ruiz was nettled. He could imagine no possible reason for these strange refusals, and meanwhile the companies would give none. So he ventured a third time. His next application was made to a large company having headquarters in another State. The outcome was exactly the same, and he finally gave up.

The Secret Service.

Now this, approximately, was what happened in the office of the first company on receipt of the application:—The desired policy was large enough to warrant special investigation. Ordinary policies for small sums, one or two or five thousand dollars, are seldom considered in detail beyond the routine examination into state of health and occupation. But the company could not risk a $50,000 policy without knowing all that could be known concerning the applicant. Accordingly, the matter was turned over to the secret service bureau.

The detectives embarked upon a thorough, quiet inquiry. They found that Mr. Ruiz before he came to the United States, twelve years ago, was an active sympathizer with the revolutionary movement in his own country. That was the one fact connected with him which they turned in as bearing upon his possible undesirability.

The council of company officers which meets daily to pass upon such reports took up the case of Mr. Ruiz. After brief discussion it decided that he was not acceptable. The risk was obviously too great. Mr. Ruiz might at any time decide to return to his birthplace. In such an event, it was assumed, he would be thrown among his old associates and resume his old interests. As a revolutionist his life would be in more than normal danger. The council could not support such a hazard.

When Mr. Ruiz made his second and his third applications the process was the same. But the last two companies were able to come to their decisions with little trouble. It was not necessary for them to wait for the reports of their secret service bureaus. The big companies have an elaborate system for exchanging information. Facts gathered by one which result in the refusal of an application are turned over to the others. Sometimes a certain company is willing to accept a risk that its competitors do not care to assume, but it usually has the benefit of the protection and assistance in which all participate.

A curious wrinkle of this story is that none of the three companies concerned would tell to Mr. Ruiz the true reason for refusing him. Reticence is always practised in such cases, possibly with a view to the peace of mind of the applicant.

Another striking instance in which at least two of the big companies turned away what an outsider would regard as excellent business is to be drawn from recent life insurance history in a Western city. Mr. Smith, a man of large fortune, still young and of remarkable physique, made an application for a $20,000 policy in a company having headquarters in New York. He was examined by a company physician and passed with flying colors. The papers were sent on to the home office and applicant and agent congratulated each other.

In due time Mr. Smith received a courteous communication from the company. The company was sorry, but could not accept him as a policyholder. Mr. Smith very naturally wanted to know why. He became urgent and somewhat heated in his demands for adequate reasons. Driven into being explicit, the company took refuge behind the statement that Mr. Smith's medical examination had not been satisfactory.

The Agent Indignant.

But Mr. Smith was not the man to be fobbed off in that manner. He countered with a remarkable proposal. He offered to go to the home office accompanied by his own physician, pay the expenses of any specialist the company chose to name and submit to the most searching examination. If he failed to pass with a perfect score his physician would forfeit $1,000 to the company on the spot. The company politely begged to be excused, knowing very well that Mr. Smith could make good his boast, and Mr. Smith had to give over the attempt to force acceptance.

The agent now took up the cudgels. He could not understand in the least why he should be deprived of a fine commission on such palpably flimsy grounds. He took the home office to task on his own account. Thereupon the real reason was whispered into his private ear and he subsided.

HE WAS EXAMINED BY A COMPANY PHYSICIAN.

The company's secret service had taken up the case of Mr. Smith and had investigated his standing. It had discovered, among other things, that Mr. Smith was the proprietor of a highly profitable gambling house, maintained for a wealthy clientèle. That was enough. No one of the more conservative companies will insure the life of a professional gambler, and many speculators have failed to obtain life insurance merely because of their known adventures into the fields of fortune.

A prominent member of Boston's Back Bay colony, who recently came into possession of his patrimony, had a curious encounter with the difficulties of life insurance. He sent in his application to a New York company for a $50,000 policy. The amount called for special attention and the company waited until it received its private reports. Then it refused the policy to the young man.

He asked for explanations and the company went so far as to give him a specific answer. In effect it said to him:—"Our dear young friend, we stand in loco parentis. We cannot allow you to assume an obligation which we have found to be out of proportion to your income. This hurts us as much as it does you. &c., &c." The young man was wroth at the benevolent shuffling, but he could make no further headway.

The secret reason for this particular refusal was the fact that the young man was found to be infatuated with a young woman of the stage whose affections are notoriously unstable. There might be a quarrel and the young man, being temperamental, might decide to remove himself permanently from the possibility of temptation.

A reputable company is not likely to insure if its secret service reports the candidate as involved in a serious domestic entanglement. A man who hides part of his life is not considered a fair risk. He is leaving the charted path, where dangers can be reduced to formulae and percentages, and is courting additional dangers in which the company does not wish to share. The attitude is similar toward a man who leads a reckless life. No dissipated frequenter or habitual reveller of all night haunts can obtain a large policy.

In other cases the secret service may not be satisfied in regard to the candidate's business affairs. There may be some crisis pending, the threat of some catastrophe. The company may really decide that the man's income does not warrant the payment of a large premium, or the business in which he is engaged may be considered too hazardous. Always the company takes fright at any condition remotely suggesting a possibility of suicide, the bugbear of insurance.

Cannot Be Insured.

There are a few hard and fast rules governing the refusal of policies on any conditions. Arctic and African explorers cannot be insured. There are certain parts of Europe and the East where the death rate is so high as to forbid the writing of policies. Beyond this there is another class of risks which will only be accepted on a rating up of the insured—that is by his payment of a premium a certain number of years beyond his age. Many occupations are rated up and residents in parts of Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and other States have to pay increased premiums.

But the companies are very quick to go outside all rules and regulations to seek reasons for refusing policies. Their councils, advised by the secret service reports, are ever alert to exercise power at the least breath of a suspicion that the candidate would involve an unwelcome risk. Frequently, it should be said, they do not go so far as to dismiss the applicant altogether. They may decide that they are sufficiently protected if the policy is rated up.

How sensitive a company may sometimes be is illustrated by a story told by Mr. Howard Slade, a broker at No. 25 Broad street. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Slade wrote a policy for a business man for a large amount, and after examination the application was accepted. The man had paid in his first premium when the company suddenly notified Mr. Slade to return the money and obtain the surrender of the policy. Mr. Slade obeyed and made inquiries as to the cause. He found that although the company's physician had passed the applicant as a good risk the company had run afoul of a vague rumor that somewhere, some time, some physician had said that there was something the matter with the man's heart. The man is now more than seventy years old, hale and hearty, but with no insurance policy in his safe.

Another experience of Mr. Slade's throws some light on the reason for such timidity. Last November he wrote a policy for a well known New York lawyer who was sixty-seven years old. The applicant passed a perfect physical examination, but the company, which has headquarters in Connecticut, was backward because of his age. Mr. Slade received word that the company would have an examination by its own medical director before taking action.

The medical director came, examined the applicant and pronounced him one of the best risks he had ever seen. The policy arrived the day before Thanksgiving and Mr. Slade delivered it in person. On the day after Thanksgiving Mr. Slade read in his HERALD that the lawyer had dropped dead on an elevated railroad platform of heart failure.

Aside from increasing conservatism in the issuance of insurance the companies have learned to protect their policy holders by many reforms in method. No reputable company will allow a policy to lapse, though this was once resorted to rather freely. If a policy holder failed to pay his premium within a tain time after it was due it was withdrawn and lost all he had paid in. It was only necessary to venientlly overlook the sending out of notices to much profit for the discerning company. At pre if a policy holder fails to meet a payment he has opportunity to restore it and is automatically tected by the premiums he has paid for a term years.

"Twisting" Is Barred.

No reputable company will permit its agent "twist" a policy—that is, to induce any one to giv a policy in another company. Nor are agents allo to rebate or share their commission with the ins as an inducement. Nor may either policies or a cations be "dated back," as was once the custom premium is figured from the applicant's nearest bi day, and no favors are shown.

It is worthy of note that the men engaged in the insurance business nowadays are intelligent, hig trained and honorable. Life insurance is a pro sion. Most agents have a loyalty to their compa and their calling that supersedes their personal in ests. Mr. Thomas Wilson, of the Equitable, relates incident that indicates the attitude of the high c agent.

Mr. George A. Monod, of the Equitable staff, in viewed a prominent lawyer about a year ago on subject of insurance. The lawyer was scarcely middle age and had a large practice, and when Monod gained his consent to a $40,000 policy he reason to feel satisfied. After a satisfactory exam tion Mr. Monod brought the policy to the lawy office, but the lawyer was not quite ready to pay premium and put him off. This was repeated sev times. Then, after an interval, Mr. Monod recei word to call at the lawyer's home with the policy.

A member of the family met him at the door offered to pay the premium on the spot. Mr. Mo refused and asked to see the lawyer. With some ficulty he gained access to the lawyer's room and fo him in bed, with "just a light cold." He also offe to pay the premium. Again Mr. Monod refused. Mr. Monod would have been perfectly within his rig if he had accepted the money and delivered the pol The company had accepted the risk. There remai nothing but the formality of delivery. He co have taken his check and gone his way rejoici But he did not, and a week later the lawyer dead.

In speaking of this branch of the business Mr. W son said recently:—

"While the ... offered by insurance compan were few and simple no great capacity or educat was required of their agents. Many men became insurance agents because they had failed at eve thing else. Their average was very low and the fession was looked upon with disfavor.

"But life insurance to-day is a science—one of most intricate and difficult of sciences. The agent kept pace with this development. The tendency is him to be a specialist, rather than a marketer of stoc bonds and fire, accident and life policies. More more the work of the large companies is being done men devoted wholly to the interests of one employ And the standard maintained by the companies risen enormously."

A REFORMATION.

NEW YORK, Saturda

THEY tell this story about old Sam English doorkeeper at the Traffic Squad police station East Twenty-seventh street, New York. Sam the only policeman in the department who owns a f long, white beard, and to mark the distinction wears it fuller and longer and whiter than any Rom Senator who ever lived. It should be added that is still as spry as a cat.

According to this veracious tale, Sam was on p for the first time in a new precinct to which he h been transferred, when he discovered a flourish "craps" game in progress. The place chosen by players was the middle of a block against a fen thus affording several avenues of escape. Sam equal to the situation. He crept through some emp lots, placed a barrel near the fence and climbed He had removed his helmet in this operation, when he craned his head over the fence it was b to the breezes.

"I see you there," announced Sam.

The players looked up in surprise to find a severe face glaring down at them from the top of a circ poster. "Now you see us, how'd you like us?" "Wher your ticket?" and "Pipe who has arrived" were so of the witticisms provoked by his interruption. T game proceeded during these pleasantries and t "boues" were rolled again right under Sam's indigna nose to the plaintive singsong of the shooter, "Com you Big Dick. Baby needs shoes."

"You're all pinched," shouted Sam.

"Ah, no." "Leave us go this once." "What 'r y buttin' in for?" came the answers.

It dawned upon Sam that, since none of him w showing except his patriarchal facade, the group h no idea that they were confronted with the dignity of the law. This discovery tickled him immensely a he grinned.

"I'm givin' you the straight tip, boys," he sa "You're goin' to be raided in about two minutes a two of you, anyway, are goin' to be arrested."

After a moment's anxiety the youthful gambler reassured by lookouts despatched to the corners, w reported no danger in sight, began their ribald co ments once more. Sam took it affably.

"Now look here. You're a lot of swift sports, al you? Who wants to bet on it?"

"I'll go you a quarter," volunteered a snub nose lad, holding up a coin impudently.

"I'll go you," said Sam. He made a single sprin over the fence and into the group. He grabbed t player who held the dice with one hand and the snu nosed lad with the other. The rest scattered in terro

"You can keep the quarter, son," said Sam.

The captive gazed at him a moment in silence, the digging through all his pockets, he held out a handf of small change.

"Take it all; take all I got," he said hoarse. "I'll put it in a collection box 'r somewhere. I been nicked cops before, but when a guy gets pinche by Sam Clawe he's gone the limit an' it's a ti an' no ...

NOAH WAS BLACKBALLED

Detroit, Mich.—The Society of Naval Architects rejected Noah for honorary membership, when his name was proposed as the father of the ship designing profession. The reason given was "that Noah was a gamekeeper and not a ship designer primarily".

It all depends on the point of view. It is the same with "Fruit-a-tives".

Some people take "Fruit-a-tives" for Constipation and Biliousness. Others use them for Stomach Troubles and Dyspepsia. Still others find "Fruit-a-tives" an excellent tonic and blood purifier. Many more say that "Fruit-a-tives" are the best Kidney Regulator and a certain cure for Neuralgia and Rheumatism. For all these troubles, "Fruit-a-tives" may be said to be infallible.

Everywhere in Canada — in the crowded city—on the lonely prairie—in fishing villages and mining camps—people depend on "Fruit-a-tives" to cure them and keep them well.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c—or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

Large sums of money are, no doubt, realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement, they enjoy the confidence of the public, and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. Even a child or a dog soon learns to distinguish between real friends and foes in disguise. A humbug may be advertized with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of

have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found the statement truthful. To-day they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey, and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood and is effective in Debility, Influenza, Anaemia, Throat and Lung Troubles, and Easting Complaints. Dr. M. D. A. says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. It is a scientific remedy, and a food with a delicious taste and flavour. Sold by all chemists the world over.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION.

First Session Is Held Under Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—The Conservation Commission held its opening session yesterday morning under the presidency of Hon. Clifford Sifton.

In his address, Mr. Sifton described the commission as an independent national body, whose object was to help and co-operate with other bodies. The first work, he said, ought to be to make a complete and thorough inventory of natural resources so far as available information permits, in order to make information available for public use, and to permit of an intelligent and comprehensive policy of conservation being carried out.

The pollution of rivers and streams was getting to be a serious question. It was being dealt with only in a partial, perfunctory and haphazard fashion. There was need of systematic legislation by the provinces and the Dominion.

Mr. Sifton suggested the creation of two great forest reserves, one of all the forest land on the east slope of the Rockies, and the second embracing all the Provincial Government land south of the height of land extending from Sudbury to the neighborhood of Port Arthur, except such portions along the railway as are fit for cultivation.

Endorsing the Hydro-Electric power policy of the Ontario Government, he said there should be a fundamental law governing the development of all water power, retaining public control of water, and asserting the right of the Governments concerned to participate in the profits on a scale, small at first, but providing for increase and revision in the future.

Montreal Mayoralty Election.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—There is certainly an interesting mix-up for the mayoralty this year, the candidates being Dr. J. H. Guerin and Senator J. P. B. Casgrain.

It was generally conceded that as the Eucharistic Congress would be held here next summer, and as the Irish Catholic citizens had not one of their own in the civic chair since the days of Mayor James McShane, it would be an act of courtesy to allow one of that nationality to go in unopposed. Dr. Yates, the English Protestant aspirant, retired as a compliment to his Catholic fellow-citizens. Monsignor Bruchesi, Archbishop of Montreal, said he was very well satisfied with Dr. Guerin, and in fact everybody was pleased, when all of a sudden Senator Casgrain jumped in, and broke the slate of the citizens.

If the French vote should go pretty solid for the Senator, he will be elected, but things do not point that way, just now, as Le Devoir is against Casgrain, and H. Bourassa will speak this evening in favor of Dr. Guerin. The member for St. Hyacinthe will have marked influence upon the French voters.

The chief backers of Dr. Guerin are Senator Dandurand and ex-Mayor Laporte, while Rodolphe Forget appears to be the most important champion behind the Senator.

The Senator has one advantage over his rival from the fact that he is married, although the sister and daughter of Dr. Guerin would well do the honors of the position.

Taking one thing with another, the contest wil be a very interesting one. Nominations will take place on Thursday next and election a week later.

Mackenzie Has Signed Contract.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 19.—Declining to discuss its terms, William Mackenzie stated yesterday that he had signed an agreement between himself and the Government for the construction of the Canadian Northern Railway in British Columbia.

'Twas with some bitterness that Mr. Mackenzie spoke of the attitude of Vancouver and Victoria merchants in insisting on a clause in the contract regarding Government control of freight rates.

He expressed the hope that the strong stand taken by the committee did not represent the real sentiment of the mass of people of Vancouver, or of British Columbia.

He will leave for London very shortly on a trip connected with financing the railway extensions in the west.

"Baby" Bliss Insane.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 19.—Leonard Bliss, better known as "Baby" Bliss, at one time supposed to be the largest man in the United States, is hopelessly insane. Bliss weighs 526 pounds. During the bicycle craze he rode a wheel over the United States, Canada and Europe as a demonstrator of the make of a machine. He is 37 years old.

Dropsy—
Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD,
Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy is sold by all druggists. If the first bottle does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Refused Aid to Child.

Port Hope, Jan. 19.—Lina Elizabeth Ennis, the juvenile daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ennis, Elgin street, passed away yesterday morning from convulsions, the effect of acute scarlet fever. Mrs. Ennis is a Christian Scientist and refused medical aid. The child was out sleigh-riding on Saturday in a raging fever, and much local interest has been aroused in the case. Two others in the family have the disease and were not reported.

People May Vote First.

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—It is said that the Provincial Government, when it introduces its bill for Government ownership of internal elevators at the coming meeting of the Provincial House, will have a proviso that it must be submitted to a referendum of the people.

The referendum will be voted on at the elections, which are expected to take place this spring.

Acquitted on One Charge.

Sandwich, Jan. 19.—W. J. Bell, farmer, of Leamington, charged with obtaining about $1,600 under false pretences, by the Union Bank, was acquitted. The judge reserved decision on a charge by the Traders' Bank. It was alleged that he had made false statements of his finances in order to secure loans.

Goes Back to Winnipeg.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Despite the fact that Samuel R. Morden declared that a warrant for fraud upon which his son, Mackenzie W. C. Morden, president of the T. & D. Clothing Co. of Winnipeg, was arrested here Saturday for the Winnipeg authorities had been withdrawn, Morden was turned over to Officer Loughlin of Winnipeg in the Police Court yesterday morning to be taken back to the western city upon that warrant.

Cleveland's Subway Scheme Is Killed.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 19.—The subway franchises, passed as almost the last act of Mayor Tom L. Johnson's administration, were repealed Tuesday night by the City Council on a strict party vote. The scheme for a $75,000,000 subway system was voted down by the people in November, but the franchises, in slightly altered form, were passed again by the Johnson administration.

What One Alderman Did.

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 19.—On the inspiration of a moment, in the midst of a hot council squabble Tuesday night, Ald. Frank E. Baxter sprang a new one. "Ald. John McCorvie hunkerscaddled on that last vote," he burst out. The mayor called him to order for slang. "It's not slang," yelled Ald. Baxter, "it's the truth; he hunkerscaddled."

Alderman Holds Seat.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—In yesterday's count of the votes cast in the aldermanic election in Rideau Ward, Ald. R. C. Armstrong, the social and moral reform league candidate, was confirmed in his seat by his original majority, seven.

To Investigate Prices.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Attorney-General Major, replying yesterday to a request that he investigate the high prices of meats in Missouri, said he expected to make such an investigation.

Cook Under Assumed Name.

Copenhagen, Jan. 19.—Walter Lonsdale, Dr. Cook's secretary, does not believe the report that Cook is near Heidelberg.

He said the last letter which he received from Cook was dated Cadiz, Nov. 24, when Cook stated that he was leaving Europe immediately and would write again in a fortnight. Lonsdale has not heard from him since.

He added that the explorer went under the name of Hunter while at Marseilles and Lisbon.

Shot For Suing King.

Towanda, Pa., Jan. 19.—Associate Judge Henry Richlin of Sullivan Co. was shot and fatally wounded by Charley Kapni, a neighbor. Judge Richlin was driving to Dushore and asked Kapni to have a ride. Kapni replied with three revolver shots.

Cook in German Retreat.

Frankfort, Jan. 19.—The Frankfurter Zeitung is informed that Dr. Fred A. Cook has arranged for a strictly incognito stay at a sanitarium near Heidelberg.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Mr. John Carnegie, formerly M.P.P. for Peterboro, died at Guelph after a long illness.

Rubber manufacturers and jobbers decided at a meeting at Montreal on a general increase in prices.

A new comet, which can be seen in the day time, has been discovered by Prof. Drake of Johannesburg.

Mrs. Bell of Montreal was shown to have taught her eleven-year-old son to steal, and the boy was sent to the reformatory.

Local option has failed in British Columbia under the plebiscite taken simultaneously with the recent general provincial elections.

Several Catholic priests of Essex County are petitioning for changes in the license law, asking, among other things, that the fee be raised to $500.

While attempting to board a G.T.R. freight last evening, Reginald Duggan, aged 21, of Peterboro, had his leg so severely crushed that it had to be amputated.

In Steubenville, Ohio, where 300 families have been on strike since Saturday morning, against paying high prices for meats, two markets have closed. That the boycott will take in other foodstuffs with meat is freely predicted.

No Right to Sell Control.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 19.—In the Supreme Court yesterday Justice W. S. Andrews granted the application of the State Insurance Department to take over the People's Mutual Association and League. Arthur F. Saxton of the department was appointed by Supt. Hotchkiss a special deputy to take charge of the company.

In his decision Justice Andrews said it had not been explained why a deposit of $150,000 was made in the Farmers' Bank of Toronto, Ont. The directors, he declared, had no right, legal or moral, to sell control of the company.

Supt. Hotchkiss declined to discuss the report that Tevis and Travers had agreed to turn over to the department $150,000 of the People's Mutual funds, deposited in the Farmers' Bank at Toronto, and that he had sent a representative for the money.

Algoma Central to Extend.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 19.—It is stated on the highest authority here that in February the Lake Superior Corporation will call for tenders for the extension of the Algoma Central Railroad. The amount stated to have been appropriated for this purpose is $3,000,000.

The extension is for a distance of about 200 miles. By the distance it is assumed that the extension is for the purpose of connecting the Soo with the G.P.R. at Grassett.

The extension, it is assured, will mean the construction of 64 bridges, one of huge proportions, which alone will cost, $250,000.

Sent to an Asylum.

Chatham, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Mary Rumble, who confessed the attempted dynamiting of the home of her husband and family about two miles east of this city last October, was yesterday morning taken to the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane.

Bryan to Run in 1912.

Omaha, Jan. 19.—William J. Bryan will be a candidate for President in 1912. The announcement was made yesterday afternoon by The Omaha Bee, which attributes the statement to L. Metcalfe, editor of Mr. Bryan's Commoner.

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Can Eat Anything Now.

Mrs. Herman Dickenson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

ODDS OF 20 TO 1 OFFERED TO-DAY THAT LIBERALS WILL CONTROL NEXT PARLIAMENT

Assured of Victory Party Leaders are Mapping Out a Programme More Radical Than Ever Proposed in England.

TAKE VETO FROM LORDS

Special to The Examiner.

Odds of 20 to one that the Liberals will control the next parliament were offered on the stock exchange to-day without any takers. With a Liberal or Coalition victory assured in the forthcoming parliament the liberal party leaders are to-day mapping out a programme more radical than ever proposed in England. The programme includes the adoption of a resolution taking the power of Veto away from the House of Lords, the re-introduction of the Budget, the Irish Home Rule Bill and a Bill to stop plural voting, thus abolishing the present franchise handicaps under which the masses labour. The Reforms were agreed on by the Liberal leaders to-day. If successful in this legislation the Liberals with the aid of the Labourites and the Irish Nationalists will begin their fight to make the House of Lords an elective body.

JUMPED ON TRAIN AND LOST HIS LEGS

Walter Barnett Gets $6000 Damages From Jury.

London, Ont., Jan. 18.—Walter Barnett, who had his legs cut off in a railway yard collision, was awarded six thousand dollars damages by a jury yesterday. He sued the Company for $20,000.

Barnett was injured on the night of August 23 last, when a Grand Trunk freight train crashed into the rear platform of the last coach of a Pere Marquette train and demolished it. Barnett was standing on the rear platform and was crushed.

A point of law to decide if Barnett was in effect a passenger on the train on which he was riding when injured will be decided by Chief Justice Meredith probably to-day. The question was argued after the jury had retired. Barnett had jumped on the Pere Marquette train for a ride through the yards and was not a regular passenger.

"WHAT A DELICATE CHILD"

Is the remark we often hear when referring to little ones whose faces are pale and wan, and limbs thin and spindling.

If mothers in this vicinity only realized how quickly these little ones can be made strong, robust and rosy by our delicious cod liver and iron preparation VINOL, we would not see so many delicate children on our streets. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ontario.

ISRAEL RETURNS TO PALESTINE

Thousands Flock Back to Former Home Since Turkish Constitution Was Changed.

New York, January 18.—A cable despatch to the Times says that the proclamation of the constitution in Turkey has thrown open the doors of Palestine to the incoming Jews from all parts of the world. In Jerusalem alone four-fifths of the population of 100,000 now belong to the Jewish faith, while at Jaffa, Tiberias, Safed, and Haifa, Jews are reckoned by tens of thousands.

Almost the whole extensive plain of Esdraelon has been bought up by them. Their prosperous colonies spread from Dan to Beersheba, and even south to the outskirts of Egypt. Thousands are escaping from Persia to find shelter and protection in the Holy Land, while every ship from Odessa carries hundreds of them.

GIRL TRAPPED IN A FIRE

Special to The Examiner.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19.—More than a score of girls, trapped in a blazing building are believed to have been killed in a fire in the heart of the manufacturing district to-day. Many were injured and half an hour after the fire broke out five bodies had been recovered. The fire broke out before noon in the Ellis Building at 3rd and Walnut Sts.

CENTRAL SMITH CREAMERY HAS MADE RECORD SALE OF BUTTER

Output for Ten Weeks Was Eight Tons, All of Which Was Consumed in Peterborough and Sold at Good Price---Change in Dairy Methods of Late.

The growth of the butter making industry is illustrated by the Central Smith factory. Twelve years ago the creamery was first operated. In the beginning it was exported largely, but during the last few years the output was consumed at home and Peterborough is now buying the butter manufactured at the Central Smith creamery. The factory is doing a greater business than ever, as may be judged from Mr. J. A. McGregor's report at the meetng last night. From Nov. 1st, 1908, to Jan. 31, 1909, 14,015 lbs. were turned out. Beginning Nov. 1st last, up to the present, 15,778 lbs. were manufactured, nearly eight tons in two months and a half, a much greater output than that of the entire creamery season last year. This condition is found generally. Central Smith has been very successful in its creamery operations, and has secured a good reputation for quality. The old-time custom of making butter in the cellar and shipping it on the market is rapidly passing away, as is evidenced in Smith, where the cream is collected at the factory and sold en bloc, the receipts being afterwards divided.

LIEBLER & CO. ATTRACTION.

"The White Sister" is the first Liebler & Co. production ever presented in Peterborough, which should be sufficient guarantee of the ability of the caste and the attention to details in splendid settings. Liebler & Co., Ltd., have some of the best attractions of the present season, among them "A Little Brother of the Rich," "The Fourth Estate," "The Bridge," and others. The sale of seats for "The White Sister" has been very large, and it is generally felt that as the pressed material appreciation of good attractions will result in other metropolitan favourites appearing here.

Advice To Those Who Intend Seeing "The White Sister"

Management Will Hold Tickets Until Noon on Thursday—Patrons Asked to be in Seats at 8.15 (Sharp)—A Treat Assured.

The management of the Grand Opera House wish to advise persons having tickets on order for Viola Allen in "The White Sister," that same will be held until to-morrow (Thursday) only. On account of the very heavy advance sale there are only a limited number of seats to be had, and those who have not yet secured their tickets would do well to get them to-day. This will be one of the biggest theatrical treats offered to the public of Peterborough, affording an opportunity to see one of the greatest metropolitan players on the stage, and one very rarely seen outside the large cities. Patrons will also please note that the performance will start promptly at 8.15 p.m., and therefore to avoid standing until the first act is over it will be necessary to be seated before that time, as no one will be shown to their seats during the progress of the play. The Box Office will be open until 9 o'clock this evening so that persons who wish to get seats they have ordered may do so and it will also afford an opportunity to persons who desire to attend to make their reservations.

A NOVEL SOCIAL

A. Y. P. A. of St. John's Church Will Put on an Ambulance Entertainment.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. John's Church will hold a novel social on Monday evening next, in the Guild room. It will take the form of an Ambulance Social, when demonstrations of first aid work will be given by members of both the ladies' and men's ambulance classes. A short history of the organization and work of the St. John's Ambulance Association will be presented, and a most interesting paper on Florence Nightingale. Musical selections of interesting nature will be given. A large attendance is anticipated, as much interest has been taken in the ambulance class and its work this winter.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Fred Greenwend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments, reserved at the Hotel."

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday, January 21st.

PETERBOROUGH WAS FREE FROM CRIMES OF SERIOUS NATURE DURING THE PAST YEAR

Chief Roszel Made His Annual Report to the Police Commissioners Yesterday—No Pickpocket Cases—The Offences With Which Prisoners were Charged.

AMOUNT OF FINES

The annual meeting of the Police Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, when Chief Rossel presented his report for the past year. His Honour Judge Huycke, chairman of the board, presided, and those present were, Mayor Morrow, Magistrate Dumble, Chief Roszel, and City Clerk Armstrong. His Honour Judge Huycke was again appointed chairman for the ensuing year.

Chief Reszel's Report.

To the Police Commissioners of the City of Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit my report of the work done by the Police Department during the year 1909.

Schedule "A" contains a list alphabetically arranged, and classified of the principal offences which prisoners were charged with and showing how the cases were disposed of.

Schedule "B" shows the amount of fines and costs collected by the Department during the year and handed over to the City Treasurer.

Schedule "C" shows the amount of property reported lost or stolen during the year and what proportions were recovered.

Schedule "D" shows the amount of licenses collected (with the assistance of the City Clerk) during the year, including dog tax.

Schedule "E" will show the work done by the Sanitary Inspectors.

General Remarks.

The strength of the force is the same as last year, five men and myself. The general health and conduct of the force during the year has been good. I am pleased to be able to report that the Police Force is working together in peace and harmony.

Second-Hand and Junk Dealers.

I am pleased to report that all second-hand and junk dealers have complied with the law.

Hotels and Pool Rooms.

Sixty persons were before the Police Magistrate for breaches of the Liquor License Act during the year. A large number of those were black-listers. Of these 42 were convicted. Pool rooms have been very well conducted during the year. No illicit sale of liquor is done in the city, and the city is free from houses of ill-fame and gambling resorts, so far as I am aware.

The Chief Constable Association of Canada meets in the City of Vancouver, B.C., in August next, and I trust, gentlemen, you will make it convenient for me to attend, as I am at present immediate Past President of the Association.

I would once more bring to the notice of the Property Committee the totally inadequate size of the Police office, there being only one small room in which to do the Police business.

During the summer months several houses were left in our care during the temporary absence of the owners. I am pleased to report that none were disturbed.

We have had no serious crimes during the year. Not one case of pocket picking reported during the year, thanks to the efficiency of P. C. Newhall.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
(Signed) GEO. I. ROSZEL,
Chief Constable.

FELL BETWEEN FREIGHT CARS AND HAD RIGHT LEG CUT OFF

Reginald Duggan, 119 Smith Street, Met With Unfortunate Accident Last Evening at Barnardo Avenue---Was Returning Home From Work and Attempted to Take a Ride---Is Now in Nicholls Hospital.

In attempting to board a freight train, on his way home from work last evening, between five and six o'clock, Reginald Duggan, whose home is at 119 Smith street, fell between two cars and had his right leg taken off just above the knee. He is now in Nicholls Hospital, where he is resting easily.

The young man, who is about twenty years of age, is employed at Mr. G. S. Kingdon's cooper shop, at 32 Barnardo Ave. He stopped work for the day at five o'clock and was on his way home. The G. T. R. train was just passing the shop and Duggan apparently thought he would get to his destination the quicker by taking a ride. He tried to jump between two cars, but in his effort to do so he fell.

Clarence Kingdon saw Duggan fall and ran to see if he had been hurt. With the assistance of another man, Kingdon carried the injured one into a shop. A doctor and the Dan Spence ambulance were immediately called, and the young man was removed to Nicholls Hospital. Drs. Brown, McPherson and McCullough attended him. This morning he is reported as resting easily.

ANIMAL TRAINER MEETS USUAL FATE

Pauline Russell Succumbs to Injuries Inflicted by Leopard a Week Ago.

Examiner Special.

New York, Jan. 18.—Pauline Russell yesterday met the fate daily braved and coolly calculated upon by most animal trainers. A week ago she was attacked and badly torn by one of the pair of leopards she was training at a city museum. The infuriated animal would have torn her to pieces at the time, but for a man attendant, who pinned it to the floor with a sharpened steel pole. Miss Russell lingered in a critical conditoin all last week.

YOUNG PEOPLE MET

All Saints Society Had a Very Enjoyable Meeting.

The All Saints Young People held their second meeting Monday night in the basement of the Church, Mr. C. E. Sisson, President, being chairman. There were between sixty and seventy of the young people present, and a particularly enjoyable evening was spent.

The programme was as follows:
Instrumental solo—Miss Lee.
Vocal solo—Mr. Lee.
Vocal solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.

Continuation of the reading of Tennyson's Idylls of the King, "Geraint and Enid," with running commentary and interpretation by the Rector.

There will be three delegates to the Missionary Conference in Lindsay next week: Mrs. Sisson, Mr. Herb. Rush, besides others will attend the conference in part.

A missionary study class was also formed, the first meeting to be held Monday evening, Jan 31st, at the residence of Mr. C. E. Sisson, 545 Gilmour street.

After the age of 50 people find that their strength is not what it used to be, and they frequently suffer from sudden exhaustion, and weak heart action. To all such we recommend the invigorating tonic Ferrovim, composed of fresh beef, Citrate of Iron and pure old Spanish Sherry Wine. Nothing could be more beneficial in such cases. $1.00 a bottle.

BLOWN FROM ENGINE

Hurricane in West Resulted in Peculiar Accident to C. P. R. Fireman.

Winnipeg Man., Jan 18.—A wind of unusual velocity prevailed throughout the west on Friday night, at times reaching the fury of a hurricane. Fortunately it was from the south and was not cold. Such remarkable velocity was attained, however, that Fireman Frank Seal, of the C.P.R., was blown off his locomotive while the train was taking water at Rosser, and was painfully injured.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Nominating Committee of the Canadian Club Chooses Executive Heads.

The Nominating committee of the Canadian Club met at the President's office on Monday and the following officers will be elected at the next meeting:

President—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner
1st Vice-Pres—Dr Cameron
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. H. Larmouth.
Secretary—Mr. D. Hughes-Charles.
Executive committee — Mr. Matthews, Mr. Ross, Mr. Mowat, Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Walker, Mr. Goodwill and Mr. Hodgson.

Dr. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe has been secured as the speaker for the first meeting on the 29th inst. His subject will be "Affairs in England." As well as being probably one of the foremost speakers in Canada Mr. Macdonald through his study of conditions in England and personally visiting the country, is happily in a position to give a most interesting and highly profitable lecture.

Lifebuoy Soap is delightfully refreshing for bath or toilet. For washing underclothing it is unequalled. Cleanses and purifies.

SMALL BLAZE LAST NIGHT

Robert Cox's butcher shop, 641 George St., was the scene of a small blaze shortly before 10 o'clock last evening. The electric wires at the rear of the building were loosened by the high wind and formed a short circuit which resulted in a window sash catching fire and the blaze was creeping into the store when it was discovered by Messrs. R. J. Soden and Felix Brownscombe. The former gave the alarm by telephone from the Examiner office and the brigade responded promptly, extinguishing the incipient fire by the use of chemicals. A little later a second fire broke out between the walls of the building but Chief Howard hurried to the store with a chemical extinguisher and quenched the blaze. The building, which is the property of Mr. J. J. Howden, was only slightly damaged.

ANNUAL MEETING OF MURRAY STREET CHURCH

The annual business meeting of the Murray Street Baptist church will be held this evening and to-morrow evening. This evening all the reports of the different departments will be read and discussed, and to-morrow new officers will be elected. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of members and those interested in the church's welfare.

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—A bets B that there were soldiers in camp under canvas after the night of the 24th of May, 1900, on or about Central Park. If so please answer through the press stating the date and business of the camp and oblige.—Yours truly,

GEO. S. CARTER.

A loses the bet, which arises over the visit of the 38th Regiment Dufferin Rifles of Brantford and the 19th Regiment of St. Catharines to Peterborough on Saturday, May 22, Sunday May 23, and Monday May 24. The Brantford Regiment were in camp on Central Park, the advance guard pitching the tents on Saturday morning and the camp being struck on Monday afternoon, so that there were no soldiers in camp after the night of May 24th, although the fact that the two large tents erected for the St. Catharines regiment were not taken down until Tuesday the 25th nq doubt led A to make the bet.

SPEAKERS FOR LIBERAL MEETING.

Hon J. R. Stratton has made arrangements with Mr. E. M. Macdonald, M.P, Pictou, Nova Scotia, and Mr J. B. McColl, M.P., East Northumberland and brother of Rev. Father McColl, to address the annual organization meeting of the East Peterborough Liberal Association on Saturday, Jan. 29th. Mr. Macdonald is one of the cleverest of the representatives of Nova Scotia, noted for its prodigal production of men of business, and Mr. McColl is next neighbour to East Peterborough and his energy and ability are well known. These gentlemen will address the meeting of Liberals at Norwood on Jam 29th, after the election of officers, upon current public topics. It is desirable that there should be a good attendance of the Liberals of the east. To be able to strive to the best advantage in the promotion of the best interests of the county, the most intimate possible acquaintance with public affairs is needed. The addresses to be given by the gentlemen mentioned will be redolent of the atmosphere at the capital when parliament is in session and when the affairs of the great Dominion are receiving attention. That elector is best able to impress his influence upon the administration of natural affairs who is best informed of the issues that go to the composition of the most progressive policy in the national interest.

THE SENATE.

Evidently Mr. E. A. Lancaster, M. P. for Lincoln and Niagara, would like to catch the Canadian Senate on a level crossing around a street corner. Mr. Lancaster is the deadly foe of the level crossing and has been trying to legislate it out of existence for years and after worrying such a bill through the Commons three years in succession he found the Senate as ready to kill the bill as the level crossings were ready to juggernaut the public. Mr. Lancaster brought up a resolution in the House on Monday asking the Imperial government to take steps to abolish the Dominion Senate The imperial government has a Senate difficulty of its own on its hands in the shape of the recalcitrant House of Lords, which has precipitated the general election, which has resulted in the greatest political upheaval of the century. Even with all its multiplied iniquities in the form of neutralization of the popular will as expressed in legislation, even the most bitter enemies of the House of Lords is not so truculent as Mr. Lancaster, does not desire its complete decapitation—only a topping off of some of the mouldering branches. If the Imperial government will not destroy the House of Lords root and branch we cannot expect that they will begin upon the Canadian Senate. The Senate is little known to the people because it does not come so directly in contact with the people; but it does a great deal of useful work in a somewhat ponderous and stately, but at the same time; effective way. It grubs up a lot of useful information, with regard to natural resources and national undertakings. It sometimes seems to come in contact with legislation of the popular chamber, but after the initiation of the movement is over; after reasonable deliberation it is found as a rule that the Senate has not been a thousand miles beside the mark. We might improve the constitution of the Senate in the matter of membership and make it one representative of the people—directly representative by election instead of indirectly representative by an appointment. This, however, might make the Senate more aggressively interferent, more disinclined to take level crossings at reduced speed. The House of Commons evidently does not regard the Canadian senate through Mr. Lancaster's glasses, for it voted down his resolution by a majority of 88—23 to 111. It would take something like the rejection of the Fielding Budget to arouse hostility to the Senate. This budget is very slowly talked to a standstill. however, and will be passed without a division and will not even disturb the beauty sleep of the Senate.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A New York magazine has prefaced a story called "Piano Jim" with the following:

The Canadian Northwest is about as attractive a place to live in as the North Pole. You would hardly expect to find such a thing as a piano in that outer edge of the earth. Yet in Mr. Sinclair's novel here there is not only a piano, but the man who plays it is a born musician.

The "outer edge of the earth" referred to is Fort Walsh, and The Calgary News indignantly remarks that "the man who wrote that rubbish doesn't know that to-day a number of the most progressive cities on the continent are north of Fort Walsh, that a better street car and general transportation service exists in some of them than can be found in New York, and that in everything that goes to alleviate the conditions that prevail in modern life and to impress education, culture, art and science the Canadian West has nothing to learn from the oldest and best on the American continent." Will the New York slanderer please make note!"

GLOWING EULOGY OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER

(From the Globe.)

The Examiner gives to-day the full text of the address delivered by Mr. W. K. McNaught, M.P.P., a Conservative, as most people know, on the occasion of the unveiling of a portrait of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the National Club on January 7. It is gratifying to be able to say that a large number of Conservatives who were present — though, of course, the event was absolutely non-political—heartily concurred in all that Mr. McNaught said, and warmly approved his words.

Recognition of Good Qualities.

The address was as follows:

"I feel that it is an honour to have been asked to take part to-night in the unveiling of the portrait of the guest of the evening, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canada. The hanging of his portrait in this building, sirs, is evidence, if indeed any were needed, that however strong the members of the National Club may individually hold their views upon the great questions of the day, they are tolerant enough to recognize the good qualities of their political opponents, and broad enough to give them tangible form when occasion demands.

Do Not Withhold Credit.

"Sirs, it augurs well for the future of Canada that her citizens of whatever political stripe can unite to pay a compliment to the leader of one of our great political parties, as we are doing to-night to the Right Honourable gentleman.

"I am glad, sirs, that the day has passed away, and I hope it will never return, when a Canadian has to look upon a political opponent as an enemy unworthy of even decent treatment. To-day we size a man up for what he is, not for what we think he ought to be, and if he deserves well of his country, as well as of his party, we do not hesitate to give him credit for it.

Sir Wilfrid's Friendship.

"Mr. Chairman, I do not know how Sir Wilfrid regards it, but personally I feel pretty much like the old Methodist minister did when his flock gave his better half and himself an old-fashioned surprise party, and filled his house with the good things of his life. "My friends," said he, 'I appreciate your kindness very much indeed, and I can assure you that I would rather have one ounce of taffy while I am alive and able to appreciate it than a ton of epitaphy after I am dead and gone."

"Gentleman, I need scarcely say that I entirely agree with this sentiment, and with this feeling deep down in my heart, I am sure that you will not be surprised that I am glad, not only to discharge the duty devolving upon me to-night of unveiling the portrait of the Right Honourable the Prime Minister of Canada, but to take advantage of the opportunity to say some kind words of appreciation regarding my good and honoured friend, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

"For, gentlemen, I may say that ever since I have known Sir Wilfrid I have felt that in him I had a personal friend, for he has given evidence of this time and again when I have gone to him to ask for something in connection with Canada's great National Exhibition, by always according me an immediate and sympathetic hearing. Not only this, sirs, but his promises to me in this regard have always been carried out, and as a consequence both the National Exhibition and the Dominion of Canada have benefitted thereby.

Admire Him as a Man.

"Sirs, Sir Wilfrid may have his faults like the rest of us, but to mention this is only to say that he is human. In my opinion, however, his virtues so far outweigh his faults that to-night I am going to forget that he has any faults whatever, and remember only the good things about him, which I can honestly ask you all to admire.

"I prefer, sirs, to present Sir Wilfrid with my little boutonniere to-night while he is able to appreciate it, rather than to wait for an opportunity, if indeed I may be spared so long of placing a wreath upon his honoured grave. While I do not pretend to see eye to eye with Sir Wilfrid in political matters, I do admire him as a man, and so far as my personal judgment goes, there is today no more lovable man in the public life of Canada.

"He has been in the limelight of Canadian political life for over a quarter of a century, and yet no breath of scandal has ever been connected with his name. And, gentlemen, to have a clean, honourable man at the head of the oGvernment of this country is surely something that every true Canadian may well be proud of. With unlimited opportunities for acquiring wealth, he remains a comparatively poor man to-day, and in this respect at least he furnishes an example that politicians of every stripe may well take pattern by.

A Fine Personal Example.

"But some will say that these are negative virtues, that every honest man, even although he be a politician, should possess. I grant this, gentlemen, but, in addition, I for one believe that during his career Sir Wilfrid Laurier has done much to elevate the public life of this country by his personal example, and has also performed such distinguished public service as will give him an assured place in history as a great Canadian. We, his political opponents, ungrudgingly admit his splendid ability as an orator, and his great talents as a Parliamentary debater and strategist.

"But this is not all. Although we often challenge his wisdom as Prime Minister, we nevertheless are forced to admit that many of his Governmental measures have exhibited a high order of statesmanship, and have worked well both for Canadian and Imperial interests. I cannot forget sirs, that under the leadership of the guest of the evening the great Liberal party of this country has ceased to look to Washington for its inspiration, and has become as loyal to the Empire and as Imperial in its aspirations as the party to which I have the honour to belong. Thank God, gentlemen, that although we may differ upon other matters, we are today a united people in this respect at least.

A Great Canadian.

"It is probably true, as has been asserted, that Sir Wilfrid views all such questions from a purely Canadian standpoint, and is a thorough believer in "Canada first," but I am glad to think that it is 'Canada first within the Empire.' A French-Canadian to the manner born and bred, he has, nevertheless had the wisdom and loyalty not only to give a substantial preference to the people of the mother country, but to see that the lines of commercial communication between Canada and the different parts of the Empire were developed and safeguarded so as to encourage the freer interchange of products with our British fellow-subjects beyond the seas.

"During his tenure of office as Prime Minister, also, the postal arrangements between Canada, the mother country and many other parts of the Empire, have been improved so as to give us practically Imperial penny postage, and even of late our Government has arranged that, at Canada's expense, British magazines and British literature can be circulated throughout Canada so cheaply as to replace, to a considerable extent, those of the United States which have for years unfortunately dominated this country.

The Union Jack.

"I ought not to forget to mention Sir Wilfrid's sincere admiration for British precedent and British constitutional forms of government, matters about which he has often expressed himself with no uncertain sound, and never more strongly, nor more eloquently than in his recent memorable address which he delivered before a distinguished audience in the city of Montreal. Or of his undoubted loyalty to and love for the 'Union Jack,' the flag under the shadow of whose folds his countrymen have for a century and a half found not only the fullest measure of civil and religious liberty but the inestimable heritage of absolute self-government. Or of his decision to see that in future Canada shall be in a position to effectively help the mother country in her hour of need, whether that need be upon the land or upon the seas.

"Sirs, these are things that I can truthfully say, although I know that there are not a few members of my own political party who do not consider that he has gone as far as he ought to have gone or as far as the interests of the country demand in these matters. For my own part I will say that I am truly thankful that he has gone as far as he has done. He and his Government are at least headed in the right direction and having put his hand to the plough of Empire, I do not believe that he is the man to turn back, and I can assure him that if he elects to go forward he will certainly not be compelled to plough a lone furrow.

Unifying the Two Races.

"But, sirs, I must refrain, or else I shall be accused by some of trying to work politics into my little speech, and by others of prematurely improvising a halo for the head of our distinguished guest. There are many other things that I might mention to the credit of the guest of the evening, and not among the least of them is the fact that he more than any other man has been able to draw the French and English races in Canada more closely together than ever before, and to make them feel that they have a common nationality and a common flag as well as a common heritage.

"It was largely in recogition of this distinguished service to Canada and to the Empire, that he received such a magnificent ovation in England at the time of the wonderful Diamond Jubilee, where, with, of course, the exception of her late revered Majesty Queen Victoria, he was the great outstanding figure of that world-wide gathering of distinguished men. And I think, sirs, that I am voicing the sentiment of every gentleman present when I say that the Canadian of whatever race or language or political creed who does not feel proud of the splendid way in which our country was represented by our Prime Minister on that occasion is unworthy of citizenship in our great Dominion.

What the Historian Will Say.

"Sirs, I am neither a prophet nor the son of a prophet, yet I venture to predict that in the years to come, when the political jealousies and animosities of the present have faded into oblivion, and the historian of the future comes to sum up the career of our guest, his verdict and that of posterity will be that the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not only an honour to the French Canadian people, but a loyal and true British subject, who did his duty to his country as he saw it, and was worthy to rank alongside of those other great pathfinders of Empire whose names all true Canadians delight to honour and revere.

"Gentlemen, I have now great pleasure in unveiling this splendid portrait of the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a portrait in every way worthy to hang upon our walls, and I trust that in the years to come it will furnish an inspiration to many a young Canadian to emulate the splendid example that Sir Wilfrid has set before his fellow-countrymen."

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

"O Doc," I cried, "I humbly beg, that you will amputate my leg."
The doctor cheerfully complied, and shot some dope into my hide, and made his buckaw fairly sail, until it struck a rusty nail.
DOC "Hoot, mon!" he said, quite undismayed, "I'll have to fin-
JONNESCO ish with a spade." And as he dug and toiled away, we talked about the price of hay, the recent frightful riss in pork, the sugar grafters in New York, the things we found in Christmas socks, the flurry in Rock Island stocks, the hook-worm and the hangman's noose, the bright career of Captain Loose. I felt no pain or ache or shock; it pleased me much to watch the doc; and when the job was done, I said: "Now that you're here, cut off my head." With skilful hands he wrought and wrought, and soon cut off my dome of thought, and when I asked him for his bill: "There is no charge, already, still; I work for Science, not for beads, so keep the dollars of your dads; to banish pain is my desire; to nothing more do I aspire; if I may win that goal, you bet, I'll be so happy, always, yet!" Is there a more heroic game? Could any man have nobler aim? One poet, old, and bald and fat, to this great man takes off his hat!

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $2.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES AT ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Being missionary night the vice-president, Miss Ella Warren was in the chair. Business was attended to. Miss M. Menzies sang a solo. Mr. Donaldson was called upon to speak about the people of Formosa. The Japanese, he said, found Formosa in a miserable condition; they were superstitious, bigoted and dirty. Often they made raids on the Japanese. Courts of justice have been established in the country, 165 schools have been built and equipped by the Japanese. Post offices, telegraphy, telephones, railways, etc., are the modern things that are opening up and improving the country. The profit of the terrible opium traffic goes to the government. Opium is a menace to the people, both physically, morally and spiritually. Great Britain, Canada and the United States received the gospel of Christ by missionaries. What are we doing for these people? We want more missionaries, better equipment. It is our duty to put our shoulder to the wheel and help it along.

Miss Lottie Chils then spoke about the work going on in Formosa. The strenuous work of Dr. G. L. Mackay was referred to. 13 students attending the college last year. 13,633 treatments in the hospitals. Dr. Mackay makes earnest appeals for more native missionaries, but the white missionaries are needed to instruct them. The missionaries in this land write home and thank them for the prayers and help given them.

Miss Warren said that the churches have been living to themselves, to selfishness. Have we done all we could as individuals, or as a church? Shall we spare to the civilization of the far east, and so uplift the race?

Miss Warren was pleased with the meeting and expressed the hope that great things are to be accomplished. It was regretted that the president was absent. Next Monday, Jan. 24th is devotional. Mr. Wm. Lorimer is in charge.

PREVENTION IS WORTH WHILE.

When you consider the risk to life, the expense, the anxiety which is involved in an attack of appendicitis and a surgical operation, it is certainly worth while to avoid it by keeping the liver and bowels regular by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Doctors are now unanimously of the opinion that appendicitis comes from a neglect to keep the liver and bowels in a healthful condition.

Y. M. C. A. EMPLOYED BOYS ON AN OUTING

The Y.M.C.A. employed boys will enjoy a sleigh drive on Thursday evening, leaving the building at 7.30 p.m. A programme that should prove enjoyable has been arranged and at nine o'clock they will return to the 'Y', where a supper will be served in the Association room.

King-Hearted Policemen.

The members of the Toronto police force are nothing if not magnanimous. They are mostly big men from the north of Ireland, and their hearts are kind, even though they are obliged to indulge in a little rough work occasionally. Many a tipsy citizen has been helped on his way and guided to his own doorstep by one of these big fellows, and for the most part they are far more ready to pass a civil word with the passer-by than to interfere with him.

This quality of magnanimity came out in a droll way the other morning at the Police Court. A resident of "The Ward" and his wife had been arraigned by the morality department on a charge of an offence subversive of good order in the community. So gravely did the magistrate view the case, that the evidence being clear, he convicted them, and instead of giving the option of a fine, sentenced them to sixty days each in jail. The woman took the matter calmly, but her husband broke down altogether. He sobbed in the dock as though his heart would break. An officer led him out, and he wept copiously as he crossed the court room. As he reached the door he broke down physically, and leaned groaning against the jamb of the doorway. The officer waited until he stopped for breath, and then placed his hand kindly upon his shoulders.

"Come along, now," he said compassionately; "and if ye like ye can cry as ye go along the hallway."

Influenza Coughs--

Influenza seems to seek out the same victims year after year, and if the disorder is once contracted, one is ever after prone to catch it again. No remedy is so sure to cure, so certain to prevent the dangerous after-effects as "Nerviline." The germ-killing, soothing, pain-relieving power of Nerviline is the marvel of every doctor. Ten times stronger than ordinary remedies. No wonder it breaks up Coughs, Colds, and Influenza in one day.

Nerviline

"Last Winter," writes J. C. Hemingway, of Woodstock, "I was stricken down with influenza. Every bone in my body ached. My chest was tight and sore, breathing was hard, stabbing pains shot through my lungs and made me wince. My head swam with dizziness, and fever and high pulse dragged down my strength. Nothing but Nerviline helped, and it cured speedily. For all Winter ills I urge every family to use Nerviline."

All dealers sell Nerviline, large bottle 25 cents.

TO FIND FAULT.

People Are Sometimes Paid For That Express Purpose.

You have no idea how many things are wrong in a big business until you are paid to look for them, writes Gelett Burgess in Collier's. There were the clocks, for one thing, when I first began. The girls wore too many rats in their hair, there was grease on the elevator doors, expensive hats were lumped one on another, the ventilation was bad, the boxes on the shelves showed from the street through the show windows and about a thousand other things. Then Spindelheim sold teapots just like our eighteen cent ones for 14 cents, and for a concern like Smith & Co. to be undersold is fatal. There's really nothing that so enrages Mr. Smith; also Rubinstein's window dresser has beaten ours, too, at times. Down it goes in my little report. Wouldn't any woman love my job.

Yes, it's fun to be paid for being a misanthrope, but it's hard work too. At 9 o'clock I begin my promenade through the store—downstairs, upstairs, basement, attic and annex. If a girl at the counter has dirty finger nails or too wide a pompadour to suit me I stop and talk pleasantly, buy 9 cents' worth of edging and so get her number from the sales slip. She never knows anything about it till her superintendent gives her a scolding the next day. I have eyes like a hawk and a nose like a hound and ears like a small boy under the sofa when a young man's calling on big sister. In ten minutes I have spotted the dust in the corner of the aisle, a girl who wears brass bracelets, a porter who is not attending to his duty, a badly arranged counter, an error in spelling on a placard, two store detectives loafing on their job and a hideous combination of colors in the front window. I go to the ladies' room and make a note of these things surreptitiously. I don't dare go there too often, though, for fear I'll be identified, so sometimes I run back to my office, two blocks away. So it goes till about 4 o'clock, hither and thither, nigh and yon, looking for trouble. It doesn't do a clerk any good to be uncivil to me, I can tell you, or to make me wait too long for my change, but I try to be fair, and if I find a particularly willing and considerate sales person down that name goes in my report too. You might suppose that there'd be good graft in that; but, of course, I keep my position only so long as the head of the firm has absolute confidence in my integrity. The funny part of it is that the more I complain the better he likes it. I'm like the opposition party in congress. I'm never satisfied. When I am I'll have to look for another position.

At 4 o'clock I go back to my little office and dictate my report from my notes to a stenographer, and when it's typewritten I send it to the head of the firm.

When "Pluck" Was Slang.

The word "pluck" affords an instance of the way in which slang words in the course of time become adopted into current English. We now meet with "pluck" and "plucky" as the recognized equivalents of "courage" and "courageous." An entry in Sir Walter Scott's "Journal" shows that in 1827 the word had not yet lost its low character. He says (volume 2, page 30), "Want of that article blackguardly called pluck." Its origin is obvious. From early times the heart has been popularly regarded as the seat of courage. Now, when a butcher lays open a carcass he divides the great vessels of the heart, cuts through the windpipe and then plucks out together the united heart and lungs—lights, he calls them—and he terms the united mass "the pluck."—London Notes and Queries.

Henry Ward Beecher's Wit.

On one occasion as Mr. Beecher was in the midst of an impassioned speech some one attempted to interrupt him by suddenly crowing like a cock. The orator, however, was equal to the occasion. He stopped, listened till the crowing ceased and then, with a look of surprise, pulled out his watch. "Morning already?" he said. "My watch is only at 10. But there can be no mistake about it. The instincts of the lower animals are infallible."

There was a roar of laughter. The "lower animals" in the gallery collapsed, and Mr. Beecher was able to resume as if nothing had occurred.

A Long Mile.

The Swedish mile is the longest mile in the world. A traveler in Sweden when told that he is only about a mile from a desired point would better hire a horse, for the distance he will have to walk if he chooses in his ignorance to adopt that mode of travel is exactly 11,700 yards.

Trees Older Than the Pyramids.

A wonder of longevity is the so called dragon's blood tree of Teneriffe. Resin obtained from this tree has been found in sepulchres, where it had been used for embalming the dead. Trees of this species are now standing which are estimated as being older than the Egyptian pyramids.

Cyclones and Tornadoes.

While cyclones and tornadoes are different phenomena, the former appear to give rise to the latter. Tornadoes almost always break out, if at all, on the southeasterly extremity of a cyclone.

Handy With His Tongue Too.

The following was a speech by a successful competitor for the prize of a foot race: "Gentlemen, I have won this cup by the use of my legs. I swear I may never lose the use of my legs by the loss of this cup."

NOT SO SURE AFTER ALL.

How One Little Girl Told Santa She Still Believed In Him.

Margaret was getting to be a big girl—she would be nine years old in February—and Mrs. Darby's heart was sad with the realization that her baby was a baby no longer.

"And, what's more, I don't believe in Santa Claus," announced Margaret one afternoon in December at the end of a declaration of independence, during which she had renounced her allegiance to paper dolls and declared her conviction that her dresses should be increased in length by an inch at least. "I don't believe in any old man with a white beard and a pack on his back who goes around climbing down people's chimbleys, and I'm not going to let on any more that I do. So there!"

"Very well," said Mrs. Darby quietly. "You needn't believe in him if you don't want to. If I were you, though, I don't think I'd stand quite so near the fireplace. He might be listening up there, you know, and Christmas time is nearly here now."

To this Margaret made no reply, but a moment later nonchalantly, as though without ulterior motive, she moved away from the fireplace to the window, where she took up a position to gaze out on the fast falling snow and the few bundled up, hurrying pedestrians. For some time there was no sound in the room save the click of Mrs. Darby's thimble and the crackling of the fire.

"Ma," suddenly came from the fireplace, and Mrs. Darby looked up to find Margaret back in her old place, but with head inclined over the grate as far as the heat would permit.

"Yes, daughter, I am listening."

"Ma," repeated Margaret in a preternaturally loud voice, "you know what I said to you awhile ago about not believing in Santa Claus?"

"Yes. What of it?"

"Well, ma, can't you take a joke?" This was fairly shouted up the chimney.

A moment later as Margaret stood beside her mother she asked anxiously, "I say, ma, do you think Santa Claus heard that?"

"Yes, darling," said Mrs. Darby, "I am almost certain he did."—New York Tribune.

Frugal Fare.

"So you're on a diet, are you?"

"Yes; my doctor has limited me to a few of the coarsest and simplest kinds of food."

"It's about noon. Won't you go in and have lunch with me?"

"It's very kind of you to invite me. I should enjoy it."

"Very well. We'll go into the grill room."

After they had secured seats in a cozy corner the host asked:

"Won't you look over the bill of fare and see whether there is anything on it that you can eat?"

"Thanks," said the man who was dieting. "I think I'll have an oyster cocktail to begin with and some chicken okra. Let's see. I guess I'll not eat any fish—yes, I believe I will too. The broiled black bass will do very well. In addition to that I'll have some of the roast turkey, some New York salad and—oh, well, never mind the dessert now. I'll decide on that later."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Blamed For Little Cause.

Mrs. B.—Your former nursegirl applied to me for a position today. Why did she leave your employ?

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

After about five minutes of heartbroken wailings on the part of the two-year-old across the aisle the two-year-old's mother gave in and bought some chocolates for him with which he promptly began to plant the seeds of indigestion and more wailings.

"Cry hard enough and you'll get your way every time," murmured the rather cynical looking lady in the seat in front, "and that rule isn't limited to babies, either."

As the remark wasn't addressed to me I couldn't express my approval, but I mentally dittoed it.

It certainly isn't limited to babies.

I know a great many pretty well grown children, and some as full grown as they'll ever be, who get anything that those about them have it in their power to give, simply by applying that rule.

I know, for instance, a family of four girls, one of whom has three times what the other three have.

I heard her just the other day, after one of the others had been denied a certain luxury, boasting that she was sure she could get it.

I don't doubt it.

Because she is the best loved child? Not at all.

Because she knows the value of the rule—"Cry hard enough and you'll get your way."

In very many families there is some one member who applies that rule. Usually it is one of the children, but not always by any means. Sometimes it's a father and once in a cycle a mother.

And always the rest of the family gladly give up anything that one happens to want.

A splendid rule, you see.

Only—well, I'll leave you to supply that "only."

If you know a family where there is such a person you doubtless can do it.

Believing it was her fate because a fortune teller told her she would marry a Chinaman, Grace W. Miller, twenty-four, married Charles Song," I read in a Pittsburg paper the other day.

I wish there could be a law to keep those people who believe in fortune tellers away from them.

I am usually a disbeliever in the saying:—

"Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise,"

but I think that in regard to a knowledge of the future it is extremely true.

And as you never can tell whether ignorance is bliss or not it really isn't safe to risk the folly of being wise.

Fortune tellers are for those who do not believe in their powers.

If you believe a fortune teller can't tell you anything of the future and merely want to waste a dollar or two, by all means waste it. It is a harmless way.

As purveyors of Arabian Nights tales to those who know how to rate them as such I believe in fortune tellers, but as revealers of the future to those who regard them as such, I think they are a menace to the happiness of the community, and I advise anyone who believes in them to keep a goodly distance away.

Howard Chandler Christy's Daughter Loves Her Parents Equally And Has No Choice

Sad Feature of Proceeding for Separation Now Drawing to an End—Testimony Shows That the Artist Exercised Much Freedom Toward Models.

NOT ALWAYS SOBER

Zanesville, O., Jan. 17.—"I love both of you, mother, dear; I want to live with both of you and do not want to have to choose between you," said Natalie Christy to her mother on Saturday in response to the questioning by Mrs. Christy whom she would choose in the event that the choice were left to her.

The second day of the Christy habeas corpus trial brought the work of the prosecution almost to the end, as Mrs. Christy concluded her testimony.

A very short time will be taken up by the attorneys for the plaintiff to complete their evidence. Miss Eugenia Britt, the nineteen-year-old French model of the Christy studio at present, scored the real sensation of the trial thus far when this afternoon she stated that when C. F. Hall, better known to his New York friends as Dick, tried to embrace her in the New York studio she slapped him a good one on the face. Miss Britt also testified in her broken French-English dialect that Christy had always acted the gentleman. This is in direct contrast to the statement of Hall that Christy had kissed her when he was present.

Mrs. Christie on Stand.

Miss Britt has posed for the artists of New Pork, among them Gibson. Mrs. Christy was a trifle nervous when she took the stand, and very pale. During the part of her testimony where she referred to the childhood of her daughter she almost broke down, but, making a game effort, pulled through and continued her testimony, when a letter was introduced that Natalie had written to her mother when five years old and partially read, Mrs. Christy couldn't speak for some moments, and there was hardly a dry eye in the court room.

Mrs. Christy admitted on the stand that she went to the studio with Hall and Thompson last November with the intention of taking the child from Christy in the same manner that the artist had secured Natalie from her, by simply carrying her away, but the attempt of Mrs. Christy was unsuccessful. The habeas corpus proceedings were started three days later.

Charles F. Hall, a former Christy model, and Mrs. Hall also testified. She told of the home life of Mr. and Mrs. Christy in New York, and told of Mr. Christy knocking his wife down and "sitting upon her."

Mrs. Hall, who is related to Mrs. Christy, and who acted as a model for the artist in the drawing "Hearts is Trumps," told of incidents in the studio in which various models played a conspicuous role. Hall mentioned the names of a few women models with whom Christy was upon quite familiar terms.

There was much freedom between Christy and the girls, witness said, and hugging and kissing was a common pastime. At other times, Hall said, Christy would hold and caress a model and call her his "baby doll." A trip of Christy's to an alleged sanitarium for inebriates was told of by witness.

Hall said that on one occasion Christy bit a woman model. The artist had a bad tooth, which tore the model's flesh. The witness asked for medical assistance. "Howard just laid back and laughed," said Hall.

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM THE STOMACH

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odour.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR THE FARMERS OF THE COUNTY

Short Course in Stock and Seed Judging Will be Held Here on January 24, 25 and 26—Will be of Great Benefit.

AN EVENING MEETING

A golden opportunity awaits the farmers of Peterborough County in the three-day short course in Stock and Seed Judging, to be held in the City of Peterborough, January 24th, 25th and 26th, when they will be offered the privilege of becoming better informed on what constitutes good grain and high-class live stock. This short course is being arranged for by the Farmers' Institutes Department at Toronto, under the auspices of the Norwood representatives of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, local Institute officers and local stockmen.

Seed.

The seed work and instruction in grains and weeds will be given in the Market Hall. This department will be under the direction of Professor C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, and Mr. T. G. Raynor, of the Seed Branch, Ottawa. These two men are acknowledged to be the best authorities in Canada on matters pertaining to seeds.

Live Stock.

Eminent men have also been secured for the work of stock judging. This department will be featured in Fitzgerald's Carriage shop, corner of Brock and Water streets. The shop will be fitted with tiers of seats so arranged that a crowd of 400 or 500 farmers will be able to get a close view of the animals of the judging ring. The stock to be judged will include light and heavy horses, dairy and beef cattle and swine. This department is sure to be popular, it having been impossible at other places, where these stock judging classes have been held, to accommodate all those who would attend.

Evening Meeting.

Nor is this all. An evening meeting has been arranged for Tuesday, January 25th, which is to be addressed by President Creelman, of the O. A. C., and other prominent agriculturists. A musical programme will be provided, and a feature of the evening will be the presentation of Cups won by Peterborough County farmers in the local Good Farms competition. All are invited to attend this meeting which will be held in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. Ladies are especially invited.

Farmers and others interested in the agriculture of Peterborough County should not fail to give this event their most hearty support. On the success of the short course depends much of the benefits that will be derived by farmers and others from the Branch Department, and its representative for Peterborough County in the years to come. All who attend are assured of a great treat and a rare privilege in securing helpful instruction which has a cash value, and which is given absolutely free.

Arrangements have been completed for the first annual winter course in agriculture to be given in the Norwood High School, commencing February first and continuing until the 11th of March. It is expected that there will be a large enrolment of young men from all parts of the district. The arrangements are in charge of Mr. H. C. Duff, B.S.A., the representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in this part of the province, and all who have not already done so and who wish to enter should make application to Mr. Duff at once.

There are many young men in the County of Peterborough and in the adjoining counties who are anxious to better fit themselves for successful life work on the farm, but time, money and lack of school training has prevented them from so doing. For all such this course offers an exceptionally good opportunity for advancement in the science of agriculture.

No admission fee will be charged, nor any entrance examination required. Practically the only expenses incurred by the students will be their board, which may be had for about $3.00 per week.

Classes will be held from 9.30 to 12 a.m., and from 1.30 to 3.30 p.m., on the regular teaching days of each week during the course.

The students will, in addition, be expected to spend considerable time in the farmers' reading-room, where they will have free access to the most modern agricultural journals and books.

A number of evening lectures have been arranged for. Prominent men, identified with the agricultural and allied interests will give addresses on special subjects. No pains will be spared to give the students excellent opportunities to make the best of the short time at their disposal for becoming conversant with a few of the most important phases of agriculture.

MR. A. CRESSMAN WRITES UPON LICENSE REDUCTION

Merchant Gives Reasons Why He Thinks Council Should Make the Reduction That Has been Asked For.

INTERESTING LETTER

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Before the two deputations, one favouring and the other opposing, the question of license reduction, waited on the City Council Monday evening, it had been announced that the time available for the consideration of the matter would be one hour, viz., from eight to nine o'clock, after which other deputations were to be heard. As this did not prove sufficient for a thorough consideration of the matter I would like, as one of the business men of the city, who was present, to make some comments thereon.

In the first place I submit that it is the duty of our City Council to endeavour to comply as nearly as lies within their power with the expressed desire of the majority of the citizens of Peterborough. This desire was made known in an unmistakable manner on January 3rd, when our citizens by a majority of 510 voted in favour of there being no licenses whatever granted in Peterborough during the next three years. This was not a snap verdict. The citizens had considered the matter for over a year. It had been discussed in all its aspects. That they realized its importance was shown by the fact that they turned out in larger numbers to vote on it than was ever known before. Our Council therefore knows that the majority of our citizens do not want any licenses. I submit that our Council should endeavour to comply with the wishes of this majority in as far as lies within its power.

The Council has power to reduce the number of licenses to two. Many of the temperance people of Peterborough would like to see this done. It is objected to, however, by some, that this would concentrate the drinking in too few a number of places. This, I understand led the City Temperance League to decide to ask the Council to reduce the number to not over eight taverns and two shop licenses. This request is reasonable. Many people thought a total of five licenses would be ample.

Some Objections Answered.

The lawyers acting on behalf of the liquor interests who addressed the Council Monday evening, made as strong a case as they well could for the cause they represented. All the arguments they used, however, are very, very old. Practically every one of them were advanced and answered again and again during the recent campaign in this city. Hundreds of our ratepayers could answer every one of them without difficulty. They are the same arguments that were advanced when the question of license reduction was under consideration in the city of Toronto, and yet the citizens of Toronto, by a substantial majority, voted to decrease the licenses of that city by practically 33 1-3 per cent. Similar arguments were advanced this year during the campaign in St. Catharines, Brockville, and other points when the question of license reduction was considered by the people, but the ratepayers of these cities in each case voted for a substantial reduction. The citizens of Peterborough would do the same did they have the opportunity.

In case, however, that there may be a few who may be misled by some of these arguments, let us examine them.

1st.—It was claimed that such a reduction in the number of tavern licenses as is proposed would not leave sufficient hotel accommodation. The City of Toronto has a population of over 300,000, and has 110 tavern licenses. This is equal to one license to every 2,727 people. The city of London, Ont., has 26 tavern licenses and a population of 50,000, or one license to each 1,950 persons. The city of Brantford has 16 tavern licenses, with a population of 21,000, or a license to every 1,332 people. The City Council of Brantford is now being asked to reduce the number of licenses to six, which would leave a license for every 3,500 people. In the city of Buffalo there is a hotel license for every 8,000 people, and in the city of Detroit one hotel license for each 11,890 people. Peterborough has nineteen tavern licenses with a population of 17,900, or one license for every 895 people. I submit, therefore, that when such cities as these find no trouble over the hotel question that we can rest assured that when our City Council reduces the number of tavern licenses in Peterborough to eight for a population of 17,000, leaving one license for every 2,125 people there will be no danger of the city suffering in consequence.

2nd.—It was claimed that as the law will permit of the issuing of more licenses in Peterborough than we have at present that this is proof that we have not too many licenses now. The same law permits the city council, if it sees fit, to reduce the number of licenses to two. The same line of argument, therefore, goes to show that we have too many licenses now that we have 23. The fact of the case is that the legislature allows the city council to set the number of licenses in its wisdom and the legislature does not attempt to dictate what the number shall be.

3rd.—It is claimed that reducing the number of licenses from 23 to 10 will not reduce the amount of drinking. This contention is not borne out by the history of license reduction in other cities. Statistics could easily be quoted did space permit showing that a material reduction in the quantity of liquor consumed takes place in every city following license reduction. License reduction will not prevent men who are determined to get a drink from obtaining one although it may often make it more inconvenient for them to get what they want. License reduction will, however, help a large number of victims of the liquor traffic who often do not desire to drink but who have not the strength of will to pass the open bar, especially when others invite them in. The fewer open bars we have the less temptation there is for men passing them to drink.

4th.—The argument was advanced that if the number of tavern licenses a reduced licenses will be out off from some hotels which now cater to farmers and this will inconvenience the farmers and hurt business in the city In view of the fact that farmers of the country are the strongest advocates of local option and license reduction we need not worry much on this account. The fact that the farmers around Peterborough provided some rigs to get out the temperance vote in the recent local option campaign, which had it been successful would have cut off the licenses from every hotel, shows that the farmers are not worrying about possible inability to secure hotel accommodation. Our farmers are intelligent enough to know that hotel accommodation is a matter of supply and demand and that such accommodation will be provided as long as there is a demand for it.

5th.—An effort was made to show that a large sum of money is invested in the liquor business in Peterborough and that this would be depreciated by a reduction in the number of licenses. The history of other cities shows that this is not the case. Even where all hotel licenses have been cut off real estate has invariably advanced in value including hotel property. This has been the case in Orillia, Midland and many other points.

A temperance movement is sweeping over this continent. Efforts to prevent it are proving unavailing everywhere. I therefore, trust that a majority of the members of our city council will see the wisdom of not tempting to prevent the reduction in licenses that is asked for. Our council may be assured that the granting of a reduction than that that is requested will not be supported by the advocates of temperance in Peterborough.

Annual Meeting Of Patrons Of Central Smith Dairy Co.

Another Satisfactory Year Has Been Closed—Smith Farmers Presented With Prizes for Good Farms and Dairy Herds—Addresses by Local People.

MR. V. EASTWOOD PRESIDED

The annual meeting of the patrons of the Central Smith cheese factory was held last night and proved not only a highly enjoyable social event but also marked the closing of another successful year for the Dairy Co., which controls the affairs of the factory. The receipts of the factory for the past year show an encouraging increase over the figures that marked the business for the preceding twelve months and Smith has likewise upheld its splendid record in producing cheese of a quality that is unsurpassed by any other factory in Canada. But the business end of the meeting is practically secondary to the amenities that it fosters. For years the fourth line hall has seen enthusiastic gatherings of the factory patrons and their friends but the tea and concert is of prime importance. In this respect last night's meeting was equal to any that have been held in the past. From five o'clock in the afternoon until half past eight the ladies served tea in a manner that left nothing to be desired. Their care and attention to details, the excellence and abundance of the food and the systematic method in which the arrangements were carried out put everyone in a happy mood and the success of the evening was assured upon a glance at the tables as they groaned beneath the plenteous spread. If the factory has a good reputation for the cheese it manufactures the ladies of Smith have equally established themselves from the standpoint of cuisine. In the opinion of all who enjoyed their hospitality they deserved a hearty vote of thanks that was extended to them upon the tea they prepared. General expressions of pleasure were heard in regard to the success of the evening and the patrons begin the new year with a record that will require extra efforts to surpass.

The entertainment which naturally followed the supper was most enjoyable. Mr. Vincent Eastwood who according to his address in opening the programme, retains in his memory fond recollections of his boyhood days in Smith and his first hours spent at the little school house just east of the Temperance Hall fulfilled the duties of chairman in a most satisfactory manner. He deemed it an honour to have been invited to preside, particularly as he was acquainted with all the people of that countryside and personally knew the history of the progress of dairying in the township.

Miss Greta LeBar established herself as a favourite with Smith people in her recitations, which were heartily encored. Miss Mildred Archer a very little tot, whose home is in Smith, proved that she possesses histrionic ability by several recitations that pleased the house. Among the other entertainers were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Telford, Mr. Ernest Telford, of Bridgenorth, and Mr. A. H. Campbell, the capable and genial maker at the cheese factory. They were heard in quartettes, trios and solos and it is only fair to say that the presence of the Bridgenorth people materially enhanced the musical tinge of the evening. A number that was much enjoyed was a duet by Mrs. Clayton Telford and Mr. E. Telford. A flag drill and a quartette by four ladies were the other numbers on the programme. Miss Gertrude Archer was also heard in a recitation.

Factory Statement.

Mr. J. A. McGregor, President of the Central Smith Dairy Co., presented the annual report of the factory as follows:

Mr. H. B. Cowan, editor of Farm and Dairy in a fairly brief address gave the farmers and their sons who aspire to city life an insight into the hardships that are encountered by city dwellers. It is a case of the survival of the fittest and the struggle for position and success that comes only to a few is one of the city's tragedies Mr. Cowan remarked that the young farmers starting out seldom think of this fact and are lured by some particular person's spectacular achievements. His address was a counsel to the farming people to look for more opportunities on the farm, to take advage of them and not to be drawn into the vortex of aspiring youths who are drawn into the mill of life where they are worn down by the daily grind some never to appear again, while but a very small percentage wrest from life the victory they had aimed at.

Ald. Gillespie.

Ald. Gillespie said that this was the 12th annual meeting at which he had been present. During the past year the quality of Canadian cheese was the best in the history of the trade, as there had been fewer complaints and greater satisfaction had been expressed by the exporters. The improvement in quality noticed during the past five years was largely due to the care taken by patrons in the handling of the milk and by further attention in this regard better results could be achieved and the Canadian article raised to a higher standard. Peterborough cheese during the past year had retained its high position, although Prince Edward county is said to have had more good factories than Peterborough. This, Mr. Gillespie hoped, would be remedied during the coming season. He touched upon other important points in his remarks but lack of space will not permit further reference.

Farmers' Clubs.

Reeve Graham called upon for a few remarks, stated his pleasure in being present and spoke regarding the Farmers' Club that had been formed in Smith. An important meeting of the club will be held on Monday night next when several visiting speakers will be present. A large attendance of farmers is expected and their co-operation is required to make the club the success it deserves.

Presentations.

The evening was brought to a close by the presentation of two handsome prizes to two of Smith's farmers, Mr. Gordon Mann, of Bridgenorth, received a silver cup and sum of money as first prize in the Dairy Herd's prize competition conducted under the auspices of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association. Mr. Mann won the prize for this district comprising four counties. The presentation was made by Ald. Gillespie who explained the Association's efforts to increase the quality of dairy herds. Mr. Mann's showing was a splendid one and to the association's congratulations to the winner Ald. Gillespie added his own. Mr. Mann made an appropriate reply.

Mr. J. K. Moore and son Charles, of the 4th line, won the second of the special prizes for Peterborough county in the Prize Farms Competition conducted by Farm and Dairy. Points are offered for every department of farm life, a certain number of points for each. Mr. Moore & Son made a good showing in comparison with the other entries throughout Ontario. The prize is a handsome silver cup or silver tea service. Mr. Charles Moore made a neat reply to Mr. Cowan who presented the prizes. A vote of thanks was extended to the chairman and those who assisted in the success of the affair. It was moved by Rev. Mr. Bonner and Reeve Graham.

TRY THE MONEY-BACK CURE FOR INDIGESTION

Nine times in ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.

It is the stomach that supplies nourishing blood to the muscles, the nerves, and skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritious matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick headache, belching of gas, sour stomach disturbance, you need Mi-o-na, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. Wm. Madill sells it for 50c a large box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion.

THE CHRISTMAS GIFTS OF A Great Life Insurance Company

The policy-holders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company will read the "Christmas Announcement" just issued by that famous organization with a lively feeling of self-congratulation; and even those who have no personal connection with the Company will examine the announcement with deep interest and appreciation of the spirit in which it is made.

It is undoubtedly the temper of the times to condemn more and more the callous methods of powerful corporations which secure inordinate wealth for themselves with no thought of benefitting the thousands to whose co-operation their success is largely due; and the public is quick, on the other hand, to commend a policy quite the opposite.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, during all the period covered by its remarkably successful conduct of Life Insurance as a purely business proposition, has created and consistently maintained a bond of human sympathy between itself and the great multitude of people who are both contributors to the Company's prosperity and dependent upon it for their own relief in time of need. This Company has voluntarily paid to its policyholders, within a period of seventeen years, twenty-five millions of dollars MORE THAN THEIR POLICIES ENTITLED THEM TO—twenty-five millions in excess of the Company's promises or the policy-holders' expectations.

The voluntary distribution of cash benefits that make up (with the exception of four millions added to Reserve Liability) this stupendous total has taken place at pretty frequent intervals. Whenever a period of decreased mortality, or of lessened expense in proportion to volume of business, or of excess interest earnings, has created a fund from which substantial bonuses could be paid, it has been applied to that purpose. A fresh announcement of bonuses payable by the Metropolitan Life is now taken more or less as a matter of course. It is not spasmodic generosity but a consistent policy of the Company to share with its policy-holders all earnings in excess of the estimated PROBABILITIES upon which their policies are based.

This year's Christmas Announcement deals with Industrial policies. It is interesting to observe the considerate manner in which its benefits are distributed. An aged person who has carred Industrial insurance for many years is the one most likely to find the premium payments a burden. Hence all policy-holders who pass the age of 75 in the year 1910 receive a bonus sufficient to pay their further premiums for a full year; policies of 30 years' duration are awarded sums covering six months' premiums; and so on down to the policies issued between 1896 and 1905, which are awarded bonuses covering five weeks' premiums.

Perhaps the most notable award in this present distribution is the payment of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars on death claims that had already been settled in full between January 1, 1907, and July 1, 1909. One can imagine the conditions that may have made these unexpected sums a godsend to those who received them.

During 1910, each death claim payment on an Industrial policy will cover not only the face of the claim (that is, all that the beneficiary is entitled to by the terms of the policy), but there will be paid an ADDITIONAL sum varying from 5 per cent, to 30 per cent. of the claim, according to the length of time the policy has been in force.

Including this last apportionment of bonuses on death claims, the Company estimates its total voluntary payments from the fund now available at something over five and a quarter millions of dollars.

'It is a fact that many of the old policies which may mature within the year by death will be so much increased and at the same time have their premiums so much reduced that the cost of insurance by the old Industrial policies will be actually less than the cost of regular old line participating insurance according to the published rates of the latter. This is a remarkable commentary upon the complaints that are so usual as to the cost of industrial workingmen's insurance.

When one realizes what constant effort and self-sacrificing economy are involved in the eternal "saving up" for the next insurance payment among millions of moderately insured persons, and what loads are removed in many cases even by the crediting of small sums to lessen future payments, it is easy to understand the strong hold that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has secured, by its more than liberal methods, upon the confidence and gratitude of hundreds of thousands of human beings to whom it is in very truth "A light that never fails."

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

TEAMS HAVE THEIR BEST LINE-UPS ON TO-NIGHT

In Spite of the Mild Weather of Yesterday a Good Sheet of Ice is Promised for To-night's City League Games at Brock Street Rink---The Long Looked for West End-Strathcona Clash.

A good sheet of ice is promised for to-night's City League games at Brock Street rink, although the January thaw that set in yesterday morning, made things look rather bad. It tightened up enough last night, however, to allow the rink to be flooded this morning, and as the skaters are being kept off the arena to-day there will be a splendid surface for the City League teams.

The big item on to-night's bill-of-fare is the clash between the West Ends and Strathconas, which will be the second game of the double-header. With both teams having their strongest line-up on there is every indication of the classiest exhibition of the season with the West Ends installed as favourites, by reason of their snappy showing so far this season. Neither team has been defeated so far, winning from each of the other two League teams by comfortable margins, and as neither has been extended to the utmost it is a little difficult to get a line on the two. However, a large number of the fans say that the West Ends have it on the Commissioners in more than one particular.

The teams will line up as follows:

West Ends.

Goal—Halpin.
Point—Munro.
Cover—Seymour.
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Dobson.
Right wing—Short.

Strathconas.

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Denison.
Cover—Dusty.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Burritt.

The first game will be between Keene and T. A. S., and although there is not the same interest in the result of this contest it will be a battle all the way, and at this distance the issue is decidedly in doubt. Both teams will be stronger than last week and the contest will be well worth seeing.

EDMONTON TEAM FADED IN LAST HALF AND WERE BEATEN OUT BY 8 TO 4

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—The Edmonton challengers for the Stanley Cup met with a reverse in the first game of the series here to-night, the score being doubled on them by Ottawa, the final result being 8 to 4 for the holders. The game was easily the best seen here this season, the Westerners showing surprisingly good form for the first half, but the heavy state of the ice told on them in the last period of play their speed and puck carrying abilities being retarded to a great extent. The game was witnessed by the largest crowd to date patronising hockey in Ottawa, the reputation of Edmonton and the fear that they would defeat Ottawa bringing out a bumper house.

The Westerners were by far the heaviest team, looming up against the light Ottawa line. Rain fell during the afternoon, and as a result the ice was in anything but good condition for a Stanley Cup match. The first half was the fastest, the score being tied no fewer than four times. Ottawa scored the first in five minutes, the goals then falling alternately until half-time, when Ottawa led by 5 to 4. Play was strenuous at times, particularly so in the second half, as the ice grew heavier and made the puck and stick handling difficult. Ottawas were by far the bigest sufferers from penalties, serving 23 minutes with the timers to Edmonton's 11. The second half was all Ottawas, they piling in three in this period while the challengers tallied nil.

The challengers are in no wise down hearted at the result of to-night's struggle, promising with keener ice on Thursday night to put up a much better argument. They are an extremely fast and husky bunch of men, and their team play is of a high order. Time and again they broke through the Ottawa defence to-night. Had it not been for the stellar work of Lesueur the result would have been vastly different. Stuart, Roberts, Ridpath and Lake were the pick of the Ottawa team, the work of Lake especially on the defence and attack also was brilliant. Roberts of the second team was stacked up against tht redoubtable Hay Miller and made a very good showing. Jack Winchester in goal, Hugh Ross at cover, Field at point, and Boulton on the line, were Edmonton's best, although Whitcroft and Deeton in centre ice worked off many fine combination rushts. There was a crowd of about 4,500 people in attendance. The coft ice was fatal to Edmonton's chances, the home team being in its element on the slushy surface. Betting was brisk, the Westerntrs dropping about $1,000 on the result. None of the men were hurt, and Edmonton will enter the second game on Thursday confident of overcomig the Ottawa lead of four goals.

Bonspiel Games Drawn For To-night At Curling Rink

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why?

To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood. Then these impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly?

It is these impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes backaches, headaches, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. They poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble, and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice Doiron, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for the pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good at all. I sent to the druggist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In ordering specify "Doan's."

CURLERS WON

Peterborough Defeated Campbellford in Ontario Tankard Competition.

The Peterborough curlers won their first game in District No. 2 of the Ontario Tankard Competition yesterday being drawn against Campbellford, whom they easily defeated. The Peterborough rinks were as follows:

R. Carton	Dr. Wightman,
S. T. Meid	T. F. Matthews
R. M. Waddell	D. Davidson
Geo. Giroux, sk.	J. H. Connal, sk.

The ice was very slow on account of the soft weather and grew so bad that it was impossible to finish out the competition the second round games being postponed. Fenelon Falls beat Port Hope and Cannington lost to Bobcaygeon. Peterborough are drawn against the Caygeonites in the second round.

Peterborough won the Tankard games by the same score in each case. Skip Giroux's rink beat Skip Smith by 28 to 8, and Skip Connal won from Skip Lowry by the same margin.

THE QUAKERS AND C.G.E. PLAYED TO DEAD-LOCK

The Quakers and Canadian General Electric Company team had a lively battle in the Mercantile League Monday at the Brock St. rink, the contest ending up after a hard fought and rough game in a 2-2 tie. Neither side had much on the other and the hockey was for the most part of the one-man variety, while both of the teams slashed and tripped and used their bodies on every opportunity. The Quakers were the first to score. Pratt put them in the lead three minutes after the opening. Twenty minutes afterwards, Elliott evened up for the Electricians by slamming one after Clancy had shot against Callaghan's pads, following a pretty rush from centre ice. The teams battled for fifteen minutes in the second half before Elliott scored again for the C. G. E., putting his team in the lead. The Quakers evened up four minutes before time was called, Pratt scoring and the game ended with the teams on an even footing.

Toronto Globe: Another of the autumn brides who received for the first time yesterday was Mrs. Ernest A. Greene, who was formerly Miss Mollie Meldrum, of Peterborough. The numbers of cut flowers made her house, one of the old residences in Yorkville avenue, look particularly attractive. The crimson shaded lights and red roses in the hall presented an inviting picture, while the drawing room with pink roses and pink shaded lights was equally pretty. The tea-table arrangement was artistic, a huge cut glass bowl of roses being placed on a mirror, which was encircled with a soft puffing of pink and white chiffon. Mrs. Greene wore her wedding gown of rich white satin with duchess and rose point lace and pearl trimmings, her mother, Mrs. Meldrum, of Peterborough, wearing a becoming gown of black crepe de chine, and Mrs. Louis B. Stewart in an amethcyst broadcloth gown, receiving with her. Mrs. George Boulter also assisted in the drawing room, while in the tea room Mrs. Bernard Saunders poured coffee, and Miss Marguerite Boulter, Miss Irene Acheson, Miss Marjorie Brodie and Miss Lillian Kidney made most attentive assistants.

Zealous Efforts Recognized By Members Of Congregation

VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The annual meeting of the congregation of the Murray St Baptist church was held last night with a large attendance of members. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb presided and after the customary exercises the reports of the various committees were received. Statements were presented from fifteen different departments giving ample proof that the year just passed was one of the most successful in the history of the church Nearly $12,000 was raised for all purposes. Rev. Mr. Webb presented his pastoral letter, referring to the past year. He was pleased with the success of the past year and congratulated the members of the various departments upon the zeal and energy they had displayed and the faithful attention to their duties. A resolution was passed on motion of Mr T. F. Matthews and Mr. V. Eastwood thanking Rev. Mr. Webb for his energy and splendid executive ability as shown in regard to the new church building fund. His efforts in this behalf are particularly appreciated and the motion included a tribute to the pastor's enthusiasm and earnest work in the promotion of the general welfare of the church. Rev. Mr. Webb made a suitable reply

Another pleasant incident of the evening was the recognition of the many years' service of Dr Scott as manager of the Poor Fund. The trustees and deacons presented him with an address which was read by Mr. T. F. Matthews. Mr. Porter White presented Dr Scott with a travelling bag. He accepted the gift with a few remarks of appreciation of the kindness that prompted the remembrance.

The gift of the church to different missions has always been a special feature of the work of the church and the past year has been no exception. There are few Baptist churches that contribute as much per member for missionary purposes. The election of officers for 1910 will be held to-night, when there will be further discussion of the building enterprise which will go forward in the spring.

PRESENTATION WAS MADE TO REV. FATHER KELLY SUNDAY

SERVICES APPRECIATED

The congregation of Mount Carmel church, Havelock, at the service on Sunday last, took advantage of the opportunity to say farewell to their popular young priest, Rev. Father P. J. Kelly, who is leaving the parish and at the same time to show their appreciation of his services to them during his pastorate. Rev. Father Kelly was presented with a purse containing $50 in gold, and an appreciative address. The address was read by Mr. T. Bennet, while the presentation was made by Mr. F. Voyer. The address was as follows:

'Rev and Dear Father,—We, the congregation of the Mother of Mount Carmel church, having learned with regret that you are about to depart from amongst us, we feel that we cannot allow you to do so, without expressing our feeling of high appreciation for the work you have done in the past three years as pastor of our church.

You will be greatly missed by the congregation, where you were always ready with a helping hand and an encouragin gword, and also by the children of our Sunday school, where your devotion and zeal have been so cheerfully given.

In proof of our appreciation and gratitude for the great, good work, you have done for us, we wish you to accept this slight token of our regard. We further congratulate you upon your promotion and with it we express the wish and prayer that your future days may be many and cloudless.

Signed on behalf of the congregation. F. Voyer, R. Brennan, T. Bennet, P. McCann and S. O'Hara.

In the evening a farewell supper was held, at which a representative of each family in the parish was present.

HAS WALKED TWICE CIRCUIT OF EARTH

Conduit Patrolman Leeds in 18 Year Has Covered 54,000 Miles.

Atlantic City, Jan. 19.—Charged with the care of the long lines of big pipes which carry water from the mainland pumping station at Absecon to this place, Alonzo Leeds, conduit patrolman, has walked a distance equal to twice the circuit of the earth during the fifteen years of his service. Leeds makes the twenty mile circuit to and from Absecon once each day, with only a few holidays. Allowing 300 trips a year, the water man walks 3,600 miles each year, a total of 54,000 miles during his term to date.

Close watch on the pipes is made necessary by the fact that they are laid practically on top of the meadows, where both rust and accidents are likely to cause leaks. In his long distance walks Leeds carries enough tools to mend any minor leaks, and his watchfulness often has prevented serious damage to the exposed pipes.

THE LATE MR. CARNEGIE.

The intelligence of the death of Mr. John Carnegie will cause very widespread regret; for it is given to few citizens of any community to exercise a continuous and important influence upon every interest, of the community for the space of half a century so effectively as did Mr. Carnegie. He was a public spirited citizen, whose excellent abilities were devoted to the promotion of the public welfare in the arena of industrial, municipal and journalistic activity. He had a good knowledge of municipal affairs and his services, outside of an initial representative capacity, were in frequent demand. As a politician, while he was intensely conservative in his opinions, he must be credited with having held his convictions as honestly and uncomprisingly. As a journalist he was equally fixed and honest in his convictions and under his management the Review stood for fair and honourable, if strenuous advocacy of its opinions and policy. He was a patriot in the best sense, lending all his powers and his influence to the upbuilding of the community of which he was a citizen. He was an ardent friend of the Trent Canal, and a well-reasoned and complete defence of the canal forms one of the most complete and valued contributions to the literature of this important work. His work in connection with the promotion of agricultural interests will long be remembered, as well as his varied services in the several capacities in which he acted as a progressive and public spirited citizen.

OUR NATIONAL RESOURCES.

One of the most important features of what is to be regarded as the incidental work of the session, is the first annual meeting of the Conservation Commission at Ottawa. The commission is an independent body, national in its composition and its functions are the great work of investigation and advising upon the conservation of our national resources. It will collect and tabulate information, make it available for use and furnish a basis for legislative and administrative action. It will not by the province of the Commission to interfere with other workers in the same field but to enlist general cooperation of the provinces. The latter are given preponderating representation. In a word, the commission will be non-political and national. This is emphasized by Hon. Clifford Sifton who in his admirable inaugural address declared that in accepting the position of chairman he had determined to withdraw from all participation in party political affairs. The selection of Mr. Sifton as chairman is a happy augury for the The man who practically discovered The man who practically discovered the Canadian West; the man who made its riches and resources known to the world; the man who practically settled the Canadian west or at least made broad, and paved the way to this end may be counted upon to do a work of similar importance in connection with the conservation enterprise of which he is the head and leading spirit.

The first work of the commission according to Mr. Sifton's idea is to make a complete inventory, of our national resources, in order to make information available for public use and to permit of the adoption of an intelligent and comprehensive policy of conservation. This is a necessary preliminary to national development on sound principles. We must know the most of what we have in order to most intelligently deal with it. In regard to our minerals, though great progress has been made, there is much to be learned of their extent and a very large field for improvement in methods to avoid waste and conserve their greatest value. Our fisheries, of the utmost importance, need the adoption of a policy which will at the same time, lead to the conservation and renewal of the supply. In the matter of the most vital subject of conservation, the public health, there is reason for giving the same or greater attention to improving the health of human beings as is now given to that of improving the health of animals. The recent discussion in Parliament on Mr. Perley's resolution in regard to tuberculosis met with Mr. Sifton's sympathetic attention. It is suggested that a sub-committee of the commission could do most useful work in developing a national plan for dealing with the evil. Cognate to this is the question of the pollution of rivers and streams, now receiving only perfunctory attention. There is need of systematic legislation by the provinces and the Dominion based upon careful investigation, with due regard to, and strict respect for, the rights and privileges of all parties concerned.

The national water supply for domestic use, power production and other purposes, more than any other resource, lends itself to conservation and improvement by proper treatment. The proper treatment involves methods of cultivation tending to prevent rapid run off. Preserving and supplying forest growth and forest cover, the best possible reservoir system, and the construction of catchment basins, such as we have on the head waters of the Trent Valley watershed. With proper care our flowing waters, our greatest undeveloped resource, need never be exhausted but, on the contrary, can be enormously increased and at comparatively small expense if prompt action is taken. Our water resources should be dealt with in the public interest to secure to the public what is in danger of becoming an oppressive monopoly. There is need of a fundamental law, governing the development of all water power, retaining public control of water and asserting government right to a share of the profits. Mr. Sifton estimates that the water powers of Canada are capable of a possible development of 17 million horse power. This estimate is subject to revision as exploration and settlement extend. About 512,000 horse power are now developed. The possible horse power if developed would equal that produced by the consumption of 367 million tons of coal per year. How important our water powers are is shown by the fact that even in their embryonic development the power created is almost equal to the amount of coal used at present.

In the important matter of forestry considerable progress is noted, but there is room for great improvement, in the form of a concentration of effort, knowledge and experience. The immense waste by forest fires needs vigorous combatting because there is not only waste of the standing and growing timber, but the fertility of soil, the regularity and volume of stream-flow with all that implies in the interests of power production, navigation and the climatic conditions affected. Mr. Sifton insists upon the extension of the present area of forest reserves. The Dominion government is preparing legislation for the creation of a forest reserve, embracing all the forest land on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. Another great forest reserve that can be created with advantage is that including all the provincial government land south of the Height of Land and extending from Sudbury to Port Arthur. This territory, apart from its minerals, is fit for little beyond growing timber. It is pointed out that here the Government of Ontario has the greatest opportunity for practical forestry of any nation in the world.

The conservation of the fertility of the soil in the interests of agriculture is urgently needed to prevent the destruction of soil fertility such as has made barren wastes of many portions of the New England States. The commission will give hearty cooperation to all agencies having in view the more scientific treatment of our soils with a view of retaining and increasing their fertility.

In conclusion of his splendid address, Mr. Sifton pointed out that Canada was entering on a period of great development. We shall see a great influx of capital, especially from the United States. "It will come in to acquire our sources of wealth; it will acquire in order to monopolize." It is our duty to anticipate this latter condition by so providing by legislation that no matter who acquires the ownership, the people will not be deprived of their fair share of the wealth our resources may yield in the future.

It needs no suggestion to demonstrate the immense importance of the work of our national Conservation Commission, which to have the largest effectiveness must secure popular as well as governmental cooperation and sympathy to the very largest degree, "What we have we'll hold," should be our national motto, not in the conservation sense alone, nor in any narrow, dog-in-the-manger way, but in such a way, that while making them the medium of commercial exchange with other countries we shall secure to Canadians the greatest value in the way of exploitation, in the employment of labour in their manufacture to the ultimate stage. We may export pulp wood, but not in the form of pulp wood—we must not export Canadian labour in the form of raw pulp, raw nickel or other products that can be converted into merchantable value by the employment of Canadian labour and Canadian industrial operations. This is a logical condition and corollary of conservation of our national resources.

A BIT OF ADVICE

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. The kidneys are calling for help. Slight symptoms of kidney troubles are but forerunners of more serious complaints. They should be given attention before it is too late.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble. They are recommended by thousands. Can Peterborough residents desire more convincing proof than the statement of a Peterborough citizen. Mrs. W. Huycke, of 311 Louis St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "Mr. Huycke frequently suffered with backache. At times the pains in the small of the back would become so severe that he was unable to straighten himself up without much suffering. He could not stoop or lift anything of consequence and his general health had been run down for some time. He had tried a number of different remedies but didn't find relief until on advice of a friend, he procured Booth's Kidney Pills at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy and commenced treatment. He soon found relief. The pains left his back and he strengthened. He has had no return of the trouble since and speaks very highly of Booth's Kidney Pills."

Sold by dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co. L'td., Fort Erie, Ont. Sole Canadian Agents.

Had Given Up All Hope of Living.

Heart Trouble Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Andrew Savoy, Grattan's, N.B., writes:—"In the year 1905, I was taken sick and did not think I could live any length of time. My trouble was with my heart and people told me that nothing could be done for a case like mine. I consulted the very best doctors, but they could do me no good. For seven weeks I could hardly cross the floor. I had no pain, but was so weak nobody in the world can believe how I felt. I had given up all hopes of living and had given my little girl to my sister-in-law.

"One day a friend came to see me, and calling me by name, said, 'Lizzie, if I were you I would try a dose of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are good for heart trouble.' My husband got me a box, but for two days I was not feeling any better, but on the fourth day my husband said, 'I believe those pills are doing you good.' I was able to say, 'Yes, I feel a good deal better this morning.' He said, 'Well, I will get you another box right away.' I took two boxes and three doses out of the third one, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then.

"I will never be without them in my home for God knows if it had not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE COUNTRY SIDE

How Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Samuel Thompson's Dropsy.

Her's Was a Terrible Case and the Doctors were Powerless to Check it, but the Great Kidney Remedy Cured it.

Holt, Ont., Jan. 19.— (Special) — All the country side about here is talking of the wonderful cure of Mrs. Samuel Thompson of this place. She was taken sick with Jaundice, and though the doctor was called in she grew steadily worse. Her stomach was so bad she could not keep anything on it. Dropsy set in and she bloated to a terrible size. The doctor came three times to tap her, but her husband would not allow him to do it, saying that if she could not get better they might let her die in peace. Finally she dropped the doctors and tried other medicines, but they did her no good. Her leg burst and the water streamed from it. Then someone told her about Dodd's Kidney Pills and so she asked her husband to get her a box.

After taking them a while she took a bad turn. Something would come up in her throat and she would vomit. The water would just fly from her mouth. But from that time she commenced to get better, and to-day she is a well woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Dropsy by putting the Kidneys in condition to take the surplus water out of the blood. They always cure it.

MR. O. MILBURN IS LEAVING FOR WEST

Must Dispose of Jewellery Stock by February 10th—Good Chance for Everybody.

Mr. Oliver Milburn, jeweller, is leaving Peterborough in about a month for the West, where he will enter business, and in the meantime, to clear the stock he has now on hand it will be offered at prices that are practically nominal. Mr. Milburn has a splendid stock, which he will endeavour to dispose of by Feb. 10th, as he wishes to secure a new stock for his western enterprise. There is no need of using the well-worn phrases connected with jewellery sales, as the circumstances connected with this are sufficient to guarantee bargains. Only a few weeks intervene until Feb. 10, and buyers should make the most of this opportunity. Mr. S. C. Warne has purhased the lease and fixtures of Mr. Milburn's store, and will occupy it in the near future.

WHITCROFT WAS STAR

Fred Whitcroft seems to have been the whole works as far as Edmonton was concerned in Tuesday night's Stanley Cup game according to the Ottawa papers, who give the Peterborough boy unlimited praise for his clever work. He was at it all the time, being the only man on the Edmonton team to show aggressiveness in the second half. He took all kinds of chances and worked unceasingly when the rest of his team were all in.

The Ottawa papers state that Whitcroft has received a good offer to play with Renfrew and may accept.

Walter Miller the other Peterborough boy may have a chance to win his spurs to-night as a report from Ottawa says that he may be substituted for Hay Miller, who failed to show class or condition on Tuesday night.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but got no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Emma Wheaton, Vienna, W. Va.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

FOUR BILLS INTRODUCED

Opponents of Race Track Reform Pile Up Testimony In Favor of Present System — Hon. Messrs. Pugsley, Lemieux and Oliver Bring In Important Government Bills— To Change Immigration Act.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—Four Government bills were introduced in the House yesterday. Mr. Oliver's immigration bill, Mr. Pugsley's bill relating to the protection of navigable waters, and two bills by Mr. Lemieux, having for their object control of cable rates by the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Mr. Oliver explained that the immigration act of 1906 required to be amended because of the changed conditions of immigration since that year. The principle of the act is not altered; it is contended simply in its method of operation by reason of the necessity of adopting active exclusive conditions at the international boundary. The act of 1906 has European immigrants more particularly in view.

It is provided in the bill that a board of inquiry will deal with immigrants and will have the responsibility regarding all undesirables. It is also provided that, until the immigrant has been passed by the officers of the Government, he will not be able to avail himself of the protection of the courts of the country.

Under the present act no bridges, wharves or piers are allowed to be built on navigable waters which would be a hindrance to navigation unless authority is given by the governor-in-council, but doubt has sometimes arisen as to what constitutes a hindrance to navigation. By Mr. Pugsley's bill, any bridge, boom, dam, wharf, pier or structure of any kind which is to be erected on navigable waters must be approved.

Mr. Lemieux's two bills include the transatlantic wireless companies, and provides that within four months cable companies must file their tariffs with the Railway Board.

David Henderson asked the Premier when the report as to the regulations governing fishing in international waters would be made public. Sir Wilfrid replied that as it had been agreed that they are to proclaim simultaneously in Washington and Ottawa, he could not give a definite answer.

Mr. Foster drew attention to a proclamation regarding the United States tariff in which it was stated that Great Britain would have the benefit of the minimum tariff. Would this mean Canada also?

Sir Wilfrid said that such was his view, and he understood that the Minister of Finance took the same view. Mr. Foster remarked that he was of a similar opinion.

As far as can be established by testimony, the opponents of the Miller bill to prohibit racecourse betting have declared that thoroughbred blood is necessary in horse-breeding, that the standard can only be attained and maintained by racing, and that interference with the legal right to make wagers on the course would deteriorate or destroy racing.

Dr. McEachran of Montreal was the first witness at yesterday morning's sitting. He came unsolicited, and without interest in any club, but because of his concern for breeding. He never made a bet, but he added his testimony to that of the other witnesses that racing was necessary, and that without betting it would fall into disuse.

To Mr. Raney, he said that eliminating the bookmaker had not improved either the quality or the quantity of the attendance in New York.

Another master of hounds, A. E. Ogilvie of the Montreal Hunt, said that between the close of the old Bel-Air Jockey Club and the opening of the new Blue Bonnets track there was an interregnum in breeding, and not a thoroughbred stallion in three counties, but it had revived since racing was re-established.

The Senate banking and commerce committee yesterday morning resumed consideration of the Government's insurance bill.

J. K. Macdonald, Toronto, suggested a change for the benefit of British companies in the clause calling for a gain and loss exhibit.

He objected to the clause forbidding a life company with impaired capital to amalgamate, to the clauses forbidding extra commissions or bonuses to agents for obtaining business and to the clause forbidding emoluments of directors without the authority of the shareholders.

To the ten-year salary agreement limitation clause an addition was asked to allow renewal commissions to be paid for ten years after policy issue.

To the investment clause an addition was asked to enable companies to invest in securities guaranteed by municipalities and in preferred stocks having paid dividends for three years and common for five years if guaranteed by another company.

To Disarm New York Police.

New York, Jan. 20.—Following the dismissal from the police department yesterday of a patrolman on a charge of clubbing a prisoner, it was announced that Mayor Gaynor is in favor of depriving policemen of clubs and revolvers. It is predicted that an order will soon be issued disarming the police at least of their clubs.

New C.P.R. Agent In Europe.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—A cable yesterday announces the appointment of George McL. Brown as European agent of the C.P.R., replacing the late Archer Baker.

The new agent is a son of Adam Brown of Hamilton, and has been traffic agent in London.

He was formerly executive officer of the company at Vancouver.

Kills His Wife.

Seaford, Del., Jan. 20.—Geo. Driggins, a young man living near here, arose early yesterday and started to his work on a neighboring farm, but returned shortly afterwards, and finding his wife still in bed, grabbed an axe and killed her.

A posse found a hole broken in the ice on a pond, and Driggins' cap was lying near, but hours of searching in the water failed to reveal the body.

Central Canada to Go Ahead.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Financial arrangements have been made which will assure the construction of the Central Railway of Canada without delay.

This line goes up the Ottawa River on the north side from Montreal to the Great Lakes, and it is said that Mackenzie and Mann will get running powers from Montreal to Hawkesbury over the projected railway.

Rebellion In Uruguay.

Montevideo, Jan. 20.—A rebellion has broken out in the provinces. The Government, however, expects to put it down promptly.

SUN AND ENOW.

Sometimes Help the Hair to Go.

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair-dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair dressing why not get the best, one that combines with it the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ, the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair, and in time baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel, and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp antiseptic and hairdressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by Jury & McDermid, druggists; also Payne's drug store. One Dollar bottles guaranteed.

Hotelman Is Fined.

Ayton, Jan. 20.—Before W. H. Ryan, M.P. for South Grey, Martin Bolger of Preston Township, pleaded guilty to keeping liquor for sale and was fined $40 and costs. It was his second offence. Preston is a local option township.

His wife, Ann Bolger, also pleaded guilty of obstructing officers in a search of the hotel and was fined $100 and costs. The raid was made on the 12th by Provincial Inspector Aycarst, and two officers. When they entered the bar, Mrs. Bolger seized a bottle of whisky and threw its contents on the floor.

Surprise For Mr. Creelman.

Guelph, Jan. 20.—Prof. G. C. Creelman of the Ontario Agricultural College was yesterday in receipt of many inquiries from friends and politicians throughout Ontario, anent the suggestion in yesterday morning's World that he should become leader of the Ontario Liberal opposition.

Mr. Creelman has no inclination toward political life, and he stated last night that the matter had never been broached to him before by anyone.

Lost In the Snow.

St. Thomas, Jan. 20.—James Caruth, a man 45 years of age, who lived near Dutton, has been missing from his home for some days. He was tracked two miles north in the direction of Cowal, and at this point marks showed that he had climbed out of a snowbank.

It is feared he may have perished.

Serious Charge Against Senator.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 20.—The State Senate proposes to sift to the bottom the published accusation by Senator Conger of Tompkins, against Senator Jotham P. Allds, while Republican leader of the Assembly, received money for aiding in the defeat of legislation before the House.

Fierce Storms In France.

A Bank Story Denied.

HIS $100 CLAIM IS NOW WORTH $100,000

Prospector Sorry He Made Sale—Company Reap the Benefit.

Cobalt, Jan. 19.—Many stories are heard locally regarding the enormous profits made by parties who for a small grub stake had properties staked for them in the Porcupine which have been sold for large amounts, but the hard luck end of it is usually kept in the back ground. Not so the case of a local public official who is uttering maledictions on the head of the Goddess of Luck who obtruded herself into his business affairs last July and inveighed him into selling his veteran claim of 160 acres, received from the government for his services in South Africa. The price paid was $100 and the down country firm which secured the land turned it over to a Colorado firm for $600. The claim it now develops is in the very heart of the mineral district and properties all around it have sold for very large sums, a bid of over $100,000 having been made for the land in question.

LOOK OUT FOR PNEUMONIA

Your system is in a run-down condition. You catch cold. You think it will soon pass off. It doesn't. You neglect taking any special care of yourself. Why not take every cold seriously and cure it promptly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

OBITUARY

(Quebec Chronicle.)

The death of Lieut.-Colonel Surgeon Campbell Mellis Douglas, M.D., V.C., at Wither Wells, Somesetshire, England, will remind a good many in this city, in Ontario and in the North-West, not to speak of his friends in other parts of the world, of a colleague who never shirked his share of duty, nor withheld from a comrade the praise that was due to him. The deceased was the son of the late Dr. George Douglas, of Quebec, and was born at Grosse Isle in 1841. Having studied at Laval and Edinburgh, he joined the 24th Regiment in 1862, as assistant surgeon, was made surgeon-major in 1876, and in 1882 retired on half pay. In the second Riel expedition, 1885, Dr. Douglas was in charge of the Field Hospital. The exceptional service for which Colonel Douglas was awarded the Victoria Cross was discharged in May, 1867, when he and four privates of the 24th risked their lives again and again in manning a boat and facing a dangerous reef and the murderous attack of fierce savages in the rescue of seventeen officers and men of the same corps. The latter had been sent to the island of Little Andaman by order of the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah to ascertain the fate of seven men of the crew of the ship 'Assam Valley,' who had landed there and were supposed to have been murdered by the natives. The conduct of Dr. Douglas on this occasion has been highly commended. He was also awarded the silver medal of the Royal Humane Society. According to 'Canadian Men and Women of the Time,' Dr. C. M. Douglas practised his profession for some years at Lakefield, Ont. There in 1894, his first wife died. She was a daughter of the late Colonel J. Burmester, R. E. He subsequently married a niece of Sir Edward Belcher, R.N., and has left three sons and a daughter. The late Colonel-Surgeon Douglas was the elder brother of Admiral Sir Archibald L. Douglas, G.C.V.O., Knight of the Legion of Honour, First Class Rising Sun (given by Japan in recognition of his services in organizing and instructing the Japanese navy), Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth, 1904-07.

It is not often that two sons of the same family achieve such distinction as the brothers Douglas, and there is probably not another colonial city in the British Empire whose young men have won Victoria Crosses and other rewards of merit to the same extent as have the sons of Quebec.

The late Dr. Douglas will be well remembered by the older inhabitants of Peterborough. After leaving Lakefield he lived for some years near Young's Point, opposite McDougall's Point. His son, Mr. George Douglas, now engaged in engineering work in Arizona, is the present owner of the property.

"Bronchitis"

is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather and may be recognized by a tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning. Cure the first symptoms of bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Bronchitis Cured.

Miss Martha Bourget, Little Pabos, Que., writes: "Last spring I was very poorly, had a bad cough, sick headache, could not sleep, and was tired all the time. I consulted two doctors, and both told me I had bronchitis, and advised me to give up smoking. I tried almost everything but none of the medicines gave me any relief. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I had scarcely taken the first bottle when I began to get better and when I had taken the fourth bottle I felt as well as ever, my cough had left me and I could sleep well."

"Dr. Wood's" is the original Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

AMBULANCE CLASS

Closing Meeting of the Ladies' Division Was Held Last Night.

The last regular class meeting of the Ladies' Division of St. John's Ambulance Class was held last night. One more evening will be given to the work, in the form of a general review, previous to the examinations, the date of which will be decided on shortly, by the General Secretary in Toronto. All who are to take the examinations should hand their names to Miss C. B. Morse, the Secretary-Treasurer, at once, that final arrangements may be made for the examinations. Those taking the examinations will be duly notified of the date for same, also the date of final review meeting. Plans for the Home Nursing class will be deferred until after the examinations for First Aid Class are completed. Send your name to the Secretary at once, as it is desired that the examinations shall be held as soon as possible.

LITERARY EVENING

Collegiate Philomathean Society Met on Monday.

The third meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute was held in the assembly hall of the Collegiate Institute last evening, and the numbers that were rendered were very pleasing.

Miss Maysie Armstrong read the minutes of the last meeting and the programme commenced. The items on the programme were all of a very high order as follows:

Piano Solo—Miss May Grady.

Impromptu speech on "sports" — Fred Dennison, (10 seconds duration).

Impromptu speech—Miss Park (said she had nothing to say, so she said it.)

Solo—Miss K. McCoy, accompanist Miss M. Edwards.

Impromptu speech—Mr. Douglas, "Electricity." This speech was well delivered under the circumstances.

Reading—Mr. Bruce Hamilton.

Piano Solo—Miss Gumpricht.

Mr. Hofferd acted as critic for the meeting and among the most important of his remarks were his congratulation to Mr. Primeau, President, for— putting it in his own words—"speaking what he thought."

The above numbers were all rendered effectively, the meeting was brought to a close in the usual manner, by singing the national anthem.

DEEP-SEATED COUGH
CURED IN 5 HOURS.
New Home-Made Syrup.
(Cut this out.)
From Boston Press.

Progress in medical compounds never ceases, and now it is stated by a prominent medical man that any deep-seated cough or cold on the lungs can be actively cured in five hours by the clock. Opium and morphine have been resorted to in the past, as relief measures. But now it is learned that the system must be treated to rid it of inflammation and congestion. A tonic laxative cough syrup does the work so quickly and thoroughly as to be almost magical. What heretofore has taken weeks to cure can be accomplished in hours. Get this formula filled, or mix it at home and always keep it on hand: One-half ounce fluid wild cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half hour for four hours. Then take one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times a day until the system is purified and toned up. Give children less according to age. One filling will usually cure a whole family, as the dose is small.

WILLED THAT DAGGER PIERCE HER HEART

Laura White Also Decreed Her Body Should Lie Ten Days—Afraid of Burial Alive.

Pittsburg, Jan. 19.—"Thrust a dagger through my heart three times to make sure I am dead. Let my body lie ten days, cremate it and then bury the ashes in Allegheny Cemetery," were the written instructions found with the body of Miss Laura White, sixty-five. She was a daughter of the late Rev. Robert White, a clergyman of this city, who has been dead many years. She lived alone in Lawrenceville, and her decomposed body, half eaten by rats, was found in her kitchen. There were five different kinds of locks on its door. Apparently she had died a week ago.

Police found bank books and a will disposing of $100,000 to local charitable institutions in a trunk in the poorly furnished house. She had a library of 3,000 books, and spent most of her time with them alone. Many of her neighbours had supposed her to be poor and her home had been called the "house of mystery."

Part of her will reads:

"Having been all my life 'subject to bondage' through fear of premature burial, I will that my body be kept till evident signs of decomposition declare themselves, 'at least a week'; that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it should be faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive thereafter the sum of $20."

Chief Howard's Report Of His Department For Past Year

One Hundred and Thirty-seven Alarms of Fire Received—The Damage Approximately $90,000—Half of Which Was Sustained Where There are no Hydrants—Questions Considered.

EAST CITY PROPOSITION

The first meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was held last night, with Ald. Morgan in the chair, and Ald. Metheral, Graham, Batten and Buller present, and Mayor Morrow. The principal business was the consideration of the report presented by Chief Howard, upon the past year, and also the list of requirements for the hall during the coming year. The committee showed an inclination to buy nothing that was not necessary to the hall, or that did not facilitate the workings of the horses and men. The meeting was even more harmonious than a Ladies' Aid confabulation, and Ald. Morgan's committee got away to a good start.

Chef Howard's report is as follows:

Peterborough, Jan. 1, 1910.

To His Worship the Mayor, and Aldermen of the Council of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—Following the usual custom I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of the Fire Department for the year 1909.

You will please find attached to this report a statement of fires showing the cause, time, how received, etc., which will give you an accurate account of the workings of the department for the year. You will also find attached a stock sheet giving an account of every dollar's worth of material on hand at the time of taking stock, January 1, 1910.

During the year the department responded to 137 alarms of fire. 66 of the above alarms were received from street boxes over the fire alarm telegraph system. 65 were received by telephone, and 6 were verbal alarms.

During the year the apparatus traveled 148 miles; we used 22,500 feet of hose, and 491 gallons of chemicals were required to extinguish small fires, 2,589 feet of ladders were used.

The total amount of damage by fire was $59,855, $19,502 damage to contents and damage to buildings was $40,353. You will observe that the fire loss for the year was considerably in excess of the previous year, but considering the number of fires the department had to combat, I consider the figures a creditable showing.

$31,600 of the above amount was caused by fires which occurred in parts of the city where fire hydrants were not available, and therefore can not be credited against this department.

I do not anticipate a repitition of such occurrences as the Waterworks Department have extended their mains in the outlying districts of the city, and during the year have installed 21 new hydrants.

It will be necessary to add to the equipment, a chemical fire engine, and also to increase the staff by six men. This will mean an inceased expenditure and I trust your committee will deal with these matters early in the year so that provision may be made in the estimates to cover the expense.

Another matter I wish to bring before you is the schedule of wages paid your firemen, When the present scale was struck, it was with the understanding that there should be increases made from time to time. We have been fortunate in securing the services of very capable and competent men, but I find it almost impossible to keep good men for any length of time owing to the small salaries paid. And it is decidedly bad policy to make changes in the personel of the staff. The high price of living, constant confinement, irregular hours, hard drill, and the hazardous nature of a fireman's life, make the position worthy of higher remuneration.

The matter of extending the fire alarm telegraph system will also have to be taken into consideration. Several more street boxes should be installed on George street, and some are required in the residential part of the West Ward. About $900 will be required for this extension.

The city is rapidly growing, and it will be necessary to build and equip a small fire station in Ashburnham. A building large enough to house a hose company with six men.

In conclusion I desire to express my sincere thanks to His Worship the Mayor, and the gentlemen of the council of 1909. And especially to Alderman William Buller, the chairman of my committee. Ald. Buller has been very painstaking and has spent a great deal of his time to assist in bringing your Fire Department to its present state of efficiency

We are also indebted to Mr. W. F. Doan, the local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, and his staff of operators.

We have received excellent service and have not had one complaint during the whole year; this is something we appreciate and value highly.

All of which is respectfully submitted. I have the honor to be, sirs,

Yours respectfully,
W. A. HOWARD,
Chief Fire Department.

LIST OF REQUIREMENTS.

The committee then took up the list of requirements suggested by the chief outside of the ordinary supplies for the fire hall.

Among the items granted are:

Improved door openers.
500 feet of fire hose.
Two chemical extinguishers.
Stationery and books.
Telephone in chief's house.
Half dozen lanterns.
Brass coupling rings.
Battery supplies.
Extra set of works for alarm box
Blow pot for line work.

OTHER BUSINESS.

Dr. Greer's bill for attendance on Deputy Chief Grange of $11 was ordered to be paid.

The matter of purchasing the ordinary supplies were dinary supplies for the fire hall were ordered to be purchased on the order of the chairman.

Ald. Duncan was present and asked that the arc lamp on Weir St. be changed to five incandescent lamps. He said that the five would give much better service.

The committee will look into that matter at once.

Ald. Duncan also asked about a hydrant on Gladstone avenue. This had been ordered but had not been put in.

Ald. Buller wanted incandescent lamps on Lansdowne avenue.

Discussion.

A discussion followed upon the recommendations made by the Chief.

Mayor Morrow felt that some provision should be made whereby the men could be allowed off on Sunday mornings or evenings to attend church. He mentioned this in regard to the clause in the report referring to the increase of the membership. Alderman Metheral said that it could not be easily done unless more men were engaged. Ald. Buller explained that they are allowed three hours for their meals and one day off every two weeks. No action was taken.

In regard to the proposal of establishing an East City hall, Ald. Metheral said "It will eventually have to come, as the city grows, but for the present it could be laid over for a time."

Ald. Morgan brought up the question of saving of money by the increased standard of the brigade. "It's the merchant on George street that's benefitting," the Chairman said. "If it could be shown that the small householder is receiving a proportionate share, you could put six more men in the hall to-morrow. The Mayor thought that the change from schedule B to A in insurance did apply equally to the property owners throughout the town. Ald. Graham said he had renewed his insurance and had noted no effect from the change in the key rate. Chief Howard said the schedule was in effect and any citizen who was not benefitting should let the proper authorities know about it. It was moved by Ald. Buller and Batten that the Clerk write to the Underwriters' Association in regard to the change in the key rate, as it affects the ordinary citizen who carries a property insurance.

In reference to an increase in salaries Ald. Buller remarked that some consideration should be given the firemen. The rate is now $500 for first year, $550 for the second year, and $575 for the third. Ald. Metheral closed the question by remarking that the committee had better keep to the rate drafted a year ago.

LETTERS UPON THE SUBJECT OF LICENSE REDUCTION

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Mr. O'Connell made a good speech on Monday night, but he is a paid advocate, I am not paid, and let me tell him that when he says licenses cannot be reduced, because money is invested in them, he maintains, what would stop all progress for all time. If his argument is good for one year it is good for all time. The truth is, however, that communities are founded on mutual sacrifice for general advantage, a sacrifice required, not wantonly it is true, or needlessly, but where necessary, always. That is the basis of civilization. Then again withholding a license is part of the contract, and is well understood by the licensee. The contract is for one year only. On no ground whatever therefore does Mr. O'Connell's argument hold. If it did we ought to restore all licenses, that have been cut off and be prepared to face the problem of a dram shop for every hundred people (as it used to be.) The argument, you see, sir, is absurd. Then as to accommodation for the public, we see what great centres do and we need not fear to follow their lead. Once more as to accommodation for farmers. Was Mr. O'Connell retained to speak for them? Who was? It is very kind of him to do so but let me tell you that he misrepresented the farmers, who are in the great majority in favour of the abolition of licenses altogether. Let no private interests stand in the way, either. The people are not blind.

One or two men are not to hold up the expressed opinion of the whole town. That idea of compensating license holders alone, of all the people who do business and lose, because some public utility has taken away their trade, is in itself an outrageous injustice. Abolition of the bars, it simply a step forward, and those who are directly or indirectly engaged in the liquor traffic should not be allowed, from selfish motives, to check the onward march of civilization.—Yours,

P. J.

MAJORITY OR MINORITY.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—Having lately seen several letters in the local press relating to a reduction in the number of hotel licenses, it appears to me that there is one point bearing on the question which should not be overlooked. At the time of voting on Local Option there were thret other questions submitted to the ratepayers. One of these related to borrowing $19,000 for an Isolation Hospital, which failed to get a majority vote, being 88 votes short. The Council, therefore, has no notion of spending that amount of money for that purpose, and why because a majority of 88 said "No." The other two related to "Election of Aldermen by Wards," and a "Franchise to the Light and Power Co." and for both these a majority of the electors voted "Yes," and the Council at once passed the by-laws. Now, the Council having submitted four questions to be voted upon at the same time, and having carried out the wishes of the electors as relating to three of them, surely in all fairness they will not now hesitate to grant the wish of a majority vote relating to the other. To my mind this discussion should not be so much either for or gainst a reduction in the number of licenses, but whether or not the wish of the majority of the ratepayers should be carried out by the Council in this the same as in all other matters. I think it should.

F. BROWNSCOMBE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—It seems to me that if the liquor licenses are reduced the citizens are practically aiding a few hotels to monopolize the liquor trade. I believe, personally, from observations of the police statistics of various towns and cities, that Peterborough has the most sober population of any of them. By a reduction of licenses it appears to me gambling will increase, more homes will be polluted with a disagreeable odour of death-dealing coffin-nails, and it is not at all improbable that the sale of obscene literature will be increased. Reform is all right when it is evolutionary in character, but when it becomes revolutionary something is radically wrong. Why do not reform associations try to stamp out the tobacco evil (for a change). Chemists and physicians both unite in pronouncing tobacco, especially cheap tobacco, one of the most deadly poisons known. One pound of tobacco contains, on the average, three hundred and fifty grains of nicotine; of which one-eighth of a grain will kill a dog in about ten minutes. Tobacco smokers have weak hearts, nervous diseases, bad eyesight, and lung trouble. What is the reason that ninety per cent. of the youth of our cities are addicted to the obnoxious habit of spitting? Simply because they smoke cigarettes. Temperance societies gather together statistics to show that more money is spent for liquor than for tobacco, but they forget to mention the fact that a five cent package of cigarettes does more injury to the individual than ten glasses of beer. Germany is a beer-drinking nation, yet it produces our greatest thinkers and leads the world in the industrial arts. Surely the moral reformers are not trying to stamp out one so-called evil by creating others more widespread in their effects.

(Signed). "BE SENSIBLE."

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—In the Review the other evening there appeared an article signed "Consistency." Will you allow me space for a few words in cooperation with the writer of the short but timely note of warning.

I shall not say anything in connection with the former part of the letter—that of the bars. I think enough has been said, and the sensible, quiet business portion of this city are willing to leave the matter in the care and to the judgment of those whom they have chosen by their votes to look after the business of the city. As to the writer's real meaning of classing the bars and the "Ministerial Association" together as "the two evils to be held in check," I know not, but I presume he means to infer that the latter body is inclined to interefere too readily with public affairs.

If I am right, then I agree with him that the "fair-minded men are opposed" to this continued dictation. Not because we do not think the members of this Association wise and worthy citizens, but because we fail to see how men who have spent their whole time in school or college in search of theological knowledge, can be able to wisely dictate to level-headed business men. Men who have been all their life battling with the business world; thus learning how to meet and overcome difficulties in a practical way. If we didn't think them competent men we should not put them at the head of affairs. Since we have done so, we should trust them to do their duty and do it rightly.

Now, sir, I believe that each class and part of a great whole should look after their own part, and see to strengthening the weak points in their own work, thereby striving toward perfection. What is the business of the Ministerial Association, or rather the preacher of the gospel. As the writer understands it, they are the representatives of Christ Jesus, followers of the greatest teacher that ever trod this earth, whom these gentlemen claim to follow as their exemplar, and Way-shower. Jesus' instruction to his followers was to preach the gospel, to do as he did, teach and exemplify the one law, the law of eternal justice, mercy and love.

I would like to ask our present apostles of Christ, if Christ Jesus were here to-day in the fleshy form, if He would spend His time in doing His Father's will, as he did before, or would He be spending his precious time in election campaigns, or influencing councils to pass human laws, to save His brethren. I do not find it anywhere recorded that he was seeking human laws to aid him in his work of redemption.

But we do find him rebuking very severely the Pharisees for caring so much for the outward or human, and neglecting the inner or higher law. I was very pleased to note in Rev. Mr. Pogue's letter, replying to "Sobriety" that the excitement of the election had died out, and he could see and admit, that there was a higher work and a better way, than human pledges, or Local Option laws. I am convinced that if Jesus, or even Peter, or Paul, were here to-day they would be so busy casting out these devils of drink and other habits, they would have no time for conducting election campaigns, or securing By-laws. The poor, blacklist man and millions of others in bondage to the evil one, are crying out for some one to cast out the devil that has taken them captive. They don't want to drunkards. If this kind of old-th preaching was being done even the present number of clergy we wo not need By-laws to cut off hot they would close for want of patr age.

We are proud of our noble body clergy, and are grateful for what t have done, but if they have not sufficient of the mind of Christ to pre the gospel as Jesus commanded, as Paul and others did, would it be well for them to get the be out of their eye and reach at least perfection of Paul who was conver after Jesus' decease.

This may meet with scorn, and se childish to some, but I feel kee the world is in great need of help. we are living in a progressive age, are expecting something better fr our Reverend Clergy than talki theory, or of a Heaven after de when the great Teacher said, pre that the kingdom is at hand."

Mankind, to-day is in need of so thing practical, and better from Ministerial Association than spend their time adopting by-laws that may or may not do good. The worl crying out like Peter, when he fo himself sinking, "Lord save m and they need the stretched-out h (power) of the Lord. They might like Mary, "they have taken a my Lord," etc.

In conclusion, I am convinced the need is not more laws, b closer communion with and ob ence to Christ's sermon on mount. "Ye are my friends if y whatsoever I command you," J 15-14. "I give you power to trea serpents and scorpions, and over the power of the enemy," Luke 1 Pardon me for taking so muc your valuable space.

Sincerely yours,

SPLENDID ESSAY WAS GIVEN BY MISS TANGNEY

Paper on "Opportunity" Read Before the Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. at Recent Meeting.

WELL RECEIVED

At the usual fortnightly meeting of the Ladies' Literary of St. Peter's T. A. S., the following interesting paper was read by Miss Eva Tangney:

Opportunity.

In selecting "Opportunity" for my subject this evening, I have endeavoured to choose something that would be beneficial, as well as intertating, to all those who so kindly favour us with their presence on these occasions. In order to bring this subject before your minds in as clear and simple a manner as possible, I have considered it advisable to divide it into two parts, namely, "Opportunity," in the higher or moral sense of the word, and "Opportunity" in its material sense.

"Opportunity," which means, near port, close to haven, is a word, which, like so many others that are excellent, we get from the Romans. It is a favourable time, or place for learning, or saying, or doing a thing.

Occasions of becoming and doing good are always with us, and wherever we be there is opportunity of turning to gold the dust of daily happenings. It is true that few can utter words of wisdom, but opportunity to speak kind words is offered to everyone, and after all are they not more helpful. Our home, our books, our city, our work, the people who love us and those who hate us, what is all this but opportunity? Whatever can help us to think and love, whatever can give us strength and patience, whatever can make us humble and serviceable, though it be a trifle light as air, is opportunity. Even the senses are opportunities, inviting us to look that we may see and know, to listen that we may hear and understand.

As life is of inestimable value, no occasion by which it may be improved can be small. There is a place and means for all, but we lack faith, hope, earnestness; we lack aim and purpose. We are voluble with excuses, we have not the leisure, we have not the means, but leisure to improve oneself is never wanting and they who seek it find the means. Let a person have but one aim, a purpose, and opportunities to attain that end shall start forth like buds at the kiss of spring. The important thing is to pursue it with perseverance. Success is but a command to attempt higher things, and failure is but an exhortation to make another attempt. It is so easy for us to persuade ourselves that were circumstances more favourable we would do better. Then, again, we sometimes imagine that we lack material things, but what we really need is more and diviner life.

What use is to be made of opportunity depends on the person to whom it is offered. They may adore or they may mock, they may love or they may scorn, they may get understanding or steep themselves in denser ignorance. "Nothing," says St. Bernard, 'can work me damage except myself. The harm I sustain I carry about with me, and never am a real sufferer, but by my own faults." The majority will not lay hold on opportunity unless it is thrust upon them and even then they are listless and unresolved, only the few rise above the crowd, who are ever alert to discover how they may improve themselves.

Perfection is, indeed, beyond our reach, but they who seriously strive to become perfect acquire excellencies and virtues. If they cannot do great things, there are ever present opportunities of doing small things well and great occasions come to those alone who make good use of the minor occurrences with which the lives of all are filled. Is there not always opportunity to love and cheer, to console, to enlighten and to deny oneself. Is opportunity lacking to be polite, obliging and amiable, to listen with attention, to speak what is better than silence, to observe carefully and to do right. Is opportunity lacking to speak the truth, and to live within one's means? Is it difficult to find occasion for being sincere and honest?

As the measure of the value of opportunity is its influence on religion, and moral life, therefore, the only right opportunities are those which help to make us god-like, strong, patient, active, wise, benevolent, useful, and holy. It is only when we are following in God's footsteps that we come to understand that life is opportunity, rich as earth, wide as heaven, and deep as the soul. During our Saviour's lifetime on earth He taught us the sweet lesson that the secret of true life is in doing well what our Heavenly Father gives us to. He, Himself, met with no occasion which may not be offered to anyone. Opportunity for many things may be lacking, but it is always possible to do what belongs to one's condition.

How often in our daily intercourse with humanity do we allow numberless occasions to slip by, unheeded, as it were, and in looking backward through years that have gone by do not lost opportunities rise before us; but the past is irrecoverable, therefore we must do what we can here and now. The wise heed no voice that bids them lose heart.

Now, we come to the material sense of opportunity, or in other words, looking at it from a temporal point of view. We have all heard the only too familiar expression that such a person had every advantage, but failed to make use of it, but let this not be said of us, who live in this golden age, where, as it were, opportunity knocks at our doors, looks in at our windows, shoulders us as we pass along the street, and suggests to us new chances for useful life in our morning and evening papers. The fact of the matter is that opportunities are so near to us that we fail to appreciate them in the proper manner, and thus let slip by days that can never be recalled.

"Man," says Matthews, "is to a great extent, the child of opportunity." Estimate as we may the power of the individual and his achievement of success, there is yet another factor in the product, the power of circumstances, which we cannot wholly ignore, therefore, we must be prepared for the occasion when it comes. If we are not, our ignorance and incompetency will be displayed and the opportunity will be useless to us. It was a saying of Disraeli that the secret of success in life is for a person to be ready for the occasion when it comes.

This point is illustrated by an oft-told anecdote of Ole Bull, the eminent violinist, who, having accidentally been heard by Malibran, the songstress, was invited to entertain the audience at one of her concerts. His playing in that single hour places him near the head of the musical world. It was to him the hour of opportunity and he was prepared for it.

This is further illustrated by the story of the scullion-boy. Antonio, who was not only an occasional stone-cutter, but who had become greatly skilled in the use of his tools. Usually serving as a mere scullion-boy in the kitchen of Signor Faliero he was absolutely unknown to fame. On one occasion, however, when his master was preparing a banquet, and the ornamental work which the confectioner had prepared for the centre of the table was spoiled in the making, Antonio offered to supply what was lacking. Calling for a quantity of butter, he quickly moulded a large, crouching lion, which was placed upon the table. Among the guests were several skilled critics on art who, when their eyes fell on this work of genius, asked what eminent sculptor had prepared it. When the story was told the host declared that he would pay Antonio's expenses to pursue artistic studies, and the scullion boy, who was prepared for this opportunity when it came, is now known in the history of art, by the name of Canova. One of the greatest sculptors of all time. If this boy had not been ready for his opportunity when it came, he would have lived and died a scullion.

The seizing of an opportunity is of the utmost importance, even though the remuneration may seem small and inadequate. An example of this is to be found in the story of John Grant who worked in a hardware store at $9.00 per week. It was said to him by his employer upon entering his store, "Make yourself useful by becoming acquainted with all the details of the business, and as fast as you prove yourself capable, we will recognize your services in some way." After several weeks young Grant, who had been closely watching, observed that his employer always attended to the checking of the bills of imported goods. These were in French and German, and he at once set to work to learn commercial French and German. One day his employer was much pressed for time, Grant offered to do the checking for him, and he did it so well that the next bills which came in were handed to him as a matter of course. A month later, he was called into the office and addressed by the senior member, in these words, "In my forty years' experience in this business you are the first boy who has seen this opportunity and improved it. We want you to take charge of the foreign goods. You only of the twenty young men we have here, saw the place and fitted himself for it at some sacrifice, but it paid. It always pays.

Then, again, we have all heard of the eminent Long Island switchman, Mr. Herbert Vreeland, who, while in some respects, the opportunity came to him, yet in the most important sense, he it was who made his own opportunity. So we, too, must make our opportunity. Make it, as Lincoln made his log cabin in the wilderness; as the shepherd boy, Ferguson, made his, when he calculated the distance of the stars with a handful of beads on a string; as George Stephenson made his, when he mastered the rules of mathematics with a bit of chalk on the sides of the coal wagons in the mines. We must make ours as the deaf and blind Helen Keller made hers, or as everyone must, who would accomplish anything that is worth the effort.

Opportunity is latent in the very foundation of human society. It is everywhere about us, but the preparation to seize the occasion and to make the most of it, is to be made by everyone for himself. "Occasion," says President Garfield, "may be the bugle call that summons an army to battle, but the blast of the bugle-call can never make soldiers, or win battles."

Vigilance in watching opportunity tact and daring in seizing upon opportunity, force and persistence in crowding opportunity to its utmost possible achievement—these are the martial virtues that command success. We all know that there are moments upon which hang the destiny of years. It is only for the moment that the favourable occasion is presented. If we miss it, months, and years are lost. What is the doing of a deed, but the sowing of a seed? If it is not sown at the right time it will not germinate. Sometimes the determining moment is very brief, and if we are on the watch and always ready to seize it, it will make all the difference to us between failure and success.

The power of perception is, indeed, a wonderful gift. It was a Massachusetts soldier in the civil army who observed a bird hulling rice. He took the bill of that bird for his model, and invented a hulling machine, which revolutionized the rice business. Professor Benedict, upon first hearing the click of the typewriter took in at once the possibilities of the invention. Throwing his Latin away he began to manufacture the Remington typewriter, so useful, and to him, so remunerative. Many other illustrations of this principle could be given, but time will not now permit, suffice it to say, that we must at least keep our eyes open, cultvate our powers of perception, and see what we can do.

If there are few who have the faculty of vision, who can see what is a good thing, where others see nothing, there are perhaps, still fewer persons who know how to seize upon an opportunity, when they see it. very few who have what might be called the executive quality. "What," says Geo. Eliot, "is opportunity to a person who cannot use it?" The pre-eminently successful men are those who have actually improved what opportunities they saw.

An illustration of this is to be found in the story of Mr. Jas. Ryder, a photographer in Cleveland, Ohio. He happened one day to read in a German paper of a new process practised by the artists of Bohemia, by which they touched up a negative with fine instruments, thus removing any imperfections. Reading this, he immediately sent to Bohemia for an artist, and at length succeeded in bringing the art of Bohemia into his own service. He seized his opportunity by the forelock and secured the best aid possible and then he brought to bear the force of an energetic mind to advertise and extend his business. In a photographic exhibition in Boston, Mr. Ryder took the prize for the best work in America.

Then we have the story of Washburn, who, when he found that no good wire was made in the United States, quietly determined that he would himself make the best wire in the world. He saw a great opportunity, and such was his executive ability, that what he thought he actually did.

We all know of the success of Edison, the inventor, who spent his life in watching for opportunities and in making the most of them by carrying out the ideas which he had. The perceptive and executive qualities were in him, well-balanced. Many other examples might be given, but to sum it up in a few words, perception and action, a quick eye, and clear vision, a vigorous right arm and a deft hand, these are the masters of success in any and in every pursuit.

Continuing this subject, we find that there are fit and misfit opportunities, and to succeed in any vocation our purpose must be in harmony with our powers. A person out of place is half a person, their very nature being perverted. Swift says:

Brutes find out where their talents lie;
A bear will not attempt to fly;
A foundered horse will oft debate,
Before he tries a five-barred gate;
A dog, by instinct, turns aside,
Who sees the ditch too deep and wide.
But man we find the only creature,
Who, led by folly, combats nature;
Who, when she loudly cries, "Forbear",
With obstinacy fixes there,
And where his genius least inclines,
Absurdly bends his whole designs.

We must not choose any pursuit because some one else has made a fortune in it, or because it is genteel. We must not choose it because we think it is easy, but we must work along the line of our strength and not of our weakness. "No man is born into this world whose work is not born with him," says Lowell, "there is always work and there are tools to work with for all who will."

However difficult it may be to answer the question, "Where is my right place?" How shall I find it? Nevertheless it must be answered unless life is to be a failure, and, after ascertaining our calling we must stick to it if we wish to be successful. Now, it shortens the road to success to make early a wise choice of one's occupation, to be started on the road of a proper career while young, full of hope, and while enthusiasm is vigorous; to feel that every step we take, that every day's work we do helps to broaden, deepen and enrich life. But, let us not forget that our occupation must be useful and honorable, must be one which will develop us, elevate us, and give us a chance for self-improvement. "Thy life," says Carlyle, "is all that thou hast to comfort eternity with."

As a conclusion, I will quote the following words of Mary A. Townsend:

To each man's life there comes a time supreme,
One day, one night, one morning, or one noon,
One freighted hour, one moment opportune,
One rift through which sublime fulfilments gleam,
One space where fate goes tiding with the stream,
One once, in balance 'twixt too late, too soon,
And ready for the passing instant's boon,
To tip in favour the uncertain beam.
Ah, happy he who knowing how to wait,
Knows also, how to watch and work, and stand
On life's broad deck, alert, and at the prow
To seize the passing moment big with fate,
From opportunity's extended hand,
When the great clock of destiny strikes—"Now".

Other numbers on the programme were:

Instrumental—Miss B. Giroux.
Recitation—Miss M. Derocher.
Vocal solo—Miss N. Fitzgerald.

The next reading will be given by Miss N. Fitzgerald on Friday evening, Jan. 28th.

The pleasure club of the T. A. S. entertained the members of St. Martin's T. A. S. at forty-fives, at their rooms on Tuesday evening. St. Peter's T. A S were the winners, the score being 196-133. tA the conclusion of the games, refreshments were served, after which a programme of music was rendered, songs being rendered by Mr. J. O'Brien, Mr. Lee, of Ennismore, and step dancing by Mr. J. Callaghan, Mr. W. O'Brien acted as accompanist for the evening. Short addresses were delivered by Rev. Father McColl who extended the visitors the freedom of the rooms at all times. Rev. Father Phelan, of Young's Point, who invited the local members to visit Lakefield in the near future and Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Ennismore.

The Pleasure Club will visit Ennismore next Tuesday.

WILL PAY 'PHONE ACCOUNT

The Fire, Water and Light Committee decided to pay for Chief Howard's 'phone, at his home. When he first came to Peterborough the Chief found that the Machine 'phone was not sufficient and had a Bell 'phone installed beside the other. He had paid for it up to the present, but considered that the city should pay the $18 yearly rental. Ald. Metheral remarked that the Chief could keep on paying for it. Ald. Batten felt otherwise. The heads of other civic departments have 'phones in their homes and it was only fair that the Chief of the Fire Department should be accorded the same treatment.

Moved by Ald. Batten and Bullis that the city pay for the 'phone for this year.—Carried.

MAKE THE BLOOD RICH AND RED

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Hanoverville, Ont., writes: "My system was so completely run down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. A medicine failed to help me. A trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food transformed me in a few weeks, and at the end of a month people remarked how much I had improved, so much. The blood was enriched, colour improved, appetite was excellent, and I got strong and well."

QUESTION OF POWER

Ontario's Minister of Power Recites the Origin and Work of the Hydro-Electric Commission—It Has by Its Mediation Distinctly Steadied Vested Interests Throughout the Province of Ontario.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—The Commission of Conservation devoted the second day of its first annual meeting to a large extent to the technical investigations of the forestry problem. The wide province outlined Tuesday by Hon. Clifford Sifton had to be broken into smaller districts, each in a measure independent, yet each coming under the purview of the commission.

The voice of a professor was first heard in the sessions yesterday when Dr. B. E. Fernow, dean of the faculty of forestry in the University of Toronto, gave an illuminating technical exposition on the subject of "Forestry."

By special contribution, Hon. Adam Beck, Ontario's Minister of Power, addressed the commission.

Mr. Beck's address was on the "Conservation of the Water Powers of Ontario." He ascribed his invitation to the fact that he had been associated with the effort to conserve them with a due regard to vested interests, and dealt with the subject in five aspects. 1. The antecedents and origin of the Ontario commission. 2. The scope of the legislation creating it. 3. The scope, progress, and value of the undertaking. 4. The effect upon vested interests. 5. The probable future of the commission.

The commission was born of a widespread public demand that steps be taken to preserve and develop the people's rights in the provincial waterpowers, and to protect them from the baneful effects of monopoly prices.

With respect to vested interests, at Port Arthur the Kaministiquia Power Co.'s interests had been distinctly steadied and improved by the mediation of the commission, and a similar effect had been obtained at Ottawa. The Electrical Development Co. had been offered a share of the commission's requirements of power, but declined to supply it. Its bonds had risen to 82 1-4—90 1-4 in 1908 from 72—84 in 1907. As the bonds have steadily improved in value the company had evidently sustained no injury.

"In prosecuting this work," concluded Mr. Beck, speaking of the future of the commission, as representing the Government and all the people, "just as it will not be deterred by slander, neither will it be hurried by impatient clamor, it will proceed cautiously and prudently step by step, testing and proving its way, that its progress may be real and enduring."

"This is the task to which I have set my hand. This is the task to which I shall devote my public life. It is no ignoble work. I am not ashamed of it. I am well assured that the vilification of the present will give place to the vindication of the future. Its consummation will contribute to national strength and national greatness."

Miss Fielding Married.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—The marriage took place in the First Baptist Church at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of Miss Janet Louise Fielding, eldest daughter of Hon. W. S. Fielding, to Kuinoff Nicholson MacFee of London, Eng., and formerly of Montreal.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Cameron, Ottawa, and Rev. Dr. Dewey of Montreal, in the presence of a brilliant gathering, which included Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, and members of the Cabinet and their wives.

The bridal couple will spent the honeymoon in England and on the continent.

Set Fire to Jail.

Huntington, W.Va., Jan. 20.—The jail of Lincoln County, twenty miles from this place, was burned to the ground by incendiaries yesterday.

A dozen prisoner were rescued, only after holes were battered in the brick walls of the cell rooms.

Two months ago yesterday the Lincoln County Court house was destroyed by fire.

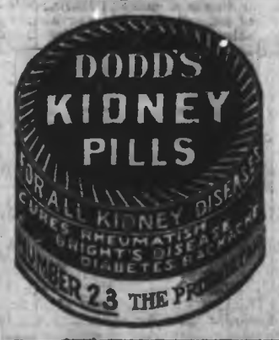
Bloodhounds are now on the trail of the incendiaries.

A Mother's Heroism.

New York, Jan. 20.—Life-giving blood from his mother's veins so invigorated six-year-old Arthur Shibley that yesterday the doctors believed that the lad shot by a maniac on Washington Heights last week would recover. She is so weakened she cannot speak.

School Roof Collapsed.

Coffeyville, Kans., Jan. 20.—The roof of a public school building here collapsed yesterday, killing one person, injuring three others and causing a panic among the children.



REPLIES TO ATTACKS.

French Government Minister Accuses Church of Unfairness.

Paris, France, Jan. 20.—Minister of Public Instruction Doumergue replied yesterday to the violent attacks made by the Catholic Deputies upon the character of the teaching in the public schools.

He declared that the war proclaimed by the church against the public schools was directed exclusively by enemies of the republic, insisting that the letter of the episcopate constituted an attempt by threats to enforce the superiority of the church's authority over that of the Government.

M. Doumergue declared that the Catholics' complaints against the text books on history used in the public schools was due solely to the fact that these histories gave the facts impartially. The histories used in the Catholic schools taught, not history of the world's events, but the history of the church, and condemned everything inimical to the church interests.

The Minister instanced a case where priests had refused the last sacraments to a farmer unless he would agree that his son should be placed in a Catholic school.

Nevertheless he asserted that the campaign which the country understood to be purely political had failed except in a few isolated districts.

M. Doumergue announced that in addition to the measures already made known, the Government would introduce bills requiring diplomas from Catholic school teachers in conformity with the laws of hygiene, etc., that were applicable to the faculties of the public schools.

Mad Dog Scare at Mitchell.

Mitchell, Jan. 20.—This town has a "mad dog" scare. A dog resembling a coach dog belonging to James Pullman, is supposed to have gone mad Tuesday evening, as it snapped at everything it passed and attacked people without warning or provocation.

They were able to beat it off, but several times had very narrow escapes, as it pulled the mitts off two men and made teeth marks on another. The dog was at large all night and as men began to go to work yesterday morning it again commenced its attacks, springing at them. It was shot at 7.30 a.m. by Constable Ingram, who has since shot several dogs which came in contact with the mad dog.

The Town Council has issued a proclamation that all dogs at large for the next two months not wearing a muzzle will be shot.

Carnegie Hero Medals.

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—Five silver and 12 bronze medals were awarded by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission and about $19,000 in money. The acts of heroism cover rescues from drowning, electrocution, trains, fire and suffocation.

John A. Grady of East Baltic, P.E.I., and Duncan J. Campbell, Campbell's Cover, P.E.I., receive bronze medals and small cash awards for rescuing three foreigners from a ship that had broken its back on a reef in the Gulf of St. Lawrence a Priests' Pond in November, 1906.

Educational Congress.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—A public meeting in connection with the French-Canadian Educational Congress of Ontario was held last evening in the Russell Theatre, which was filled to overflowing. Senator Belcourt presided.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier described the English language as the business language of to-day and French the language of the heart. He regretted that in Quebec English was somewhat neglected in the schools.

Zeppelin's Latest Plan.

Cologne, Jan. 20.—Count Zeppelin is planning a monster airship capable of carrying 300 persons to be used in a passenger service between Hamburg and London. A service will also be maintained from Hamburg to Cologne and Baden-Baden.

The craft will be 984 feet long and about 85 feet in diameter. It will be driven by eight motors.

Girl Strikers Fight in New York.

New York, Jan. 20.—A clash between shirt waist girl strikers and non-union workers developed into a riot on Spring street yesterday, and the police had to be called out to restore order. Finger nails, fists and feet were used promiscuously in the encounter.

MIDLANDS UNIONIST

Mr. Asquith Deprecates the Introduction of Foreign and Colonial Matters in British Politics — Wales and Scotland Seem to Be Keeping to the Liberal Side of Politics—The Fight, So Far, Is Close.

London, Jan. 20.—All the returns of yesterday's elections, which are likely to be received, show that the Unionists gained five seats and the Liberals one, leaving the present position of the parties as follows:

Unionists	129
Liberals	119
Laborites	92
Nationalists	44

Thus far the Unionists have a net gain of 45 seats. They must obtain at least 168 net gains to wipe out the Liberal majority in the last Parliament.

How closely the Unionists are fighting their opponents is shown by the following figures of the aggregate polling to date:

Unionists	1,390,598
Liberals	1,224,878
Laborites	263,463
Socialists	16,971

Of the elections for 81 members of the new Parliament held yesterday the result of less than half was announced last night, the others being in widely scattered districts, where it takes considerable time to collect the ballot boxes.

In London, where four boroughs polled, two remained true to the Liberals and one to Labor, while the fourth went over from the Liberals side to the Unionists.

In Northern England the Liberals generally hold the seats won in 1906. This also is true of Scotland, but the Midlands continue to go over to the party of tariff reform.

All the London seats, with the exception of Westminster have now been polled, and show a Unionist gain of 12. In 1906 the division was: Liberals 35, Labor 4, Unionists, 19; the present results are Liberals 26, Labor 1, Unionists, 33.

The London seat which the Government lost was Hackney north, where Raymond E. Greene, the Unionist candidate defeated T. Hart-Davies. C. W. Bowerman, Laborite, retains his Deptford seat, and Sir A. Spicer, president of the London Chamber of Commerce, and H. Bottomley were re-elected for central and south Hackney, respectively.

The Liberals also lost one of the boroughs of Glasgow, that of Camlachie, where A. Cross, who was elected as a Unionist in 1906, but went over to the Government side soon after he was returned, suffered defeat through the intervention of a Labor candidate. The Liberal and Laborite together received 5,146 votes against 3,237 for the successful Unionist, H. J. MacKinder.

The central division of Glasgow re-elected the Right Hon. C. Scott-Dickson, Unionist. Blackfriars division of Glasgow is again in the Labor column, G. N. Barnes winning with an increased majority.

Glasgow Tradeston goes over to the Liberals, A. Cameron Corbett, who was elected as a Unionist in 1906, but left the party on account of its opposition to the licensing bill, being elected as a Ministerialist. The other divisions of Glasgow, including Strollox, which was represented by T. McKinnon Wood, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, gave increased majorities for the Government.

Mr. Asquith, speaking in East Fife, deprecated the importation into a domestic, constitutional, Parliamentary struggle of the opinion of foreign countries. It was a novelty of a dangerous and objectionable character.

"It is still less legitimate," he continued, "to import the supposed opinion of the colonies. We are agreed in our affection for the colonies in our desire in every way compatible with the interests of the people of this country, to cement the imperial fabric, to tighten the bond and deepen the common-sense of attachment, of loyalty and affection, but the colonies, and the wise, prudent and far-sighted statesmen who govern their destinies, would be first to deprecate that any kind of pressure should appear to be exercised by them on the free judgment of the people of this country." (Cheers.)

Mr. Asquith proceeded to say he remembered well the colonial conference and the Premier of the great self-governing Dominion saying, when discussing the question of preference, that if he thought the granting of a preference would lead to any increase in the cost of living to the poor, he would be the last person to advocate it.

Mr. Lloyd-George at Conway, Wales, said that at the present moment Liberals have a majority of votes which is quite out of proportion to anything we have got in the matter of seats. Therefore we feel our majority rests on a firm footing. "Unless I am mistaken," he said, "it is going to be a bigger majority than the Tories got at the Ishaki election of 1906." (Cheers.)

Philadelphia Car Men to Strike.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The collapse of a pool in Hocking Coal & Iron caused the suspension of two New York brokerage firms.

Savings deposits in Canadian banks at the end of the year were almost five hundred millions, a record level. Total deposits in Canadian banks were over $635,000,000. Business loans were $592,000,000.

Fire did $6,000 damage to the King Edward Hotel at Kenora, and the Windsor Hotel at Bradwardine, Man., was damaged to double that amount, the guests having a hard time in making their escape.

Four girls and one man leaped to death yesterday in a panic caused by a fire in the four-storey factory building in Philadelphia. Five others received injuries from which they will probably die, and many more were less seriously hurt.

Rational Sunday Protest.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Strong representations are being made to the Postmaster-General by the Rational Sunday League against the methods of the Lord's Day Alliance in using the mails to intimidate suspected Sabbath breakers. This action, the league claims is an attempt to usurp civil functions and act as self-appointed judge, jury and executioner. A circular of the alliance sent out to supposed offenders is quoted. It says in part: "We have no desire to cause you trouble or expense, although we are expected to report the complaint to the authorities for prosecution; are writing you, without prejudice, this friendly letter to ask you to have all such work on the Lord's Day discontinued.

"We will be pleased to hear from you by return mail, and beg to assure you that if you will state this Sunday work will not be carried on hereafter, we will not report the complaint."

This, V. J. Gilpin, secretary of the Rational Sunday League, states is virtually offering a compounding of the offence if the incriminating assurance asked for is forwarded promptly.

"All this means," he says, "that the alliance is collecting a large number of documents, which might be used to incriminate the persons scared into sending them."

Wind 110 Miles an Hour.

Geneva, Jan. 20.—The scores of American visitors at the fashionable Alpine resorts are imprisoned indefinitely on account of the heavy continuous rains.

Such a condition has never been known before in Switzerland. In the upper regions the snowfall measured from three to ten feet, and large sections on the mountain railroads have been washed out or are buried under the snow. Miles of wire are down and it will take weeks to repair the damage.

The wind blew at times at the rate of 110 miles an hour. A dozen towns and a score of villages are suffering from the floods, torrents running through the streets.

No deaths are reported so far, but three Americans are missing from Davos. They left on a skiing expedition a day or two ago and have not since been heard from.

What it Cost

10 Annual Premiums of $43.20 each, $432.—This represent the TOTAL COST of Policy No. 12367 for $1000 in

The Canada Life Assurance Co'y.

In other words $432 purchased a PAID UP POLICY for $1000, dated June 21st, 1872, on the 10 payment Life Plan, with dividends applied every 5 years to increase the policy as follows:—

Policy paid up	$1000.00
Dividend additions to 1909	648.75
The Company would pay	$1648.75

should the assured die to-day, and this amount will increase annually so long as he lives.

Strathconas Head The City League Defeat West Ends In Great Game

Leading Teams Had a Hard Fought Battle Last Night, the Commissioners Finally Winning Out by a Close Score---Abstainers Had an Easy Victory Over the Keene Team in Their First Game.

For the first time since the opening of the City Hockey League, one team has a clear lead over the others in the race. The Strathconas shot to the front last night by defeating the West Ends after one of the hardest fought and exciting games in the long history of the League. The Commissioners won by 5 to 3, although the correct figure should have been 5 to 2. The mix-up in the figures was a peculiar one. Crane of the West Ends had been serving a penalty on the fence and went back on the ice before his time was up, arriving just in time to nick in with Seymour on a combined rush that resulted in a score. The penalty timekeeper stopped the game and Crane was sent back to finish out his term, while Referee Rose counted the goal temporarily, saying that in the event of it being a factor in the result he would let the League executive settle the matter. However, it transpired that the goal had no effect on the result.

The game was a grand exhibition of hockey. Played on ice that while remarkably good considering the state of the weather, was not of the kind that makes skating easy, the pace never lagged for a minute. It was rush and counter rush with both teams expending every ounce in them and there was no let up from start to finish. It was fast and clean hockey all the way, only a few penalties being handed out and the crowd enjoyed the exhibition immensely.

Although the checking was hard and close and passing rather difficult owing to the sticky ice, yet both teams managed to get away with some clever combinations, the Strathconas having a little better of it in this respect.

The teams were evenly matched, although the winners had a shade the better of the play. They combined better when they broke away and they checked back better, and in those two respects had something on the losers. Otherwise there was little to choose. There is not a weak spot on either team and the next game between the two should be a corker, especially if it is played on fast ice. Both teams are fast and aggressive, a good lot of stickhandlers and altogether two of the classiest teams that have ever battled for the Examiner trophy.

The game was exciting all the way. West Ends got first credit for scoring, Seymour tallying the disputed goal in six minutes on a pass from Crane. The Straths drew up even in a minute and one half and then forged ahead in 4.30. Two minutes afterwards the West Ends came back with a goal that once more tied up the score, but the Straths were not to be denied and went ahead again, never to be headed off, before half time. In the second half the Straths ran in the first two goals and West Ends followed with the last one a little less than five minutes before full time.

Every man on the winning team played fine hockey and there were no particular stars. The line combined well and checked back in grand fashion while the defence was steady when attacked and aggressive in rushing. Over anxiety at the start cost several possible goals from wild shooting, but otherwise little fault could be found with their playing. They were especially strong in coming back, Ray, Weatherstone and McMillan being especially prominent in this respect, all three proving of great assistance to their defence.

Derocher in goal had his first opportunity of the season to shine and pulled off some clever stops. The three that beat him were from close in and hard to handle, but he several times saved goals by going out and blocking the man with the puck. Denison and Dusty checked splendidly and in addition tore off some useful rushes. All four forwards were in the limelight. Ray's checking back was a bright feature. He was always tearing back with the West End line, intercepting passes and skating the man with the puck away from the danegr zone. Burritt was made the object of a careful and systematic vigilance by his check Dobson and by the West End defence, but in spite of that the "kid" centre was there with three goals to his credit and played a remarkable game considering his lack of weight and years. Weatherstone and McMillan on the wings were always there and had a large share in the victory by reason of their never ceasing exertions.

The team played the cleanest kind of hockey not a man being penalized, which establishes a record for City League hockey.

What has been said of the winners may also be said of the losers, that they were strong in every department. Their defence played sterling hockey and their line was fast and clever. Halpin in goal, made some decidedly pretty saves and played up to his usual excellent standard. Munro was in the calcium light by reason of his splendid checking, while Seymour shone both on the defence and on the attack.

Crane was probably the most effective of the forwards. He scored two of the goals one on a beautiful individual effort and was always working and always dangerous. Dobson was good all through the piece, checking back splendidly and rushing well. Short and Giroux on the wings worked like beavers and did a lot of useful work, although the latter tired badly towards the finish. The big crowd present was wildly excited and the majority were pulling for a West End victory. The teams were as follows:

The game started off at a lightning clip and both goals were threatened in turn. It was hammer and tongs up and down the ice with both teams letting out at top speed and some of the prettiest hockey of the game was seen right at this stage. Dusty and Burritt got clean through for the Straths, but Dusty fumbled a pass right at the nets and lost a splendid opening. Straths broke away from a combined rush which resulted in a score but Referee Rose called them back for an offside. Crane drew two minutes for slashing. He came back before his time was up just as Seymour was making a rush and uniting with the cover-point, the two carried the rubber right in on the nets and Seymour's shot beat Derocher in 6 mins. The Straths kicked against the goal and Crane was sent back to finish out his sentence, the final decision as to the goal being left with the League.

The Straths came back at the Westerners with a vim and in a minute and one half Weatherstone slipped one past Halpin after a three man combination rush.

Dusty broke a shoe lace and retired with Munro for repairs. While the two were away the Commissioners went out in front. McMillan tore off a nice rush, but was checked before he could shoot. Burritt, however, secured and scored on a neat shot from the side in four and one half minutes.

It just took the Oldhamites two minutes to even up. The Straths lost a chance when Dusty shot over the top of the nets after the defence had been beaten and the Westerners came back with a rush that carried the fight into Strathcona territory. Here a pass from behind the nets to Crane resulted in a score in two minutes. Seymour was sent away for two minutes for bodying a Strathcona forward. The Strathconas went ahead in four minutes. McMillan passed across the rink to Weatherstone who returned and the right wing scooped one past the West End custodian.

There was no further scoring before half time. Seymour got another penalty before the half was completed for cross checking.

The second half produced some spectacular hockey and the excitement never lagged. Although behind the yellow and black team worked like demons and as the Straths also let out a link or two it may be figured out that the game was no funeral procession. Both teams had openings which good defence work saved but as a rule the attacks were nipped off before they resulted in a shot. For nearly eighteen minutes the tide of battle waged up and down the ice until finally the Commissioners increased their lead. Denison broke up a West End rush and shooting down the left wing in splendid fashion, shot dead on Halpin. The latter stopped it nicely, but before he could clear Burritt swept down on him like a young cyclone and batted the rubber through.

Undismayed by this set back the West Ends fought back harder than ever, but the checking back of the Straths coupled with the checking of Dusty and Denison held them out pretty well and finally the Commissioners put the game on ice by tearing off a nice piece of close range combination, McMillan, Ray and Burritt carrying the rubber from centre. Burritt completed the play by sliding the rubber past Halpin at point blank range.

There was a little more than five minutes to play at this stage but the West End supporters yelled for their team to come in and win out. Crane gave them a boost in the right direction by getting the puck at centre and skating around the Strathconas' defence to beat Derocher with a beautiful waist high shot that landed in the corner of the nets.

This was the final score of the game, although each side had several opening afterwards. With one minute to play Giroux was ruled off for slashing. The summary follows:

1 West Ends (disputed) Seymour, 6 mins.
2 Strathconas, Weatherstone, 1.30 mins.
3 Strathconas, Burritt, 4.30 mins.
4 West Ends, Crane 2 mins.
5 Strathconas, McMillan, 4 mins.

Half time—
6 Strathconas, Burritt, 17.30.
7 Strathconas, Burritt, 9 mins.
8 West Ends, Crane, 2 mins.

Penalties—First half, West Ends, Seymour 2, Crane. Total 3, Strathconas 0.

Second half—West Ends, Giroux 1. Total 1, Strathconas 0.

The standing of the City Hockey League as the result of last night's games is as follows:

Strathconas	3	0	3	26	12
West Ends	2	1	3	20	11
T. A. S.	1	2	3	12	19
Keene	0	3	3	10	26

Games next week—Keene vs. Strathconas, West Ends vs. T.A.S.

SECOND GAME.

Jack Deannard's T. A. S. team showed their best form of the season last night, winning an unexpectedly easy victory over the Keene team in the first game of the double-header by a score of 6 to 1. A close game was expected, but it failed to materialize. The Abstainers always had a margin on the Villagers, and won on their merits. It was a lively contest and the crowd found it decidedly entertaining. T. A. S. were 4 to 0 to the good in the first half, and easily held their lead until the finish, although Keene improved in the second half. They never loked like winners at any stage, however, as they utterly failed to show any signs of team work, while on the other hand, the Coldwater brigade gave evidence of faithful practice and rang in some nice combinations at times, while they were quicker to take advantage of their openings to score. They checked back better and always had something on the losers, although better shooting on the part of the Villagers would have resulted in a closer score, while the grand work of Giroux, in the nets, robbed them of golden chances.

The T. A. S. had a new line-up on and the shift worked much better, defence and forwards both being strong. Giroux played a stellar game between the posts, turning off shots at all ranges in splendid fashion. Heffernan and Quigley made a splendid defence, checking and rushing nicely. On the forward line all were good, Coughlin probably having a shade on the rest of his team mates. Weir and McDougall were the only Keene men to show consistent form. Both worked like heroes to hold out the T. A. S., but they could not do it all alone, and received little assistance. Lewis and Dickson were good in spots, while the rest were of little use. The line passed badly, especially when in the neighbourhood of the flags. The teams were as follows:

T. A. S.—Goal, Giroux; point, Heffernan; cover, Quigley; rover, Coughlin; centre, T. Sabatino; right wing, Morin; left wing, McNicholl.

The game opened up at a fast clip and Referee Rose had early to show his authority. McCarthy was benched for tripping and Morin followed him for the same offence. McDougall soon after found his way in the same direction. In six minutes Coughlin scored for T. A. S. on a shot from the side. Score 1 to 0.

Two minutes afterwards McNicholl made it 2-0, by slamming one in from a scrimmage. Morin drew another penalty for slashing. The third goal was scored after seven minutes' play on a nice rush by McNicholl. Two minutes and a half later Coughlin took a long shot from outside the defence, which landed in the cage, and the score was 4 to 0.

Coughlin and Lewis rubbed shoulders and both were penalized.

The half ended without any further scoring.

McCarthy was banished early in the second period for a heavy body check, and Quigley received the same treatment for a like breach of etiquette. McCarthy was not long back until he went off again. Keene were making a better showing at this stage but Giroux turned off everything that looked like a score. It was finally the Abstainers who punctuated ten minutes' hard playing with another counter. Morin doing the trick on a combined rush. McCarthy was sent away again but it was a case of mistaken identity this time. Dinsdale was the man who should have gone, but Referee Rose slipped up in detecting the offender.

Keene were working heroically, but to not much avail for a long period, until McDougall slipped down the wing, and centred neatly to Weir, who scored the only goal of the visitors at close range in eighteen minutes.

Heffernan was penalized, but T. A. S. were not to be denied, and McNicholl hung up another counter on a pass from the wing in one minute.

The summary follows:

1—T. A. S., Coughlin, 6 mins.
2—T. A. S., McNicholl, 2 mins.
3—T. A. S., McNicholl, 7 mins
4—T. A. S., Coughlin, 2 1-2 mins.

Half time.

5—T. A. S., Morin, 9 mins.
6—Keene, Weir, 17 1-2 mins.
7—T. A. S., McNicholl, 1 min.

Penalties—T. A. S., Morin, 2; Quigley, Coughlin, Heffernan, total, 5. Keene, McCarthy, 4; McDougall, Lewis; total, 6.

AIR CARRIES HEALING MEDICINE

About the healing power of the oils of the pine woods everybody knows but to supply it in the form of medicine seemed almost beyond realization. After many years of careful study a scientific remedy, now known as Catarrhozone, has been produced, which enables the sufferer to breathe into his lungs all the healing properties of the balsamic pine woods air This marvellous remedy has conquered catarrh. It unquestionably does cure it permanently.

CURE IS GUARANTEED.

You cannot fail to be cured by Catarrhozone, because it reaches and destroys the cause of the disease. You simply inhale the antiseptic vapor. It instantly spreads to every part of the breathing organs. The micro-organisms infecting the diseased tissues of your nose, throat, and lungs die instantly. There is nothing left to cause inflammation. Any spots that are raw and sore are quicly healed by Catarrhozone, and you soon are completely cured.

IT RELIEVES INSTANTLY!

It is impossible to breathe through a Catarrhozone inhaler without at once feeling better. Your head is cured of mucous discharge, your nostrils are cleansed of all putrid matter, the phlegm is removed from your throat. Every trace of catarrh is searched out of the system by Catarrhozone, which thoroughly disinfects and purifies every organ of the body.

Catarrhozone is the only natural remedy for catarrh. It cures by cleansing and purifying all diseased tissues, not by deadening the stomach with drugs.

MINISTERS AND DOCTORS USE "CATARRHOZONE."

It is a clean, simple, and satisfactory remedy that is endorsed by the clergy, and universally prescribed by the medical profession because it is scientific and absolutely certain to effect lasting cures.

Don't be misled into accepting a substitute for Catarrhozone, which alone can cure thoroughly. It is so powerfully healing that colds disappear in an hour, coughs in two hours, and even bronchitis, asthma, and chronic catarrh in a comparatively short time. Two months' treatment, $1.00. Small size, 50c.; all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

A HINT TO LADIES WHEN SHOPPING

If you wanted anything badly and when you got to the store were persuaded to take something else instead, when you came away wouldn't you feel a little disappointed? As if somebody had "got one over you"—and not for your benefit, mind, but for their own profit!

And when you proved that the something which was represented as being "just as good" as what you asked for was not as good—was not to be compared even with the real thing, wouldn't you feel still worse?

This is just the case about Zam-Buk. Like all good things it has many imitations. When buying it just ask for Zam-Buk, and see that you get it. The name is protected by law, and is clearly seen on each packet. Dont' have anything else! Then you wont' feel that somebody has made a few extra cents out of your lack of firmness.

ANNIVERSARY OF NEW CHURCH TO BE CELEBRATED

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, Jan. 19.—Mr. Thomas Cheyne, of Gore's Landing, spent a few days last week visiting friends in the village.

The annual meeting of the Agricultural Society will be held in the town hall on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Maud Leahy, of Peterborough, spent a few days last week in the village visiting friends.

Mr. David Gillespie, who has been spending the past year in the North West, returned last week to spend the winter in Lakefield.

Mr. Wm. Gillman of Toronto, spent a few days last week in the village.

Mr. Jos. Walmsley, who has been spending the past two weeks at his home in Peterborough, returned to the village last week to resume his duties in Mr. C. Thomson's tailoring establishment.

The first anniversary of the new Methodist Church will be held on Sunday, Jan. 23rd. The Rev. S. T. Bartlett, general secretary of Sunday Schools, will preach at both services. On Monday evening the ladies of the congregation will hold a banquet in the basement of the church, from five to eight o'clock, which will be immediately followed by a musical entertainment and organ recital. Mr. A. H. Lye, late organist of St. Philip's church, Toronto, will preside at the organ.

CURES BAD KIDNEYS AND ENDS BACKACHE

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

A real surprise awaits every sufferer from kidney or bladder trouble who takes several doses of Pape's Diuretic. Misery in the back, sides or loins, sick headache, nervousness, rheumatism, pains, heart palpitations, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelid, lack of energy, and all symptoms of out-of-order kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, offensive and discoloured water and other bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect kidney or urinary disorder, or feel any rheumatism, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

It is needless to feel miserable and worried, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the out-of-order kidneys and urinary system, distributing its cleansing, healing and strengthening influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realise it.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I heard an accusation against my sex the other day that I very much fear has quite a deal of justice in it.

I wish every woman who reads this would think it over and if she acknowledges its justice would do all she individually can to make it less just.

A school teacher made the accusation. She said: "I dislike to discipline girls far more than I do boys because girls are so much more resentful than boys.

"If you punish a boy he may flare up tremendously at the time, but he forgets it as soon as it is over.

"But if you punish a girl she lays it up against you and acts injured for days and is resentful for months."

I think it is largely this tendency which keep most women from being good "sports" in the finer sense of the word "sports."

Resentfulness is a weakness of small minds.

Of course I do not mean that all women possess this faint by any means or that no men are afflicted with it, but I do think it is a trifle more comon among women than men.

And the sooner women get rid of it the farther they will have travelled on the road to being universally acknowledged as man's equal in every respect.

Most people don't seem to realize somehow that cold air can be just as stale as hot air.

In the summer if a room has been all shut up for a few hours, when we go into it we say, "How close and stale the air is," and we promptly throw open the windows.

But in the winter we leave the same room shut up for twice as many hours and then just because the air is cold we do not realize that it is stale and merely turn on the heat instead of opening the windows when we go into it.

If we systematically opened the windows in our living rooms and dining rooms and chambers several times a day and aired out I fancy a good many of us would be healthier.

"We would never get the house warm if we did that," I can hear the coal buyer explaining.

Please don't forget, my friend, that fresh air is very much easier to heat than stale.

Is your card with your full address upon it in your glasses case?

Suppose you lose your glasses to-morrow? If your card is not in the case that means that you regain them by paying out quite a little money for advertising or that you simply give them up or that you pay out the money for advertising without regaining them.

Is any of these things as satisfactory as simply being informed by the finder of the whereabouts of your glasses as you doubtless would be if your card were in the case?

It is an extremely small thing, almost too small to remind you of.

But maybe it's one of those little things that you always meant to do and always put off until to-morrow.

In that case, why don't you just go and do it to-night?

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent 21 to 25, warm wave 20 to 24, cool wave 23 to 27. This disturbance is expected to be preceded and followed by cold waves with snows north and rains south. About date of this bulletin a great high barometer and cold wave will be sweeping over the continent eastward bound. Its centre will be near the Atlantic coast at that time and the low barometer or storm centre will be coming over the Rockies. The second cool wave will be near the Pacific Coast, and it will grow colder as it progresses eastward.

Last disturbance of January will reach Pacific Coast about 27, cross Pacific slope by close of 28, great central valleys 29 to 31, eastern provinces and northeastern states, Feb. 1. Warm wave will cross Pacific Slope about 27, great central valleys 29, eastern provinces and northeastern states 31. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about 30, great centrals valleys Feb. 1, eastern provinces and northeastern states, Feb. 3.

Following Jan. 22 the temperatures will average lower than usual and precipitation will be above the normal. In northern sections the precipitation will be principally in the form of snow.

Disturbances of the week centring on Jan. 29 will not be so severe as those of the two previous weeks centring on 16 and 23, but following Jan. 29 the weather will again assume the radical and rough winter forms.

In next bulletin I will give crop weather features of February weather. That month usually has much to do with winter grain and therefore is of interest to all who eat bread. Winter grain is expected to be in good condition at end of January and the crop will largely depend on crop weather of February, March, April.

I must acknowledge a discepancy in my December forecasts. I had the general temperature averages of the month too high. The error is not to be charged to the system, but to my own individual error. We sometimes go wrong when we should know better. But in all other respects my forecasts for December were good.

I note that recently the U. S. weather bureau has seemingly followed my forecasts in the style and effect of their forecasts. They are trying to forecast longer in advance and readers of my bulletins have called my attention to the similarity of their forecasts and my weather bulletins. My forecasts are written from three weeks to two months in advance of the dates for which the forecasts are made.

But I am not objecting or criticising. If the weather bureau can profit by my work I will take it as a compliment. I find good things in the U. S. weather bureau and I suppose a fair exchange should not be called robbery. The weather bureau will be compelled to adopt my solar system meteorology and they should begin to acquire the habit.

IMPORTANT TO LADIES

It is not often an opportunity occurs at your door to see the latest Parisian and New York styles in Hair Goods, yet such is the case, as Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto, is visiting this town, and invites your inspection of these goods at his private apartments, reserved at the Hotel."

These Hair Goods styles, when properly adjusted protect and ornament the head, soften and beautify the expression of the face and consequently tone up an aged appearance. Be sure and see them at the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday, January 28th.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

True Blessedness. Matt. 5: 1-16.

Golden Text. Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God. Matt. 5:8.

Verses 1, 2.—How much do you remember of the last sermon you heard?

To what extent is the modern style of taking a text and preaching a sermon from it, a success as a teaching exercise?

Did Jesus use a pedagogical, or an oratorical style in his addresses, and would it be better for the extension of the kingdom of God if the modern pulpit would adopt his method?

Verse 3.—What, in the last analysis, is the essential qualification of being a subject of the kingdom of heaven on earth?

If a person is a subject of the kingdom of heaven on earth, what other qualifications are necessary for the kingdom in heaven?

Verse 4.—If, "blessed" means happy how is it possible to mourn and be happy at one and the same time?

Which Christian reaches the highest altitudes of bliss and enjoys the sweetest comforts of God, one who has had great sorrow or one who has been free from sorrow, and why is it so?

Verse 5.—Give some examples of well-to-do men, and then say which class as a rule, get the best things on earth, the "meek", that is the modest, unselfish, and generous, or the boastful, self assertive, and selfish? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verse 6.—What is your definition of righteousness?

What are the conditions for such soul health, as to "hunger and thirst" to be righteous", that is of being perfectly right with God?

Verse 7.—From the suggestions in this verse, if a person is not merciful, what does that indicate as to his standing with God?

If a man has been grievously injured, and we find out that he has fully forgiven his enemy, what does that indicate as to the man's standing with God?

Verse 8.—Are there those who always have a perpetual vision of God, and what conditions do they observe to keep the experience?

What does it imply to be pure in heart, and may all attain that experience?

What was Jesus' experience as to his realization of the constant presence of God?

Verse 9.—Mention some reasons which you think would justify a Christian in being the plaintiff in a law suit?

What is it to be a "peace maker" after the pattern that Jesus here means?

Verses 10-12—Are really good people persecuted in these days because of their goodness?

Why did the religionists of those days persecute Jesus, and finally put him to death?

Verses 13-16.—Of what use in the world is a so-called "cold Christian"

Can a person be a real Christian who is not aggressively engaged in doing good, Why or why not?

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Copyright 1905, 1906, by A. Conan Doyle.

King John, who sat upon the canopied dais at the upper end, was now in the sixth year of his reign and the thirty-sixth of his life. He was a short burly man, ruddy-faced and deep-chested, with dark kindly eyes and a most noble bearing. It did not need the blue cloak sewed with silver lilies to mark him as the King. Though his reign had been short, his fame was already widespread over all Europe as a kindly gentleman and a fearless soldier—a fit leader for a chivalrous nation. His elder son, the Duke of Normandy, still hardly more than a boy, stood beside him, his hand upon the King's shoulder, and John half turned from time to time to fondle him. On the right, at the same high dais, was the King's younger brother, the Duke of Orleans, a pale heavy-featured man, with a languid manner and intolerant eyes. On the left was the Duke of Bourbon, sad-faced and absorbed, with that gentle melancholy in his eyes and bearing which comes often with the premonition of death. All these were in their armor, save only for their helmets, which lay upon the board before them.

Below, grouped around the long red table, was an assembly of the most famous warriors in Europe. At the end nearest the King was the veteran soldier the Duke of Athens, son of a banished father, and now High Constable of France. On one side of him sat the red-faced and choleric Lord Clermont, with the same blue Virgin in golden rays upon his surcoat which had caused his quarrel with Chandos the night before. On the other was a noble-featured grizzly-haired soldier, Arnold d'Andreghen, who shared with Clermont the honor of being Marshal of France. Next to them sat Lord James of Bourbon, a brave warrior who was afterwards slain by the White Company at Brignais, and beside him a little group of German noblemen, including the Earl of Salzburg and the Earl of Nassau, who had ridden over the frontier with their formidable mercenaries at the bidding of the French King. The ridged armor and the hanging nasals of their bassinets were enough in themselves to tell every soldier that they were from beyond the Rhine. At the other side of the table were a line of proud and warlike Lords, Fiennes, Chatillon, Neale, de Landas, de Beaujeu, with the fierce knight errant de Chargny, he who had planned the surprise of Calais, and Eustace de Ribeaumont, who had upon the same occasion won the prize of valor from the hands of Edward of England. Such were the chiefs to whom the King now turned for assistance and advice.

"You have already heard, my friends," said he, "that the Prince of Wales has made no answer to the proposal which we sent by the Lord Cardinal of Perigord. Certes this is as it should be, and though I have obeyed the call of Holy Church I had no fears that so excellent a Prince as Edward of England would refuse to meet us in battle. I am now of opinion that we should fall upon them at once, lest perchance the Cardinal's cross should again come betwixt our swords and our enemies."

A buzz of joyful assent arose from the meeting, and even from the attendant men-at-arms who guarded the door. When it had died away the Duke of Orleans rose in his place beside the King.

"Sire," said he, "you speak as we would have you do, and I for one am of opinion that the Cardinal of Perigord has been an ill friend of France, for why should we bargain for a part when we have but to hold out our hand in order to grasp the whole? What need is there for words? Let us spring to horse forthwith and ride over this handful of marauders who have dared to lay waste your fair dominions. If one of them go hence save as our prisoner we are the more to blame."

"By Saint Denis, brother!" said the King, smiling, "if words could slay you would have had them all upon their backs ere ever we left Chartres. You are new to war, but when you have had experience of a stricken field or two you would know that things must be done with forethought and in order or they may go awry. In our father's time we sprang to horse and spurred upon these English at Crecy and elsewhere as you advise, but we had little profit from it, and now we are grown wiser. How say you, Sieur de Ribeaumont? You have coasted their lines and observed their countenance. Would you ride down upon them, as my brother has advised, or how would you order the matter?"

De Ribeaumont, a tall dark-eyed handsome man, paused ere he answered. "Sire," he said at last, "I have indeed ridden along their front and down their flanks, in company with Lord Landas and Lord de Beaujeu, who are here at your council to witness to what I say. Indeed, sire, it is in my mind that though the English are few in number yet they are in such a position amongst these hedges and vines that you would be well-advised if you were to leave them alone, for they have no food and must retreat, so that you will be able to follow them and to fight them to better advantage."

A murmur of disapproval rose from the company, and the Lord Clermont, Marshal of the army, sprang to his feet, his face red with anger.

"Eustace, Eustace," said he, "I bear in mind the days when you were of great heart and high enterprise, but since King Edward gave you yonder chaplet of pearls you have ever been backward against the English!"

"My Lord Clermont," said de Ribeaumont sternly, "it is not for me to brawl at the King's council and in the face of the enemy, but we will go further into this matter at some other time. Meanwhile, the King has asked me for my advice and I have given it as best I might."

"It had been better for your honor, Sir Eustace, had you held your peace," said the Duke of Orleans. "Shall we let them slip from our fingers when we have them here and are fourfold their number? I know not where we should dwell afterwards, for I am very sure that we should be ashamed to ride back to Paris, or to look our ladies in the eyes again."

"Indeed, Eustace, you have done well to say what is in your mind," said the King; "but I have already said that we shall join battle this morning, so that there is no room here for further talk. But I would fain have heard from you how it would be wisest and best that we attack them?"

"I will advise you, sire, to the best of my power. Upon their right is a river with marshes around it, and upon their left a great wood, so that we can advance only upon the centre. Along their front is a thick hedge, and behind it I saw the green jerkins of their archers, as thick as the sedges by the river. It is broken by one road where only four horsemen could ride abreast, which leads through the position. It is clear then that if we are to drive them back we must cross the great hedge, and I am very sure that the horses will not face it with such a storm of arrows beating from behind it. Therefore, it my council that we fight upon foot, as the English did at Crecy, for indeed we may find that our horses will be more hindrance than help to us this day."

"The same thought was in my own mind, sire," said Arnold d'Andreghen the veteran Marshal. "At Crecy the bravest had to turn their backs, for what can a man do with a horse which is mad with pain and fear? If we advance upon foot we are our own masters, and if we stop the shame is ours."

"The counsel is good," said the Duke of Athens, turning his shrewd wizened face to the King; "but one thing only I would add to it. The strength of these people lies in their archers, and if we could throw them into disorder, were it only for a short time, we should win the hedge; else they will shoot so strongly that we must lose many men before we reach it, for indeed we have learned that no armor will keep out their shafts when they are close."

"Your words, fair sir, are both good and wise," said the King, "but I pray you to tell us how you would throw these archers into disorder?"

"I would choose three hundred horsemen, sire, the best and most forward in the army. With these I would ride up the narrow road, and so turn to right and left, falling upon the archers behind the hedge. It may be that the three hundred would suffer sorely, but what are they among so great a host, if a road may be cleared for their companions?"

"I would say a word to that, sire," cried the German Count of Nassau, "I have come here with my comrades to venture our persons in your quarrel; but we claim the right to fight in our own fashion, and we would count it dishonour to dismount from our steeds out of fear of the arrows of the English. Therefore, with your permission, we will ride to the front, as the Duke of Athens has advised, and so clear a path for the rest of you."

"This may not be!" cried the Lord Clermont angrily. "It would be strange indeed if Frenchmen could not be found to clear a path for the army of the King of France. One would think to hear you talk, my Lord Count, that your handiwood was greater than our own, but by our Lady of Rocamadour you will learn before nightfall that it is not so. It is for me, who am a Marshal of France, to lead these three hundred, since it is an honorable venture."

"And I claim the same right for the same reason," said Arnold of Andreghen.

The German Count struck the table with his mailed fist. "Do what you like!" said he. "But this only I can promise you, that neither I nor any of my German riders will descend from our horses so long as they are able to carry us, for in our country it is only people of no consequence who fight upon their feet."

The Lord Clermont was leaning angrily forward with some hot reply when King John intervened. "Enough, enough!" he said. "It is for you to give your opinions, and for me to tell you what you will do. Lord Clermont, and you, Arnold, you will choose three hundred of the bravest cavaliers in the army and you will endeavor to break these archers. As to you and your Germans, my Lord Nassau, you will remain upon horseback, since you desire it, and you will follow the Marshals and support them as best you may. The rest of the army will advance upon foot, in three other divisions as arranged: yours, Charles," and he patted his son, the Duke of Normandy, affectionately upon the hand; "yours, Philip," he glanced at the Duke of Orleans; "and the main battle which is my own. To you, Geoffrey de Chargny, I intrust the oriflamme this day. But who is this knight and what does he desire?"

A young knight, ruddy-bearded and tall, a red griffin upon his surcoat, had appeared in the opening of the tent. His flushed face and dishevelled dress showed that he had come in haste. "Sire," said he, "I am Robert de Duras, of the household of the Cardinal de Perigord. I have told you yesterday all that I have learned of the English camp. This morning I was again admitted to it, and I have seen their wagons moving to the rear. Sire, they are in flight for Bordeaux."

"'Fore God, I knew it!" cried the Duke of Orleans in a voice of fury. "Whilst we have been talking they have slipped through our fingers. Did I not warn you?"

"Be silent, Philip!" said the King angrily. "But you, sir, have you seen this with your own eyes?"

"With my own eyes, sire, and I have ridden straight from their camp."

King John looked at him with a stern gaze. "I know not how it accords with your honor to carry such tidings in such a fashion," said he; "but we cannot choose but take advantage of it. Fear not, brother Philip, it is in my mind that you will see all that you would wish of the Englishmen before nightfall. Should we fall upon them whilst they cross the ford it will be to our advantage. Now, fair sirs, I pray you to hasten to your posts and to carry out all that we have agreed. Advance the oriflamme, Geoffrey, and do you marshal the divisions, Arnold. So may God and Saint Denis have us in their holy keeping this day!"

The Prince of Wales stood upon that little knoll where Nigel had halted the day before. Beside him were Chandos, and a tall sun-burned warrior of middle age, the Gascon Captal de Buch. The three men were all attentively watching the distant French lines, while behind them a column of wagons wound down to the ford of the Meuse.

Close in the rear four knights in full armor with open visors sat their horses and conversed in undertones with each other. A glance at their shields would have given their names to any soldier, for they were all men of fame who had seen much warfare. At present they were awaiting their orders, for each of them commanded the whole or part of a division of the army. The youth upon the left, dark, slim and earnest, was William Montacute, Earl of Salisbury, only twenty-eight years of age and yet a veteran of Crecy. How high he stood in reputation is shown by the fact that the command of the rear, the post of honor in a retreating army, had been given to him by the Prince. He was talking to a grizzled harsh-faced man, somewhat over middle age, with lion features and fierce light-blue eyes which gleamed as they watched the distant enemy. It was the famous Robert de Ufford, Earl of Suffolk, who had fought without a break from Cadsand onward through the whole Continental War. The other tall silent soldier, with the silver star gleaming upon his surcoat, was John de Vere, Earl of Oxford, [illegible]

Thomas Beauchamp, Seneschal, Lord, ruddy nobleman and a tried soldier, who leaned forward and tapped his mailed hand upon the other's steel-clad thigh. They were old battle-companions, of the same age and in the very prime of life, with equal fame and equal experience of the wars. Such was the group of famous English soldiers who sat their horses behind the Prince and waited for their orders.

"I would that you had laid hands upon him," said the Prince angrily, continuing his conversation with Chandos, "and yet, perchance, it was wiser to play this trick and make them think that we were retreating."

"He has certainly carried the tidings," said Chandos, with a smile. "No sooner had the wagons started than I saw him gallop down the edge of the wood."

"It was well thought of, John," the Prince remarked, "for it would indeed be great comfort if we could turn their own spy against them. Unless they advance upon us, I know not how we can hold out another day, for there is not a loaf left in the army; and yet if we leave this position where shall we hope to find such another?"

"They will stoop, fair sir, they will stoop to our lure. Even now Robert de Duras will be telling them that the wagons are on the move, and they will hasten to overtake us lest we pass the ford. But who is this, who rides so fast? Here perchance may be tidings."

A horseman had spurred up to the knoll. He sprang from the saddle, and sank on one knee before the Prince.

"How now, my Lord Audley," said Edward. "What would you have?"

"Sir," said the knight, still kneeling with bowed head before his leader, "I have a boon to ask of you."

"Nay, James, rise! Let me hear what I can do."

The famous knight-errant, pattern of chivalry for all time, rose and turned his swarthy face and dark earnest eyes upon his master. "Sir," said he, "I have ever served most loyally my lord your father and yourself, and shall continue so to do so long as I have life. Dear sir, I must now acquaint you that formerly I made a vow if ever I should be in any battle under your command that I would be foremost or die in the attempt. I beg therefore that you will graciously permit me to honorably quit my place among the others, that I may post myself in such wise as to accomplish my vow."

The Prince smiled, for it was very sure that vow or no vow, permission or no permission, Lord James Audley would still be in the van. "Go, James," said he, shaking his hand, "and God grant that this day you may shine in valor above all knights. But hark, John, what is that?"

Chandos cast up his fierce nose like the eagle which smells slaughter afar. "Surely, sir, all is forming even as we had planned it."

From far away there came a thunderous shout. Then another and yet another.

"See, they are moving!" cried the Captal de Buch.

All morning they had watched the gleam of the armed squadrons who were drawn up in front of the French camp. Now whilst a great blare of trumpets was borne to their ears, the distant masses flickered and twinkled in the sunlight.

"Yes, yes, they are moving!" cried the Prince.

"They are moving! They are moving!" Down the line the murmur ran. And then with a sudden impulse the archers at the hedge sprang to their feet and the knights behind them waved their weapons in the air, while one tremendous shout of warlike joy carried their defiance to the approaching enemy. Then there fell such a silence that the pawing of the horses or the jingle of their harness struck loud upon the ear, until amid the hush there rose a low deep roar like the sound of the tide upon the beach, ever growing and deepening as the host of France drew near.

CHAPTER XXVI.

Four archers lay behind a clump of bushes ten yards in front of the thick hedge which shielded their companions. Amid the long line of bowmen those behind them were their own company, and in the main the same who were with Knolles in Brittany. The four in front were their leaders; old Wat of Carlisle, Ned Widdington the red-headed Dalesman, the bald bowyer Bartholomew, and Samkin Aylward, newly rejoined after a week's absence. All four were munching bread and apples, for Aylward had brought in a full haversack and divided them freely amongst his starving comrades. The old Borderer and the Yorkshireman were gaunt and hollow-eyed with privation, while the bowyer's round face had fallen in so that the skin hung in loose pouches under his eyes and beneath his jaws.

Behind them lines of haggard, wolfish men glared through the underwood, silent and watchful save that they burst into a fierce yelp of welcome when Chandos and Nigel galloped up, sprang from their horses and took their station beneath them. All along the green fringe of bowmen might be seen the steel-clad figures of knights and squires who had pushed their way into the front line to share the fortune of the archers.

"I call to mind that I once shot six miles with a Kentish woodsman at Ashford—" began the Bowyer.

"Nay, nay, we have heard that story!" said old Wat impatiently. "Shut thy clap, Bartholomew, for it is no time to redeless gossip! Walk down the line, I pray you, and see if there be no frayed string, nor broken nock nor loosened whipping to be mended."

The stout bowyer passed down the fringe of bowmen, amidst a running fire of rough wit. Here and there a bow was thrust out at him through the hedge for his professional advice.

"Wax your heads!" he kept crying. "Pass down the wax-pot and wax your heads. A waxed arrow will pass where a dry will be held. Tom Beverley, you jack-thief! where is your bracer-guard? Your string will flay your arm ere you reach your up-shot this day. And you, Watkin, draw not to your mouth, as is your wont, but to your shoulder. You are so used to the wine-pot that the string must needs follow it. Nay, stand loose, and give space for your drawing arms, for they will be on us anon."

Only Medicine That Did Any Good

After Suffering Tortures For Years, This Lady Found Happy Relief In "Fruit-a-tives".

Frankville, Ont., June 11th, 1908.

"I have received most wonderful benefit from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I suffered for years from headaches and pain in the back, and I consulted doctors and took every remedy obtainable without any relief. Then I began taking "Fruit-a-tives" and this was the only medicine that ever did me any real good. I took several boxes altogether, and now I am entirely well of all my dreadful headaches and backaches.

I take "Fruit-a-tives" occasionally still, but I am quite cured of a trouble that was said to be incurable. I give this testimony voluntarily, in order that others who suffer as I suffered may try this wonderful medicine and be cured."

(Signed) MRS. FRANK EATON.

"Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial box, 25c—or sent post-paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Are All Advertised Medicines Fakes?

As well ask "Are all doctors quacks?" or "Are all lawyers shysters?" We all know there are ignorant quacks; does that prevent anyone calling in his good, old family physician in case of need and trusting him? There are shysters, but there are also honorable lawyers to whom we confidently trust our lives and fortunes.

There are fake medicines advertised; but they are not fakes because they are advertised. A good thing is worth advertising; we all want to know about it. The more a bad thing is advertised, the worse for it in the end.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is no fake; yet it is advertised; it advertises itself; and those who have used it are its best advertisers, and that free of cost.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved its merit by more than thirty years' general use. This simple, old-fashioned remedy, made from roots and herbs, has become the standard medicine for ailments peculiar to women,—its fame is world-wide.

Read this plain, honest statement of what the medicine did for one woman; her own words; if you doubt, write and ask her.

Toronto, Canada.—"I shall endeavor to describe to you how I felt before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I scarcely knew what it was to be well. I had awful bearing-down pains and usually before my monthly periods I suffered terribly and had to go to bed. I was not able to walk across the floor the pain was so bad. I doctored for a long time, but the doctor's treatment did not do me any good. I gave up all hopes of ever being well again until one day my husband saw the Compound advertised in the paper. He decided to get me a bottle, and I am thankful he did. I had not taken one bottle before I began to feel better, and I kept on taking it until now I am a different woman. It also helped me during maternity and childbirth. I can thoroughly recommend your Vegetable Compound to any woman who is afflicted with female troubles."—Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 138 Nassau St., Toronto, Canada.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no plausible stranger—it has stood the test of years.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

New Amberol Records by

Slezak

Leo Slezak, the great tenor, now sings for you in the Edison Phonograph the same famous arias from the Grand Operas that the New York audiences pay $5.00 a seat to hear. Just how great a singer Slezak is, is told in the following remark, quoted from the New York World the morning after a recent appearance of Slezak at the Metropolitan Opera House: "Caruso now has a rival."

Slezak has made ten records for the Edison, comprising the principal tenor songs from the more prominent roles of his repertoire—so that, while the New York opera goer pays $5.00 a seat to hear Slezak in one opera, with the Edison Phonograph and Amberol Records you get Slezak at his best in his ten best roles, including Otello, Lohengrin, Tannhauser, Rhadames in Aida and Rodolfo in La Boheme.

Only on Amberol Records can you get a full length rendering of these great arias—and only on the Edison Phonograph do you get Amberol Records. Hear these great Slezak Records at any Edison dealer's today.

ASTHMA

Mrs. Farndel of Clementsport, N. S., Suffered All Her Life From Asthma, But Was Permanently Cured by Catarrhozone After All Other Means Failed.

Mrs. Farndel gives the following statement of her case for the benefit of others who are suffering from asthma, and hopes that many will follow her example and use Catarrhozone:—

"I am now in my eightieth year and cannot recall the time when I was free from asthma. I had always choking cough, feverishness, spasms, difficulty in breathing, headache and nausea. My druggist advised Catarrhozone one day, and I bought a large outfit. It gave relief in five minutes, and helped me very much in one day.

"I inhaled Catarrhozone ten minutes every hour, and by the time two bottles were used I was completely cured. I am as free now from asthma as if I never had it. My perfect recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. I prize my Catarrhozone inhaler next to life itself."

WILLED THAT DAGGER PIERCE HER HEART

Laura White Also Decreed Her Body Should Lie Ten Days—Afraid of Burial Alive.

Pittsburg, Jan. 19.—"Thrust a dagger through my heart three times to make sure I am dead. Let my body lie ten days, cremate it and then bury the ashes in Allegheny Cemetery," were the written instructions found with the body of Miss Laura White, sixty-five. She was a daughter of the late Rev. Robert White, a clergyman of this city, who has been dead many years. She lived alone in Lawrenceville, and her decomposed body, half eaten by rats, was found in her kitchen. There were five different kinds of locks on its door. Apparently she had died a week ago.

Police found bank books and a will disposing of $100,000 to local charitable institutions in a trunk in the poorly furnished house. She had a library of 3,000 books, and spent most of her time with them alone. Many of her neighbours had supposed her to be poor and her home had been called the "house of mystery."

Part of her will reads:

"Having been all my life 'subject to bondage' through fear of premature burial, I will that my body be kept till evident signs of decomposition declare themselves, 'at least a week'; that it be visited and carefully inspected three times daily, for which the person performing this office shall, upon making affidavit that it should be faithfully performed, receive the sum of $50. Just before cremation it shall be stabbed three times through the heart by a duly accredited physician, who shall receive thereafter the sum of $20."

RATIONS FOR WINTER LAYERS

From Farm and Dairy.

S. Short, Carleton Co., Ont.

The scarcity of fresh eggs at this season, which is the rule with few exceptions amongst poultry keepers, brings up the question of rations. The general opinion, from the discussion on the subject by the members of the Ottawa fraternity, seems to be that mixed grain is better than one variety, that it should be fed in clean litter, such as forest leaves or straw to promote exercise and vigor, and that there should be plenty of vegetables—mangels preferred—or beets, cabbage, turnips, small potatoes or carrots. Also some animal food should be given in the shape of ground bone of home cooked meat from the stock pot. Some few did not feed soft feed but the majority were in favor of feeding sufficient to about half satisfy the fowl at mid day. My own opinion about soft feed is that it is a good ration for fowls in a warm house, and for active fowls like Leghorns, Minorcas and birds of that type. For heavy fowl in a cold house I think whole grain is better, and that soft feed should be fed sparingly to laying fowls.

To summarise, the following rations and equipment are recommended and if fed intelligently and systematically should produce good results if the fowl are of the proper age and the house at all comfortable. Mix grain in the following proportions: 40 per cent. wheat (good); 20 per cent. oats; 20 per cent. barley; 20 per cent. corn (whole).

Give one pound of this to every six birds in the morning, throw into fresh litter, a sparing feed of ground meal (soft food) at noon, and the same quantity of grain as the morning fed in the evening. Add to the above once or twice a week, an ounce of ground bone for each fowl, or meat supplied in any convenient way. Give fresh water daily.

Some discretion must be used as to the quantity of food supplied. The hens should go to roost with their crops full and yet not leave food around for rats or mice. If their crops are felt just after they have gone to roost the fullness or otherwise will indicate whether to increase or decrease the rations.

By the Way, Madam, What's An Ideal Food?

Once, Madam, a June Bride seeking information anxiously asked the heroine (?) three matrimonial ventures the secret of "How to be happy though married."

And the Experienced One's startling recipe

"Feed the Brute!"

Many a housewife feeds the partner of her joys and cares with mere filling concoctions without nutrition.

The poor man is fattened by the process just about as much as the chicken which swallows sand under the impression that it is being fed.

What—did you speak, Madam?

By the way, Mistress Housewife, what's an Ideal Food?

Don't worry about replying, for Dr. Robt. Hutchison (an eminent authority on such matters) has already defined it:

"An Ideal Food would contain about one part of Proteid to 4.2 parts of Carbohydrates."

Sounds very scientific, doesn't it, eh?

Protein for bone, and brain, and brawn building; Carbohydrates for fat just in comfortable measure to fill out the hollows and prevent the corners from hurting.

Once, Madam, a fellow who loved statistics stayed up nights and evolved the idea that the average man at moderate work requires about .28 lb. of protein to .28 lb. of fat and .99 lb. carbohydrate in his daily food. The harder he works the more he needs.

A woman takes care of eight-tenths as much as a man.

* * * *

But, Mistress Housewife, plain white bread—made from FIVE ROSES flour contains these three classes of nutrients in just about the right proportions.

Therefore, feed your man on this ideal food: FIVE ROSES rolls and breadstuffs.

Such bread contains the highest nutrients of the prime Manitoba spring wheat consistant with proper elimination of the hard outside skin.

But a man won't eat your bread simply because it's wholesome or because it's cheap. You know that, don't you, Madam?

He eats with his eyes as well as with his teeth—he wants it appetizing and tasty as well.

* * * *

Would you like, Madam, every bakeday to take from your oven piping hot a batch of rolls and loaves with an aroma, color, flavor which are your own monopoly:

A crisp, tooth-teasing crust that breaks with a snap; an elastic snowy crumb that springs back into shape after being pressed with the finger?

Lofty, well-piled loaves that bring that glow of pride to the maker.

All yours for the asking, Madam—

If you ask FIVE ROSES from your grocer.

MUZZLE TO MUZZLE

(A True Story.)

"NOW THEN, COLONEL M'CARTY, SIR," SAID THE FRIENDLY VOICE OF SIMPSON * * * "IT'S NO TIME NOR PLACE FOR SUCH THINGS." * * *

(Copyright, 1910, by the New York Herald Co. All Rights Reserved.)

INSIDE the court room the shouting and huzzas of rival partisans who crowded the square and neighboring streets formed a quivering undertone of excitement for the more guarded and immediate business of the election. Voters entered with flushed faces, fresh from the final cheer which speeded them on their mission, but unconsciously adopted the graver and sterner air pervading the actual work of polling the votes when they passed through the door. Here men's voices were low in pitch, if tense with meaning.

The opposing candidates had formed their immediate circles of friends and supporters early in the day in opposite corners of the room, where they could keep close watch upon each other and the progress of the conflict. A henchman sitting by each held a tally on which he marked as each man in the line voiced his choice to the clerk of the election. The tallying of the votes gave rise to triumphant or anxious murmurs as the issue swayed in the balance.

"John Bedee," announced the next voter, a small farmer.

"Bedee," came the monotonous answer of the clerk as he ran over his lists. "How do you vote, Mr. Bedee?"

"I vote for Simon Cantwell," said the farmer, and moved along to give room. There was a little stir in the corner where the democratic candidate sat, and one of the several who made the handshaking for Cantwell part of their duty hurried to congratulate and thank Bedee for his aid.

"Josiah Wemple," said the next man in the line. This was a tobacco planter of considerable means who aspired to be classed among the aristocracy of the county, and Cantwell had no hope of him.

"How do you vote, Mr. Wemple?" asked the clerk.

"For Archibald Hinman," answered the planter in a firm voice, and the ensuing buzz came from the corner where the federalist candidate sat among the members of his committee. Hinman himself, pale and plainly under acute nervous pressure, bent over the tally card which a friend held at his elbow.

"Two ahead," whispered the other, and Hinman nodded. The next instant a commotion near him brought him to his feet. General Armistead T. Mason, who was then serving as United States Senator for Virginia, Hinman's chief aid and adviser during the hustings, had risen and was forcing his way toward the election clerk. The next voter had taken his place and now gave his name, "John M. McCarty." He was a large man, of rather dissipated and careless appearance, with a handsome, puffy face and restless blue eyes that smiled good naturedly upon the world.

The election clerk bowed to him respectfully. "How are you voting, Colonel?" he asked. As McCarty was about to answer Mason gained the rank of onlookers just in front of him. The bustle attracted the voter's attention and he looked around to catch Mason's fiery eye fixed significantly upon him. Instantly he straightened, dropping his easy pose and returning Mason as direct a stare as he gave. Then a little smile played about the corners of his mouth. He stood as if waiting some further move on the part of Mason, but the General retained the attitude of one listening.

The Curse.

"I vote for Cantwell," said the Colonel aggressively, and passed on. Mason, uttering an angry exclamation, was about to follow him when Hinman hurried up and calmed his supporter.

"Damn him, sir!" said General Mason, struggling to free himself. "He did that just to spite me. I know him and his damned sneering ways. What does he care for Cantwell, except that I and every other gentleman are for you, sir?"

"Come, General," said Hinman, fearful of a scene, "I beg of you to make no disturbance. Let him vote as he chooses. I have no quarrel with him. And surely you should not. Why, the man's your own cousin."

"I know that, sir," answered Mason, crustily, as he suffered himself to be led away. "You need make the reproach no sharper by reminding me of the relationship. He is my cousin, and once again I am forced to regret it. He is the disgrace of the family."

McCarty had left the court room without a backward glance. General Mason, still fuming, subsided into a chair. "A blackguard, sir," he grumbled. "A confounded blackguard. I went out of my way to see him only last week. 'John,' I said, 'here is your chance to do something toward rehabilitating yourself as a gentleman. The respectable element will vote for Hinman. I've never asked anything of you, but you owe it to common decency to help him.' Now, could I have spoken to him fairer than that? And what does he do? He looks me up and down.

"'Armistead,' he says, with one of his nasty sneers, 'if I had any doubt as to how I should vote your very tactful request would have decided me.' That, sir, is my cousin! Damned if I don't think he's been laying awake o' nights gloating over the further disgrace he could bring on himself and me to-day."

"It's all right, General," said Hinman soothingly. "He's perfectly honest in it, I haven't a doubt. How would you advise? Joel thinks it is time to rally the Waltons and their friends for a final sweep."

The varying fortune of the battle absorbed Hinman and his friends wholly and more painfully as the afternoon wore on. The Waltons and others who had been kept in reserve as a phalanx to swing the doubtful situation into victory were hurled into the fray in a body. But Cantwell's followers were not to be caught napping. They hurried up reserves of their own and offset the advantage. Toward the end voters from distant parts of the district began to arrive. Most of those with the leisure and the means had already ridden in and cast their votes for Hinman. The men who came now belonged to the class to whom the democrat looked for support, and at the end Cantwell stood elected by nine votes.

When the result was announced the Hinman party broke up hastily. In the hour of defeat and futile irritation none observed General Mason. He took his own road and his own counsel and set about the round of the inns, sure of finding McCarty at one of them. "Colonel Jack," as he was popularly called, was never far from good cheer and the jolly companions of the bowl.

Mason came upon the man he sought in a public parlor, drinking uproariously, with the innkeeper on one side and a farmhand in a toil stained plough coat on the other.

"Colonel McCarty," began Mason abruptly, "may I interrupt you a moment, sir?"

McCarty arose, tossed off his glass with an amiable wink to the farmhand, and followed his cousin to the yard.

"John," said the General, dropping the polite for the familiar, "don't tell me this wasn't your doing. You swung those votes. We have to thank you for defeat."

Called a Traitor.

"Don't mention it, Armistead," said McCarty calmly.

"Then you don't deny it, sir?"

"I have your injunction not to do so," returned McCarty with a grin. And then the General's anger mastered him. He advanced, shaking a fist.

"Damn you, sir, for a traitor. You are not a gentleman, sir. This tops all your low escapades, your taste for low life and low company. If I needed to be further satisfied as to your unworthiness I have it here. You have sent to the Legislature a cheap, truckling demagogue and defeated a man you ought to be proud to associate with. I repudiate you, sir"——

Mason's exasperation was in full flood when McCarty checked him effectively with a gesture. The Colonel was a man of fine presence when he chose to assert his dignity, and there was a command in his erect pose and uplifted hand that brought attention from his angry relative.

"That is quite enough, sir! Do you hear? You speak of being satisfied. I will give you satisfaction in any way you like. What shall it be?"

"I repudiate you!" shrieked Mason. "I fight with no such low lived wretch."

"Repudiate," said McCarty. "Ah! there is the word I love. Your father wrested my mother's inheritance from her with rascally abyster practice. Do you hear that? And you, living on my property, my money, my fortune—I will have it so, sir—would repudiate me. Now I'll give you your chance to satisfy yourself of that assertion or anything else you may doubt. The blood in my veins is half again better than your own and no one can attaint it with impunity."

Mason fell back a step before the bitter ferocity of the other's words and manner. "You impudent liar!" he gasped.

"Liar, am I?" roared McCarty, now fully aroused. "That in your throat, you thief! What am I that you should use me so? If I am poor, if I must seek my friends among ploughmen and those who honestly toil, if I have no fine mansion or stable—it is you I have to thank for it, you and your father. Good God, to think that it should be you to take me to task and heap insults upon me for a matter of politics! But listen again. The score is too large already, sir. Do you hear?"

The very violence of McCarty had cooled Mason's temper. He checked the other in his turn. "I hear, sir, and so does the whole town, I think. There is no need to blare your vile slanders and further dishonor your name where all may mark. I made my mistake in ever addressing or recognizing you again."

He turned on his heel and started toward the street. McCarty, under the empire of hot passion, would have fallen bodily upon him but for a strong hand that held him back. "Now then, Colonel McCarty, sir," said the friendly voice of Timpson, mine host of the inn. "It's no time nor place for such things, sir. Come into the parlor with the pleasant lads just come to drink to Mr. Cantwell, sir, and a bright day it is for all of us. I've come from brewin' some punch. You'll find it of the best, sir."

McCarty stood a moment undecided, then laughed and clapped Timpson on the back. "You have the right of it," he said. "We'll attend to less cheerful matters in their season. Lead on to the punch."

The Challenge.

The following afternoon General Mason received a letter which had been delivered at his home by a negro messenger. It read as follows:—

"General Armistead T. Mason:—

"Sir—I do not think you will refuse me the right of satisfaction for your unpardonable speech of yesterday. I will meet you, with proper witnesses, at six o'clock to-morrow morning at Slate Hill. We will fight with pistols at six paces.

"Y'r ob'd't servant,

"JOHN M. McCARTY."

The recipient of this strange missive scanned it with astonishment and contempt. Within an hour he had despatched the following answer by the negro:—

"John M. McCarty:—

"Sir—It is plain to me that you are completely ignorant of all considerations that govern the relations of gentlemen. I know of nothing that could induce me to pay any attention to the purport of your wholly irregular communication. No challenge has passed between us, if I may point out the most obvious difficulty. You should know me better than to think that I may be bludgeoned and constrained into entering any such unprecedented engagement.

"ARMISTEAD T. MASON."

Those who passed through the streets of the little Virginia town the following morning paused to read a conspicuous placard nailed to a giant elm near the Court House square. Curious groups formed and reformed about it, and the declaration it bore was carried to all parts of the county before noon. Not long after that hour a military figure on a lathered horse dashed into town, through the street to the elm and tore the placard into strips. But any one in the place could have repeated it from memory years afterward. This was its purport:—

"I herewith publicly brand Armistead T. Mason as a poltroon, a liar and a scoundrel, too cowardly to merit further recognition as kin of the undersigned.

"JOHN M. McCARTY."

The next step in the quarrel was taken by Mason just as soon as he could find a friend to represent him. Major Hutchins, of the regular army, consented to act for him, and waited upon McCarty in his little home without loss of time. McCarty received him courteously.

"It would save a deal of circumlocution if you would nominate some gentleman who can represent you in this affair, Colonel," said the visitor.

"And it would save a deal of beating around the bush if we came immediately to the point, Major," replied McCarty. "Now, what is it? I suppose you bear a challenge from my cousin."

"Certainly. He challenges you flatly and insists that I consult with your second as soon as you appoint one."

"Well, take him his answer. I gave him his opportunity to take satisfaction of me and render the same. He refused it with the utmost scorn. Here is his letter. I now consider myself relieved of all usual responsibilities in such matters. Let him sue for his satisfaction. I shall spread such reports of him and his cowardice as best suit me and he has forfeited the right to call me to account. And I shall pay no attention to any challenge because he does not mean business. That is all, Major."

The protests of Major Hutchins and the fevered defiance penned by the enraged Mason failed to make the slightest impression upon McCarty. He took the stand that Mason had deliberately avoided one encounter. No man on the earth, he said, should have a second opportunity to slight him in that matter. Mason's friends finally pointed out to him that his only way to silence McCarty's evil tongue was to lash him in the public street. But Mason steadfastly refused to take such a course.

In Washington.

"You forget, sir," he said to the first who urged this method upon him, "the fellow is still of my blood," the son of my father's sister. I cannot strike him as I might a slave. I shall have to await such time as I can find legitimate means of forcing him into the open."

Soon afterward Mason went up to Washington to take his place in the Senate, and with his temporary removal from the county people began to forget the quarrel pending between the cousins. Mason served out the term as Senator, having been chosen to fill a vacancy caused by death. He made no attempt to retain the office, but announced himself as a candidate for the House at the next election. He was nominated by the federalists and made a brisk campaign, but was defeated by his democratic opponent, Mercer, for a seat in the Fifteenth Congress.

Colonel McCarty, in the meanwhile had drifted to Washington and was not present during his cousin's renewed activity in the political field. He watched the struggle with interest, and exerted such influence as he possessed against Mason. The General in the course of a personal canvass was made aware of the ponderable efforts of McCarty, and after his defeat was heard several times to declare that his cousin had contributed largely to that result.

It was February 1, 1819, some two years after their violent falling out, that the men came face to face in the street at the capital. McCarty, who was in the midst of one of his periodic accessions of prosperity, stared haughtily over his immaculate shirt bosom and stalked by with swinging cane. Mason, smarting as much from what he considered to be the other's insufferable insolence as from the memory of past grievances, yielded to sudden rage. He turned and placed himself directly in McCarty's path.

"Sir," he said. "Have you thought better of your refusal to answer my demands?"

"Why, no, sir," returned McCarty coolly. "I have given you all the answer you can expect."

"You shall hear further from this," cried Mason.

The next day the General despatched another challenge, couched in insulting terms. Major Hutchins was again his representative and took occasion to urge his principal's claims. McCarty flushed as he read the message.

"Do you think he really means it this time?" he demanded of Hutchins.

"He is fully determined to meet you, Colonel," answered the other.

"We'll see if he is," said McCarty with a sneer. "Here is my proposal. I'll submit to any one of three things with him—we shall both leap from the dome of the Capitol together, or we shall fight with pistols seated on an open barrel of powder, or we shall be tied with hands free and armed with dirks. Now let us know how my valiant cousin stomachs that."

"You make a mock of him, sir," protested Hutchins.

"Not in the least," returned McCarty. "If he is so desirous of satisfaction I give him his opportunity."

Hutchins returned the next day with the answer that Mason, very properly he thought, would not entertain any such barbarous suggestions. He added, however, that he would not refuse any terms, no matter how deadly, that could be regarded as falling within the usual operation of the code.

Muzzle to Muzzle.

"Then this is my final word," was McCarty's answer. "I will fight him with muskets, double shotted and muzzle to muzzle. If he refuses that he gets no more attention from me. And if I know him he will refuse."

Mason's answer was prompt. He accepted the conditions and Major Hutchins would make all arrangements. McCarty, somewhat surprised but quite satisfied with the outcome, named J. Y. Burke as a friend who would act for him.

On the morning of February 4, 1819, the cousins and their respective parties met at Bladensburg, just over the border of the District of Columbia, in Maryland. The spot had already become famous as the scene of belligerent encounters and was to gain still darker significance through the first half century of American history.

The weapons carried by the seconds were army muskets. The terms had been modified to specify but a single ball to the loading, for the firearms carried a heavy charge and were quite as deadly at close range without double shot. During the preliminaries the opponents stood apart, each conversing easily with the few friends who had been invited to attend. Neither gave the slightest outward sign that there was any business at hand that might not lead to a jovial session at some tavern.

McCarty was radiant in his latest and most modish apparel, chatting and smiling affably, his ruddy face aglow with good humor. Mason, though at all times of a more serious turn, was quite himself and discussed the purchase of a certain horse with one of the gentlemen about him who came from his own county. It was only after the seconds had measured off the distance and tested the weapons that the adversaries gave proof of the hatred that moved them.

McCarty inspected the level stretch of turf with careful eye, and noted where two wands thrust into the ground marked the respective positions for the combatants. He turned to Burke and led him aside.

"What is this?" he demanded. "I distinctly said that we were to fight as close as might be, allowing for the barrels of the muskets. What have you measured?"

"Four paces," said Burke. "In all decency we could not make it less. As it is, your muzzles will almost touch."

"Let it pass, then," said McCarty. "But I would not have him think that I have made my conditions less stringent."

He walked slowly to his mark and received his musket from his second, looked carefully to the priming and sighted toward the ground. Then he stood at attention, his weapon lowered across his body and held in both hands. Mason had taken a similar position, and there was a pause of a moment while they looked into each other's eyes. Mason was a trifle pale, and McCarty, observing the slight proof of emotion, allowed his faint, provocative smile to curl his lips. The expression irritated Mason, as it never failed to do, and braced him like a dash of icy spray. His eyes blazed and McCarty returned the mute defiance.

"Gentlemen, are you ready?" asked Hutchins.

"I am," answered McCarty.

"Ready," said Mason.

"Present! One!" began Hutchins.

The duellists swung their weapons to their shoulders at the first word. McCarty, who was the stronger in his wrists and arms, brought his musket to a level the smallest fraction of a second before his adversary. It was just as Hutchins began the second count that the Colonel's finger pressed the trigger. The report of his weapon, however, made almost a continuous roar with that of Mason's.

The thick smoke of the explosions hid the combatants from the watchers for a moment, but when it lifted they could see that both had fallen. The surgeons and seconds hurried forward. McCarty had received a shot through his right shoulder, a dangerous but not a fatal wound. As Burke raised him from the ground and cut away his shirt he spoke feebly.

"What about—him?" he asked.

"Dead. Shot through the heart," replied Burke.

"Then he got his satisfaction," said McCarty, and fainted.

LOCAL TREATMENT FOR WOMEN'S DISORDERS

The health we enjoy depends very largely upon how the blood circulates in our bodies, in other words, if we have perfect circulation we will have perfect health.

There is a constant wearing out of the tissues in every part of the body. The blood flowing through the veins carries off this waste or dead matter, while the blood coming from the heart through the arteries brings the fresh new living tissue, the essence of the food we have digested, to replace what has been carried off. This constant wearing out and expelling of the dead matter and the replacing of it with new matter, atom by atom, goes on day and night, until in about 7 years a complete change has been effected. Thus every man and woman has an entirely different body in every particle of it from what he or she had 7 years before.

It sometimes happens, however, from a variety of causes, that the blood becomes congested in certain portions of the body. This means that the blood vessels in these parts become weakened, and the circulation in that section of the body becomes sluggish and stagnant. The consequence is that the dead matter in that part of the body is only partially carried away, and that but little of the new, vital matter is introduced there to build up and strengthen the tissues and nerves.

This condition invariably exists in all cases of female disorders. The dead matter retained in the circulation, which should have been expelled, causes irritation and inflammation of the delicate membranes, and oppresses the nerve centres. This condition is the cause of the grievous physical and mental suffering which accompanies female troubles.

To obtain relief it is evident that the first thing to be done is to get rid of the dead matter which is being held in the circulation. If this dead matter is allowed to remain there a species of blood poisoning will result and nature will endeavor to get rid of it by forming ulcers, tumors, etc.

The above explanation will also show why ORANGE LILY is so successful in curing this condition. It is a local treatment, and is applied direct to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissue, and from the very start the dead matter begins to be discharged. A feeling of immense relief, both mental and physical, accompanies it, and the improvement is constant and positive. This feature of the expelling of the dead matter is always present to a greater or less extent, and in some cases it is so marked as to be amazing. The case described in the following letter is not exceptional:

Dr. Coonley—I am thankful to Mrs. F. E. Currah, your Canadian representative, for my health restored by your wonderful remedy. I have suffered for 17 years, but not so bad until 3 years ago. Then I had a doctor, who told me I had a tumor, and could live no more than a year. If I went through an operation I would not live through it. A year later I sent for him again, and he gave me up to die. My husband then sent for another doctor, who performed an operation, and it did me much good. I doctored with him 3 or 4 months, but became so bad again that I thought I could live no longer, and I began to long to die. One day my husband came home and threw a slip of paper to me with Mrs. Currah's address and told me a lady had advised him to write to her for a treatment that would cure me. I said it was too late, that I would die anyway. I could not lift a teacup without hurting me. Then the first doctor told me I was worse than ever. However, my husband sent for ORANGE LILY, and the third treatment brought away one tumor. Others followed, until 7 tumors had been expelled, 3 large ones and 4 small ones. I know if it had not been for ORANGE LILY I would have died, for I could not live much longer. I would have thought it cheap at one hundred dollars for a month's treatment, instead of one dollar. It is worth its weight in gold.—MRS. GEO. LEWIS, Huntsville, Ont.

The above letter is published with Mrs. Lewis' permission. All letters received are treated as being sacredly confidential, but occasionally some patient feels so grateful for being cured that she is willing to make the matter known for the benefit and encouragement of her suffering sisters.

ORANGE LILY is a positive, scientific remedy for all disorders of the female functions. As explained above these troubles are of local origin, and require local treatment. It is just as sensible to take medicine internally for female troubles as it would be to take medicine internally for a bruise, a boil or an ulcerated tooth. In all these cases some dead matter is being retained, and the cure is effected by employing local methods for expelling the dead matter. ORANGE LILY has antiseptic, soothing and healing properties, and also tones up and invigorates blood vessels and nerves. I am so anxious that every suffering woman may satisfy herself, without cost to her, that ORANGE LILY will cure her, that I hereby make the following

I will send, without charge, to every reader of this notice who suffers in any way from any of the troubles peculiar to women, if she will send me her address, enough of the ORANGE LILY treatment to last her ten days. In many cases this trial treatment is all that is necessary to effect a complete cure, and in every instance it will give very noticeable relief. If you are a sufferer, you owe it to yourself, to your family and to your friends to take advantage of this offer and get cured in the privacy of your home, without doctors' bills or expense of any kind. COMPLETE REPORT OF THIS DISCOURSE WILL BE PUBLISHED IN THIS PAPER WHEN DELIVERED. THE PASTOR RUSSELL SERMONS NOW REACH APPROXIMATELY TEN MILLION HOMES WEEKLY.

Every family receiving and reading weekly a wholesome, uplifting and helpful, unsectarian sermon treating exclusively Biblical topics, soon finds itself in possession of much valuable knowledge of God's revelation of his purposes toward and for mankind. Pastor Russell's sermons are published in high class papers in hundreds of cities. Political, financial, social and religious problems peculiar to each city are not discussed in the Brooklyn Tabernacle Sermons, Pastor Russell leaving the discussion of all such matters exclusively to the local clergy.

Every family in this section should read the Brooklyn Tabernacle Sermons appearing regularly each week in this paper. Pastor Russell's life endeavor is to help every Christian to a better knowledge of God's Word so that his every effort in serving the Lord may be the more effective, no matter to what denomination he may belong.

To Install Lunch Counter At C. P. R. Station, Havelock

Examiner Special.

Havelock, January 19th.—Mr. George Liscombe, of Vancouver, B. C., was in town last week renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Liscombe was formerly a resident of Havelock and his many friends are extending the glad hand.

Miss Margaret Major of Strathroy is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thos. Lloyd.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Methodist Church entertained the members of the "Ladies' Auxiliary" of St. John's Church and the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian Church to an afternoon tea at Mrs. John Burnett's on Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6.

Mr. McMullen of Peterboro was in town last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McWilliams of Peterborough were in town last week the guests of Mr. J. Burgess.

The hayrack ride and oyster supper under the auspices of the Amity Club, held on Wednesday night last, was largely attended and proved an enjoyable affair.

Mr. Ward Patterson is confined to his home suffering from an attack of quinsy.

Mrs. Clarke and Miss M. McWilliams have returned to town after a month's vacation at their home in Marmora.

Reeve Hubble of Marmora was in town last week.

Miss Alice Greame of Madoc, was the guest of Mrs. C. A. Ghent last week. Mrs. Ghent accompanied her home to Madoc, where she will spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. Spurr.

A lunch counter will be opened in the C. P. R. station in the near future.

Mrs. Thos. Lloyd entertained a few friends on Thursday evening last in honor of her guest, Miss Margaret Major.

Mr. Jas. E. Fowler is confined to his bed suffering from a severe attack of quinsy.

Mr. Robt. Walton, who was operated on for appendicitis lately at Toronto, arrived home on Tuesday. His many friends will be glad to learn he is recovering though slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pace of Cordova, were in town on Friday.

Mrs. Robert Ford and daughter, Miss Nellie, of Omemee, were the guests of her brother, J. W. Bryans, last Friday and Saturday.

Miss Lottie Chiles of Peterboro was in town Friday.

Miss Jean Robson of Norwood was in town Friday.

Mr. Matthew Spencer of Dunara, Man., is visiting friends in town and the vicinity.

Miss Lillie Kng of Percy and Miss West of Alnwick, were the guests of Mrs. Jas. Colquhoun the past two weeks.

Mr. W. Campbell and children have returned from visiting friends at Sharbot Lake.

Rev. D. Balfour was in Springbrook on Monday night, Jan. 3rd, where he delivered an address at a Methodist tea in that Hamlet.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Spellman, Dr. Wade and Mr. Jas. McCarty of Hastings were guests of friends in town on Sunday last.

Mrs. Dr. Holdcroft is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Rev. Ben. Oleil at Cobourg.

A number from town attended a party in the country on Friday night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson. All report a jolly time and enjoyed the sleigh ride immensely.

Rev. James E. Moore, Ph. B., of Marmora conducted the missionary anniversary services on Sunday at the Methodist Church, both morning and evening, and at Trent Bridge in the afternoon at 2.30. Rev. D. Balfour officiated at Marmora.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed on Sunday in the Presbyterian church, during the morning service. The preparatory service was held on Friday evening last.

Mrs. Alex. Quinn entertained a few friends at her home on Friday evening last.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Colquhoun have returned home from Snow Road, where they attended the funeral of the former's grandmother.

Mr. M. Lynch and Son, spent Monday and Tuesday with friends at Roseneath.

What might have been a bad fire occourred Monday morning in T. P. Lancaster's printing office, caused by ashes being put in a box, never thinking here could be any live coals, but some there were and during the night kept smouldering away. It was first noticed by Dr. Thompson, who gave the alarm; and the flames were soon extinguished. Damage amounted to a large hole being burned in the floor and everything badly smoked. This case should prove a warning to people to be more careful with ashes.

Messrs. Andrews, Parkins, Rose and Matheson spent Sunday in Norwood.

The young people of St. John's church expect to commence practising for another "drama," which will be put on in the Opera House shortly after Easter.

WEAR WHISKERS AND CATCH COLD

A deeply observing person who claims to have discovered that men who wear whiskers or moustache are much more liable to catch cold than are the clean-shaven, has inspired the scientifically learned London Lancet to look into the matter.

It is suggested that the habit of daily shaving may prove an antiseptic process which regularly removes pathogenic organisms, which otherwise lurk and grow in the beard or moustache. It is, of course, conceivable that the moustache affords a nursery for organisms, especially as it must be moist, and occupies a position close to the breathing intake.

Further, it is reasonable enough to assume that the daily shave does, as a matter of fact, amount to a regular antiseptic routine. The moustache is obviously difficult to clean thoroughly, and it is open to doubt whether mere washing completely sterilizes it. Even if that should be the case, the moustache would soon be full of organisms again, as it is constantly exposed to a stream of air which is rarely sterile.

However, there should be a similar immunity enjoyed by women unless we lay stress on the fact that no method in their toilet amounts to the drastic cleansing process of the razor and soap. Moreover, fine downy hair is natural to the lips of women and children.

The observation is an interesting one, and its author sends some confirmation of his view in the shape of details of cases in which the subjects, while regular sufferers from common cold when they wore a moustache, seem to have enjoyed a comparative immunity since they have shaved clean.

At any rate here seems to be one more argument in favour of the very modern practice among men of wearing their faces without trimmings.

NO MORE COASTING ON SHERBROOKE ST.

The interference of P. C. McGinty with a gang of boys who were coasting down the hill on Sherbrooke street, just west of the boundary, proved a bitter pill last night, and an indignation meeting was held afterwards, without any hope being expressed of a brighter future. Recent weather conditions have put the hill in excellent shape, and the "bob" sleighs sped down Sherbrooke street almost to Park street. Every night there was a crowd of boys and girls of all ages, from 8 to 20, and not a few minor accidents were reported. The climax came on Wednesday when a long "bob" crashed into a cutter, breaking a shaft, shattering a runner and generally debilitating the outfit. A young fellow named Fair had his head cut open and was unable to attend school the next morning. The owner of the cutter complained to Chief Roszel, hence the visit of P. C. McGinty to the hill.

The Chief told the Examiner today that the boys were a nuisance on the hill, and the practice is contrary to a by-law. The boys may go up to the hill provided they remain there, but they must not coast. They are a menace to persons driving along the street; they are in danger of harming each other, and they had better cease the practice. Those who want to test the by-law will be given the opportunity if they persist in the fun, which is under the law's ban. A little boy received a long gash in his arm last night in a collision, just before the policeman's arrival.

Chills, Colds, Pleurisy

Dressing lightly, exposed to drafts, cold is easily taken. Give twenty drops of Nerviline in hot water at once. Circulation and warmth will be restored, and pleurisy, inflammation, or congestion prevented. Equally good for colds, breaks up their beginnings at once. If you only knew what a great remedy Nerviline is, that it is five times stronger than other liniments, more penetrating, more pain subduing, you would not be without it.

Nerviline

Ninety-nine sicknesses out of a hundred can be prevented at the very beginning by the use of Nerviline. Saves doctors' bills—the great pain saver of the age—in use 50 years. Large 25c bottles sold everywhere.

SPOIL CHILDREN BY DENYING YOURSELF

The question to what extent parents should deny themselves in order to provide their children with luxuries is always a debatable one, and yet it has to be faced at some time or other by every father and mother of a family

It has been contended, with a great deal of truth, that many of life's failures are the direct result of over-indulgence on the parent's part. It very often happens that children who have had their every wish and whim gratified at the expense of the old people prove not only a grave menace to their own safety and well-being, but to the world at large, or, at least, that part of it through which they move.

What, however, your parents can give the children you bring into the world is a very large part of your sympathy, counsel and love. Instead of blessing them with material gifts, bestow upon them the precious benefits of your wisdom, affection and advice. Lay yourself out to study their temperaments, make yourself acquainted with their weaknesses and their virtues; strengthen the one, encourage the other. And—perhaps a greater gift still—let your own life be to them the perfect example—a life of endless control, of moderation, unselfishness, and devotion. How much better, how far more blessed, than denying yourself worldly luxuries in order that they may derive passing pleasures from the gifts you give them.

After all, it is right that you yourself should reap the reward of your earthly toil and the mere recognition of that on the part of the children will help them, spur them on, to achieve when their time comes, what you have already done.

Oh, how many doting fathers there are whose one aim is to amass wealth that it may be lavished recklessly on sons and daughters! Never was greater temptation nor heavier curse laid on any young man or woman — to find at his or her fingers' ends money to be squandered at will without thought or care.

No, it is not wise to make your own life one of continual self-denial that your children may live in comfort. Bring them up to know the value of money, to realize that solid labour brings its own reward, and then when the proper time comes, and they are grown to man's or woman's estate, by all means they should share in the wealth and honours which the head of all the house had striven so hard and so well to win.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

"DON'T MAKE THE SAME MISTAKE THAT I DID, BOY, BEGIN NOW."

Its Use Becomes a Habit Easily Acquired and One of the Best

The young are liable to dandruff as their elders. Accustom your child to the use of Newbro's Herpicide and you will never have a bald headed son nor a daughter wearing false hair.

Herpicide will keep the hair and scalp sweet and clean, kills the dandruff germ and stops that terrible itching which causes the child to scratch and dig the head. The Herpicide habit is a habit of cleanliness.

A THICK CRUST OF DANDRUFF NOTHING WOULD REMOVE

"I used one bottle of Herpicide on my daughter's head and am charmed with the result. She always had a thick crust of dandruff which nothing would remove. I shampooed her head once a week with your soap and rubbed her scalp and hair with Herpicide. The crust has disappeared and what little dandruff remains will be destroyed by another bottle. I take pleasure in recommending Newbro's Herpicide to my friends as a great scalp remedy and hair grower. I will always use Herpicide."

Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Frank T. Morgan,

James I. and Billiards.

James I. appears to have inherited his mother's love of billiards. Among the payments from his privy purse noted in the exchequer records is one to "Henry Waller, our joyner, for a billiards boarde. Twelve foote longe and fower foote broade, the frame being wallnuttree, well wrought and carved, with eight great skrewes and eighteen small skrewes." A salutary billiard rule in force in the days of the Stuarts was one to the effect that no bystander, even though he was betting on the game, should be allowed to offer advice unless asked. If he did so it was provided that "he shall for every fault instantly forfeit twopence for the good of the company or not be suffered to stay in the room."—London Chronicle.

"Does your husband carry a latchkey, Mrs. Homebody?"

"No, I never knew him to."

"Oh, then he comes in early! That must be due to your training?"

"Not in the least. There is always some one up when he gets home in the morning."—Chicago Record-Herald.

CREAMERY PROBLEMS

From Farm and Dairy.

What we shall have to say about creamery problems will centre about three words, which are associated with progress. These words are, more, better, brighter. We prefer these words rather than most, best, brightest, because the latter indicate the highest possible achievement and when man has reached this stage there is nothing further to be done. He may as well quit this place of existence. Progressive, improving, do-better dairymen are what is needed in the creamery and all other branches of the dairy.

MORE CREAM PER COW AND PER ACRE.

Larger dairy farms are not needed in Western Ontario. Because cream is a more or less indefinite commodity it will suit our purpose better if we use the term, milk-fat. Some recent investigations in Ontario would indicate that the amount of milk fat supplied to creameries is less than one-half pound per cow daily. If the average 100 acres carry 10 cows, and the cows milk 250 days in a year, we have 1250 lbs. milk fat produced on 100 acres—an average of 12½ lbs. per acre. If we spread 12 ½ lbs. fat over one acre of land we shall have a very thin coating, so thin that it could not be seen with the naked eye. If we can increase the milk fat production to 300 lbs. per cow and the number of cows to 50, per 100 acres, a by no means impossible increase, we shall have a production of 150 lbs. milk fat per acre, which would be a visible quantity. If this were done it would mean more profit to the farmer, less expense for hauling cream, hence less cost for manufacturing as the cost of hauling the cream is about one-half the total expense for making the butter.

MORE BUTTER PER GALLON OF CREAM.

A great deal of loss to the farm and extra expense to the creameryman results from what is commonly known as 'thin' cream, i.e., cream containing too small a proportion of fat and too large an amount of skim milk. Manufacturers and agents of cream separators can do a great deal to assist on this point. With average milk the separator ought to be so regulated that not more than 12 per cent. of the whole milk is taken as cream. This will give a cream testing about 30 per cent. fat. The advantage to the farmer in having cream which tests about 30 per cent. is that he thereby has more valuable food for stock and more fertility for the farm. The creameryman obtains more butter from a given volume of cream which is likely to be of better quality as it is the skim milk in cream which is the cause of sourness and most of the bad flavours.

MORE MONEY PER POUND OF BUTTER.

What is a pound of butter worth as human food? It would be difficult to give a direct answer to the question because the value of foods is always comparative. A food has a certain value compared with something else. Generally speaking, we believe that butter is worth not less than 25 cents a pound. If there was less poor, cheap, dairy butter put on the market it would tend to increase consumption and price. If farmers would patronize creameries, instead of making the butter at home and selling it, or "trading it out" at stores, and allow the expert saleaman of the creamery to sell the butter, the price of butter could be advanced at least five cents a pound. We know of a creamery that practically controls the butter market of a certain city and as a result of the farmers having patronized this creamery, the prices obtained for their butter are fully five cents a pound more than they formerly received after paying the cost of manufacturing, and they are saved the labor and expense of making the butter at home.

BETTER CREAM.

Stronger efforts are needed towards the improving of cream, the raw material for buttermaking. Ideal cream is that which is not over 24 hours old, sweet and clean in appearance and flavor, and tests an average of about 30 per cent fat. Where pasteurization is practised sweet cream is very important in order to reduce the loss of fat in the buttermilk. Experiments conducted at the O. A. College during 1909 gave the following losses of fat in the buttermilk when cream of various percentages of acidity were pasteurized:

Cream containing less than 35 per cent. acid-buttermilk contained .18 per cent. fat.

Cream containing less than .35 to .4 per cent. acid-buttermilk contained .2 per cent. fat.

Cream containing less than .4 to .5 per cent. acid-buttermilk contained .34 per cent. fat.

Cream containing over .5 per cent. acid-buttermilk contained .52 per cent. butter fat.

These results indicate the importance of sweet cream where pasteurization is followed.

Cream containing a relatively high percentage of fat, kept at a low temperature (50 deg. F. or under) and delivered frequently (at least three times a week) are favorable conditions for obtaining better cream at creameries.

BETTER BUTTER.

Better butter means butter of cleaner, sweeter flavor, uniform in color, properly salted and put up in packages suitable for the market to which it is sent, and shipped to the consumer while in a fresh condition. Where butter is to be kept for any length of time or where uniform quality is desired pasteurization of the cream is one of the greatest aids in making better butter. The markets of the world are asking for more butter and better butter. It is the business of the creamery managers to supply this demand and exact the price. In the words of a somewhat slang phrase: "Plan your work, then work your plan."

This leads to the central thought of my address. One of the biggest creamery problems is how to obtain

BETTER MANAGED CREAMERIES.

To obtain this it is necessary to have:

1. A good manager, a tactful, good business man.
2. Loyal patrons, those who stay with the creamery, through good report and ill so long as the business is well managed.
3. Quick, safe sales, with prompt returns are necessary.
4. Prompt monthly or bi-monthly settlement with patrons.
5. A proper system of book-keeping and clear, concise monthly statements.
6. Careful, honest drivers.

CROSS, SLEEPLESS BABIES ARE SICKLY BABIES

When little ones are sleepless and cross it is a sure sign that they are not well. Probably the little stomach or the bowels is out of order, or the child may be suffering from teething troubles. Give Baby's Own Tablets and see how quickly the child grows well and happy and sleeps soundly—not the drugged sleep of "soothing" medicines, but the natural sleep of health. COST OF PRODUCING GRAPES

From Farm and Dairy.

In the issue of Farm and Dairy for December 30, an article appeared on this page entitled: "Is Grape Growing Profitable?" This was the subject of an address at the Ontario Fruit Growers' Convention in Toronto last November by Mr. Murray Pettit of Winona, Ont., who answered the question in the negative.

An interesting discussion followed Mr. Pettit's address, most of the growers stating that Mr. Pettit's estimated cost of production was a little high. Mr. Fred Goring, St. David's, who has earlier soil and an earlier location said that he finds the cost of production much less than the figures given by Mr. Pettit and that his prices are better. Mr. Robt. Thompson claimed that grapes can be grown for one-half the cost mentioned. Mr. E. D. Smith also thought that Mr. Pettit's figures were a little high. He said the growers should not be discouraged because grapes sold at a loss towards the end of last season. Wine men have been off the markets for two years. Unfermented wine will be made in the near future in this province, and will take one-half of the crop. Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that co-operation in itself will not raise prices. He stated that there are no middlemen in the business to-day except those absolutely necessary to the collection, distribution and sale of the crop.

The premature marketing of grapes came in for a considerable discussion. Mr. Robt. Thompson said that it would work its own cure. The man who cuts early will get less money than if he had waited a little while. Prices will drop in two or three days and stay down. Mr. M. Pettit thought that it required more than education. He believed that legislation is necessary to prevent this kind of fraud. Mr. C. E. Bassett, a large fruit grower in Michigan, said that the matter is within the control of co-operative associations as far as their members are concerned. Such associations find that it does not pay and they will not open their cars early enough in the season for the reception of green grapes. Immature grapes at all seasons should be refused.

FEEDS FOR FATTENING HOGS

From Farm and Dairy.

Extensive experiments in feeding hogs have been carried on by the Ohio experiment station. A summary of the results of these experiments is as follows:

Corn alone at prices approximating those that now prevail, is not a profitable ration to use in pork production.

Feeds richer in protein and mineral constituents should be supplied to supplement corn in a way to provide for the growth of muscle and bone as well as for the production of fat.

The use of supplement feeds of the character mentioned in the preceding paragraph has given good results for feeding in ordinary dry lots, in cattle feed-lots and on pasture.

Skim milk, tankage, middlings and pasture grass all proved valuable feeds for use in connection with corn. The supplemental feed to use will depend very largely upon market prices.

In the comparison of light and heavy grain rations for dry lot feeding, no marked advantage of either was evident so far as economy of gains was concerned. As would be expected, the heavy grain ration produced more rapid gains than did the light grain rations.

Marked economy in cost of gains resulted from the use of a light grain ration in place of a heavy grain ration for swine on pasture. If a cheaper feed may be used in place of the grain, it is often possible to lessen very materially the cost of pork production by feeding a light grain ration. If concentrates are to be used exclusively, the use of a heavy grain ration would be advisable, unless the aim of the feeder is to hold the stock in a low or moderate condition in order to secure cheaper feeds for fattening later.

It is important for feeders to understand market conditions as well as efficiency of feeds. The rations that produce the most rapid gains are not necessarily the most profitable feeds to use. On the other hand, rations that produce cheap gains may produce these gains so slowly that the profits will be very small.

Either home grown or commercial supplemental feeds may be used in connection with corn to good advantage and feeders should be ready to use whichever will be most profitable. It will often pay to exchange farm grown feeds for commercial feeds. On the other hand it is often true that the use of feeds grown on the farm will prove more profitable than the use of commercial feeds.

Feeds other than those discussed in this bulletin have given good results when used to supplement corn. Buttermilk, meat meal, linseed oil-meal, clover, alfalfa and various other feeds may often be fed with corn to good advantage. Whatever feeds are used in pork production, the feeder should pay close attention to market prices of the various feeds that may be had, and use the most economical, efficient feeds that are available.

Whitefield on Love and Marriage.

George Whitefield, the most persuasive preacher England has produced, who died on Sept. 30, 1770, could appeal so powerfully to the emotions that he once enticed all the money from the pocket of the prudent Franklin. Yet he strangely anticipated some modern unromantic views on the subject of marriage. In 1740 he applied to the parents of a young lady for the hand of their daughter, adding, "If I know anything of my own heart I am free from that foolish passion which the world calls love."

When this prosaic proposal was declined the undaunted Whitefield married an elderly Welsh widow "neither rich nor beautiful." This "merry widow" did not make a congenial helpmate, and Whitefield remarked, with refreshing candor, that "her death set 'his' mind at rest!"—Westminster Gazette.

Catching Monkeys.

Ringtailed monkeys, which rank among the most valuable, commercially speaking, of the small animals, are caught in an interesting way. A cocoanut is split in two and a banana with a piece of wood running through it placed lengthwise through the nut, the two halves of which are drawn together by wires. Then a hole is cut just large enough for the monkey's paw to enter. The monkey spies the tempting nut from his tree. He hops down, looks it over, sees the hole and smells the banana inside. He is fond of bananas. Putting his paw in, he grasps it, but the wood prevents it from coming out. Then the catchers appear, and the monkey runs for a tree. But he cannot climb because of the cocoanut on his paw, and he will not let go of that, so he is captured, pawing wildly at the tree trunk.

The Experiment Failed.

When a small boy mentioned in Short Stories grows up the scientific curiosity he displayed may be a valuable possession. Meanwhile his mother objects to it.

"Ma," remarked the boy, "isn't it funny that everybody calls little brother a bouncing baby?"

"Why do you think it's funny, William?" asked his mother.

"Because when I dropped him off the porch this morning he didn't bounce a bit; he just hollered."

How Toucans Roost.

Nothing could be more eccentric to our eyes than the way in which toucans go to roost. The bird does not "tuck its head under its wing, poor thing!" and so settle down, but packs itself up in most orderly fashion. The tail is turned forward over the back, in the soft feathers of which the gigantic bill is hidden. Then the tail shuts down, all semblance of a bird is lost, and one can see nothing but a ball of feathers.—London Standard.

Tuning a Bell.

No matter how great may be the care taken in making the mold, a bell has to be tuned before it will ring a clear, true note. As a matter of fact every bell sounds five notes, all of which must blend together harmoniously. If one is the least bit out the tone will be spoiled. The first of these notes is produced by the vibrations at the mouth of the bell, the second by the vibrations a little higher up, the third still higher up, and so on to the fifth, which is produced quite near the top. As the character of the sound which rings depends upon the thickness of the metal, it is possible, by taking thin shavings from various places in the inside of the bell, to alter the five notes until they are all in harmony.

A Cockney.

Minsheu, a dictionary maker of London, in 1617 issued a work which gives the following amusing account of the origin of the word "cockney:" "A cockney, or cocky, applied only to one born within the sound of the Bow bell—that is, within the city of London—whiche terme came first out of the following tale:

"A citizen's sonne, riding with his father out of London into the countrey and being a novice and merely ignorant of how corne and cattel do increase, asked when he heard a horse neigh what the horse dide. His father answered, 'The horse dothe neigh.' Riding further, he heard a cock crow and said, 'Dothe the cock neigh too?' And therefore cockney, or cockney by inversion thus: incoctus—i. e., raw or unripe in countrey-seems affaires.

MADE RAID ON HOUSE

P. C's Meharry and Meagher Visited 249 Wolfe Street and Took Four Women and Two Men Into Custody—Police Court This Morning.

THEY WERE REMANDED

P. C's. Meharry and Meagher raided an alleged house of ill-fame at 249 Wolfe street, early this morning, and took into custody Mrs. Hattie Sullivan, said to be the keeper, her daughter, Ethel Sullivan, and Katharine and Lillie Weaver, inmates. Two young men were arrested at the same time on a charge of being frequenters of the place. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the six prisoners and pleaded not guilty to the charges preferred against them. Chief Roszel was not ready to proceed with the prosecution, and His Worship remanded the accused, with the exception of one, to gaol, until Tuesday next.

Mr. Gordon strongly opposed his clients being sent up to the gaol. He said that Mrs. Sullivan had a home to look after and she would have to leave it unprotected.

Some lively "tilts" took place between Chief Roszel and Mr. Gordon, in which the latter reminded the Chief of some recent happenings. However, it did not influence His Worship any, and the three women went weeping to their cells as also did the two men.

Mrs. Sullivan's little daughter, about five years of age, was taken by Mr. Cochrane to the Orphanage. Miss Kennedy, of the Barnardo Home, took charge of Katharine Weaver.

A MONSTER OAK

Will Be Used in the Construction of New Stoney Lake Steamer.

The Stoney Lake Navigation Company will have a new steamer on the route next summer to replace the Majestic. The new craft will be somewhat larger than the steamer she replaces, of trimmer and speedier lines and will be equipped with more powerful machinery. The hull is being constructed of oak and in this connection it might be mentioned that the company was fortunate in discovering a blue oak tree on the shores of Deer Bay that from its size is a decided novelty in this section of the country. The monster measured four feet at the base, and thirty inches at the top. The butt weighed no less than six tons and it required three teams to haul the log, out of which has been secured enough timber to do half the planking of the new steamer.

AWFUL RAILWAY DISASTER ON C. P. R. NEAR WEBBWOOD YESTERDAY

FORMER PETERBOROUGH BOYS WERE THROUGH TORONTO SCHOOL FIRE

Kenneth and Harold, Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Taylor, Who Resided on Albert Street Until Recently, Were in One of the Rooms---Neither Was Seriously Injured by the Experience.

In the list of the children injured a few days ago in the Toronto school fire there were two boys who until about six weeks ago resided in this city. They are Kenneth and Harold Taylor, the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Taylor, who formerly resided on Albert St. It will be remembered that fire broke out in the St. Clair Ave. school, West Toronto and for a time was of a very threatening character. In one of the rooms some of the children jumped from upper windows, others were thrown into nets beneath. The injuries have proved fatal to none of the little ones who passed through an experience that might have easily been attended with frightful results. Kenneth Taylor, who is nine years old, jumped through a window 30 feet above the ground and was badly shaken up. It was thought for a time that his leg was broken, but he rapidly recovered and it was found that he had not been seriously hurt. Harold, the younger boy, was overcome with smoke and it is said was dropped from a window into a fireman's net.

The family removed from Albert St. only a month or six weeks ago. Mr. Taylor was well known here as a painter. The boys attended the King Edward school during their residence in Peterborough and their friends here will be pleased to learn that they escaped with no serious injury.

Explosion Wrecks Galt Home And Injures Three Persons

Examiner Special.

Galt, Ont., Jan. 22.—An explosion occurred last night in a house on Haddington St., occupied by Mr. Jos. Bastian, completely wrecking the edifice. Mr. Bastian's wife and one of his daughters were very seriously burned, and a second daughter was also injured, but not so severely. Mr. Bastian himself and a third daughter escaped.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery, as there was no gas in the house. When it occurred Mr. Bastian was upstairs in bed, and Mrs. Bastian and the three daughters were downstairs. Mr. Bastian succeeded in getting his daughters out and Mrs. Bastian was able to escape unaided. Both ends of the house were completely blown out by the force of the explosion ,and the sides bulged out.

Mrs. Bastian and one daughter are now at the hospital in a critical condition.

WHITCROFT TO FINISH SEASON WITH RENFREW

Ottawa., Jan. 21.—(Special.)—The Edmonton Stanley Cup trip came to a close this afternoon when the team disbanded, the majority of the party going to Montreal for a trip, while several of the players with their wives went down to New York to see the big city.

While the trip was a failure as far as getting the cup was concerned, the club will be ahead financially. The Edmonton Council handed them $1500 as an advertising grant before they left, and their share of the gate receipts came to about $1300 less than they secured when they played the Wanderers at Montreal last year. The total receipts were $4800, but after the rinks and the Ottawa Hockey Club share had been deducted, Edmonton got three hundred above the thousand mark. They are ewll satesified, and President McLeod stated that they will be down east after the trophy again next yera. He admits Ottawa has a wonderful team but would like to have seen the games a month later, when Edmonton would be in better shape to stand the hard games.

Fred Whitcroft and Hay Millar have signed on with the Renfrew Hockey team and will make their first appearance in the red and white colours at the Montreal Arena to-morrow night. Each is to get $2600. Millar did not shine in the Cup series, lack of condition being his excuse. Whitcroft is a star of the first water. Renfrew tried to get Deeton but were unsuccessful. Renfrew has released Chester Gregorw and may also let Jack Fraser go. Milar will play right wing and Whitcroft left.

Harold Armstrong's Playing With Quyon Team Stops Schedule

As the result of trouble over the professional question, to-night's game in the Pontiac league, which was to have been played between the Quyon and Shawville teams in the latter town, has been called off. The league is threatened with disruption and efforts are being made to smooth over the difficulties.

Fort Coulonge played Harold Armstrong, the former Smith's Falls and Renfrew cover point, who was tried out by the Ottawas several years ago. Armstrong is a bona fide citizen of Fort Coulogne, being connected with the aBnk of Ottawa. A protest was lodged against them on grounds of professionalism, but it was defeated and Shawville dropped another bomb by importing Imbleau, Logan and Fishenden of the Renfrew Rivers. Fort Coulonge used Jack Darragh of Ottawa and when the Quyon protest was thrown out, Quyon magnates forwarded their resignation, announcing that they would refuse to play against imported men. Affairs in the league are now at a standstill and a meeting will be called by Mr. A. H. Wash of Quyon, the president, with a view to straightening things out again.

The trouble is regrettable, particularly in view of the fact that the Pontiac league was just embarking on what promised to be the most successful season o fits career.

The playing of Armstrong was really the original cause of the trouble, but both the Shawville and Fort Coulonge clubs, were, according to the Quyon officers, at fault. Professional hockey is out of the question in the Pontiac for while the games draw good crowds, the receipts do not by any means, justify the remuneration of players.

The Quyon team will continue to play exhibition games, and Shawville and Fort Coulonge will likely continue to compete for the Pontiac League honors.

Sale of Home-made Cakes, Salads, and Sweets at King's Daughters' Tea Room, on Saturday, January 29th, from 9 a.m. to 6 p. m. Special orders may be left previously at the Tea Room. 22-24-26-28

Uncertainty as Yet Regarding the Cause and the Number of Killed and Injured—Some Estimates Make the Number of Dead Between Two and Three Score—Happened on Bridge Over Spanish River—Two Coaches Into the Water—One Burned.

SOME BODIES RECOVERED

North Bay, Ont., Jan. 23.—A terrible accident occurred yesterday afternoon on the Soo branch of the C.P.R., near Webbwood, 37 miles west of Sudbury, when express No. 7 en route to Sault Ste. Marie, was derailed, taking a heavy toll in death and injury among the passengers.

Forty-eight passengers are reported killed and 22 injured.

Another report from Webbwood says that 75 were killed, but this cannot be correct.

The express was speeding along, with a good passenger list, when suddenly, without warning of any kind, several of the cars left the rails and plunged down a steep embankment.

Two of the cars went into the Spanish River, adding death by drowning to the horrors of railway accident.

A dining-car is partially submerged and a first-class car is almost wholly under water, and the death roll cannot be fairly estimated at present, but every indication points to one of the worst fatalities in the history of Canadian railroads.

The cars which went over the bridge were the first-class coach and diner. Conductor Reynolds estimates 13 passengers were in these two cars, of which one man only escaped.

Of the passengers who were in the first-class car, which is partially or wholly submerged, and how many are dead will not be known until a diver, who is being rushed on a special train from Sault Ste. Marie, arrives at the scene.

Twenty passengers at least were in the second-class car, which took fire, and which was burned, adding additional horror to the terrifying spectacle.

How many escaped from the fiery furnace of death is not known as yet, as there is no telegraphic communication with the wreck.

The accident happened between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and when the cars left the rails, tearing loose from the front part of the train, the crash of timbers, groaning of girders and shrieks of twisting steel was speedily followed by the cries of the injured passengers and the moans and lamentations of imprisoned passengers in the shadow of death as the water of the Spanish River filled the doomed cars.

The train was just approaching the large steel bridge spanning the river when the accident happened, and the cause—whether a broken rail or broken track—may never be known, as the track is torn up.

Conductor Thomas Reynolds was injured, but ignored his hurts, and did everything he could to mitigate the sufferings of the injured passengers.

Physicians were hurried to the scene from Sudbury as soon as word was received, and a wrecking train with General Superintendent Gutzelius made record time from North Bay.

It was known that R. Burrows, manager of the Bell Telephone Co. at the Soo, and John Boyd, contractor of the same town, were on the train. Telegrams were received from each to the effect that they were safe. Mr. Burrows stated that he had received slight injuries and that he would be home on the first train to the Soo.

John O'Boyle, Sault Ste. Marie, who was supposed to be on the train, has not been heard from. Mr. O'Boyle was the prime mover in drydock scheme there.

An auxiliary left Webbwood at 2.30 yesterday afternoon and a train with them left the Soo at 9 o'clock, in an endeavor to secure dead bodies from the wreck.

It is believed that J. J. Anderson, D.P.A. of the C.P.R., was on the train, but has not yet been heard from.

The members of the lodge of Chosen Friends at Bar River were awaiting the arrival of the organizer last night and believed that he was on the train.

The Official Statement.

Montreal, Jan. 23.—Vice-President McNicoll of the C.P.R. last night issued the following statement in regards the wreck at Webbwood yesterday afternoon.

"The latter half of the train from Montreal to Minneapolis, which left Montreal on Thursday night, left the track on Friday afternoon about four miles west of Nairn, on the Algoma branch, just east of the bridge crossing the Spanish River. The cause is as yet unknown.

"One coach about the end of the baggage and was destroyed, the next coach going into the river.

"About twenty passengers are reported injured, three or four seriously. They have been taken to Sudbury hospital.

"Several bodies have been recovered from the wreck and more are supposed to be in the coach in the river.

"The baggage car was only partly submerged, and the passengers escaped. The sleeper turned over on its side."

The engine, baggage, express, mail and one second-class car remained on the rails, while one second-class car, one first-class car, a diner and a sleeper left the rails, plunging down the embankment, a first-class car and

PRESENTATION WAS MADE TO A VETERAN MEMBER

Mrs. Wright Was Honoured Yesterday by the Members of the Charlotte Street Ladies' Aid Society---Presented With a Purse of Gold and an Address on Her Eighty-second Birthday.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Charlotte St. Methodist church held a birthday party yesterday at the residence of Mrs. Neil in honour of Mrs. Wright, the oldest member of the Society, who yesterday attained her eighty second birthday. The occasion was featured by the presentation of a purse of gold and an appreciative address. In spite of the disagreeable weather there was a very large attendance of members and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. The presentation to Mrs Wright was made by Mrs. Lyle, while Mrs Morrow read the following address:

Dear Mrs Wright,—We the members of the Charlotte St. Ladies' Aid Society beg to take the opportunity of the recurrence of your birthday to congratulate you upon having attained to so grand and honourable an age, with your physical powers unimpaired.

During your long and active life you have ever been faithful to the many and varied offices of life's campaign, wife, mother, friend. Your Christianity, has been a practical example of the cardinal virtues, faith, hope and love. We did not forget that ever since the formation of the Ladies' Aid Society of Charlotte St. you have been one of its most faithful members and enthusiastic supporters, always ready to help and give as far as lay in your power. As president for three years you directed the affairs of the Society with great tact and skill and we feel that your services merit more than a passing recognition. Therefore we beg of you to accept this small purse of gold as a slight token of the kindly feeling and tender love that goes out to you from the hearts of the many ladies that have associated and laboured with you in the past and hoped to ofr many years to come. And may the Blessed Saviour brighten and illuminate your path more and more until the perfect day.

Signed, Maria Stocker, President; B. M. Galbraith, secretary; Mary B. Lyle, treasurer.

THE SECOND ANNUAL BANQUET PROVED AN ENJOYABLE FUNCTION

Fifty Employees of Brinton Carpet Company Had a Social Gathering at the Grand Hotel Last Evening —The Toast List.

A PRESENTATION MADE

The spirit of good fellowship prevailed at the second annual banquet of the Carpet Weavers' Association which was held last evening at the Grand Hotel. About fifty of the employees of the Brinton Carpet Company sat down to a most sumptuous dinner in the prettily decorated dining room. It was made exceedingly attractive, being arranged with flags and bunting, and the tables fairly groaned with the many dainty viands that were provided. Mine Host Charlie Nixon left nothing undone in the preparations made for the event. The menu was a very choice one, a full course English dinner being laid before the guests. Many were the complimentary remarks spoken in praise of Mr. Nixon's efforts. The whole arrangements for the supper were carried out in a manner reflecting the greatest credit on the genial proprietor of the Grand.

A feature of the evening was the presentation to the superintendent of the Brinton Company, Mr. J. W. Pearce, of a handsome gold watch and chain by the employees of the works. Messrs. A. Giles, and H. Pew on behalf of the men, spoke of the very high esteem in which Mr Pearce was held by the workmen. He is a man of sterling qualities and one who is at all times ready to lend assistance and advice to those in his employ. The president of the association, Mr. Emmott Stanfield, presented the watch and chain to Mr. Pearce.

The Toast List.

The toast list was a very interesting one and was interspersed with a programme of songs and recitations. The first one, to the King, was heartily honoured by the singing of the national anthem.

The next one, to "the Brinton Carpet Company," was proposed by Mr. W. Hall. In proposing it, Mr. Hall said that he felt honoured in being called upon to do so. It was a pleasure to realise the feeling of good friendship that existed between employers and employees at the Brinton Carpet Works. The year 1909, the speaker said, had been the most successful since the factory was started here, and he congratulated Mr. Wadeley on it being the first under his management. He hoped that with continued progress, the time was not far distant when the local factory would equal the one at Kidderminster. He paid a tribute to the manager, Mr. H. E. Wadeley, who, he stated, was unceasing in his activities in the interests of the men.

In rising to respond, Mr. Wadeley was greeted with, "For he's a jolly good fellow." He thanked Mr. Hall for his kind words, and assured the men that if its manager had been successful it was because of their loyal co-operation with him.

The toast to "the land of our adoption" was proposed by Mr. A. Giles. In doing so , Mr. Giles remarked that no man was born to greatness in Canada. Every honest, intelligent man had a equal chance in the commercial business world. He spoke of the unlimited resources of the Dominion and the varied opportunities open to the people. In drinking this toast the assembly sang 'The Maple Leaf Forever."

"The Land of Our Birth" was proposed in a neat speech by Mr. H. Pew. Other toasts honoured were "the Press" and "Our Host and Hostess," the latter being replied to by Mr. Nixon.

The Programme.

The following was the programme of songs and recitations given:

Song—Mr. H. Sowden.
Song—Mr. D. Ferguson.
Gramaphone selection.
Song—Mr. A. Giles.
Song—Mr. T. Yarrington.
Song—Mr. W Jones.
Song—Mr. H. Bayes
Song—Mr. F. Hall.
Song—Mr. T. Williams.
Song—Mr. G. Skelding.
Song—Mr. J. Jaspar
Song—Mr. W. Lesurf.
Recitation—Mr D. Waring.
Song—Mr. T. Wadeley.

BROKE HIS ARM

Willie Begley Fell While Skating and was Painfully Injured.

Willie Begley, the eleven year old son of Mr. Robt. Begley, was the victim of a very painful accident on Thursday afternoon of this week. While skating on the pavement on Gilmour St., he tripped and fell, breaking his right arm. Dr. Gallivan was called and set the arm. The little fellow is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances This is the second time in the course of a few weeks that the arm has been broken.

COUNCIL MEETS

Will Deal With Important Questions On Monday Night.

Mayor Morrow has called a meeting of the committee of the Whole Council for Monday night at eight o'clock. To the Examiner he stated to-day that there were several questions to be considered. They had been referred to the committee by the Council and if possible all would be taken up on Monday night. That means that the aldermen will discuss the reduction of licenses, the Quaker Oats proposition and the Board of Trade's publicity recommendation. Quite a bill of fare for the city fathers to masticate, but the music has to be faced and Monday night's meeting is considered an important one.

SOME BURNED ALIVE

Special Wire to The Examiner.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 22.—An auxiliary train sent from the Soo last night to the scene of the C. P. R. disaster, returned this morning Mr. Burrows, local manager, of the Bell Telephone Co., in an interview stated that the first class coach caught fire and some persons were burned alive. All persons in the diner were either drowned or killed by the fall. All in the Pullman are safe except for injuries, as the car did not go into the river. The latest estimates give 63 dead and 37 injured.

HARDING DAVIS WILL FACE DIVORCE SUIT

Famous Writer's Wife Objects to His Friendship With Another Woman.

Examiner Special.

New York, Jan. 22.—The announcement that Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, the beautiful young wife of the story writer and war correspondent, is contemplating divorce, is the culmination of a series of troubles which have been known for months in literary and theatrical circles in this city. The couple are now living apart.

The Davis romance was a strange one, and its ending has some equally strange features. One of these is the friendship — purely platonic—of the novelist and a sprightly young woman whose dance is the bright particular hit of a musical comedy that recently completed a record run in a Broadway theatre.

The young woman a pretty blonde, is very popular "on and off", to use the vernacular of the stage, and in her associations with Mr. Davis has always been thoroughly chaperoned.

Asked about the separation of Davis and his wife, Mr. Davis' lawyer stated that a reconciliation is impossible.

No papers have been served by either side, and Mr. Bauchie denies that any will be served for some time.

$3.50 Recipe Cures Weak Kidneys, Free

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 1810, Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. And you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

CARE OF OUR RESOURCES.

The conditions and the experience of New York State in the matter of its timber resources, are an evidence that the Canadian Conservation Commission has not been organized, and has not entered upon its work a moment too soon. The New York State conservation commissioner has written to every saw mill operator, pulp manufacturer and consumer of wood material in the state, urging the necessity of care in the employment of wood, both in its manufacture and in the preservation, in cutting operations, of growing timber. This course is considered necessary in view of the fact that at present the consumption of wood products is about five times greater than the reproduction by growth. This, of course, means the exhaustion of timber supplies at no distant date—at the present rate of depletion—in twenty years.

We are much more fortunately situated in Canada. We have comparatively an immense stock of timber. With effective conservation and careful exploitation our supply is inexhaustible, practically everlasting. When one, whose memory covers the span of even half a century, looks backward, the appalling waste and reckless destruction of the magnificent stand of Canadian timber that once covered the country is fairly sickening. It is no exaggeration to suggest that the money value of the waste—not to speak of the legitimate economic use of our forest growth, has been of an extent, to represent a sum sufficient to pay the national debt.

Notwithstanding the recently improved methods of dealing with our timber resources, and the more extended utilization of what formerly went to waste, there is still room for vast improvement. This especially applies to methods of cutting. With the application of scientific forestry methods to lumbering operations, the timber output is increased, while the growing timber is left to improve, thus creating conditions that, with our vast extent of forests, will make the stand perpetual. Public opinion is being gradually educated into more rational lines of thought on the subject of forest preservation, on account of its influence upon more equable climatic conditions, more uniform rain fall and more gradual and constant outflow of water from the natural reservoirs constituted by the existence of wide forest areas.

But the process is slow. It is difficult to implant in the mind of the average Canadian the magnificent idea of the essential sacredness of tree life, as necessary in the natural economy as is human life in the social economy. In a general way, the life of a man and the life of a tree are coeval. And the relation is even closer than this; neither can exist in the highest conditions of usefulness and advantage without the other, though the advantage is with the tree, which can exist, and as sad experience shows, much better without man than man can exist without the tree, in its widest meaning.

Forestry, that is the cultivation of the tree, on the best principles of production and harvesting, is principally a concern of commercial economics; but reforesting is a more social and æsthetic branch of the science. A cottager who plants a tree on his little home plot is as truly engaged, in his degree, in the great work of reforesting, as the man who makes thousands of trees to grow in the millions of waste places that dot, in barren and bleak unsightliness, the whole occupied and cultivated area of the country. He is adding to the beauty of his environment, and his example, generally followed and enlarged upon throughout the country, would work a beneficent revolution not only in urban and rural scenic beauty, but in the modifying climatic conditions, resulting from general existence and distribution of tree growth. The love for the tree in the abstract, creates the tree in the concrete, and this principle, popularly implanted, justifies the existence and engages the functions of the Conservation Commission, which can never reach its highest usefulness till its spirit is shared and its work at once stimulated by an enlightened and uplifted public opinion, and shared by the people.

Forestry and the interests associated with our forest wealth are, however, only one of the many interests that come within its province. Our mineral resources, our fisheries resources, our water sources and resources, in the interests of navigation and industrial progress through power development, our soil resources, in both an agricultural and economic sense, and our fur-bearing animals and game, all come within the province of the commission. While the determination of their extent and the dissemination of knowledge regarding them, and the education of the public in regard to their importance is the principal work of the commission, these only constitute the foundation upon which the real national conservation must be built.

Our governments, federal and provincial, must practically cooperate, must follow the path blazed out by the commission; and, to secure the fullest national benefit, the underlying principle of this cooperation must be 'Canada for Canadians,' meaning that all our national resources of whatever kind, must be dealt with in a way to give the people of Canada the greatest degree of advantage from their exploitation. Further simplified this means that none of the natural resources of Canada shall be permitted to leave the country in an unmanufactured condition, but in a condition that represents the largest employment of Canadian labour, Canadian capital and Canadian machinery. When we export Canadian resources in a raw state, that is such as can be economically treated in this country, we are exporting the labour of Canadian workingmen, the wages of Canadian working men, we are shipping out, for the benefit of other countries, the bone and sinew of Canada.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

"Iron and Blood."

In a recent article by Robert Blatchford, the noted English Socialist, he makes a misquotation that has been rife ever since the proper phrase was first uttered. In a peroration on the need of a strong navy, Blatchford writes: "Blood and iron; that is what we have to face. Our fathers and grandfathers faced them often: faced them cheerfully with fortitude and success. And I believe the men of Britain are as good to-day as in the past, and that they will be equal to any demand the Empire may make upon them—if only they understand in time." Probably it was owing to the fact that "blood and iron" had a more euphonious ring about it than "iron and blood," that it came to be adopted, but undoubtedly the last-named is the correct version. Bismarck was the author of the phrase, and it was uttered in a speech before the Budget Commission of the Prussian House of Delegates, on Sept. 30, 1862. He said: "It is desirable and it is necessary that the condition of affairs in Germany and of her constitutional relations should be improved, but this cannot be accomplished by speeches and resolutions of a majority, but only by iron and blood." It was this expression that gained Bismarck the title of the Iron Chancellor.

"By Jingo."

Later in the second part of the same article he writes as follows:

"Next, as to Jingoism. He who appeals to his countryman to arm on their own defence is not a Jingo. He who warns them of a dangerous unreadiness is not a Jingo. He who tries to rouse them to consciousness of the threatening conduct of a foreign nation is not a Jingo. The Jingo is one who is boastfully and offensively aggressive, who wants his country's power, who shouts for war upon the slightest provocation. I despise and dislike a bully. But if we condemn a British Jingo, why should we refrain from condemnation of a German or a French or a Russian Jingo? And if we wax indignant when our own country attacks or threatens a foreign power, why should we be blamed for speaking the truth when a foreign Power attacks or threatens us?"

The word "Jingo," in the Basque language means God, and in all probability was taken by the English from the Basque sailors. But it has acquired an entirely new meaning, within the past 35 years. Those of us who are old enough to remember the wild excitement in Europe in 1877, when Russia was threatening Turkey, and Lord Beaconsfield was determined to protect her, whilst Gladstone was for a policy of noninterference, will also remember the music-hall ballad which acquired great popularity at the time, and began:

'We don't want to fight, but by Jingo, if we do,
We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too."

The word "Jingo" was immediately applied to the war party by their opponents, and has continued ever since and probably always will be, as a term of reproach for all who indulge in a strenuous advocacy of warlike measures.

In one of the Toronto dailies this week there was a short summary of the manner in which Earl Nelson, the present possessor of a large Government pension, came into the enjoyment of the money. The way in which it was placed before the public was decidedly unfair and one-sided. The House of Lords is quite open to attack on many gegounds, but it is unjust to bring forward a matter, which, when the facts are fully explained, show the nobleman in question to have a perfectly legitimate right to the pension. The summary briefly stated that Lord Nelson has been enjoying for very many years, as the son of a nephew of a brother of the great Admiral the sum of £5,000 per annum, and that notwithstanding he is a pensioner, he voted against the Old Age Pensions Bill. Let us look at the facts.

When the hero of Trafalgar was killed in action, the Government of the day, as a mark of the gratitude of the nation for his great services, created his brother an Earl, with a grant of £6,000 a year, voted £10,000 to each of his sisters, and £100,000 for the purchase of an estate. The remains of Lord Nelson were also accorded a public funeral and a monument was erected to his memory in Trafalgar Square.

It is one of the shortcomings of humanity that it occasionally forgets past favours. Nelson saved England in her direst hour of need, and the unanimous voice of the nation accorded to his heirs the reward that would have been his had he lived to enjoy it. We, who belong to a later generation, need to remember that had it not been for Nelson England would have been subdued by Napoleon,, and the Empire which we hold so dear to-day, would have been, in all probability, irretrievably shattered. The present holder of the title comes by the money honestly. He is certainly one of the worthiest and most revered of English peers. He is entitled to his own opinion as regards any political or economical question, and it is hard to see what business it is of any Canadan newspaper to criticise what is purely a matter of English economics. The granting of public money may not be altogether defensible in most instances. But it is one of the few ways in which a nation can show its gratitude to its heroes, and in this case, at any rate, if it is looked upon with complacency by the English people themselves it is hard to see what right Canadians have to pass their opinions upon it.

LAME BACK CAUSED BY DIRTY KIDNEYS

A Few Doses Will Clean and Regulate the Kidneys and Make You Feel Fine.

Out-of-order kidneys act fine and backache or bladder misery is relieved after a few doses of Pape's Diuretic.

Pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, debilitating headache, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out feeling and many other symptoms of clogged, inactive kidneys simply vanish.

Frequent painful and uncontrollable urination due to a weak or irritable bladder is promptly overcome.

The moment you suspect any kidney, bladder or urinary disorder, or feel rheumatism coming, begin taking this harmless remedy, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the out-of-order kidneys, bladder and urinary system, cleaning, healing and strengthening these organs and glands, and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment with Pape's Diuretic means clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker, or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

NOW SOLD IN CANADA

In Less Than Three Years Parisian Sage, the Splendid Hair Tonic, is Sold All Over Canada.

There is a reason for the phenomenal sale of Parisian Sage in Canada during the past three years.

And the reason is plain to all. Parisian Sage does just what it is advertised to do.

Ask Wm. Madill about it, he will tell you that they rigidly guarantee it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

There is no reason whatever why any man or woman should fail to take advantage of the above generous offer.

But one thing that has made Parisian Sage so famous is its peculiar power to turn the harsh, unattractive hair that many women possess into luxuriant and radiant hair in a short time. Women of refinement the country over are using it and it never disappoints.

Sold everywhere, and in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, for 50 cents a large bottle.

WAS FINED $5.75

Was on His Way Home to Cordova When He Got Arrested.

James Morrison pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly on the street last night, at the police court this morning. He was fined $2.00 and costs, amounting to $5.75, to be paid forthwith. Morrison intended leaving for his home at Cordova Mines last night on the local, but never got started, landing in the police station.

Special Notice.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 28 Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

HELPFUL MR. BOK

I owe so much to Mr. Bok that language fails me when I try about his kindnesses to talk, and briny tears bedim my eye. I owe it to that gifted man that I can take ten yards of string, and decorate a frying pan until it is a beauteous thing. He taught me how to paint a brick and hang it on the parlour wall, which made the blamed room look so slick that callers cry: "It does beat all-" 'Twas Mr. Bok who taught me how to tie pink ribbons on my corns, and when I bought a mule y cow, he showed me how to gild her horns. I made a cupboard from a trunk, directed by his kindly charts; a cart-load of hand-painted junk to my poor home a charm imparts. When Arctic stories stirred the soul, his enterprise was just immense; he showed me how to make a pole complete for ninety-seven cents. And when B. Tumbo sailed away, among the roaring beasts to rush, Bok pictured, in his L. H. J., a jungle made of yellow plush. And when I face the tyrant Death, may Bok be with me in the gloom, to decorate my final breath, with tassels and an ostrich plume.

THE MAN IN THE ORCHESTRA

By Cello.

If there is one thing more than another that Canadians pride themselves upon as a people it is the cleanness and purity of the nation's morals. In the home, the school, and the church every effort is made to inculcate high ideals of living. The many fraternal and benefit societies, the Canadian Clubs and many other organizations of a similar character, all unite upon one ground at least, the promotion of honesty, charity, and other virtues that are considered requisite for what may be termed right living. One of the primal objects of the Laymen's Missionary movement is the fostering of a high national spirit in order to safeguard the country's future prosperity. The pernicious influences that gnaw their way into the heart of a people are not unknown. Their presence is always threatening, but Canadians can safely say that nothing has yet crept into the country's life to violate the ideals that are formed in youth. In this connection it may be stated that the stage may have a detrimental effect if the character of the productions is not maintained at a high standard. It is claimed that certain classes of theatrical productions which for the most part do not find their way out of the larger American cities have a bad effect upon the morals of the people who witness them. It is not necessary to go into detail in regard to the subjects with which they deal, but it may be suggested that it is a duty of Canadian people to discriminate if they should ever be presented with an opportunity. Keep out the thin edge and the rest will be easy. Canadian managers have shown their stand in this regard. They realize that the people would not tolerate some of the productions that have won notoriety on the other side of the border and it is hoped that they will never stoop to pander to the lower instincts or emotions. This may have no bearing now, or may not need mentioning, but it is expressed only as a hope that the managers and the people will always exercise the same care that is found to-day and the Canadian stage will never deserve the condemnation that has been expressed in American cities.

Praise of Clergy.

Milwaukee, Jan. 22.—Public, press and pulpit are united in declaring Mary Mannering's new play, "A Man's World," which has been playing at the Alhambra Theatre to record business, the greatest play she has ever had, and one of the greatest dramatic productions of the decade.

From Sheldon P. Delany, dean of All Saints' Cathedral, the following letter was received by Miss Mannering:

"Though I am a stranger to you, Miss Mannering, I hope you will not think I am taking undue liberties in thanking you for the real pleasure you and your capable company gave me last evening. It is a long time since I have seen acting so convincingly real and natural as yours. It drew tears to my eyes several times, and that is a very unusual experience for me at the theatre.

"God has given you a rare womanly charm, and you are using it in this play for a noble purpose. In fact, you are preaching a strong, and persuasive, and convincing sermon. It is a pity that the men who most need it are not there to hear it.

"It ought to be heard by every college student in the land. But that is a misfortune common to actors and clergymen—that we can rarely reach those we most wish to reach. I will do what I can in my small way to urge people to see this play—for the sake of the play, and your acting, and the uniform artistic excellence of the company.

"Being in public life myself, I know that a word of appreciation from anyone, known or unknown to me, is always welcome."

Many other clergymen of the city have written Miss Mannering similar letters.

Art of Making up.

"One of these days," writes the dramatic editor of the Minneapolis Journal, "some manager of a musical comedy is going to make a tremendous hit with the public by insisting that the chorus people are properly made up. The ordinary chorus girl's stage-get-up is enough to scare owls. Too much rouge on the cheeks, too much blue on the eyelids make her resemble nothing human. When she breaks this combination up with a supposedly winsome smile, the effect is highly ludicrous.

"No doubt, one reason why the art of making-up is so little understood nowadays is that managers have fallen into the habit of selecting actors to fit the parts, instead of requiring versatility in their players. After the play is selected, and fitted to the star, the hunt begins for people who will fill the requirements of the playwright. Most of the cast are thus able to go on in "their own faces." The practice is one that makes for realism, but besides striking a blow at the art of making-up it produces a set of narrow specialists instead of versatile actors, ready to do any part. Each player has his little specialty and unless some playwright writes a part that fits him he is out of it. The stock companies furnish about the only antidote to this tendency. In these organizations versatility is at a premium, and the Protean actor gets a chance to show what he can do."

Were Seen Here.

Hilda Spong, who was seen here in "A Man and His Mate," Ida Conquest, who played the part of the nurse in "Divorce" and Vincent Serrano, who had also a prominent place in the caste of that production when it appeared here are now starring in a new Liebler production "A Little Brother of the Rich," in New York.

A "Knock" from the Post.

The Rochester Post recently refers to "The Easiest Way," in which Frances Starr is appearing, and concludes the article as follows:

"To what end is the ability of these people? The play is noisome; it leaves a bad taste in the mouth and it teaches no truth which every son and daughter of Adam does not know instinctively. Providence be thanked it was only here for one night. It would be a pleasure to see Miss Starr again, and not in "The Easiest Way."

Closing His Tour.

George M. Cohan's tour in "The Yankee Prince" will be brought to an end next week at Poughkeepsie, and the Yankee Doodle star will shortly leave for a tour of Europe, during which he will write the play that will open the George M. Cohan Theatre, at Broadway and Forty-third street, next September.

With part of his profits from his season's work Cohan is planning to buy a handsome home in this city, and has commissioned real estate agents to find a desirable location for his domicile in the neighbourhood of Riverside Drive.

Work on the new George M. Cohan Theatre, which is to be built on the Fitzgerald property, opposite the Cadillac Hotel, New York City, with an entrance of Forty-third street and Broadway, has commenced, and the building will be ready in ample time for next season. While journeying leisurely through Europe George M. will write the musical comedy which is to be his initial offering at the playhouse. He will be accompanied abroad by Mrs. Cohan and their baby.

"Caught Cold."

Had a Distressing, Tickling Sensation In The Throat.

Mr. Albert MacPhee, Chignecto Mines, N.S., writes: "In Oct., 1908, I caught cold by working in water, and had a very bad cough and that distressing, tickling sensation in my throat so that I could not sleep at night, and my lungs were so very sore I had to give up work. Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup combines the potent healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with other absorbent, expectorant and soothing medicines of recognized worth and is absolutely harmless, prompt and safe for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Sore Throat, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

There are many imitations of "Dr. Wood's" so be sure and get the genuine when you ask for it.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FEARED PARALYSIS

Mr. F. A. Kruts, Schwartz, Que., writes, "For one year I was a complete nervous wreck, could not rest or sleep, had indigestion and terrible headaches and constantly feared paralysis. Six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food made me well and strong. There is no treatment in the world so good as this for building up the nervous system."

diner going into the river, while the sleeper, and second-class car remained on the ground, but the second-class car was burned.

Engineer Trelford and the train crew, with the exception of Conductor Reynolds, escaped injury.

The nearest telegraph station to the wreck is at Nairn, four miles distant, but the officials are arranging direct communication.

Thomas Hay, C.P.R. claims agent, at first reported badly injured, has wired his family that he is safe.

Passengers from the eastbound Soo express are being transferred around the wreck, as the bridge is considered unsafe. This will cause considerable delay to traffic.

DIED.

O'CONNELL. — At the residence of her mother, Mrs. James O'Connell, 587 Concession street, East City, the death occurred of Catharine Mary O'Connell, on Friday, Jan. 21st, 1910.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning at o'clock from the family residence, to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

REGINA HAS NEWLY-FORMED PUBLICITY CLUB NOW AT WORK

The Greater Regina Club Collecting $25,000 for the Conduct of Campaign---Regina Now in Position to Offer Power at Reasonable Price---Interesting Interview With Mr. A. J. Gibson, Who is Here on Business.

The Greater Regina Club is the name of the organization recently formed in the western city for the purpose of furthering its growth according to the latest civic ideas. The population of Regina is at present 12,500 and it is the aim to secure 25,000 or just double the population by 1915. The club will undertake a publicity campaign to bring to the city new industries, new residents, in short to do everything possible for the advancement of the city. Recognizing the competition offered by other cities, it was decided to secure $25,000 to meet the expenses incidental to the securing of one of the brightest publicity men in the business and within the past two weeks or more $17500 has been subscribed by citizens and companies. This is Regina's first attempt at a publicity campaign and the Greater Regina Club has entered upon the work with characteristic energy and determination to carry it to a success. Mr. A. J. Gibson of A. J. Gibson and Co., Regina, real estate agents who has come east in connection with an industrial stock company which he is organizing and promoting feels that the publicity campaign will be a success and will bring the city forward more rapidly than ever.

Immigration.

The great influx of immigrants is doing wonders for the west and Mr. Gibson in this regard referred particularly to the American farmers from Indiana, Dakota, Illinois, and neighbouring states. They sell their home properties at about $150 an acre, move across the border and buy even better agricultural land at from $20 to $35 an acre. They proclaim themselves in almost every case as pleased with the change and readily adapt themselves to the new country and its people. The indications for a splendid year's business are already very bright. During December $325,000 worth of city land in Regina changed hands and practically all of it was vacant. The intentions are seemingly that this will be built during the coming summer and will form only a small part of the building operations that will be undertaken.

Cheap Power.

Without water power to provide electric energy the power question has always confronted Regina and until recently the lack of cheap power has proved a sort of obstacle to the city's progress. However, on January 7th a large coal area of the lignite variety was discovered about thirty miles from the city. Mr. Gibson states that this find is really the banner event from the city's standpoint, as it will completely revolutionize the power question. The coal supply is said to be practically limitless and places Regina on a par with Toronto in the matter of cheap power. It is estimated that it will be sold at $25 a horse power.

Railways' Faith.

One of the best indications of the substantiality of the west is the vast extent of the railway construction work that is now in progress and proposed. To secure an adequate idea of what is actually being done the work must be seen and the fact that the railway concerns are expending vast amounts of money indicates that the growth of the past decade is only a suggestion of what the near future will bring.

There are numerous instances of land purchased miles from a railway and in a short time the ties were laid practically past the door. One man bought a half section and in six months one of his quarter sections became a town site bringing him a big return for his money.

Mr. Gibson states that he has met a large number of people from this district who state that they intend going west in the spring. The number is greater than ever and it is likely that the movement from the east will be greater than ever. In regard to the weather Mr. Gibson states that it is colder in the eastern papers than in Regina. The thermometer takes a downward trip now and then, but it is not as bad as reported here. The climate is drier and asthma and catarrhal troubles are rare. There is a feeling among the optimistic westerners that the Pacific district will become the foreground of Canada, particularly when the railway communication through the mountains is facilitated to a greater extent than at present.

LATEST MUNICIPAL EVENTS IN ONTARIO CITIES AS REPORTED

Extracts From Press Accounts of Council Meetings That May be of Interest to Those Who Follow Civic Matters.

The following are extracts from various papers throughout the province showing what is being done in civic matters here and there:—

The most interesting item in the maiden deliberations of our new Council at its initial meeting was the discussion on assessment that arose out of a letter addressed to the Council by H. L. Hatt, chairman of the Taxation committee of the Board of Trade, suggesting that three assessors do the work this year instead of one as formerly. The suggestion found favour with the Mayor and every member of the Council except Mr. Reilly. Mr. Jackson was absent. It was decided to adjourn until to-night, so that two suitable persons could be found to act with Mr. Lowe.—Welland Telegraph.

Sale of Meat.

The Market, Hall and Relief Committee recommends as follows:

1. That a by-law be introduced prohibiting the use of newspapers as wrapping paper for meat sold upon the Market and also forbidding the use of canvas and blankets for covering meat brought upon the market for sale.—Stratford Herald.

Publicity For Guelph.

The city council in a short and business-like session last evening dealt with two very important matters when it unanimously decided in favour of the report of the Railways and Manufacturers 'committee, recommending a publicity department for the city, and when it took up the question of the erection in the city of a new isolation hospital. This hospital is demanded by the Provincial Health Department; it will cost something like $14,000 to $20,000 and the matter was left in the hands of a special committee to act in conjunction with the Board of Health in dealing with the plans, and then bring the matter before the Finance committee to deal with their aide of the problem.—Guelph Mercury.

New Fire Hall.

According to the Guelph Mercury that city requires a new fire hall, more men and new alarm system, new fire engine, and in fact Chief Finch practically recommends a new outfit throughout.

Kingston's Licenses.

The question of fixing the tavern liquor licenses this year at twenty-five, instead of twenty-eight, as at present, was the subject of a warm debate by the city council. Some pretty strong statements were made during the discussion, which lasted an hour and a quarter. When Ald. Craig declared that a section of the council was hedging and hadn't the courage to vote on the question, there was a vigorous demand for retraction, but Ald. Craig only qualified his statement, refusing to withdraw it altogether. Alds. Givens and Elliott strongly objected to being called cowards, and declared that they were neither hedging or afraid to vote.

Ald. Armstrong raised a racket when he declared that if the Moral and Social Reform League had spent as much money and given as much whiskey on election day, as its opponent did, it would have succeeded better. "No, I don't withdraw anything!" exclaimed the Moral and Sodial Reform representative when pressed to withdraw his statement.—Kingston Whig.

The Finance committee will consider the matter.

London's Council.

The union label on firemen's clothes created a debate at the city council last evening, but on the casting vote of Mayor Beattie, the label will not be asked for.

The council will send a deputation to Toronto to interview the Government to obtain a grant for the Western University. At the meeting last evening a recommendation from No. 1 committee was read, that the council make a written request for aid, to be followed up by a strong deputation.

Ald. Saunders objected to deputations.

"We have the feeling of the people on deputations, and I am surprised that No. 1 committee, in the face of what has been said in certain quarters, should recommend such a thing" he said. "There has been a lot of talk about deputations, and we should show our superiority as to economy by cutting off this deputation. If it is necessary to go let us go at our own expense."

Ald. Morgan, seconded Ald. Saunders' motion to refuse the deputation.—London Advertiser.

The motion was lost and a deputation will be sent.

Ottawa's Publicity.

Members of the Board of Trade and those connected with the Publicity committee are now making an effort to raise $5,000 which is to go towards the $10,000 the city council is to vote this year to establish a fund for thoroughly advertising the city. A meeting of the members of the Board was held at the Board rooms last night. There was a good attendance and a report was presented by the committee outlining plans for raising the $5,000.

The committee was empowered to go ahead with the collecting and to add to its members if this should be deemed advisable.—Ottawa Journal.

That's What Antoine Cottenoire Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Cured His Diabetes After the Doctors Had Failed to Give Him Relief—What Dodd's Kidney Pills Do and Why.

St. Pie de Guire, Yamaska Co., Que. Jan. 21.—(Special).—That there is one sure cure for deadly Diabetes, and that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills is proved once more in the case of Mr. Antoine Cottenoire, a well-known resident of this place.

"I am thankful I ever heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills." Mr. Cottenoire states. "They cured me of Diabetes. I suffered with Backache. I always felt drowsy. I had severe headaches and my limbs would cramp. I had a dizzy feeling and felt tired in the region of the kidneys, with a dragging heavy sensation across the loins.

"I was treated by the doctors, but got no benefit from them. Then I heard of cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and made up my mind to try them. I took in all three dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. To-day I am free from Kidney trouble of all kinds.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills also cured me of stomach trouble from which I suffered for twenty-five years."

Diabetes is one of the most deadly forms of Kidney Disease. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure any form of Kidney Disease. They also by curing the Kidneys cure all those diseases that come from disordered Kidneys, such as Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Heart Disease.

LETTER FROM QUEEN'S

Death of Mrs. Gordon Has Cast a Gloom Over the University---Latest Matters of Interest From the College Halls.

Kingston, Jan. 20.—A deep gloom has been cast over the whole University and the City of Kingston, by the sudden death of Mrs. Daniel Gordon, on the evening of Friday, January 14th. Not only do our hearts go out with deepest sympathy to our revered Principal, in his sudden bereavement, but all who have been priviliged to come in contact with Mrs. Gordon, feel the loss of a true personal friend. So nobly, and in spite of ill-health has she arisen to the responsibilities of her position, so constantly has she graced the functions of the University with her presence, so hospitably has the residence of the Principal been opened to the whole of a grateful student body, we must feel that our loss is almost irreparable, a loss that only time will heal.

The funeral of Mrs. Gordon took place on the afternoon of Monday, January 17th, at the residence of the Principal. The remains, reclining in the drawing-room, were surrounded by a profusion of flowers such as is seldom seen anywhere—tributes of sorrowful students and friends. The funeral was attended by the students of the different faculties and citizens in every walk of life, making probably the largest cortege seen in the city since the death of Principal Grant.

Queen's is very fortunate in having Mr. J. R. Mott, M.A., F.R.Y.S., with her for a few days, chiefly owing to the efforts of Mr. M. N. Omond, Secretary of Queen's Y.M.C.A. As Secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation, Mr. Mott has come into close touch with the leading universities, and has made his influence felt on the student life of many countries, while his addresses have attracted a world-wide interest. Mr. Mott addresses the Alma Mater on Saturday night, and preached the Sunday afternoon service in Grant Hall, before two thousand people. Monday night he addressed a gathering of men students, and to-night, Tuesday, addresses the public in Convocation Hall. Through his addresses the spiritual life at Queen's has been quickened as it never has before. After his addresses Mr. Mott is at the disposal of the individual students who have any problems to solve, a fact which many Queen's students have taken advantage of.

Last week a mass meeting of students of the Arts Faculty and the Professors interested was held in the Arts Faculty at Queen's. The result was that an enthusiastic gathering of students unanimously signed their names as signifying their willingness to be enrolled on the corps. Instructors in military matters are to be sent down from Ottawa and arrangements for forming the corps are to proceed at once. The Arts corps will probably be kilties. That point has been left with the students themselves, and has not been fully decided yet. We will hold twelve days drill during the college term—two nights spent in drill are equivalent to one day's drill. Every member is supplied with the necessary uniform, a rifle and two hundred rounds of ammunition. Rifle practice will be held on the Barriefield butts. The Arts students are very enthusiastic over the matter. Queen's is assuming quite a militant air.

Next Saturday, before the Alma Mater meeting the first mock parliament will be held. The first Prime Minister, Leader of Opposition, etc., have been appointed, and it is whispered that there is going to to be "something doing" at Alma Mater, Saturday night.

The Arts Faculty's first Annual Dinner has passed and everybody agrees as to its unqualified success. Over two hundred and fifty students and guests sat down to five long tables tastily decorated in Grant Hall. A first-class menu was efficiently and rapidly served up by a deputation of waiters from Science Hall, who kindly consented to act in such capacity. The dinner committee was fortunate in securing the Rev. R. E. Knowles, of Galt, and Bishop Farthing, of Montreal, as their chief speakers of the evening, also Mr. Nickle, of Kingston, Magistrate Farrell, Professors Cappon, Mitchell, Morison, E. B. Wylie, M. R. Bow and representatives from Toronto, McGill and Ottawa Universities, and Royal Military College, proposed and replied to toasts.

LETTERS UPON THE SUBJECT OF LICENSE REDUCTION

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I hope every citizen of Peterborough has read Mr. A. W. Cressman's letter in your paper of recent date, showing why licenses should be reduced to eight or even less in Peterborough, and how easily he has overturned the arguments, rather excuses, of the lawyers representing the liquor interests. It taxed all the ingenuity of some of our cleverest lawyers at the Council meeting to show even an excuse for continuing the present number of bar-room licenses. Who are fighting against license reduction? Why, mostly those who are paid to talk against it, and those who are either in the business or indirectly profiting by it. We need have no fear in regard to providing accommodation for farmers and others. Is it the bar room that furnishes shelter for the farmer's horse, or is it the stables and sheds? Does the public sleep and dine in the bar room? One would almost think he did to listen to the advocates of the bar. Do away with the bar and you eliminate,—to put it mildly,—much that is an offence to the eye and ear of respectable men and especially so to a refined woman.

I will admit that the hotel proprietor—without the bar—of the near future, may not be able, at the expense of the poor families of the inebriate, to sport fine horses and wear diamonds, but he will be a good, prosperous and useful citizen, looking well to the wants and comforts of the travelling public. His success will depend upon this part of the business and not upon the bar. Be not deceived by the sophistical arguments of the liquor interests. The bar-room has never added to the comfort or accommodation of either the farmer or the public, but rather their discomfort. Look down our streets, do we need dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, etc? The stores are there to supply the demand. Do farmers and the public need hotel accommodation? Depend upon it, their needs will be met by men who are always looking for an opening to make an honest dollar, and who will be glad to go into the hotel business and who will make money, too, and that without the bar room? Why should they not be able to make money when the charge is $2.00 per day and upwards, when so many are keeping boarders, at from $4.00 to $5.00 per week—60 to 70 cents per day?

No man representing the public in any office, to-day can afford to disregard the ever growing temperance sentiment, which is as a mighty wave of the sea, sweeping the bar-rooms from our country. Half of Ontario has now no licensed bar-room, and the other half is fighting for license reduction. The people of Canada have spoken with a trumpet voice, "Awake thou that sleepest." Let us awake to the help of the poor fellows who are held captive, as it were, with chains of iron, by the quenchless, burning thirst for drink; let us arise, I say, and break these shackles, removing the temptation, and let these captives go free. FREE to clothe and feed their suffering families.

The people of Peterborough by great and mighty majority, have asked for the total abolition of the bar, and undoubtedly will not be satisfied with a less reduction than asked for by the Temperance and Moral Reform League, which, considering the great vote, is most reasonable, and we feel sure that our Council of level-headed men will give effect to the will of the people

M. CARTON.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—When are our local newspapers going to print something else than license reduction letters? I stood the local option arguments for a year because there was something to be gained, somebody to be convinced. Now that the people have pronounced their verdict, we still have the license reduction drivel ad nauseam, and without any object to be affected or effected.

Now, in the name of common sense what do all these letters mean? Whom do they appeal to? Not to the Council, for that body has nothing to do with lessening the number of hotels. They may pass a by-law to cut off one or two or twenty licenses, and the license commissioners are no more compelled to act upon it than on a similar resolution passed by the Board of Trade, Water Commissioners or even a City League Hockey Club. The license commissioners are neither bound nor prevented from carrying out such a resolution, which brings us to this point, that the whole responsibility rests with the License Commissioners and in the language of the day, it's up to them to reduce or not, as they see fit.

The claim is made that the vote on local option, the large popular majority, is a mandate for license reduction. A mandate to whom? If to anybody only to that body that has power to make reduction, the license commissioners; and it is no mandate to them. The license commissioners are the creatures, or if that word is offensive, the creation of the Ontario Government, according to whose legislation there was no legal majority for closing the bars polled on January 3rd, and consequently no mandate for license reduction. The responsibility rests with the license commissioners, and I think they have back bone enough to do ther duty without prodding and without the help of the sentimental stuff that people are supplying the papers. The license commissioners are saying nothing, but, when the tme comes, they will saw wood.

Yours truly,

TIRED.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

Dear Sir,—To my mind your correspondents on the above question have one and all ignored the one great unanswerable argument in its favour, namely, the fact that over 2,000 fully qualified electors in this city voted in favour of the banishment of the bar, and therefore the cutting off of all licenses. While, according to the law as at present constituted, this number was not enough to accomplish that object, yet it must be a clear indication to the Council elected at the same time of the wishes and convictions of their constituents, and a sufficient warrant for them to reduce the licenses by the number requested by the deputation. The arrangements adduced in support of the bars are so devoid of logic that they would be amusing if they were not so pitiable. I pass by Mr. O'Connell's speech, he did the best a lawyer could do who had no case, namely, bluffed, but his bluffing deceived no one, not even those of his own side. "Be Sensible" brings out the astounding argument that the saloon is the bulwark of purity. Now, Sir, this is either foolish ignorance or impudence, since when has the saloon become the temple of morality, or its frequenters priests of morality, and how on earth would their suppression bring about a flood of obscene literature. It is an insult to the intelligence, both of the Council and the citizens. "Another Consistency" takes it upon himself to show the Moral Reform League and the 2,000 odd temperance electors their place, and holds up to them the example of the Blessed Saviour when on earth. Does he not know that Spiritual and Moral Reformers have for ages tried to staunch the bleeding wounds of suffering humanity with the oil of mercy and love, and followed their Master to the distressed home of the drunkard, and to the prison of the criminal, whose lives have been cursed and ruined by the open saloon, and have found their efforts to stem the tide of misery almost useless because of the awful output of these manufactories of sin and sorrow. Preach the Gospel is his advice to the ministers of this city. What Gospel? (good news) would sound so sweet in the ears of the drunkard's wife and children, than that the saloon was closed. What (he asks) would Christ do if on earth to-day? I believe He would not only find kind words and loving deeds for the poor and sick and needy, but would find use for that scourge of small cords with which He purged His Father's house to punish those, who, for the sake of gain, "Giveth his neighbour drink, putteth his bottle to his lips, maketh him drunken." It is for the Council to say how many licenses shall be issued this year. But they must not forget that if the temperance party are consistent they will have the opportunity of electing a temperance council next January, pledged to reduce the licenses to the limit of the law.

GEORGE LEADER.

Peterborough, Jan. 21, 1910.

The subjoined letter was sent to the City Council last Monday night. It was referred without reading to the Committe of the Whole and did not get the publicity which the Committee of the Moral Reform League, charged with license reduction considered desirable, it is on their request given below:—

To His Worship the Mayor,
And Aldermen of the City of Peterborough.

Gentleman,—I regret the fact that I will not have the privilege of addressing you this evening and helping to press the claims, which will be presented by the citizens of Peterborough seeking the reduction of licenses for the year 1910.

Permit me, gentlemen, to congratulate the citizens of Peterborough, in electing to office such a capable Mayor and Council as we have for the ensuing year, and to congratulate you all on the handsome majorities given you at the Polls. In the case of the Mayor particularly his seat is sure, as he has secured the handsome three-fifths vote. With the aldermen they retain their seats by a majority vote, and we as citizens will have to abide by their decisions on questions that come before them from time to time during the year and accept them as law.

With reference to the question of abolishing the bar from our city, I for one am not discouraged at the result of the Vote on Jan. 3rd, but rejoice in the fact that a great victory was won, as the handsome majority of 505 voters have declared themselves in favor of abolishing every bar room from our City.

As we cannot have the wish of the majority carried out, we are anxious to go as far as possible in having the licenses to sell intoxicating liquors reduced to as low a number as possible, and request your Honourable Body to pass a by-law reducing the present licenses to at most a maximum of 10.

In support of this measure permit me to submit a few facts,—

Total votes polled on local option by-law 3505, total votes for 2006, total against 1499, majority, 505.

Work this majority out, on the same percentage, for the entire population of the City, say of 17,000. There would be a majority of between 2400 and 2500 in favor of abolishing every bar, but a great many who opposed local option, stated to our workers, that they were strong supporters of license reduction, therefore it is reasonable to submit that a very much larger majority would now support you strongly in passing the by-law we are asking for to-night.

Again let us look at a few figures, votes polled for local option, 2,006; votes polled against local option, 1499, majority 505.

Votes polled in 11 polling sub-divisions, in the residential and factory distircts, 1853, majority over three-fifths, for local option.

Votes polled by anti local optionist, in the 2 Hotel and Brewery districts, against local option 333, for local option 253, majority against not three-fifths.

Total votes polled by the Anti local option party 1499, local option by-law lost and minority rules.

The other two By-laws,—

The Power By-law total vote for 1851, majority rules and the By-law becomes law.

The Ward System By-law total vote 1876, Majority rules and the by-law becomes law.

Total vote polled by the Alderman, who was honoured by heading the poll was 1836 or 168 votes less than polled for local option. In this case the majority rules and the citizens are glad of it.

The opponents of license reduction will no doubt bring up the old argument of lack of accommodation for farmers' horses and rigs. In reply to this we would submit this fact: The majority of the outlying townships are at present under local option and on election day the services of over 100 men with horses and sleighs were cheerfully offered by our friends from the country, to assist in carrying local option, showing us plainly that they are willing to take all chances as far as accommodation is concerned, if they could only have removed the temptations of the bar room from their young men.

In the City as per figures given above all the residential and factory districts combined gave a majority for abolishing the bar of over three-fifths, showing plainly that where men are not financially interested in the liquor business, the overwhelming majority is in favor of abolishing the bar entirely from the hotel business.

In view of all these facts, gentlemen as representatives of the citizens of Peterborough, I feel that in your judgment the will of the majority of the people will be respected and a substantial reduction in licenses granted.

Thanking you, gentlemen, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

H. P. KENNEDY.

FIGHTING BUTCHERS

Crusade to Lower Existing Prices for Meat Is Spreading With Lightning Rapidity Throughout the Union—Cleveland Has Thirty Thousand and Kansas City Has Eighty Thousand — Unions Silent.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—A movement to combat the high prices of meat by abstinence therefrom spread rapidly yesterday and began to assume a national character. The extent of the boycott may be gained from the following list of states:

Ohio—In Cleveland 50,000 consumers do without meat. At Steubenville 300 families are on anti-meat strike. Cincinnati club women give up butter. Strike movement under way at Dayton and Columbus.

Missouri—Forty-two St. Louis doctors advise workmen that they can enter meat boycott without danger to health. Kansas City and St. Joseph labor unions institute meat strike. St. Louis stationary engineers resolve to abstain.

Illinois—Thousands of Chicago workmen will join a movement to eat no meat until March 1.

Pennsylvania—Pittsburg milk venders call on butchers to cut prices immediately on penalty of their customers becoming vegetarians.

Wisconsin—Mass meeting of citizens is called to institute meat boycott and circulate petition.

Kansas—Meat boycotts are announced as flourishing in Atchison, Leavenworth, St. Joseph and Topeka.

Nebraska—The Omaha Central Labor Union, 8,000 strong, starts a meat boycott until prices drop.

Iowa—Anti-meat-eating clubs are being formed in Des Moines.

Michigan—Detroit consumers announced because prices across the river in Canada are 5 per cent. cheaper. They will boycott meat.

Maryland—In Baltimore no meat is in full swing.

Delaware—In Wilmington, 2,000 householders have signed a thirty-day meat boycott, encouraged by the fact that a similar move recently lowered the cost of turkey from 45 to 30 cents a pound.

Indiana—Two hundred Jewish families have gone on a strike against the high prices charged by kosher butchers.

Connecticut—The rubber workers of the Naugatuck Valley will eat no more butter or eggs until prices become normal.

Coincidently came announcements from Milwaukee and Cleveland that the price of meat had dropped. In Milwaukee two retail butchers quoted porterhouse and sirloin steak at ten cents a pound, and other meats in proportion. The wholesale price of beef fell off 3c cents a hundred pounds in Cleveland.

From Denver Samuel Dutton, president of the Western Hotelmen's Protective Association, announced that a proposal to cut down the consumption of meat would be brought before his organization at a meeting in Chicago on Jan. 31.

Despatches from Baltimore, Kansas City, Omaha, Memphis, Pittsburg and other cities told of the rapid growth of the meat fast.

Cleveland, credited with being the originator of the scheme, now has 30,000 names enrolled, while Kansas City reports 60,000. The heads of the leading packing houses of Kansas City and Chicago refused to discuss the effects of the movement on their business.

From a few places word comes that the boycott does not find favor even among union men. Toledo and Minneapolis report that it is unlikely that the Cleveland plan will find favor there. Union men, it is said, fear that the fast would cut both ways.

That the boycott is not entirely a union movement was proved by a report from Des Moines, Iowa, that the meat pledge has been signed by scores of men and women who agree to eat no meat for thirty days, although labor unions have not as yet taken any official notice of the crusade.

Can't Feed Sailors.

Snead Will Give Evidence.

New York, Jan. 22.—Snead, husband of the mysterious "bathtub" victim at Orange, N.J., will return from Canada to give evidence in the trial of his aunts, accused of the woman's murder.

An examination of the stomach of Mrs. Snead reveals traces of morphine, to which drug the deceased allege she was addicted.

Negro Lynched.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 22.—A special from Jackson, Miss., say that Sheriff Hubbard of Simpson County, Miss., and a citizen, were shot dead by a negro whom they were attempting to arrest. A posse was formed and the negro was run down and killed.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

Large sums of money are, no doubt, realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement, they enjoy the confidence of the public, and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. Even a child or a dog soon learns to distinguish between real friends and foes in disguise. A humbug may be advertized with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of

have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found the statement truthful. To-day they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey, and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood and is effective in Debility, Influenza, Anæmia, Throat and Lung Troubles, and Fasting Complaints. Dr. M. D. A. says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. It is a scientific remedy, and a food with a delicious taste and flavour. Sold by all chemists the world over.

Gets Third of Fulford Estate.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—By the death of his infant son, who lived only two hours, Charles W. McLean of Brockville, comes into a fortune of $2,000,000, one-third of the present value of the estate of the late Senator Fulford of Brockville. Mrs. McLean died recently and her infant son survived only a few hours. By the provisions of Senator Fulford's will, if a child was born to Mrs. McLean, it was to inherit one-third of the whole estate.

Revolution in Uruguay.

Buenos Ayres, Jan. 22.—Excitement prevails here regarding the situation brought about by the revolt in Uruguay. The newspapers publish reports of uprisings in several of the provinces of Uruguay in accordance with revolutionary plans, which are said to be on a vast scale. The censorship continues rigorous, and it is impossible to get details.

Accident on Sprue, Plan Abolished.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 22.—J. Kelloway, an aged ward of the city, who came to British Columbia fifty years ago, went out Thursday and secretly obtained a large supply of whisky, with which he regaled his friends at the Old Men's Home.

Yesterday Kelloway committed suicide by cutting his throat.

Boy Confesses to Forgery.

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 22.—Squire Chisholm, was startled by the confession of a 12-year-old boy brought before him yesterday, that he had forged his grandfather's signature to a check for $25 on the Huron & Erie Bank.

River Rises in Flood.

Paris, Jan. 22.—The Seine has risen 26 feet, sweeping away the warehouses along the quays. Many persons have had their lives imperilled.

CHARGES BY DR. REID

Minister of Works Says That Conservative Member Had Better Tell That to One of the Witnesses and Take His Chance of Libel Action—Budget Debate Is Closed by Smith, M.P. for Cornwall.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—The purchase of the "Sawdust Wharf" at Richibucto, N.B., bids fair to become as famous as the first cruise of the steamship Arctic.

This wharf was bought for $700 by T. O. Murray, manager of the Kent Northern Railway from J. O'Leary, and sold immediately to the Government for $5,000. The transaction has caused a good deal of examination in the public accounts committee.

Dr. Reid, the Conservative member for Grenville, declared in the House last night that he was satisfied that there had been perjury committed before the public accounts committee on more than one occasion, but particularly on this.

"I believe that there have been witnesses in this case who have deliberately perjured themselves and I intend that this shall not stop here. Perjury should be pumished by prosecution by the Attorney-General of the province, or by some one else, I intend to report to the House that there has been perjury and demand that the House shall take action," he said.

Dr. Pugsley: "It is open to Dr. Reid, if he believes that there has been perjury, to lay information, or to test the matter by stating to any witness after the adjournment of the committee that he believes he has perjured himself, and taking the chance of a libel. So far as I have observed, and I have given the matter steady attention, I have seen no evidence of any witness having committed perjury in this case."

Mr. Carvell: "Any man who has had experience as a lawyer, and Dr. Reid has not, knows that witnesses often differ in a most extraordinary way, due to recollection or observation. It is a terrible thing for Dr. Reid to stand up here under the protection of his position as a member of Parliament and make a wholesale charge that witnesses have committed perjury in this case, without naming the witness whom he believes to be guilty."

Dr. Reid: "Well, I believe that there has been perjury committed, and I am not the only man who believes the same thing. I do not intend to let the matter drop."

During the course of a speech made at the evening sitting, Glen Campbell (Dauphin), said he had heard a rumor to the effect that Mr. McCraney, M.P., would become Attorney-General of Saskatchewan, and that Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of that province would enter the Federal Cabinet.

He said that he would give Mr. Scott fair warning that the day he entered the Dominion Parliament would be a red letter day for him.

Col. Smith of Cornwall closed the budget debate. Canadian woollen manufacturers, he said, were getting far more for their produce than they did in the Conservative days, and sheep raisers were likewise getting much better prices for wool.

The Cause of Sleep.

Detroit, Jan. 22.—Experiments at the University of Michigan overturn a long accepted theory as to the cause of sleep. It has been said that natural loss of consciousness is due to a lessened flow of blood to the brain. Prof. R. M. Wenley's experiments show the opposite.

His summary of what has been demonstrated is:

The size or volume of the brain increases when the individual goes to sleep and decreases when he awakes.

The size of the hands and feet increase when the man is asleep and become smaller when he is awake.

In some cases the brain becomes smaller at first and then increases as sleep becomes deeper.

One of the delicate devices used in experimenting records a "breathing wave" from both brain and hands and feet.

Confessed to Murders.

Colville, Wash., Jan. 22.—James F. Logan, alias Frederick Jahns, was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Agnes Jansen, his housekeeper, whose body he took into the woods and cremated. Logan confessed that he killed two other persons.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin, and visible pulsations of the arteries.

There may also be experienced a smothering sensation, gasping for breath, and feeling as though about to die.

In all such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart and restoring it to its normal beat, is, beyond all question marvellous, as our thousands of testimonials will show.

Mrs. Martha Mason, Marlbank, Ont., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart, would have severe choking spells and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all with heart or nerve trouble."

THE DARK DAYS OF STOMACH TROUBLE

Obstinate Indigestion Can be Cured by a Fair Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

No trouble causes more widespread suffering and discomfort than indigestion. The ailment takes various forms. Some victims are ravenous for food; others turns sick and faint at the sight of meals; but as a rule every meal is followed by intense pains in the chest, heartburn, sick headaches, dizziness and shortness of breath. Indigestion assumes an obstinate form because ordinary medicines only subdue its symptoms—but do not cure. So-called predigested foods only make the digestion more sluggish, and ultimately make the trouble take a chronic form.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure indigestion because they go right to the root of the trouble. They make new, rich blood that invigorates weakened organs, thus strengthening the digestive system so that the stomach does its own work. That is the Dr. Williams' way — the rational way — to cure indigestion and the ailments that arise from it. This has been proved time after time in the published cures wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Blanche Wallace, Dartmouth, N.S., says: "I suffered greatly with my head and stomach, and often took fainting spells, I could not retain anything on my stomach and while I naturally craved food I really dreaded meal time with the pain and discomfort that followed. I tried a number of remedies but got no relief. My mother was using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the time with so much benefit that she induced me to try them. The result was that soon the trouble had passed away and I have since enjoyed the best of health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lewis Is Re-Elected.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—T. L. Lewis of Ohio was re-elected president of the United Mine Workers of America over William Green of Ohio, his only opponent, by 23,597 majority. Frank J. Hayes of Illinois was elected vice-president.

$40,000 to Charity.

Montreal, Jan. 22.—Dr. Robert Seigneur of Chambly, Que., who died some weeks ago, bequeathed $20,000 to the Hospital for Incurables in this city, $20,000 for Chambly Convent and $1,500 for a hospital in the same place.

THE BOUDOIR OF A FAT WOMAN

What do we see? Terrifically long and austere looking corsets; tiny (as possible) shoes, uppers bulging over the vamps; various restrainers, retainers, detainers (names unknown); perspiration disinfectants; blackhead eradicators; pimple specifics; blood medicine. Strewed around a few candy boxes; maybe an exerciser on the wall. These "properties" signify that at various times this pleasant room is the scene of fashionable tortures, of heart-burnings, of fallings from grace. Here the poor lady gasps into her retainers, her harness. Here she hides her fat-caused pimples, perspiration, blackheads; here, when her spirit is weak, she forsakes the exerciser for the deadly candy box. What a life—what a four-flush!

Avoidable? A Marmola Prescription Tablet, taken after each meal and at bedtime, will reduce that fat (a pound a day) down to the firm flesh beneath; banish the fat-caused blemishes; give a license to eat all the candy etc., craved, and sleep as long as one desires. Investigate; tender seventy-five cents to your druggist for a large case, or write the Marmola Co., 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich. Do not be timid—Marmola Tablets are safe—being made strictly in accordance with the famous, fashionable formula: ½ oz. Marmola, ¾ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 4½ oz. Peppermint Water; consequently, go ahead—without fear. A month will emancipate you.

Nine Canneries Move.

Toronto, Jan. 22.—Another development in the canners' merger is announced, no less than the taking of every one of the independent companies into the Canadian Canners, Ltd. At present only three independent companies remain out of the deal, but it was said last night by a gentleman in touch with the situation that negotiations for these would be closed in a few weeks.

The new amalgamation will comprise about 56 factories, or with the three independents which will likely come to terms, 59.

The terms of the amalgamation are not stated authoritatively, but it is understood that the independents will be given stock in the merger.

Shooting Was an Accident.

Woodstock, Jan. 22.—Thomas Stalker, who shot Oscar Maldover, a pedlar, in the eye while shooting rabbits, was before the magistrate yesterday. Maldover was able to testify. It was shown that the affair was accidental and Stalker, on undertaking to make proper reparation, was allowed out on suspended sentence.

Peterborough Intermediates Successfully Open The Season By Beating Lindsay At Home

Petes Out-Scored the Champions on Their Own Rink and Won a Well-Earned Victory by Their Aggressiveness—The Work of the Defence and the Checking Back of the Forwards Were the Features.

SURPRISED LINDSAY FANS

(Special Staff Correspondence.)

Lindsay, Jan. 21.—Working like demons all through the piece, the Peterborough intermediate O. H. A. team very successfully opened the season here to-night by taking into camp the Lindsay seven, last year's champions, by a score of 3-2, after a game that was, considering the nature of the ice, a grand exhibition of hockey. The victory came as a surprise to the Lindsay fans, as Capt. Bill Stoddard had gathered together a team that was expected to decisively wallop the Petes. The line-up included Taylor, Blomfield, Cote and Stoddard of last year's Midgets, and Goalkeeper Gamble of the champion Port Hope Ontario team of 1905. On paper this line-up looked good to fandom in Scugogville, but the expected wallop utterly failed to arrive on scheduled time. The Peterborough team held off the attacks of the Stoddardites while they were full of running in the first quarter and then proceeded to trim them when the homesters faded away towards the finish. The ice was very slushy and the going very bad, but in spite of that fact the Petes set a terrific pace which Lindsay could not hold all the way, although they never let up plugging away. On hard ice Peterborough would have undoubtedly won by a larger margin. The majority of the Lindsay fans do not think so, but the fact remains that the Peterborough forwards were breaking away three and four in a line and on a slippery surface their combination would have won them a way to more counters. As it was two of their goals were scored on combined efforts and had it not been for the difficulty in passing the rubber they would have beaten the Lindsay defence more often than they did.

For Lindsay failed to exhibit much in the way of combination and what little they did show was smashed to pieces by the grand work of the Peterborough defence or smothered up by the beautiful back checking of the forward line. Every Lindsay rush was marked by the way Ray, McMillan, Dobson and Dusty were back cutting in between the Lindsay forwards or if, as was often the case, Stoddard or Blomfield came down alone they skated him away from the firing line, while the defence took care of the puck. To their persistent checking may be given the credit for the victory. Not once were Lindsay followed to come down on the defence without interference on the part of the Peterborough forwards, and the players deserve the greatest credit for the way they stuck to their task in spite of the heavy going and the fact that they had come through a hard game two nights before.. Every man on the team had his share in the victory and they were a happy bunch when they skated off the ice. It is some years Marguerite, since Peterborough has beaten Lindsay at home and that coterie of seven City Leaguers wore a smile that threatened to crack the paint on the stores on Kent St. when it was all over.

Derocher never played a more brilliant game in the nets than he did to-night and the same boy has given some good exhibitions. In the first half when Lindsay were fresh they bombarded the nets pretty vigorously and although the defence kept them out in good fashion they let loose with a fusilade from the wings that Derocher handled beautifully. He stopped shot after shot that looked dangerous and cleared splendidly. Both shots that beat him were from close in and the second one was scored by Stoddard after Derocher had handled two shots in succession, the Lindsay captain making good on the third attempt. Allan Campbell, although the position was new to him, fitted into the defence perfectly and checked effectively while his rushes relieved the pressure frequently. McDougall was there with "rings on his fingers, bell on his toes" and all the rest of it, and if there was any particular hero in the melodrama, the credit must be given to the Keene boy, whose defence game could hardly have been improved on. He was almost impregnable at cover, checking perfectly, while at times he tore through the Lindsay line like a freight engine. Heavy and fast, the ex-Eureka man looks like a find indeed.

CHARLIE RAY,

Captain of the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. Team, which got away to a good start last night by beating Lindsay on their own ice.

On the forward line all were good, although Dusty lagged a little towards the end. He was suffering from a bad cold and was not up to his usual form in the last quarter, although at that he had it over his check, Cote. Ray was probably the most prominent as much for his great checking back as for his rushing. Two of the goals went to his credit, and the Strathconas' captain showed his classiest playing of the season. He looked after Stoddard nicely and was always back helping out his defence. Dobson also came back splendidly and played an excellent game at centre. Although he got several bad cracks he never let up and was always working. McMillan at right wing was up against Cain, who seemed to be in the best condition of any of the Lindsay team, but this did not interfere with his playing a consistently effective game all the way through. He rushed and passed nicely and came back fast.

That Lindsay team, although beaten, is some class, and their supporters claim that on hard ice Peterborough will not be able to hold their forwards. Peterborough critics are not of the same opinion, but it must be admitted that Stoddard, Blomfield and Cote are lightning fast and there is nothing alow about that boy Cain, who was at left wing. "Pacer" McDougall, who was with the Lindsay team some years ago and last year with the Toronto Rowing Club, will likely be on for the next game.

There is barrels of speed on the forward line and although the defence is not as strong as last year's combination, the Lindsay fans still expect their team to go a long ways towards the championship. They were surprised but not dismayed by to-night's defeat. "We will wipe it out," said one of the players, "by beating Peterborough on their own ice a week from to-night."

Stoddard is the same old fast skating brilliant forward he was last year and did a whole lot of useful work for Lindsay, getting both of their counters. He was pretty well looked after by the Petes, the forwards coming back with him so fast that he had little chance to break clear. Cote was very prominent in the first half, while on the other hand Cain, the little left wing, was at his best in the second period, when he came down the boards with a fine burst of speed. Blomfield, who, by the way, is conspicuous by reason of a cute little moustache ,worked heroically all the way, and his rushes looked dangerous.

Green checked hard at cover-point and 'Goosie' Taylor did good work at point. Gamble looks like a crack goal keeper and the Scugog team will never miss Newton with the Port Hope boy between the flags. The O.H.A. overlooked the formality of sending a referee and this caused a long delay in starting the game, which did not get under way until after 9 o'clock. Lindsay suggested Ford Moynes, but W. O'Brien, of Peterborough, was finally agreed upon and he handled his task in good fashion, giving satisfaction to both teams. The game was not rough and although there were six penalties a side, the offences were not or a malicious character.

A large crowd saw the game and rooted for the Midgets. They only had two opportunities to cheer during the night, but it must be admitted that they made good when the chance was offered them.

The teams faced each other as follows:

	Derocher
	Campbell
	McDougall
	Ray
McMillan	Dobson	Dusty
Cain	Blomfield	Cote
	Stoddard
	Green
	Taylor.
	Gamble

The play opened up at a terrific rate, considering the ice, and it was seen at once that it was to be a hard battle. Lindsay rushed and Blofield hurled one at Derocher, which the Petes' goal keeper picked off nicely. Peterborough countered with a fast dash, but the shot was wide. Up and down in this style went the play with the crowd wildly in excitement. Taylor was warned for tripping. Then Green came down with a nice rush but McDougall went out and met him with a body check that lifted the Lindsay cover clean off the ice and he bounced back like a rubber ball. Referee O'Brien, however, sentenced McDougall to a two-minute penalty for the check. Soon after Cain took a slash at a Peterborough man and was sent away. Derocher was called upon to stop three long shot in succession and cleared nicely. Cote and Dusty had a slashing duet which the referee interrupted with a two minute penalty for both. Cain came back on the ice and a moment later McMillan cross-checked him and left to join Dusty and Cote in the penalty box. With both the Peterborough wings off the ice, Peterborough broke into the scoring column after twenty minutes' hard playing. Ray secured the puck near centre and tore off a pretty individual rush. He was checked by Green, but batted the rubber past the Lindsay cover and securing possession, let drive at the nets. Taylor intercepted the shot but Ray followed in like a flash and slammed the puck past Gamble.

Peterborough 1, Lindsay 0.

Cote drew another penalty for slashing, but no damage was done while he was off. Campbell and Ray rushed nicely together, but failed to connect with the nets. Dobson was penalized a minute for loafing offside, and with him off and only thirty seconds to play before the end of the half, Lindsay tied up the game, Stoddard working in a nice rush and tipping the rubber behind Derocher. Peterborough 1, Lindsay 1. Half time.

Hardly had the second half opened when Stoddard was benched for slashing at McMillan. From the face off that followed Dusty started a rush and passed to McMillan who handed the rubber to Ray in front of the Lindsay nets and the rover beat Gamble from close in, putting Peterborough again in the lead in one minute after the half opened.

Peterborough 2, Lindsay 1.

Taylor dumped Dusty against the boards and was off for two minutes, but there was no scoring while he was off. Blomfield nearly scored for Lindsay on a lift shot that was ticketed for the upper corner of the nets, but Derocher blocked nicely. Then Stoddard got in close but Derocher waded out and met him before he could shoot and received a slash from the stick of the Lindsay captain. Peterborough rushed twice, but Taylor saved on one occasion and Gamble on the other. Finally Stoddard came down alone and shot. Derocher blocked the effort but the rubber rebounded off his pad straight back to Stodard. Again the Lindsay man shot and Derocher once more kicked out the puck, but Stoddard secured once more and his third attempt was successful. Time 11 mins.

Peterborough 2, Lindsay 2.

Cain was penalized a minute for loafing, but there was no damage done while he was off. Peterborough were having the better o fthe play at this stage, both defence and forwards taking turns in rushing. McDougall s wet up nicely several times and Campbell also waded through the slush in good style. Then Ray and McMillan broke away from centre together and after the prettiest combination of the night during which three or four passes were exchanged, McMillan scooped one past Gamble so fast that he almost tore the net from its moorings.

Peterborough 3, Lindsay 2.

This ended the scoring, but Lindsay worked hard to sew up the game again. They had a good opportunity a few minutes later when Dobson and McDougall both went off for bodying. But the five Petes on the ice held them back until the pair were back. Derocher spoiled several likely attempts at this stage, once picking off a shot by Stoddard at close range with his hand. The game ended with Lindsay making a desperate attempt to run in a goal.

Summary.

PAINS

In Neck, Shoulders, Arms, Joints, Muscles

This means Rheumatism, the disease that next to Tuberculosis plays greatest havoc in the nation. But there is a cure—Ferrozone—a concentrated vegetable remedy that has the power to neutralize Uric Acid, and therefore it cures permanently.

FERROZONE CURES

"For years I had been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles; these swelled, caused excruciating pains, and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame, and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength, and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy, and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

(Mrs.) Edw. Warman, Kent Jnct., N.B.

You will be cured for all time to come by using Ferrozone; try it—now—50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

FIRST LECTURE

Given at the Normal School by Dr Knight Last Evening.

Despite the very inclement weather last evening there was a fairly large crowd at the first of the series of lectures to be given at the Normal school. Last night, Dr. A. P. Knight, of Queen's University, gave a lantern lecture on "Medical Examinations in Public Schools." It proved very interesting and instructive. Prof. Knight is an excellent speaker.

CARNIVAL FEB. 1

Great Interest is Being Taken in the Coming Masquerade.

Great interest is being taken in the announcement made yesterday that a carnival is to be held in the Brock Street Rink on the evening of February 1st. There is something about a masquerade affair of this kind that always proves a big drawing card, and there is every reason to expect that the carnival on the first of next month will be the most successful in years. The prizes offered are out of the ordinary in regard to value, and they will tend to increase the interest in the best costume competition. Eleven prizes in all are offered, and there will be a keen fight in every class.

I used to be continually tired; now I am strong and well—Miller's Compound Iron Pills did it.—Wm. Madill, druggist.

CANCELLING LICENSES

Editor of The Examiner,—

I have no complaint to make against those who advocated the adoption of Local Option and so valiantly worked in the late campaign. They made an excellent fight and were quite sincere in the course they took. It has since been said by opponents that the leaders were riding a hobby, which as usual in such a case, is without limit in its demands, also that they were intolerant of the rights and convictions of others who were quite as sober minded, and otherwise as local optionists. A discussion along these lines or in relation to the merits of the question, it would be idle now to enter. The frenzy is over on both sides, and let it rest. The effort was defeated as the law stands, because of insufficient majority, in the same way as a by-law for granting aid to an industry in the City would be defeated, which also requires a three-fifths majority to give it force, yet the advocates of Local Option are not satisfied, but demand from the Council that one-half of the liquor licenses be cut off. Herein I think they have made a serious mistake. In making this absurd claim they show their inconsistency, and have to argue backwards in a way that is not very creditable. By cutting off one-half the licenses the worst feature of the liquor traffic will be intensified. The cry has ever been, away with the plague spots, the bar rooms, because of the evil habit of continual treating that goes on whenever a number of men meet in such places. A reduction in the hotels will not lessen the appetite in the least for strong drink. That will continue, and the amount consumed will be much the same as ever. The people who want it will get it without effort. There will, however, be a rateably increased number of people in each of the remaining hotel bars, and so this old grievance against treating will be aggravated. Temperance advocates have ever, with just cause, railed against the treating habit, have branded it as odious, and times without number have rebuked the Legislature for not abating it. Now in apparent desperation they are prepared to urge a course by which the evil will be redoubled. Local Option, had it passed, would almost have been prohibitory, but reducing the number of hotels and legalising the balance to sell liquor cannot possibly advance the temperance cause. As the hotel bars now stand, some 18 or 20, they are like a delta or many mouths of a great river, which if some are closed will only create a greater discharge of liquor or water, as the case may be, in others.

Peterborough is in large sense a manufacturing centre, but it is also a farmers' town, and the denying licenses to hotels that have accommodation for farmers will be injurious to merchants and others. Farmers from three or four Counties trade in Peterborough, because of the good accommodation they find at the hotels. They spend vast sums of money yearly in the City in procuring the necessaries of life, and they sell their produce mostly in the City. It will be very unwise indeed to endanger this trade. At many villages and railway stations farmers can dispose of their produce where there are large bins or elevators. These are increasing in number and are in most cases nearer their homes than Peterborough, and they can also satisfy most of their wants at the villages. It is the accommodation they get here that should be credited to a great extent with their coming in such numbers, and whatever may deter them should be avoided. It has been said that a dozen farmers helped Local Optionists on election day. Perhaps they did, but that would not represent one per cent of their number in this district who look for lodgment in Peterborough every week. If there is a cutting off of licenses the premises will in many instances be devoted to other purposes, in which rents will be less than now, but profits greater than keeping hotel without a license, while others possess that advantage.

In conclusion, I think the City Council should hesitate to take action in the way proposed, until they have been shown a means of replacing $2500 to $3000 income that will be lost by the reduction in the licenses, and which sum must be added to the tax rate of the City.

FLOODS IN FRANCE.

Paris is at the Mercy of Overwhelming Freshets.

Paris, Jan. 24.—The floods to-day exceed all records and are fast resuming the proportions of a national disaster. In the northeast and west hundreds are homeless and ruined. The damage will be very great.

The rise in the waters continued all day. At Paris the Seine which registered 6.48 metres Saturday had reached 7.40 at noon yesterday. Its normal height at this season is 2.48.

The sharp cold of Saturday led to the hope of abatement of the floods, but yesterday morning a heavy snow set in, turning in the afternoon to rain, which is still falling.

A despatch from Chalons-sur-Marne says that a huge volume of water is sweeping down stream toward Paris. M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, after a tour of inspection yesterday afternoon, took the gravest view of the situation. "The weather bureau," he said, "forecasts a further rise of 30 centimetres last night. I do not know what to do in the face of this situation."

One of the watermains serving five of the most populated districts in the south and east of the city, burst last night, and these districts are now without water. It is feared that the whole city will be in a like condition very soon, as the flood is invading the pumping stations. The compressed air factory, which supplied the elevators in Paris, has also been forced to shut down.

One of the great engines, which pump the sewage in the eastern section of Paris, broke down on account of the flood, and as a result the sewers threaten to overflow the streets. Several quarters are without electric light and all the trolley lines to the eastern suburbs, are out of commission. The main track of the Lyons railroad has been partially cut.

Livery Man Disappears.

Brockville, Jan. 24.—The police have a mystery to solve in the disappearance of Cecil G. Howard, the keeper of a livery stable, who has not been seen since an early hour Saturday morning. A team of horses belonging to him in charge of an employe figured in a runaway accident which had no serious results beyond the damaging of a vehicle which he had borrowed. The incident completely unnerved him and, going home, he remained just long enough to deposit his money and bank book on a table without awakening the other members of the family.

Boys Bought Liquor.

Woodstock, Jan. 24.—Ten school boys were witnesses Saturday in the police court proceedings against three hotels of the city, charged with selling liquor to minors.

The Commercial Hotel proprietor pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs. Decision in the charges against the Royal and Buckingham Hotels was reserved until Tuesday next.

The boys swore that while they had been served with wine and gin, they did not drink any, but poured it into the cuspidors.

All of the students have been compelled from school.

THE PARTIES ARE TIED NOW

With 83 Votes the Irish Home Rule Party Rules the Destiny of the Next Parliament, Unless the Trend of Voting in Great Britain Changes In the Next Few Days—Balfour Seems Well Satisfied.

London, Jan. 24.—Never in the recollection of the oldest politicians have the British parties been in such a perplexing position as they find themselves to-day, and are likely to face when the next House of Commons is organized.

So evenly divided will be the membership of the next House, and so close is the popular vote, that the result of the elections for all practical purposes may be considered a tie.

No human mind can divine which of the principal and different questions before the electors had the most influence at the polls, or whether the results mean that the people demand tariff reform, or are loyal to the Lords or anxious to reject Chancellor Lloyd-George's budget, or whether all three of these had an equal effect.

Under these circumstances neither party wants the responsibility of attempting to legislate, and, since a division must be so close, the Unionists are better satisfied to be in the opposition than to have won by a very small majority.

Mr. Balfour's speeches show plainly that with the existing conditions he is glad not to have control of the Government. Premier Asquith would be equally pleased to escape the perils of piloting the party through the troubled waters. There are precedents for him to ask the King to summon another leader to form the Government, but no one expects him to haul down his flag.

All the prophets made the prediction that the new Cabinet will find itself in the minority within a year, and that the country will plunge into another general election.

The remarkable figures recorded at this stage of the balloting foreshadow clearly how nearly equal both the popular vote and the membership of the House of Commons will be divided between the two great factions.

The popular vote stands:

Unionists	2,565,627
Liberals	2,334,316

This gives the united Liberal-Labor party a majority of 153,803 in a total vote of 5,285,157.

To-day the membership of the House of Commons is a tie, the Unionists and the combined Liberal-Labor party each having elected 218 representatives.

One hundred and sixty-seven seats remain to be filled, of which 102 are English. In the last Parliament these were: Unionist, 36; Liberal, 115; Nationalist, 16. Should the present trend of voting continue, neither the Unionists nor the Liberals can muster a majority of more than a dozen, and the Nationalists, with 83 votes, will be wholly masters of the situation.

Lady Constance Lytton In Jail.

Liverpool, Jan. 24.—That Lady Constance Lytton, sister of Lord Lytton, is serving a sentence in Walton Jail here, under the name of Jane Warton, for smashing the jail windows, has just leaked out and has caused a sensation among the supporters of the women's suffragists. Lady Lytton adopted a disguise of a work woman and set about to force the authorities to imprison her for the purpose of proving her assertion that Home Secretary Gladstone's recent action in releasing her from Newcastle Jail on the official ground that she had a weak heart was really on account of her social position, and the agitation which was excited by the forcible feeding of the prisoners who refused to take food.

It is said that she is starving herself again and is submitting to forcible feeding to prove that Mr. Gladstone's statement with reference to her "weak heart" was what she called it, "simply Liberal snobbishness."

Lady Lytton came to Liverpool Jan. 14. She proceeded deliberately to smash the jail windows with stones. When arrested she gave the name of Jane Warton, and said she broke the windows as a protest against certain jail regulations. Lady Constance was sentenced to a fortnight's imprisonment, one week of which she has served.

Kick From Easterners.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—Premier Hazzard of Prince Edward Island, who left yesterday for home, having been a few days at Ottawa, stated that he was getting along very comfortably with his majority of three and that he did not expect a crisis in the near future, although he intimated that there might be fun ahead, if his province would, in connection with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, make a very strenuous effort to have the original number of federal representatives restored.

Prince Edward Island had been reduced from six to five, and after the next census, the number would come down to four, and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in a like proportion if matters were allowed to drift.

He said that there was little doubt as to the willingness of the other two Maritime Provinces to participate in the movement, as the growing population of the west would cut down their federal representation in the same ratio.

BIG FIRE AT ELK LAKE

Liquor is Being Dispensed From the "Blind Pigs" In Mining Town, and Officials Are Having Trouble to Maintaining Order — Drunken Man Started the Blaze by Upsetting a Gasoline Stove.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—"Fire destroyed over half of the east side of Elk Lake early yesterday morning. It originated in a pool room, where a drunken man knocked over a gasoline stove. Loss is over $100,000, practically no insurance.

Men are obtaining a large quantity of liquor from "Blind Pigs," causing numerous fights. The town officials appear to be incapable of maintaining order.

The fire department was inefficient and the town was saved by the individual efforts of citizens.

Many thefts occurred of goods which had been saved from burning buildings and stood on the street.

The firemen were handicapped on account of having no ladders. Nobody was injured, but many are left homeless.

A number of merchants, who sustained a total loss, are preparing to open business to-day in tents.

About twenty stores were destroyed. Many people are homeless."

The above despatch was received last night signed by the Elk Lake Telegraph and Telephone Co. Several private wires reporting a conflagration also came through.

There are two townsites at Elk Lake, one on the southwest side of the Montreal River, known as Empthe, and one on the northwest side of the river, known as Elk City. It is the latter section that is fire-swept.

While the loss will be heavy, it is thought it will hardly run as high as estimated in the despatch. Insurance will be practically nil, as the rates were almost wholly prohibitive.

A small gasoline fire engine was purchased last spring, but it would be powerless against the big blaze.

The population of the district in which the fire raged would be over 3,000. The buildings are small wooden affairs. The weather conditions will entail considerable hardship to those burned out.

English Liberals of Quebec.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—W. D. Lighthall, K.C., speaking to the members of the Reform Club, uttered a warning Saturday evening to the political leaders, saying they must pay more attention to the representation of the English speaking population of Quebec both at Ottawa and Quebec.

He claimed that the English Liberals are the true interpretor between the French-Canadian and the other provinces, and that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier is beloved all over Canada, it is because he has been landed in the English provinces by the English Liberals of Quebec.

The foundation of Mercier's national party, or rather his racial party, brought them to power at Quebec, but it damaged Liberalism throughout the Dominion, and practically wiped out of political existence the English Liberals.

Campbell For Butler's Job?

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—It is reported that the Minister of Railways and Canals has it in his mind to offer the vacant position of deputy minister to A. W. Campbell, Deputy Minister of Public Works for Ontario. The position was recently vacated by H. D. Butler, who goes to the Dominion Coal and Steel Co. as general manager.

Mr. Graham is thinking of dividing up the work performed by the former deputy minister, picking a manager of the Intercolonial Railway from one of the big privately-owned railways, and securing Mr. Campbell as deputy minister of the department. The subject has not been discussed with Mr. Campbell, but it is thought he will accept.

U. S. and Germany Cannot Agree.

Berlin, Jan. 24.—The American note on the tariff is not satisfactory to the German Government. A despatch which was delivered to the Foreign Office Saturday night was deciphered in installments yesterday, being examined page by page by the officials concerned.

The first paragraphs of the note, which were favourable to the German contentions, gave the impression that the controversy was ended, but as the note proceeded it was perceived that various points have yet to be considered, and that Washington continues to hold positions to which Germany cannot now proceed to accede.

Seven Killed In Wreck.

Cincinnati, Jan. 24.—Seven are dead and fifteen injured as the result of the wreck of the Big Four night express from Chicago, which left the track ten miles west of here yesterday morning, while running twenty-five miles an hour.

While rounding a curve, the engine leaped from the track and whirling in a great semi-circle, plunged through a couple of fifty-two foot trestles.

According to the Big Four officials, the accident was caused by a piece of iron dropping on one of the tracks.

Quadruplets.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 24.—A mixed quartette of babies, two boys and two girls, arrived early yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson in this city, making 12 children to this couple in nine years. The Wilsons were married 25 years ago.

Two sets of triplets and one pair of twins have previously been born to them.

Kingstown, St. Vincent, B.W.I., Jan. 24.—Two sharp earthquake shocks were felt throughout the island at 2.50 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In Kingstown the protracted tremor caused a panic, but no damage was done.

Fort de France, Martinique, Jan. 24.—Earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday afternoon, a few minutes before three o'clock. The movement was undulatory and lasted one minute. So far as is known there was no damage.

Jealous Italian Stabs Girl.

Toronto, Jan. 24.—Charged with feloniously wounding Margery Harvey, his sweetheart, and her chum, Nettie Bennett, in a fit of jealous rage, because the former would not have anything more to do with him, having heard that he was an Italian, Joseph Schell, a porter in the King Edward barber shop, was arrested by Detective Guthrie on Saturday evening.

PASTOR RUSSELL PREACHES ON CHURCH UNION.

Text, "Say Ye Not, A Confederacy, to All Them to Whom This People Shall Say, A Confederacy; Neither Fear Ye Their Fear, Nor Be Afraid," (Isaiah viii, 12).—The Symbol of Baptism.

Sunday, Jan. 23.—Numerically Baptists, Adventists and Disciples represent more than one-third of the Protestants of the United States. What they must yield for Church Federation is therefore an important question. All three of these systems are built upon the Congregational platform, which recognizes as Scriptural the independence of each congregation as to its own creed in all matters of faith and Church order. These bodies of Christians, therefore, could not join the Federation as denominations. The only method by which they could give adherence would be either by abandoning their principles of independence for which they have so long contended, or else by remaining quiescent while their ministers through Councils and Conferences essay to act for them. And here it should be noted that the membership of these large Christian bodies have more and more during the past thirty-five years shown their willingness to have their ministers regulate their affairs, even though contrary to their avowed principles of Church Government.

But it is from the standpoint of doctrines rather than Church Government that we shall examine our subject. As we progress we shall find that some of the doctrines once considered all-important can in the light of our day be laid aside as obsolete—as hindrances in every sense of the word. Caution, however, would suggest that for everything discarded as unscriptural the truthful substitute should be found—otherwise our progress would be toward the destruction, not only of the bad of our creeds of the past, but also of their good features.

Baptists will find little to dispute with their co-religionists of the Federation along general doctrinal lines; their chief difficulty will be in the matter of what constitutes Christian baptism—the necessity of water immersion to admission to Church membership. For years this dictrine has been even more tenaciously held than is generally realized. Our Baptist brethren hold to justification by faith as a first or preliminary step which the sinner must take. But they equally hold that this is not the final step—that the step of sacrifice, the step of regeneration must follow in order to salvation. And a baptism in water they recognize as an indispensable outward indication of this regeneration. Hence it is standard Baptist doctrine, both North and South in all Baptist Churches with rare exceptions, that no unimmersed person should be esteemed a member of Christ's Church.

In a word, faith and reformation are steps of justification, but water immersion is the door into Christ. Only those who pass through this door are members of the Church of Christ from this viewpoint; hence, consistently, none others are invited to partake of the Eucharist—the Lord's Supper. The argument is that this Supper, symbolizing death with Christ, was offered only to the consecrated and accepted members of Christ's Church. Hence to invite others than those immersed in water would be a violation of the letter and the spirit of the Divine Word and a countenancing of false doctrine. The argument is that all of "the elect" will be guided of the Lord, so that their hearts and heads will become amenable to these teachings. Obedience thereto will be shown by submission to water immersion — the door into the Church of Christ.

Like the rest of us, our Baptist friends have been in the past rather illogical in all matters religious and doctrinal; so much so that many of them have never realized the full meaning of their doctrine. The meaning was grasped in the long ago, but has generally been lost sight of within the last fifty years. It is this: Since water immersion is the evidence of obedience to Divine instruction and since all of "the elect" are not only instructed of God but obedient to him, therefore these not baptized in water are not of God's elect—are not members in his Church. And this in turn, according to Baptist doctrine, implies that all not immersed in water are outside of the Church—outside of the number of "the elect" — outside of Gods' favor—outside of the salvation provided in Christ—and therefore inside the damnation and eternal torment which Baptist doctrines imply have been foreordained for the eternal torture of all the non-elect.

Do our Baptist friends who meet unimmersed Christians of other denominations in the walks of life from day to day really believe that the latter are on their way to an eternity of torture? Most assuredly they do not! But this is merely because they are illogical, like the rest of us. They are as illogical as their brethren of other denominations. They have outgrown at least this feature of the teachings of the "dark ages" handed down to them by well-meaning but less enlightened forefathers.

One glance at the matter will suffice to show our Baptist brethren that the very strongest features of their teaching needs some revision. However fundamental may be the doctrine of baptism, some of their conclusions respecting it will be greatly advantaged by a liberal pruning. But caution should be used. The Bible should be consulted. We offer the suggestion that too hasty a rejection of water immersion would be a mistake—that the proper course for our Baptist friends is to study the Scriptures afresh on this subject. What wonderful advantages are now at the command of all Bible students! They have marginal references by which one passage throws light upon another. They have also concordances, glossaries, indexes, and all manner of helps for Bible study. Our forefathers before the Reformation were generally illiterate. And even had they possessed education the pen-written Bibles were expensive and obtainable only in the Latin language. Indeed it is within only the last few years that Bibles have become cheap and plentiful and the masses able to read them.

The doctrine of the Second Advent of Christ is common to all denominations. And the Adventist belief that at that time the earth will be burned up is also a feature of all the various creeds. Many Adventists have abandoned the thought that the Saviour's second appearing is at hand. And many more are abandoning the thought that when he appears Adventists alone will be saved and all the remainder of mankind will participate in the destruction and burning which shall then engulf the earth. It should not be difficult for them to realize that there is no great necessity for controversy along the lines of the time of Christ's coming, since they acknowledge themselves completely in the dark on that subject. Neither can we suppose that after thoughtful consideration they should feel justified in assuming that they alone are "the elect." Let us hope that with broadening sentiment they are more and more realizing that there are saints and sinners in their own number, as well as in all denominations and as well as in the world; and that "the Lord knoweth them that are his" and will care for them, regardless of denominational lines. But for that portion of Adventists which considers the keeping of the Seventh Day of the week the all-important part of Christianity we see no ground for Federation, unless, indeed, they may choose to get about the difficulty by counting the calendar the other way around the world. Thus they might bring their Seventh Day into harmony with what others term the First Day. Or, by counting the calendar in the opposite direction they may still keep their Seventh Day and realize that others are keeping the same day, though calling it the First Day.

Undoubtedly Alexander Campbell was a good man with a great head. And undoubtedly many of a similar class following his lead are to-day known as Disciples or Christians. Undoubtedly these are following closely to apostolic customs in the matter of Church organization, which in many respects is beautiful in its simplicity. Doctrinally they claim most faithfully to stand by the Word of God alone. And one of their familiar declarations is, "When the Word of God speaketh we speak; when the Word of God is silent we are silent." But this beautiful simplicity of theory our Disciple friends have found difficult to work out in practice. Hence we find them as strongly intrenched behind unwritten creeds as are others behind elaborated creeds. These are inculcated through the writings of their standard authorities—including the editors of their leading journals. "Disciples" hold most tenaciously as the Bible teaching that baptism in water is indispensable to the remission of sins. This doctrine is supported by several Bible texts which declare, "Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins;" "Baptism unto repentance and remission of sins," etc.

Before pointing out their misapplications of these texts let us note the facts that according to their theory all others of mankind, Christians, Jews and heathen, who have not been immersed have not had their sins washed away. Consequently such are yet in their sins. Consequently such are lost. And lost according to the general understanding of Disciples and other Christians signifies shut out of heaven—shut out of Paradise—shut into hell and its eternal torment.

Do our Disciple friends act as though they believed this teaching? Do they spend all of their time and energy and money in seeking to bring fellow-Christians into water baptism for the remission of sins and escape from eternal torture? Assuredly they do not. Hence we are justified in supposing that like our Baptist friends they have not taken seriously and logically their own doctrines. Rather they have assented to them thoughtlessly. It would appear to us, therefore, that doctrinally our Disciple friends might easily be prevailed upon to abandon their peculiar tenet to the extent that it would not hinder them from losing their identity as advocates of "baptism for the remission of sins" and merging themselves or federating with others.

To assist them out of their difficulty we remind them that all the Scripture they cite in support of immersion for the remission of sins belonged to the Jews, and none of it to Gentiles. The Jews were exhorted by John the Baptist and others to renounce sin, to return to harmony with Moses' Law, and to show this change of character by water immersion. But those Ephesians who believed in Christ and whom Apollos baptized for the remission of sins did not receive the holy Spirit. St. Paul explained to them that their baptism was an improper one—that they as Gentiles required an immersion into Christ (Acts xix, 1-7; Romans vi, 3).

As a week ago we suggested to Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists a union of heart and head as better than federation, so now we suggest to the denominations whose doctrines we are considering to-day. What we shall suggest respecting baptism will apply to all Christians.

All Christians agree that Jesus and his apostles taught baptism and that there are but "one Lord, one faith and one baptism" (Ephesians iv, 5). We cannot here elaborate, but merely suggest that nowhere in the Scriptures is infant baptism commanded or urged. The expression, "Believe and be baptized," implies a mental development capable of belief beyond that which infants possess. The original pretext for introducing infant baptism was set forth by St. Augustine, who urged that as all mankind were going to eternal torture except the Church, it was necessary to get infants into the Church; and baptism was set forth as the door-way. All parents, of course, were anxious that their children should be immersed into the Church and saved from eternal torture. And those good wishes were certainly commendable, even if unnecessary.

Subsequently immersion was declared to be unnecessary and sprinkling became its substitute with all. The thought of preservation from eternal torment thereafter attached to the sprinkling. Although our minds have broadened, so that comparatively few believe St. Augustine's presentation, nevertheless the custom of infant sprinkling continues with more or less of fear to abandon it for the child's sake.

Who will dispute that St. Paul's words of Romans vi, 3-5, are the clearest presentation of the import of baptism furnished us in the Bible! The passage is cited in proof of every theory of baptism, yet it supports only one—the true one. Notice that it does not say, as many suppose, So many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into water. It does say, "So many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death." Is there not a difference? That difference is the explanation of all of our difficulty on this subject. The clearing of it away furnishes the foundation for harmony between all; and not merely for harmony, but for union amongst all classes of consecrated Christians.

Consider the passage critically. First, immersion into Christ signifies to the justified believer his immersion into, his burial into, the Body of Christ as a member of "the Church which is his Body" (Ephesians i, 23, 23). The Apostle sets forth clearly a distinction between the Church and the world and between the salvation of the Church and the salvation of the world. The Church are "the elect" of the Lord, called and chosen; and if faithful, they will be members of the glorious Church beyond the veil. It, as the Bride of Christ, will be his companion and Queen during the Millennial reign of glory for the blessing of the world—for the blessing of the non-elect, considered last Sunday.

St. Paul not only tells us of our need to be thus immersed into membership in the Body of Christ, but he proceeds to tell us how that membership can be brought about. The words, "Baptism into his death" explain the matter. How strange that we ever thought these words signified water immersion! Our eyes are now opened! Plainly, now, we see that "into his death" signifies our participation with our Lord Jesus in suffering for righteousness, in self-denials, self-sacrificings of the same character as those endured by the Master. It is true indeed that the whole world suffers pain, sorrow, disappointment, etc.; yet our Lord suffered differently from all others, and our dying must correspond to his.

True, Jesus was spotless, while we are members of the fallen race. But we are justified through faith in his blood. And hence we have in the Divine sight through him a standing of human perfection or justification. This standing is granted to us or imputed to us for the very purpose of permitting us to sacrifice our human rights and earthly interests as he sacrificed his. The "elect" are to be dead with him, that in the resurrection they may live with him and be like him and share his glory, honor and immortality. By consecration we present our bodies living sacrifices holy and acceptable to God, as the Apostle declares (Romans xii, 1). Thus we are "immersed into his death" and thus we become members of his Body.

Whoever fails to be thus immersed into Christ's death will fail of the membership in his Body—will fail to be of his elect Church, his Bride. The difference between being dead with Adam and being dead with Christ is very great. By nature we are all dead with Adam. He was a sinner, condemned. We as his offspring are the same. It was necessary therefore that we should by faith be lifted out of this condition of death with Adam, in order that by consecration of all earthly interests we might become dead with Christ. Thus we share with him his sacrificial death and by participation in "his resurrection," also become sharers of his Kingdom glory.

Ridding ourselves, then, of the unscriptural theory of an eternal torment awaiting the non-elect, may not all Christians perceive the reasonableness of the Divine proposition to bless them through the elect? As Jesus by his sacrifice was made Head of the Church, so all who will be his members must share his spirit of self-sacrifice—death to the world and earthly interest. Only such may share with him in his Millennial Kingdom work of blessing, uplifting, instructing, assisting all of the non-elect. Many of the non-elect under the fuller light and better opportunities of the Millennium will turn from sin to righteousness, from death to life eternal. This "baptism into death" with its blessed reward excludes no denominational lines. It includes in the Church of the elect those of every denomination and of no denomination who comply with its conditions of faith and obedience and consecration unto death.

Was not this our Lord's baptism as he described it? Just before his crucifixion he said, "I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how I am straitened (troubled) until it be accomplished!" His baptism dated from his consecration at Jordan, but it was not fully "accomplished" until on the cross he cried, "It is finished"—his baptism into death was finished. Was not this baptism into death what he referred to when speaking to his disciples? James and John requested that they might sit on his right hand and left hand in the Kingdom. In reply Jesus said, "Are ye able to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?" Surely he did not refer to a water immersion! Surely he did refer to his baptism into death, and meant his apostles to understand that only by sharing in his baptism into death could they hope to sit with him in his Throne (Mark x, 37).

With this reasonable, logical, Scriptural view of baptism before our minds which of us would be inclined to dispute over the form of the symbol or in respect to the class of persons who should properly use the symbol? Surely none would claim that infants could thus believe and thus consecrate to death! Surely all would agree that a symbolical immersion into water such as was practiced by the early Church, according to all the records, would be the most reasonable, most beautiful, most appropriate method of symbolizing the real baptism into Christ—into his death. Let us then, dear friends, not be content merely to federate! Let us unite our hearts and heads and hands as members of the Body of Christ: let us be baptized with his baptism, into his death!

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that he makes dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—take the advice received and be well.

Capt. Wm. Smith, a British Army veteran, living in Revelstoke, B. C., had his urine tested by his physician who pronounced his case a bad form of chronic kidney disease. After being cured by he again had an examination of the urine made and his physician stated that no trace of the old trouble remained.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney & Liver Pills

Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills are definite and certain in action and positively cure backache, kidney disease, Bright's disease (in early stages) and urinary troubles. One pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CENTER OF THE EARTH.

That Zuni Indians Marked the Spot With a Crude Shrine.

Why all this fuss and controversy as to whether it was Cook or Peary or either of them or both that discovered the north pole? Surely the center of the earth is as important as either extremity, and the Zuni Indians have the center safely corralled and appropriately marked upon their reservation. They feel quite sure of it, and that ought to be sufficient.

In the Zuni cosmogony the earth is conceived of as flat and shaped like a pancake. Being a chosen people of the gods, they were commanded early in their tribal career to go to the exact center of the world and there build their homes, and one of the most interesting legends of the people relates the story of their wanderings in search of the middle place and tells how they knew it when they reached it. It is about 200 yards south of their village in western New Mexico, thirty-five miles south of Gallup, on the Santa Fe route. It is marked by a crude shrine, built like a bake oven, out of flat stones. Two large removable flagstones close the entrance, which faces the rising sun.

On the top are a number of concretionary formations, known to the Indians as thunder stones. In the interior are large numbers of feather tufted prayer sticks and several earthenware vessels filled with sacred meal. Numerous ceremonial dances, in the nature of rainmaking rites, are performed around this holy place.—Kansas City Star.

The Birthplace of Napoleon.

There is some talk of establishing a small museum in the house at Ajaccio where Napoleon I. was born. A good deal of attention has been given, it appears, to it by visitors to Corsica of late. The house, according to a French paper, is a little old world Italian villa of yellowish plaster work and windows with shutters which are nearly always closed up. It has just the same outward appearance as its neighbors in the narrow street in which it is situated. A small garden, with palms, cactus and other semi-tropical vegetation, separates the house from the roadway. There is not much to single out the historic building as having any special interest, unless it is a marble slab over the doorway with an inscription, "Here was born, the 15th of August, 1769, the founder of the imperial dynasty."—Westminster Gazette.

They Liked New York.

Now that the British squadron has returned from participation in the Hudson-Fulton celebration, it is ascertained that more than 300 deserters were left behind in New York. This item, coupled with the very heavy entertaining allowance, will make Sir Edward Seymour's ceremonial trip a costly little business. A fully trained bluejacket costs the state on an average about £120. The action of the United States authorities in refusing to deliver up deserters from foreign warships in their ports may be "constitutional," but it is assuredly not calculated to encourage friendly visits. The moral is when next we send a friendly expedition across the Atlantic to rake together that element which can be best spared from our navy and not to stint shore leave. — London Truth.

Had Weak Kidneys For Two Years.

Doctor Failed to Help. Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Mr. Edmund Assels, New Carlisle, Que., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. I tried a doctor, but he failed to help me. I read in the B.B.B. Almanac about Doan's Kidney Pills, and began using them, and after the first box began to feel better. I only used four boxes and they completely cured me. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure, and would advise everyone suffering from kidney disease to try them."

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some kind of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

A Million for a New Stomach

It is said that Mr. Rockefeller, one of the world's richest men, offered one million dollars to any physician who would make his stomach strong enough to digest an ordinary meal. With all his money, this multimillionaire is compelled to live on milk and crackers.

What a warning this is to men and women who are beginning to realize that "they have a stomach"!

Slight attacks of indigestion soon develop into acute attacks. The weakened stomach quickly becomes weaker under the continued strain of digesting unsuitable food. Chronic Dyspepsia makes a strict diet imperative, and life miserable.

Yet how unnecessary all this suffering is! "Fruit-a-tives" — that splendid stomach tonic—will give you what millionaires cannot buy, a clean, sweet, healthy stomach which will be capable of digesting any reasonable meal.

"Fruit-a-tives", made from concentrated and intensified fruit juice, acts directly on the stomach, increases the flow of the digestive juices and corrects the faults of digestion.

"Fruit-a-tives" or "Fruit Liver Tablets" is not only a positive and speedy cure for all these troubles. It also acts as a general tonic, building up and strengthening the entire system. Frequently those, who have been cured of Stomach and Bowel Troubles, write to the Company, stating that they are enjoying better health than ever before.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all druggists and dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c.—or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

LITTLE JOHNNIE'S FEARS.

Where we use' to live we had
A fireplace, big an' wide,
An' all that Santy had to do
Was hold his breath an' slide
An' squeeze hisself until he fit
The hole an' then jest drop!
An' he knowed where the stockin's was,
'Cause that was where he'd stop.

Where we use' to live it was
No trick for him to climb
Up to the chimbly on the roof
An' find us Christmas time.
But now I'm worryin' for fear
He won't know where he's at
Or mebbe can't get in at all!
We're livin' in a flat.

We're livin' in a flat, an', say,
You mus' be mos' polite
Or else the janitor he'll go
An' lock you out at night!
There ain't no chimbly to our house
Where Santy Claus can slide—
There ain't no fireplace—just a pipe
About two inches wide.

They heat our flat with steam; that's why
I'm 'fraid he can't get in
With all his toys an' drums an' things
Unless he's awful thin.
An' how's he go' to wriggle out
When he gets in? Gee whiz,
There's such an awful little hole
There where the sizzle is!

—Chicago Record-Herald.

No Use at All.

She—What are you thinking about so solemnly?

He—I'm thinking that all of my economizing for Christmas won't do me any good. I'll be broke afterwards anyway.

Retort Sarcastic.

A young man and a young woman lean over the front gate. They are lovers. It is moonlight. He is loath to leave, as the parting is the last. He is about to go away. She is reluctant to see him depart. They swing on the gate.

"I shall never forget you," he says. "And if death should claim me my last thoughts will be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she sobs. "I'll never see anybody else or love them as long as I live!" They parted.

Six years later he returns. His sweetheart of former years has married. They meet at a party. She has changed greatly. Between the dances the recognition takes place.

"Let me see," she muses, with her fan beating a tattoo on her pretty hand, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"

"Really I don't know," he says; "probably my father!"—Tit-Bits.

Upward Revision.

One evening at family prayers the head of the house read that chapter which concludes with "And let the wife see that she reverence her husband." After the exercises had closed and the children had gone to bed he quoted it, looking meaningly at his wife. "Let us see what the revised version says on that subject," said she. "I will follow the new teaching, if you please." The revised version was produced, and her chagrin may be imagined as the head impressively read, "And let the wife see that she fear her husband."—New York Evening Post.

Helpful Thought.

"Alas," sighs the moody man, "there is no gladness for me in this joyous season!"

"Tut, tut!" says the optimist. "Surely there is a ray of sunshine for you, as there is for all of us if we but look for it."

"No," replies the moody one, "I have not a single friend and no relatives with whom I am on speaking terms."

"Cheer up, then," advises the other, with a shade of envy in his tone. "Can't you be glad because you will not have to buy any Christmas presents?"

A UNIQUE FEAT.

The Late Dalton McCarthy For Plaintiff and Defendant.

The case of a lawyer acting on both sides of an action is so rare as to be almost unheard of in our courts. In fact, the number of men who could undertake the task in good faith is so limited that they could be possibly counted on one's finger tips. Yet such an achievement is credited to the late Dalton McCarthy, and so faithfully did he carry out his difficult task that both sides were satisfied.

The late Mr. McCarthy was a man so acute that when he had a brief, he grasped in advance the arguments of the other side, and by anticipating them, was able to win many a legal victory. A good many years ago now, a noted lumberman of the day, Mr. Alexander Fraser, sued Mr. Peter Ryan in connection with a timber transaction. There was absolutely no dispute between the parties as to the facts of the case; the only question involved was one of law. To save costs, the lawyers in the case, Mr. Dalton McCarthy, representing Mr. Fraser, and Mr. James Haverson, representing Mr. Ryan, decided to abandon the calling of evidence and submit a stated case to the court. A day was set down for the hearing of the argument, and Mr. Haverson found that, owing to a prior engagement, it would be quite impossible to attend. It was equally impossible to obtain a postponement unless the matter was left over until after vacation, and Mr. Haverson suggested that another counsel be obtained. Then Mr. Ryan had a happy thought.

"Let us ask Mr. McCarthy to present our case as well as his own," said he. "No one is more familiar with the facts in the matter than he, and another lawyer brought in at the last moment might mix matters up. I have absolute confidence that Mr. McCarthy will be fair in the matter."

The proposal was laid before the distinguished counsel, who was also anxious to have the matter disposed of. He demurred on the ground that it would be difficult to do justice to both sides of the case. He was assured that whatever the finding, Mr. Ryan had confidence that he would do his best. The plaintiff made no objection to this novel arrangement. When the day of the hearing arrived, Mr. McCarthy arose and presented in the strongest possible manner every argument in favor of his client's contention. Then he took up the brief for the defence and pointed out with logical clearness the vulnerable spots in the case he had just made out and giving his interpretation of the law as it affected Mr. Ryan. When he had concluded, no phase of the question pro or con had been left untouched.

The court reserved judgment, and in a few days gave a decision in favor of Mr. Ryan. Such a feat of pure intellectual effort or of complete detachment from anything like personal feeling in the matter has probably never been surpassed in the Canadian courts. Naturally, Mr. Ryan was more than delighted with the inspiration that led him to entrust his interests to his opponent.

Twelve Years In Klondike.

At eighteen years of age a Guelph boy with the nerve to believe the Klondike was his oyster went to the Klondike with the invading army of gold-seekers that hiked over the White Pass and dashed through the White Horse Rapids to Dawson. None was younger than he. At thirty years of age, stout and hearty, well-groomed, electrified with the manhood of the northern frontier, lots of money in his pocket, and a many-couponed return ticket to Dawson in his wallet, he is home to see his people, after twelve years' absence.

A career of that kind is never uninteresting. It is the career of Bertram J. Parker, now on a visit to his parents on Suffolk street, in that city.

Mr. Parker follows civil engineering in the Klondike. That means being in the hills all summer, a tent for a home and his knees for an office desk or dining table. But every one of his associates is as good a man as himself, and the air of the north is wholesome. He loves the life, even if it is a constant test of physical endurance. Then for a change, there is the winter's rest and recreation in Dawson.

Jealous of His Title.

The following letter has been sent out in circular form by an English baronet who feels it incongruous that he should be addressed in the same way as the unanointed:

"There is a strong feeling among baronets that the expression 'Dear Sir' being constantly used in commencing a letter nowadays to their servants is therefore not only incongruous, but also discourteous when applied to members of this ancient and hereditary degree. I will therefore ask you in future to kindly accord me my title and commence your letters to me 'Sir Clement' instead of 'Dear Sir.'"

DYSPEPTIC

Food Does You No Good

Half the time you're afraid to eat; your tongue is coated, mouth tastes bad, stomach is bloated. If you want to get well, stop using dyspepsia tablets, and go to the source of the trouble before it is too late. Strengthen your stomach, cast out the bile, regulate the bowels—do this, and dyspepsia will be no more.

For your condition the best prescription is Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are made specially for the stomach, kidneys and liver. No better remedy will be devised, for Dr. Hamilton's Pills are perfect.

DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS A SURE CURE

"No one could realize my sufferings from stomach trouble and indigestion. For five years I have not been well. My food did me no good, because I couldn't digest or assimilate. My doctor said constipation was at the root of my trouble, so I got Dr. Hamilton's Pills. My appetite improved, pain soon ceased, and my food digested quickly. I am delighted with the thorough cure I derived from Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

(Signed) MARTIN E. WALKER.
"Bridgewater."

Quick results attend the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; this medicine cures all trouble in the stomach and digestive organs by removing the cause.

Unconcerned.

"It's a lovely morning," ventured the young man who had bought a necktie.

The girl waiting on him did not deny it.

"Most becoming way you have of dressing your hair."

"Sir!"

"How do you manage to keep your hands so beautifully white? I should think that in handling goods"—

"Take your necktie and skip," said the girl. "I had the floor manager lead a fresh guy out by the ear yesterday."

"That was all right about paying attention to the tired shopgirl at this season," muttered the customer as he hurriedly withdrew.—Philadelphia Ledger.

MYSTERIOUS MONITION SAVES PHYSICIAN FROM SWIFT DEATH

STORY of the Patient with the Oddly Vibrant Voice and of the Sudden Peril That Flashed Into a Doctor's Tranquil Life

"DANGER that is imminent, danger that consists in appreciable risk, is a common enough matter to the medical profession," said Dr. Carleton Simon recently, "as it is to many other callings. No man feels the sharp thrill of terror at such danger. It is the threat that leaps suddenly from the dark, that has an element of surprise or mystery or the abnormal in it, which brings the real clutch of fear and which one remembers as a real peril.

"I suppose that I have been nearer to death in the course of my duties than I ever have been through violence. But there was a moment in my life during which I fought single handed and alone against the murderous purpose of a madman, which I recall inevitably when the question of personal danger is raised.

"I was seated in my inner office one afternoon whiling an idle hour with a book when the bell rang and my servant informed me that two men were in the reception room. I was in the midst of a chapter and I did not care to break the thread of the treatise. I must have kept the men waiting for some ten minutes.

"Toward the end of that time I became aware, in spite of my absorption in the book, of a subtle but insistent annoyance. I looked up and listened. The two men were talking, but it was not the mere sound of voices in conversation that had affected me. I have the faculty of throwing off small distractions of the kind. But I felt, somehow, a strange, vibrant quality in one of the two voices that played upon my nerves like a jagged edge, something that held a vague, sinister suggestion of evil and uncanniness. It is difficult to describe how that peculiar timbre affected me, but I know that it finally drove me to relinquish my book and to hurry into the reception room.

"As I opened the door I heard the voices more plainly, rapid, high in tone and rising toward anger. The language was Italian. I entered and approached the two men, who fell silent at my appearance. One of them was well set up, carefully dressed and with all the air of a prosperous and respectable business man. The other bore a striking resemblance to the first, but with a twist of indefinite caricature. His figure was coarser, his lean, dark face sharper in feature, his clothes hung about him in bags and wrinkles. What drew me most of all was his eyes, which roamed the room, moving quickly from side to side, and which met mine only to turn furtively aside. Instinctively I associated him with the unpleasant voice which had so jarred upon me.

"I bowed and led the way back into my office, holding the door open for them. My well groomed visitor manoeuvred the other before him into the inner room and made me a quick sign that he wished to speak to me alone. I closed the door on the slouchy one for a moment while his companion talked rapidly. He showed me his card, which bore the name of a large wine importing house, and introduced himself as the head of the firm.

"'I have brought you my brother for observation,' he said with scarcely a trace of accent. 'For some time his family has been greatly worried by his actions. He believes himself to be the victim of a persecution, and at times he has been violent. We wish to have your advice.'

The Two Men.

"I nodded and we passed into the office. The brother, whom we might call Pietro, was sitting in the full light of the window, and as I busied myself at my desk with a prescription and I observed him narrowly, but with seeming carelessness. He repaid study. He was a handsome man, and not even the strange, repellant veil of flabbiness that seemed to have settled upon him as a mental and a physical quality could take away the moulded strength of his nose and chin or quite dull the charm of his brilliant eyes. He was of medium height and broad shouldered and, what harmonized not at all with his appearance of bodily health, he was in a state of constant nervous agitation.

"The closing of the door seemed to have aroused him to a point where he could scarce hold himself together. His swift, roving eyes returned to it constantly, in unmistakable fear, and left it only to glance at his brother and myself with a gleam of suspicion and hate. His hands, which were strong and sensitive, were clasped tightly, so tightly that the skin had gone white and bloodless under the pressure. I tried to relieve the tension under which he labored.

"'It appears that you are not feeling well of late,' I said, soothingly. 'You must take things more easily. Tell me, do you get enough sleep?'

"He broke into speech, with the same jarring note that had disturbed me before, but ignored my question. 'You think I do not know,' he said, shifting his gaze from his brother to me and back again. 'Ah, you think I cannot watch. Just now, outside the door there, he told of the things that I see, of my great trouble. And he told you that I was wrong, blind, stupid. I tell you the things are real, not from my imagination.'

"'What are these things?' I asked.

"'I am followed, I have enemies,' he answered, with an emphatic gesture. 'My brother is either a fool or he is with them to injure me. They are behind me, every minute, every minute. They saw me come in here. They are watching that door. They creep into my room at night. I see them near me in the street.'

In a Breath I Saw a Long, Glittering Stiletto Buried Deep in the Writing Pad and the Desk.

"'Surely you have nothing to fear from any one,' I said.

"The idea seemed to strike him. 'Nothing to fear, no,' he echoed; then, with sudden fury, "For they had better look out. The first one I catch'—— A spasm passed across his face and he clenched his hands before him. I went on talking to distract his mind from its brooding and gave him some ordinary advice as to his care of himself. Under cover of [illegible] as I ushered them out, I drew the sane brother aside for an instant.

"'The man is dangerous,' I whispered. 'He is unbalanced and may be about to commit some violence upon himself or others. You had best get him into an asylum at once.'

"But he could not entertain my view of it. 'Oh, I think you must be mistaken,' he protested. 'Pietro is not so bad as that. We could not bear to see him confined. Will you not make a further examination?'

"'If you like you may send him to me in a few days,' I answered. 'But the case is one for careful treatment and repose. I can do nothing for him.'

"Five days later, as I ushered a patient out of my inner office, I saw Pietro in the reception room. He was the only one waiting and I invited him to enter.

The Shaking Hands.

"I thought at first glance that the man had improved somewhat. His eyes were not so wild and they dwelt upon me fixedly. His hands still shook, however, and he could scarce direct the cigarette he held between his yellowed fingers to his lips. When he spoke it was in the same unpleasant high, quivering note that I had associated with him, and again it wrought upon my nerves.

"'Doctor, you told my brother that I was crazy, didn't you?' he began rapidly. 'You need not deny; he told me himself, though he did not mean to. I was afraid you would join the conspiracy against me when he brought me here. Now you are one of them. You mean to lock me up. But I will not go. Do you understand?'

"'My dear fellow,' I said lightly, 'you make the case altogether too serious. All I told your brother was that you needed rest and that you have allowed your affairs to excite you. Just let me make out a little prescription. You require something to calm you.'

"'Then you did not tell him I was crazy?' he persisted, still eying me closely.

"'Absurd,' I said, turning easily to my desk and taking up my pad. This move brought my back to him, but I was reassured by his improved appearance and it did not occur to me that I had best keep a watch upon him. I continued to talk while I wrote the prescription. 'What I told him was that you have been working too hard. Many men bring trouble upon themselves that way. You see, a man owes it to himself'——

"I was rattling on in this manner, to keep his attention, when something made me drop my pen and sit back. It was no sound, for I heard none, but it was a sudden wave of the repugnance and the impression of a sinister influence that the man had made me feel throughout. As I pushed back from the desk a weight fell upon my shoulders and a descending arm struck past me with a flash of light. I started up, grappling with the man, who had flung upon me, and instinctively reached for that arm. In a breath I saw a long, glittering stiletto buried deep in the writing pad and the desk beneath, where the blow had driven it.

"Pietro had not relaxed his grasp of the weapon, but by the time he had wrenched it loose I had caught his wrist. With my other arm I held him about the body and we began to struggle. I had no time to be afraid. For the instant before he made his leap I suppose I knew what real terror was, under the pressure of that strange, mysterious warning which his voice had first given me, but I had no oppressive sense of danger while we fought.

"I had him off his balance for a moment, but he threw himself against me in rage and rather more than held me back. I began to feel that he had t resources of strength in his madness and at n would he have been a slight opponent. I did n out, not only because I needed every ounce of but because I felt that to do so would arouse h the most desperate efforts. As the best expedi adopted a course which has since caused me to w at myself.

"I began to talk to him as we wrestled abo room. I controlled the pressure of my lungs s my voice was natural and calm. We might have sitting amicably over a smoke for all a person adjoining apartment would have known. It re no small physical exertion to achieve such a re such a time, and, if nothing else, my attentio slightly distracted from affairs of ordinary con tion.

"We spun across to the wall, where Pietro h and hung all his weight on the arm by which the stiletto away. 'Now, really,' I said, 'thi nice of you.'

The Maniac's Collapse.

"I whirled him away from the wall and tri crook my knee back of his own. 'I'm quite disap ed in you,' I said. 'Have I been wrong, then, an you really crazy? I should be sorry to think so

"He evaded my attempt to throw him and tr jam me back over the desk, saying never a though I could hear the wind whistle betwee teeth. 'Now, don't do this; don't do this,' I said. your friend. If you would only treat me prope would be glad to help you in your troubles. I no designs upon you. Perhaps I might even ak to turow your persecutors off the track.'

"Suddenly his muscles went limp, his grip abo body relaxed. You may be sure I seized the o tuulty to loosen the stiletto from his grasp. 'You will?' he said eagerly. 'You will help me?'

'Certainly,' I said, while I locked up the st 'Let us see what we can do. First let us giv something to make you well.' It was over. A fight was out of him. I could have taken no sur more certain means of overcoming his mania th playing up to it without forcing him to extremes sank into a chair while I hurriedly mixed a soo draught.

"'Now, Pietro,' I said, 'the next thing is for y go home and rest.' He drank the medicine qu and left the house when I led him to the door. W I got back into my office I had a little reaction o own and I needed something almost as badl Pietro.

"As soon as I was able I did some telepho Within the hour Pietro was in a straitjacket on his way to an insane asylum, where he die months later.

"That, I think, was my greatest moment of per least it was the one which made the sharpest im sion upon me, which is the only way I can judg was in the Hastings railroad wreck and in the W sor Hotel fire, two of the greatest disasters of the twenty years, but nothing that has happened t has ever given to me such an acute sense of dang did Pietro and his vibrant voice."

It Was the Teacher.

THE school had the reputation of being the m turbulent in the district and for salutary purpo the new superintendent was a massive, muscu man with the strength of a giant and a habit of a den, decisive action. He had just arrived in his office and was busy examining a mass of data w an uproar arose in the room next to him. It cea then it broke out anew and with more intensity. was more than he could stand. He looked over glass partition into the uproarious room and among the noisy lads assembled there a tall chap, seemed to be making more of a row than all the combined. Beside himself with rage, the super tendent seized the tall boy by the collar, dragged h over the partition and banged him down into a ch beside his desk.

"Now," he said, "sit still there and don't open y lips till I give you the word."

Then he bent over his papers and in the sacr quietude worked away busily. Fifteen minu passed. Then the head of a small boy peered timi over the partition and a meek little voice said:—

KILLED THE COBRA.

Methods of a Mongoose in Attacking the Big Snake.

I had the good fortune to witness a fight between a four foot cobra de capello and a mongoose.

On first catching sight of the cobra, rikki tik (as Rudyard Kipling calls the indian mongoose) quietly smelled its tail and then hung around awaiting events with curiosity, but he had not long to wait, for the cobra spread its hood, hissed out its death sentence and prepared to dart from its coil at its natural and hated enemy.

Now commenced a most interesting and deadly battle of feint and counter feint by the mongoose and strike and lightning-like recovery by his adversary, who was also on the defensive, all the time watching for the opportunity to get in his properly aimed bite.

Time after time rikki tik squirmed slowly up to within reach of those terrible fangs, belly on ground, with every gray hair of his body erect with anger and excitement, his eyes glaring from his head, which, by the way, he invariably held sideways during this approach and attack, but the moment the cobra struck in a flash back sprang master mongoose, and, although often it appeared as if impossible that he could have escaped the dreaded fangs, ne'er a scratch harmed him, and there he would be again wearing the cobra out and pressing his advantage inch by inch. At last, with a growl and sharp rikki cry, the plucky little beast flew in, avoided the strike and seized the snake behind the head, never for a moment getting under his mouth, but right at the nape of the neck and head, which he scrunched with a loud cracking sound despite the struggles and twisting and turning of the cobra. Again and again rikki returned to the now writhing reptile and bit its head and body until it lay dying.

Finally he ate three or four inches of his mortal foe, but carefully avoided eating the fangs and poison glands, which I picked up by a stick and found them broken, but with the venom sacks attached.

Contrary to popular belief, I am of opinion the mongoose is not immune from snake poison, else why should he so particularly and carefully avoid being bitten? It is only by his marvelous activity that he escapes the spring and darting strike of his deadly enemy, the cobra de capello.—Ceylon Times.

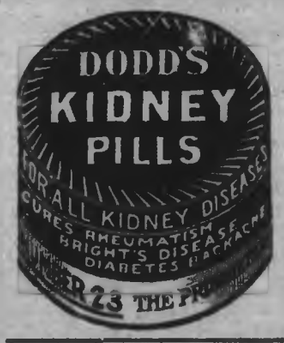
WHY SHOULD WOMEN SUFFER?

Those that are almost daily afflicted with headache, backpains, depression, neuralgia, and "don't care" feeling, can be quickly cured by "Nerviline." Just a few drops of this wonderful remedy in sweetened water makes you feel better at once—gives you relief from unnatural aches and pains. Thousands use Nerviline every day—it does them good. Why not you?

Nerviline Cures.

"I wouldn't think of being in the house unless I had a bottle of Nerviline handy," writes Mrs. A. E. Banner, of Belleville. To stop headaches, cure pains, and drive away sickness, nothing compares with Nerviline.

Every dealer in the land sells Nerviline in large 25c bottles. Get it to-day.



DESTROYED BY CHEMICALS.

Weapons Used by Assassins Against Royal Personages.

Very few people are aware that as soon as the trial of an assassin of royalty is concluded the weapon with which he accomplished his crime is carefully destroyed so that no trace of it remains.

The reason of this is twofold—first of all, the possibility exists that at some time or other the weapons used in a royal tragedy may be exhibited to the public in some museum or show, and, second, there is a strange superstitious dread existing among reigning houses that the existence of the innocent but unhallowed weapons by which rulers have been dispatched to eternity is fraught with peril to their descendants.

The method of destroying these weapons is a curious one. The wooden portions, such as the stocks of pistols or the handles of poinards, are burned, and the metal portions are eaten away in a bath of nitric acid.

This has been the custom ever since the attempted assassination of Queen Isabella of Spain in 1852 by Merius. Prior to that date the metal work of firearms or knives was ground or filed away, but the blade of the dagger with which Merius sought to execute his dastardly crime proved to be of such exquisite temper and hardness that it resisted both file and grindstone.

This became known to the populace, and the superstitious Spaniards believed that Merius had invested his weapon with magical qualities. To divest them of this absurd belief the authorities had the weapon destroyed by immersing it in chemicals, a rule that has been followed ever since.

Minnesota's First Book.

The first book printed in Minnesota was a Bible. It was printed in 1836, about thirteen years before the first issue of a newspaper in St. Paul.

SHOE SIZES.

How the Standard of Measurement Was Established.

It is most difficult for many persons to remember the sizes of their different articles of wearing apparel. Collars, shirts and gloves are easy enough, because in the case of these it is a matter of actual inches. But the hat and shoe numbers are what puzzle most people, to say nothing of the mystery why a No. 11 stocking goes with a No. 8 shoe.

This last puzzle is, however, easily explained. Stockings have always been measured by the inch from heel to toe, but the numbering of shoes was fixed a long time ago by a Frenchman.

The Frenchman permanently fixed the numbers of shoes for all Europe and America. He arbitrarily decided that no human foot could possibly be smaller than three and seven-eighth inches. So, calling this point zero, he allowed one-third of an inch to a size and accordingly built up his scale. It follows therefrom that a man cannot find out the number of his own shoe unless he be an expert arithmetician. Even then he is likely to go wrong, because all the shoe experts allow for the weight of the individual and the build of his foot before they try to determine what size shoe he ought to wear.

As far as women's shoes are concerned the problem is still more difficult, because many of the manufacturers instead of keeping to the regular scale have marked down their numbers one or two sizes in order to capture easily flattered customers. For this reason most dealers ask out of town customers to send an old shoe with their orders.

The system of measuring hats is much simpler. Any man can tell what size he wears simply by adding the width and length of the inner brim and then dividing by two. Orders can also be sent to the shopkeeper by stating the circumference of the head. —Boston Globe.

BURNED PAPER MONEY.

At the redemption windows of the treasury and of the subtreasuries of the country any silver coin that has not been mutilated willfully and which still is recognizable as from the mints of the United States will be redeemed at face value, this in spite of the fact that the silver in the worn coin may not be worth half its face value. As to gold coin, the government stands only a small portion of the loss from abrasion; but, according to weight, these worn gold coins always are redeemable.

In the case of the paper currency two-fifths of a note must be presented if it shall be redeemed or a new note issued, and, no matter what the evidence may be as to total destruction of this paper currency, the government regards it as the holder's individual loss with which it is no further concerned. Fire may melt $1,000 worth of silver coins and it is worth its metal value. It may melt $1,000 in gold coins and the mint will pay $1,000 in new twenty dollar gold pieces for the mass. But the ashes of $1,000 in paper currency is without value.

In the thousands of fires over the country every year involving office buildings, factories, business houses and family residences an untold total of legal tender notes of all kinds are destroyed. Every piece of such paper lost is loss to the holder and gain to the government or to a national bank. It is a promissory note hopelessly lost to the holder. It is even more, for in many cases an individual man might redeem his debt obligation if he were assured by the holder of it that the piece of paper to which he had signed his name had been destroyed by accident and by no chance could turn up again against him.—Chicago Tribune.

Pope as a Witness.

Pope, like Garrick, made but a poor figure in the witness box. He was cited to appear in defense of Bishop Atterbury when that prelate was tried for high treason in the house of lords in 1723. "I never could speak in public," he told Spence afterward, "and I don't believe that if it was a set thing I could give an account of any story to twelve friends together, though I could tell it to any three of them with a great deal of pleasure. When I was to appear for the bishop of Rochester in his trial, though I had but ten words to say and that on a plain point (how the bishop spent his time when I was with him at Bromley), I made two or three blunders in it and that notwithstanding the first row of lords (which was all I could see) were mostly of my acquaintance."—London Standard.

The Lost Company.

"Hungry, I suppose?" said the sharp faced woman as she opened the door just a little bit.

"W'y, no," answered the ragged wayfarer. "I've clean forgot how to be hungry. But I'm out and out lonely."

"Lonely!"

"Yes. You see, I hain't had nothing to eat for so long that I've got so thin I can't cast no shadder, and you ain't no idea what company a man's shadder is to him while he is travelin' along the road."

Happy Events.

A teacher in one of the public schools of Vienna in order to test the ability of her junior class—girls eight to nine years old—in composition writing gave each little miss a subject to be discussed "at once without consultation and without help of any kind." The articles were found to be so interesting and amusing that they have been collected for publication. One article on "My Three Happiest Days" is notable in the unique collection. In well chosen words and clearly rounded sentences the little girl says that, being lost in the woods, having to run away from a fire which broke out in their house and watching a little boat as the wind tossed it on the waves and finally smashed it, were the most "happy events" that she could think of. Another in describing "fairyland" said that it must be a place where "everything is as it is here except that the lakes should be frozen half across at all times of the year so that we could take a swim and jump out and skate."

Murdered For His Savings.

New York, Jan. 24.—The alluring fiction that old John Ferrari, an Italian wine merchant, whose cellar lies in the heart of "Little Italy," carried his savings in his clothes, marked him yesterday as another victim of the band of Italian murderers whose killings continue unchecked by a baffled police.

Old Ferrari was found yesterday lying on the stones of his wine cellar. His feet were tied with rubber gas tubing and a big bandanna bound his arms. An empty chloroform bottle told how the old man had been killed by its fumes.

Jos. Tasse Is Dead.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 24.—Jos. Tasse, cigar manufacturer, formerly of Montreal, and for a quarter of a century one of the most popular commercial drummers of Canada, died Saturday night in St. Joseph's Hospital, of heart failure.

Rated as worth easily $100,000 three years ago, injudicious speculation had bankrupted him about a year ago, and constant worry undoubtedly contributed to his demise.

Prevent Consumption—Conviction.

Montreal, Jan. 24.—The expected episcopal letter was issued yesterday on the above questions by Archbishop Bruchesi. His grace says that he would be much grieved to know that the unseemly contest was being run on racial or national grounds, the candidates being Dr. Guertin and Senator Casgrain, English and French speaking Catholics respectively. No other special references are made except to call upon the electors to vote for good temperance candidates.

Racehorse Killed.

Port Stanley, Jan. 24.—The worst snow storm of the winter has raged on this place Saturday.

Bull Cook, aged 24, given Thomas, a lumberjack on the Pere Marquette railway, was instantly killed in trying to board the snow plow. He missed his footing and was caught under the flanges.

Steamship Has Sailed.

Kingston, Jan. 24.—As a freight train was pulling out of Kingston Junction at noon yesterday, William Chilcott, aged 24, fell off the car and was killed. His home was in Brockville. Coroner Mason will hold an inquest.

Shot From the Wars.

Madrid, Jan. 24.—The Spanish troops returning from Melilla, were given a cordial welcome when they entered the city in columns yesterday. Madrid was gaily decked with colors.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Edward Payson Weston started from New York for Los Angeles this morning, to be in readiness for his next walk from ocean to ocean, which he will begin on Feb. 1.

Twenty-nine suits for $10,000 each, growing out of the Cherry Mine disaster, were filed in Chicago on Saturday against the St. Paul Coal Co. and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co.

The meat boycott, which had its first support in Pittsburg among the street car men, has spread to the great industrial plants of the river valleys. Meatless menus are reported in some of the Pittsburg hotels, and they prove popular.

A cablegram from Chunk King, China, announces the death there of the wife of Rev. J. L. Stewart, Methodist missionary. Mrs. Stewart was the daughter of John Dunkin, a wealthy resident of London, Ont., and was married only last September.

The passage by the Common Council in Trenton, N.J., of an ordinance providing that all persons who cannot get seats on trolley cars need not pay fares, has given rise to an unusual taxation situation. Crowded cars suddenly have become popular.

The Frankfort, Germany, Kleine Presse states that it knows positively that Cook is taking the cure at one of Heidelberg's best-known sanitariums. He is said to be very ill, owing to the after-effects of the excessive consumption of alcohol during his Arctic travels.

Fruit Growers' Officers.

St. Catharines, Jan. 24.—The executive of the Niagara Peninsula Fruit Growers' Association Saturday elected the following officers:

President, Murray Pettit, Winona; vice-presidents, Robert Thompson, St. Catharines; J. W. Smith, Winona; Geo. C. Brown, Pelham; H. St. Clair Fisher, Queenston; secretary-treasurer, Carl E. Fisher, St. Catharines.

Committee on statistics with W. H. Bunting, chairman, appointed as follows; Niagara, A. Onslow; Grantham, W. H. Bunting; Loth, S. H. Rittenhouse; Pelham, Geo. C. Brown; Clinton, H. S. Peart; North Grimsby, H. C. Roberts; Saltfleet, R. H. Durham; Barton, C. F. Munro; South Grimsby, A. H. Pettit; Thorold, G. C. Brown.

Transportation committee as follows: W. H. Bunting, St. Catharines, chairman; J. W. Smith, Winona; R. Thompson, St. Catharines; H. L. Roberts, Winona; A. H. Pettit, Grimsby; C. W. F. Carpenter, Winona; H. St. Clair Fisher, Queenston.

To arrange for better distribution fruit committee is as follows: J. W. Smith, chairman; S. H. Patterson, F. B. Henry, Wm. Armstrong, C. M. Honsberger, J. W. Culp, E. Emmett, W. Fretz, S. H. Rittenhouse, A. Railstone, R. Thompson, W. H. Bunting, W. E. McCalla, Titterington Bros., E. H. Smith. One representative each of the following companies: Can Fruit, Ontario and Western Co-operative, Grimsby Co-operative, Winona Co-operative, Jordan Co-operative, Western Co-operative, St. Catharines Cold Storage.

Institute meetings will be held as follows, with subjects named, dates to be arranged later: St. Davids, spraying; St. Catharines, transportation, distribution and marketing; Jordan, peaches and berries; Beamsville, apples, pears and grapes; Winona, spraying; Fonthill, peaches.

Royal Wedding.

Brussels, Jan. 24.—The Chronique announces the marriage of Princess Clementine, youngest daughter of the late King Leopold and Prince Victor Napoleon has been fixed for October and that the ceremony will take place in Brussels.

Bricklayers' Convention.

Boston, Jan. 24.—The next Bricklayers' and Masons' International Convention will be held at St. Joseph, Mo., in 1912.

Know It Was a Canal.

Some of these youngsters who are studying physiology have as hard a time as their parents figuring out the terms used in that profoundly interesting subject. One little girl, according to her mentor, was asked the other day to name the three openings into the throat. For the benefit of the gentle reader who may not have studied his physiology recently it may be stated that the openings are the epiglottis, the esophagus and the alimentary canal.

The little girl had tried awfully hard to remember those names because she had a hunch that the teacher would ask her to give them. She started bravely.

"The epiglottis," she began and hesitated.

"Right you are," encouraged the teacher. "What then?"

"The—um—ah—sarcophagus?" she inquired a little dubiously.

"You mean esophagus, my dear," suggested the teacher. "And the third?"

"The Erie canal!" announced the little girl confidently and triumphantly.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Bucket Shop.

"Bucket shops"—a name now used to denote small "outside" stockbrokers or financiers not in membership with the Stock Exchange—were so called because when they first started in Chicago the only commodity dealt in by small speculators to any extent was wheat. The legitimate dealers would not handle an order for less than 5,000 bushels, and then a lot of places sprung up where men of limited capital could speculate with very small sums, and these men were spoken of contemptuously as buying and selling wheat by the bucketful; hence shops where a small business was conducted in grain on a margin came to be known as bucket shops. The term was finally extended to cover all brokerage offices where small lots of either grain or stock were bought and sold, and it was applied particularly to those places where both seller and buyer did not more than "gamble" on the rise and fall of stocks.

Bows on Men's Hats.

Why is it that a man's hat has a band, and why is it this band has a bow invariably on the left side?

The answer is that there was a time when a piece of cloth adjusted to the head and tied with a band of other material served for a headpiece. The reason the bow was always placed on the left side had its origin in the fact that in wielding a sword—an accomplishment possessed by nearly every one of consequence at one period of the world's history—the bow or rosette if placed on the right side would have been in the way. Its present day utility is that it keeps most men from wearing their hats hind side before, and, although with most hats that would not matter, with most heads it does.—Chicago Record-Herald.

On the Moon.

The question "Could a man live on the moon?" has been put to an eminent astronomer, who replied: "I am afraid not. A man transplanted to the moon would find himself the lone inhabitant of a perfectly lifeless orb in which eternal silence reigns. He would have to manage without air, water or fire. He would not need to put windows in his house, for there is no wind, no rain, no dust, upon the moon. It has been truly and practically observed that the moon is apparently abandoned to death, nourishing no inhabitants, producing nothing resembling trees, flowers or beautiful things of any kind—useless, in short, except as a mass of extinct volcanic rubbish, which drags the sea into tides and reflects the sunbeams in moonlight."

The Dean's Retort.

One Sunday morning at Cawston church Dean Hole noticed a tipsy man in the congregation. He bore his presence until it was no longer possible and then came to a halt with the question, "Are you fit to remain in God's house?"

The man got up unsteadily and was helped to the door.

"James," said Hole after the service was over, "what did you do with him?"

The useful parishioner replied, "I put him on a tombstone, sir."

The indignant vicar's retort was, "Couldn't you have put him under it?"—London Mail.

Skin Diseases.

Under this name such troubles as Salt Rheum, Eczema, Erysipelas, Tetter, Shingles, Psoriasis, Scurf, Itching Rashes, Eruptions, Boils, Pimples, etc., are included. Skin diseases, as a rule, are not dangerous, but are unsightly, irritating and often terribly annoying to the sufferer; they depend mainly on bad blood, from one cause or another, for if the blood is pure and the circulation good no skin disease can exist, except it arise from lack of proper cleanliness or from contagion.

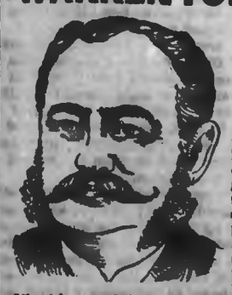
To get rid of skin diseases it is necessary to observe strictly all the laws of health; maintain regular action of the bowels; avoid high living, eating only plain nourishing food. Cleanse and keep the blood pure by taking Burdock Blood Bitters, which unlocks all the secretions, and makes new rich blood by acting on the entire system.

Had Salt Rheum Six Years.

Mrs. E. M. Myers, East Jeddore, N.S., writes:—"I don't think there is anyone in this Dominion can recommend Burdock Blood Bitters more than I can. I suffered terribly with Salt Rheum for six years, and did everything for it without relief. For curiosity sake I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it completely cured me. I would advise others to use it."

For sale by all dealers. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WARREN TOPPAN, Lynn, Mass.



Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was magic. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprises me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years. Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

PETERBOROUGH MONDAY JANUARY 24 1910

WAS AGAIN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

Mr. R. H. Leary Given That Office for the Fourth Time—Annual Meeting of the Society Held on Saturday.

DIRECTORS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Agricultural Society was held on Saturday afternoon in the City Council Chamber, the following directors being present, with President R. H. Leary in the chair, Messrs. D. B. Dennison, J. H. Garbutt, J. A. Storey, Wm. Buller, Wm. Collins, Kennedy, W. B. Stewart, J. J. Turner, Sr., Redmond, C. Moore, Milburn, and Dr. King and others.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed. The auditors' report of the finances was read by the Secretary, Mr. J. F. A. Hall, and upon motion, was received. It showed a substantial balance in the treasury.

Messrs. R. H. Leary and Wm. Collins were appointed delegates to the Fairs' Convention, to be held in Toronto on the 9th and 10th of February. A vote of thanks was tendered the auditors, Messrs. R. Fair and A. A. Hollingshead, for their services and each was presented with a box of cigars.

Election of Officers.

Mr. R. H. Leary was again unanimously elected President of the Society for the ensuing year, this being his fourth term in office. During Mr. Leary's presidency, the annual Fair has been a great success, and as several expressed it, at the meeting on Saturday, it would be a pity to elect another man when the Society was making such progress with Mr. Leary as president.

It was moved by Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., seconded by Ald. Buller, that the office of Secretary-Treasurer be separated. This motion was lost.

The officers elected were:
President—Mr. R. H. Leary.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. H. Garbutt.
2nd Vice-Pres—Mr. Redmond.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. F. J. A. Hall.
Auditors—Messrs. R. Fair and E. M. Elliott.
Directors—Messrs. G. Elliott, Deyell, W. B. Stewart, Wm. Collins, James O'Shea, Geo. Gillespie, W. E. Conway, Baptie, Oke, Storey, Cox, Cruikshanks, Moore, Milburn, Young, Dennison, Kennedy, Munro, Scott, Vance Buller, Phelan, J. J. Turner, Sr., and Brown.

MR. R. H. LEARY,
Elected for the fourth year President of the Agricultural Society.

C. P. R. PLOUGH

Called Out for First Time This Winter on Saturday Night.

The C.P.R. snow plow was called out for the first time this winter on Saturday night. It arrived in Peterborough from the east at 10.10 p. m. reporting drifts in some places, but none of a troublesome nature. West of the city the snow had piled higher and the local did not arrive until near ten o'clock. The relaxing of the storm's strength just when it did relieved the anxiety in railway circles as the snow was rapidly filling in the cuts as it swept across fields and frozen meadows.

"WHY BE SO THIN?"

Thinness is Embarrassing, Unhealthy and Not Natural—Formula Now Used Which Adds From One to Three Pounds a Week.

Every one ought to have some extra flesh on the bony structure of the body, both for the sake of health and self-esteem.

Most thin people are sensitive to the harsh, unfeeling criticisms which are constantly being hurled at them by the more fortunate well-figured persons.

Every one pities a thin, bony horse, but horses don't know it—while thin people are both pitied and ridiculed. It ought not to be so, but it is.

A well rounded figure, be it man or woman, excites admiration; not only for the figure, but for the bright eyes, pink cheeks, red lips, and vigorous carriage which accompany a well-nourished body.

Strength, health, beauty and sound flesh abound, if the blood and nerves get enough nourishment out of the food eaten.

This prescription aids nature; helps absorption, digestion and assimilation, helps distribute the blood and nerve elements which make sound flesh. Get the ingredients and make it at home, and see how very fast you gain in weight.

In a half pint bottle, obtain three ounces of essence of pepsin, three ounces syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol, shake, and let stand the home; then add one ounce Hypnos cadechyn compound, four cardiacus). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before each meal. Also drink [illegible] between meals and [illegible] which [illegible]

POST CARD COLUMN.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In the "Business Chances Wanted" column of the Toronto Globe on Saturday, Jan. 22nd, I noticed: "Manufacturers employing 100 hands wants to hear from town or city who can offer inducements." I believe I can make a good guess who the party is, and if as I suspect, not a minute's time should be lost to communicate and interview them. If it is not the party I have reference to there is work for a competent commission to call on my prospectors, to show them the advantages of being located in Peterborough, where five times as much land can be secured for about one-half what their present property is worth. The transportation facilities offered by Peterborough would save them thousands of dollars per annum; as good mechanics at less wages can be secured for Peterborough. The manager of this company I refer to wants to move out of the city, and when I met him at Toronto Exhibition, said he would go into this matter more fully after their annual meeting in January. They have had their meeting, and now is the time to go after them. A year ago last December I was corresponding with three American piano manufacturers, with a view to interesting them to locate branch factories in Peterborough to supply their Canadian trade. Each one was interested sufficiently to agree to send representatives to meet me at Buffalo about the middle of January, 1909. I was ill, and circumstances could not permit me to meet them. I merely state this to show that if Peterborough had a Commissioner appointed; one who is competent to show up Peterborough's advantages, geographical, and power and domestic, we might easily start our 50,000 or Booster Club that has been talked of with a very promising hope of realizing within ten years.

I hope our new Mayor and Aldermen will get on to this job and start the wheels turning to catch every good thing that can be taken in. There are men in this city who are capable, and by all means appoint a local man.

Yours truly,
W. H. RUSE.

Peterborough, Jan. 24.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Our City Aldermen have started on another year and our Chief of Police, Fire Chief, temperance people and others have important matters relating to the protection of our city are up for consideration, but no one seems to know or care how our electrical work is done, as long as an electric lamp shines and a motor runs it.

It seems to me a pity that some electrical instalments that have been made are allowed unprotected by san Inspector. If our city fathers would take note of the results of such work, they would be more particular about how electricity is safeguarded. In West Toronto recently a man got a severe electric shock while opening the vault door of the Dominion Bank. A man in Newmarket was killed while handling an electric lamp in his cellar. In our city a few years ago a man was killed the same way. Just the other day we had a fire here caused by a live wire, which would have been serious had it not been seen to in time. We have in our city recent electrical installments that should for the safety of our people have weekly inspection at least.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

PREACHED SERMON

Rev. Father Holden at Church of the Sacred Heart Yesterday.

Rev. Father Holden, of Hamilton, formerly teacher of the old Separate School in Peterborough and one of Rev. Dr. O'Brien's first teachers, preached at the low masses yesterday morning at the Church of the Sacred Heart. He congratulated his old time pupil upon his elevation to the charge of the fine new church and parish and to other successes he had achieved. Father Holden preached a god sermon on one of the verses from the epistle of the day.

SATURDAY'S STORM WAS A WHIRLWIND

The Weather Man Was Very Bilious, Changing His Countenance Frequently to the Inconvenience of Mere Mortals.

RAILWAY TIED UP

Sunshine and Tempest in a double sense visited Peterborough on Sataurnight with the chief difference being the predominance of tempest as far as the general public was concerned. The day was ushered in with a mean drizzle, the remnant in the downpour of the previous afternoon and evening. About ten o'clock the sun shone with a rather wan brilliance but it was only a remembrance of Old Sol's presence behind the clouds. In the afternoon the storm gods arranged the merriest frolic they have enjoyed in a long time. It was a real genuine touch of winter and the men behind the snow ploughs remembering that they had to do certain work instituted a hurried searching party for the ploughs which had grown rusty in prolonged inactivity. The storm itself was grand and roused the fighting blood in every healthy mortal who loves to battle against the wind and struggle through drifts. The street cars were taken unawares, the wind and snow successfully impeding progress. They struggled persistently for a time but threw up the sponge between five and six o'clock. The C. P. R. snow plow was called into service but towards 10 o'clock the tempest abated.

HAD ACTION AGAINST PORT HOPE TENANT

Mr. J. J. Turner Put House in Good Condition But Tenant Was Neglectful in Matter of Rent.

HENCE THE ACTION

The monthly sittings of the Division Court was held yesterday afternoon with His Honour Judge Roger presiding.

The lengthy case was J. J. Turner vs. W. C. Brown for $20.00 for rent for the Turner House on Mill St. At the last court Mr. Turner sued Brown for $20.00 for rent and was given judgment. The judge added at the time that this should not end the action. It will be remembered that Brown leased the Turner House for one year at $20.00 per month payable monthly in advance. Brown occupied the house for a few months, and left, complaining that the cellar was so damp that it caused sickness.

Mr. Turner pointed out yesterday that the cellar was perfectly dry and shortly after Brown had taken possession he expended $76 in building a drain in the cellar. The house was exactly as he represented and Mr. Brown went through it before he rented it. He had heard that Brown was a very poor tenant and had written to him not to take the house if everything was not satisfactory.

His Honour reserved judgment on this case. H. A. Ward for plaintiff S. S. Smith, for defendant. — Port Hope Guide.

TOTAL LOSS IV C. P. R. WRECK WILL NEVER BE KNOWN

Cars Have Been Recovered From the Spanish River But it is Thought That There are Many Bodies Yet Undiscovered.

MEN ARE AT WRECK

Sudbury, Jan. 23.—Early this morning men with pike poles commenced prodding about in the icy waters of the Spanish River for the victims of Friday's railway catastrophe, which occurred near Nairn, on the Soo branch of the C. P. R., but which has become known as the Webbwood wreck. The gruesome hunt was continued until darkness rendered the task almost abortive, but some fifteen or sixteen bodies were secured before the men desisted.

The Search Continues.

Already thirty dead passengers of the ill-fated Soo express have been accounted for, and the local undertaking establishments are overtaxed. As the search continues it becomes apparent that the toll of death will be much greater than was at first imagined. While one hesitates to say anything that would cause unnecessary alarm, it would not be surprising if the total list of dead approached closely to the sixty mark. Stories of passengers who escaped would seem to bear this out.

May Not Recover All Bodies.

Many bodies, it is thought, will never be recovered. Some were burned in the portion of the second-class coach, which buckled after striking the bridge, and the swift current of the deep-running river may also have swept away beneath the ice some of those who perished in the cars, as the doors and windows were open in most cases when the dining car and first-class coach were drawn out upon the bank to-day by two powerful cranes. So far the hunt for bodies has really only commenced. The first-class coach and part of the second-class car are believed to be still beneath the surface.

Criticizing C. P. R. Officials.

In the excitement officials of the C. P. R. are coming in for much criticism from relatives of the trapped passengers, some of whom, it is said, were refused permission to view such bodies as were recovered. All persons alike, those drawn to the spot by morbid curiosity, and those in search of relatives or friends, were, it is alleged, for a long time kept at a distance from where the work was being carried on. Reporters in search of information were also held at a distance.

The Cause Unknown.

Yesterday A. J. Nixon, chief operating official of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, and Geo. A. Mountain, chief engineer of the board, inspected the scene. Interviewed by The Globe to-day, they could not give any definite statement as to cause of the derailment. The C. P. R. officials, even General Superintendent Gutelius, one of the highest engineering authorities on the continent, is stated to have expressed himself to friends as undecided between a broken brake beam, loose trucks turned over or spread rail. The Railway Commission, as well as the C. P. R., will, however, make a close investigation, and it seems likely that they will find the real cause.

INVESTIGATION WILL NOT BE HELD BY COMMISSION

The Police Commissioners Have Received no Complaints in Regard to Conduct of Police and Have Nothing to Consider.

REPORTS UNFOUNDED

The surmises in regard to a suggested investigation in police circles by the police commissioners have apparently been without foundation for it it learned that no action will be taken by the members of the commission in view of the fact that no complaints were received by them. The rumours therefore, that were heard some time ago during and after the hearing of certain cases before Judge Huycke seem to have been without foundation.

SPECIAL MEETING C. M. B. A.

This evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting of branch 30 C. M. B. A. at their hall, George St., to complete arrangements for the funeral of the late Bro Jno. Hurley. By Order
P. J. LEAHY, Sec'y 1d

UNEXPECTED DEATH OF MR. JOHN HURLEY

The news of the death of the late John Hurley, who passed away at his late residence, 464 Charlotte St., yesterday morning between half past 10 and 11 o'clock, came as a great shock to his wide circle of friends in this city. The deceased passed away very suddenly. On Friday on returning from Lindsay he contracted a cold, but was never so ill that he had to remain in bed. Sunday morning he was up and around, but about ten o'clock he complained of feeling worse and asked for a doctor. Dr. McCulloch was summoned, but medical aid was of little avail and he sank until the end came.

The late Mr. Hurley was sixty-three years of age, and was born in the County of Clare, Ireland. He came to this country when only six months old. His parents first lived in Hope township, but later moved to the township of Ops, where they resided for many years. The deceased was married in January 1879, and for some time was a resident of Lindsay. Twenty-seven years ago he came to Peterborough and had lived here until his death. Twelve years ago he was appointed grain inspector for the Midland district. He was a man who faithfully discharged his duties and who won the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

His wife, one son, Frank Hurley, of town, and three daughters, Misses Mary, Margaret and Loretta, residing at home, are left to mourn his loss. Two brothers and three sisters also survive him. The brothers are Thomas of Lindsay, and Michael of Windsor, and the sisters are Mrs. R. Hartnett and Mrs. D. O'Neill, of Lindsay, and Mrs. J. Twohey, of Ops.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

PETERBORO' BOOKSTORE SOLD

As will be noticed by our announcement, in another column, it will be seen that the stock and business of the Peterborough Bookstore has been purchased by the Messrs P. and F. M. Trebilcock, of Toronto. The purchasers take possession on 1st of February, and, in the meantime, we make a final effort to close out many lines to still further reduce stocks. The opportunities afforded during this week to save money are clearly set forth in our three-column advertisement. "Cost and under cost" being the special words upon which emphasis are put. — A. H. Stratton & Co.

PASSED AWAY

The death occurred early Sunday morning at his late residence in Cavan, of John Morrison. The deceased was in his seventy-fourth year. He had only been ill a short time and his demise was quite unexpected. His wife predeceased him four years ago. He was a highly respected resident of Cavan, and his death is a distinct loss to the community.

Three sons and three daughters are left to mourn his loss. The sons are James, of Ribston, Alta., Robert, of Gilbert Plains, Alta., and John at home. The daughters are Mrs. R. Ifford Ribston, Alta., Mrs. J. Hasewan, Cavan, and Mrs. Wm Preston, Smith

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock from the late residence, lot 19, con 10, to Little Lake cemetery.

The D and L" Emulsion must be given with most beneficial results to those who are run down or recovering from after effects of la grippe.

REGULAR COLLECTION OF GARBAGE AND MORE CARE IN REPORTING DISEASES RECOMMENDED

Dr. McPherson, M.H.O., Presents an Interesting Report to the Board of Health in Which He Points Out How the Public Health May be More Safeguarded and City Made Cleaner—Reference to Infectious Diseases.

THE NUMBER REPORTED

Dr. A. W. McPherson, M.H.O., presented his first report to the Board of Health at the meeting held this morning, giving a careful review of local conditions as he has found them since commencing his duties in June last. His recommendations concern the improvement of the city's health and beauty. His report is complete, as follows:

To the Chairman and members of the Peterborough Board of Health.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit a report of the Health Department, from June 9th, 1909, to Dec. 31, 1909. During this time the city has not been free from infectious diseases. In the months of June, July, and August, scarlet fever and small pox were very prevalent, with an occasional case of diphtheria, measles and chicken pox. Since then all have steadily decreased with the exception of measles. At present there are no cases of small pox or diphtheria, and only three families with scarlet fever. Measles however, have increased very greatly, but as it has not been the custom to report them, it is impossible to estimate the extent.. Typhoid has been very light, and at present the city is free from it. Tuberculosis is not reported, and, as with measles, we are not in a position to judge as to the number of cases.

Small Pox.

To the mildness of the infection is due the fact that there was a widespread exposure before the disease was recognized. The prompt action of the Board in establishing [illegible] accommodation, and providing free vaccination, soon controlled the epidemic. There was one feature worthy of notice I should like to draw your attention to; out of over forty cases only two had been previously vaccinated. In these the exposure was very close and the type was very mild. I would recommend that steps be taken to provide public vaccination at stated intervals, as is required by law.

Scarlet Fever.

Fortunately the type has been of a mild character. But in spite of this we regret to report several deaths and many serious complications, resulting directly or indirectly from it. I wish to draw your attention to the great difficulty in enforcing proper quarantine as a result of the long period required for scarlet fever, and the resulting inconvenience and loss to families affected. The great majority of cases are among a class who can very ill afford such loss. However, I am glad to say that we hope that before the next annual meeting we shall have an Isolation Hospital, and these inconveniences will be minimized.

Reporting Diseases.

It has been the custom to report only cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria and small pox. Several months ago the Board requested the doctors to report all cases of typhoid. I would recommend that a similar request be made for measles, whooping cough, and tuberculosis, so that such steps can be taken to limit the spread of these diseases among school children and others who may be exposed.

Water Supply.

Samples of city water and samples from a number of wells were sent to the Provincial Analyst, on two different occasions. The first report showed slight contamination of the city water. About six weeks later the report showed no contamination. The absence of typhoid speaks well for the purity of our supply.

Milk.

The monthly tests have been very satisfactory, as far as butter fat and adulteration are concerned. Two cases of the latter were reported, and the offenders punished. With the exception of one month the percentage of butter fat was high. But the examination does not reveal the presence or absence of dirt in the milk, and for that reason some steps should be taken to inspect the premises of the dairymen, and a certain standard of cleanliness required before a license is granted.

Garbage.

Numerous complaints have been received about the unsanitary conditions of the lanes and back yards, due to the deposits of decaying vegetable matter and other material. In following up these complaints we found the lanes in many places in a very untidy, and often, in an unsanitary condition. This means that in the near future a scavenger department will be required. In towns not any larger than ours, such a department exists, and collections are made twice weekly. This would materially improve the health of our city. Appended is a list of the number of cases of infectious diseases reported. All of which is respectfully submitted.

LATEST NEWS OF WEBBWOOD WRECK

Saut Ste. Marie, Ont., Jan. 24.—The work of removing the remains of those killed in the Webbwood wreck was concluded last night, when the last corpse was dragged to the surface with grappling irons by the men who had been searhcing the lower river. The body was that of a 40 year old man, supposed to be C. Carey, inspector of air brakes, Montreal. Mr. Lundy, inspector of fuel, C.P.R., Toronto, who was supposed to be in the wreck, is reported safe at North Bay, having missed the train. When Conductor Reynolds tickets were checked over it was found that there were only seventy passengers in all, without counting the crew. The track has not been cleared as yet, which necessitates the transferring of passengers and baggage over the bridge. The total number of passengers in the section of the second class coach, which was destroyed by fire was eleven, all of whom perished in the flames. The cars have been all removed from the river. The total number of bodies recovered is 56. There are still two missing.

THE COMMISSIONERS WILL OBEY WISHES OF COUNCIL

In a Letter to the Mayor and Council the License Board Express Themselves as Willing to do What the Council Say in Regard to Reduction---Their Act Binding.

A meeting of the West Peterborough License Commissioners was held on Saturday night when the board was organized for the year 1910. Dr. M. A. Morrison was re-elected chairman, and Inspector Jos. Stewart was re-elected secretary. The question of license reduction was taken up and the following letter was prepared and sent to the City Council:

To His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—The question has been raised as to the attitude of the License Commissioners regarding a reduction of license by-law. Our position has always been to carry out the will of the people as expressed by the representatives in council and any by-law passed by your council limiting the number of taverns and shop licenses will be binding upon this board.—Signed—

M. A. MORRISON, Chairman.

AN EXPLODED SCANDAL.

The happiest moment that has come to the Conservative opposition the present session was that of the scenting of an alleged scandal in connection with the government purchase of the Richibucto N.B., wharf, dubbed by the gleeful scandal-mongers the "sawdust wharf." They have found that sawdust is as unreliable a foundation, for a substantial, or even unsubstanial a structure, as a Conservative scandal, as the proverbial sand. The scandal has exploded under the sparks struck out in the investigation conducted in the Public Accounts committee. A little history of the matter of the sale and purchase of the wharf, will be illuminating The wharf was sold to the department of public works at Ottawa for $5,000. The charge was made that just before its sale to the Government it was bought from the original owner by a party worker for $700, so that he made a nice-off of $4,300. It was proven before the public accounts committee at Ottawa on Wednesday that the part of the property sold by the original owner for $700 was only a small portion of that afterwards transferred to the Government. It was shown also that the price paid by the Government compared favourably with that awarded by arbitrators in a similar case in the same neighbourhood, and that so far from the transaction being a scandal it was one of which was most advantageous to the country. The "scandal" has been black-lettered in all the Conservative journals of the province. Will the evidence that has pricked the bubble receive equal publicity? Hardly; that would be too much to expect. The "scandal" will be subjected to all the wear and tear of exploitation it will stand before it is sadly deposited in the morgue that holds the dead scandals of the past.

EXTRAVAGANCE AND ECONOMY.

Hon. Wm. Paterson, the veteran parliamentarian and Minister of Customs, has aroused the attention of the small wits and small critics of the Conservative Opposition. In speaking on the Budget, Mr. Paterson reviewed the Liberal platform of 1893, and showed how the Liberal Government, under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, had implemented in practice the resolution of this platform. His claim that the economy plank had been inserted intact into the administration of the Government provokes broad smiles and sneers. It is held by the critics that in view of the great increase of expenditure economy has not been practised. "What for no?" as Lucky Dods would exclaim. It is true that the expenditure has largely increased. It is equally true that the national revenue has increased in greater ratio. It is also true that the country has increased in population, and, in greater ratio, in prosperity. It is also true that large sums have been expended in the interest of national development, to provide the facilities and conveniences necessary to the national growth and development. Money proceeding from increased customs contributions, due to, the increased prosperity and purchasing power of the people, involving increased imports, has flowed in in a liberal stream. We had the money and we had the need of it. We made liberal and even lavish—and legitimate—expenditures for national purposes. Necessarily there was much larger expenditure; but there has been no extravagance in the worst meaning of that word. If there existed patent need for the expenditures made; if reasonable value was received from the expenditure; if the country's interests were thereby efficietly served, there has been no extravagance, but, on the contrary, true economy in the highest sense of its meaning. During the Conservative regime, with about one-third less annual expenditure, there was added to the national debt nearly one hundred and twenty millions of dollars. This might be regarded as extravagance, since the annual revenue was not only absorbed in meeting the current administrative needs of the nation, but a debt of the amount named incurred. And even this was not extravagance, insofar as value was received for the money spent. During the time mentioned many important public conveniences were provided. And the same is the case with the Liberal Government, In the past twelve and three-quarter years the Liberal Government, according to Hon. Mr. Foster, the Conservative financial critic, has spent 922 millions of dollars, and in so doing have added only some seven millions to the public debt, that is, taking out of the reckoning the extraordinary expenditures made upon the National Transcontinental railway, which is not a real addition to the debt, for the country will be recouped after the completion of the railway by the payment of three per cent. interest, as rental for the use of the government-owned section of the railway. More than 900 millions of the amount cited by Mr. Foster, has been paid out of current revenue. In appraising the appositeness and value of the Opposition charges of extravagance and failure to practise economy on the part of the Liberal Government, it is well to remember the true meaning of extravagance and economy.

TO RESTRAIN COMBINES.

(Monetary Times.)

In accordance with the hint given by Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, in the course of his budget speech, a bill was introduced in the House of Commons at Ottawa, on Tuesday to provide "for the investigation of combines, monopolies, trusts and Mergers, which may enhance prices or restrict competition to the detriment of consumers."

Mr. Mackenzie King, who has charge of the measure, thinks that the bill will afford a ready and convenient means for the obtention of an investigation and be an effective remedy against any evils which may be found to exist. The legislation provides that six or more persons may apply to a high court judge for an investigation. The judge may grant an order of inquiry if satisfied there is a prima facie case.

The bill follows a twelve months' period during which about sixty Canadian companies through the medium of merger machinery, became reduced to the number of ten, representing a total authorized capital of little less than $200,000,000. The amalgamation idea is apparently infectious. Had not the example been set by certain large corporations, several less important companies would probably never have thought of the delights of combination.

A combine of itself is not illegitimate. A single company can work equally as much harm to economics as can an amalgamation. But the latter usually has a wider field of operations, more personal and financial power, while temptation frequently struts in front of its office doors with the regularity of a sentry. The tendency towards concentration in Canada's business spheres seems to call at least for some measure by which real grievances can be probed. Sir Wilfrid Laurier the other day told the influential deputation, which waited upon the government respecting increased ocean freight rates, that this combine legislation would apply to the shipping companies. Thus it is evidently the intention to give the new bill wide scope.

Mr. King is probably right in his belief that publicity sometimes is more effective than penalty. While the proposed Act provides machinery to shed light on the working of industrial combines, the legislation relies also on other remedies. The tariff will be used as a lever for reform. Where reports show that prices have been unduly enhanced or that competition is being unfairly restricted in virtue of the protection given to a particular article, there is authority to reduce the tariff or remove it altogether on that article. The revocation of patents is to be utilized as another remedial force, and finally a fine.

This measure is likely to receive considerable discussion in the House of Commons. Its need is emphasized by at least one good reason, that the Dominion shall not emulate the United States in a system of industrial combines, which cause waste of time, money and labour in legal investigations, assist the spread of corruption and cast a shadow upon the economic system.

HOW TO CONTROL THE TOBACCO AND ALCOHOL HABIT

Habitual users of tobacco and alcoholic drinks who, at the same time, are determined not to permit those indulgences seriously to affect their health or limit their working powers have various ways of holding the enemy at bay.

Some smoke and drink just so much and no more regularly every day; others drink only at meals and smoke only one or two cigars immediately after eating; still another class of drinkers and smokers abstain entirely for a longer or shorter period once in so often.

Much has been written on the subject by medical men. An interesting recent contribution is by Dr. George Lincoln Walton, M. D., who is consulting neurologist to the Massachusetts General Hospital, in his volume called "Those Nerves," just published by Houghton-Mifflin Company, of Boston.

Writing of the tobacco habit, Dr. Walton says: "I suppose that if any given user of tobacco (or any other poison) had never indulged the practice his efficiency would be on a higher plane than it is to-day, provided he did not take up some other habit equally injurious. Most of us are, however, sufficiently humble (or should I say sufficiently dulled by the poison?) to prefer our present intellectual, physical and social status to whatever ideal, without the weed, our imaginations may picture. I shall, therefore, instead of counselling the smoker to taboo the habit, and to present his physician with whatever stock he has on hand, content myself with such features of tobacco poisoning as are called to the attention of the neurologist, and give such advice as neurological experience seems to justify.

"There is a general impression that the habitual use of tobacco immunizes the user, so that he can smoke more and more as time goes on. This is not, according to my observation, true, beyond a certain point and a certain time, the time and point varying in different indvduals. The man who smoke eight cigars of a certain size and quality at forty, and imagines he can smoke sixteen of the same at sixty is doomed to disappointment; on the contrary, it is much more likely that already at fifty his limit is halved instead of doubled, if indeed, a thumping heart or lessening desire has not caused to reduce still further his allowance in number, strength, or both.

"This consideration should lead one to keep well within his limit in early life, and thus avoid tobacco saturation.

"My observation of the disturbances resulting from excessive use of tobacco has led me to conclude that cessation of chewing is at least as imperative as that of smoking. If I found it necessary in a given case to advise the omission of only one of these habits it would be that of chewing. In point of fact, tobacco saturation demands absolute cessation, for at least some months, of both.

"When a bucket is full of water a single drop may cause an overflow, and if evaporation is to be awaited it is well to postpone that drop for quite a time.

"It is wrong to resort to the 'dry smoke;' this habit, which is not at all dry, is too closely allied to chewing. The same observation applies to the habit of holding the cigar in the mouth between whiffs instead of in the hand.

"The domestic cigar, in my opinion, may be continued longer by the susceptible than the 'fragrant Havana,' A light wrapper does not always cover a mild filling, nor is the Spanish 'claro' to be too blindly followed in estimating the effect of a cigar upon the nervous system.

"If one finds he must have his tobacco it will not be safe to substitute three 'invincibles' for six 'bouquets.' The habit of 'chain smoking' is to be discouraged. It is the gratification of a dangerous obsession. After finishing one cigar a definite interval should be allowed for the comparative passage of its effects—their permanent passage requires a longer interval than the 'chain smoker' is likely under any circumstances to accord.

"In lessening the amount of tobacco it is well to form the habit of smoking a half cigar instead of lessening the number of cigars smoked through. If one thus ignores the insistence to complete what he has begun, after the cigar is thrown away the only difference he will notice is a glow of pride. This is the easiest way I know to halve the amount of tobacco absorbed, not to mention the fact that one disposes, I think, of the worse half.

"The injurious effect of cigarette smoking consists, I believe, in the frequent repetition of the smoke and consequent lack of free intervals (and in the inhaling of the smoke) rather than in any peculiarly toxic effect of the cigarette.

"Respecting the use of alcohol, careful and repeated experiments seem to have established four facts regarding this drug. (1) Even moderate doses diminish the reaction time and the working efficiency, although the individual himself realizes no effect from the alcohol, and though he thinks that his work is at least as effective as without it. (2) The habitual use of alcohol does not modify this result of the single dose. (3) Its total effect is rather depressing than stimulating. (4) The effects of the single dose persist logern than is generally supposed—thus the psychological effects of two litres of beer drunk in one day were found by experiment to have dis appeared only on the third day, though there was no bovious sign of intoxication present.

"The logical sequence of these observations is that, however effective may be the work of the habitual user of alcohol, it would be more effective if he abstained, and however good his nervous control may be, it would be better without the habit, assuming that no other equally injurious habit were substituted.

"The quetsion whether this effect is sufficiently offset by the social, business or other advantages to make its moderate use on the whole desirable is one for the indiviual to decide, just as he decides whether the beef-steak-smothered-in-onions of today is worth the price of the gustatory reminder of to-morrow.

"But such questions should be decided with the eyes open. In deciding them, the social and business advantages of becoming a 'solitary' drinker need not be given much weight. Nor should it be assumed that either social or business interests demand that one form the habit of consuming under all circumstances certain amount of alcohol daily.

"These are the considerations that should guide one in the regulation of his consumption of alcohol, and upon these considerations I base my opinion that if one would effectively conserve his cerebral activity and keep his 'nerves' at their best, he will be wise to avoid becoming a 'steady' consumer, even in moderate quantity. "I have carefully limited myself to discussion of questions germane to the province of the neurologist, but it may fall within that province to observe that it is as important to cutivate control as to limit individual habits.

"The nervous and mental makeup that leads to excessive use of alcohol is the same that, unless controlled, leads to overindulgence in cocaine, opium or other drugs, sometimes to the cultivation of other undesirable habits, including, for example, that of becomng idle and disorderly, or 'otherwise obnoxious, whether or not under the influence of alcohol.'"

USUALLY ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION

Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gas and All Stomach Distress Vanishes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you: if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different — you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

MUCH INTEREST IN SHORT JUDGING COURSE

The evening meeting called for Tuesday, January 25th, in the Collegiate Auditorium, bids fair to tax the accommodation of this hall In view of the suggestion, that Pres. G. C. Creelman, B.S.A., M.S., of the Ontario Agricultural College, should become leader of the Ontario Liberal Opposition, many will be especially anxious to take advantage of this opportunity of getting to know Mr. Creelman. As a speaker, he is popular with all classes. He is sure to be well received on this, his first appearance before a Peterborough audience.

Since everyone likes horses and would like to know more about the subtle knowledge of judging this particular class of stock, the classes in horse judging in other places have often received the largest attendance, but while the horses are possibly more attractive, the other classes will also be found to be most interesting Each and all of the sessions will be found to be well worth attending. The need judging work especially, will reveal many things that they had not thought of before, to those who attend.

Farmers and others interested in this work will act in their best interests by attending as many of the sessions of the Short Course as possible and should arrange if at all convenient to attend them all.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

MARK TWAIN

The gossips said Mark Twain was dying, as once before they had him dead; it beats all how they have been trying to put a halo on his head. Mark Twain, that blithe and genial spirit, fears not the sunless river's flow; and when he thinks he's drawing near it, he won't forget to let us know. The triumphs of savants and sages, seen in vain and profitless as chaff; they filled with lore their turgid pages, but Mark has made the nations laugh. A king creates a knight at pleasure, or kills a courtier with a frown, and thinks historians will measure all mortal greatness by his crown. Far greater than a monarch's sceptre, the wand that Mark has waved so long; it summons Laughter, and has kept her dispensing happiness and song. It drives from weary hearts the sorrow, it banishes the base and mean; it gives us strength to meet the morrow, with hearts courageous and serene. Long may he live, and long be funny! And when he does decide to move, the world he leaves will be less sunny, the world he goes to will improve.

THE LATEST NEWS OF SPORT — TOLD IN BRIEF FORM

SOME LINDSAY IMPRESSIONS OF FRIDAY'S O. H. A. GAME

Midgets Will do Better on Hard Ice, According to the Lindsay Press---Peterborough Team Clean and Fast and a Credit to the City.

Here are some Lindsay impressions of Lindsay's game as seen by The Post and Warder. The former says: With a score standing 3 goals to 2 Peterborough carried off the first game of Division A of District No. 8, last evening on the local rink. Although the ice was in bad shape, the game was a thorough good exhibition of intermediate hockey.

The ice was in wretched condition, and it would have been better if the game had been postponed until the weather man had provided a better sheet. The west end was very good but not to the Lindsayites' satisfaction. The east end was nothing less than a spongy mass of ice.

Although Captain Stoddard and his six braves were defeated last evening, the officials of the Lindsay intermediate team are not in any way discouraged, as they are confident the locals will yet triumph. They think more of their young team to-day than yesterday as they were hand cpped by the ice and the lack of practice. It must be also considered that this is really the locals' first heavy work out, while Peterborough has had at least some half dozen games in the city league, from which their speedy septette is taken. The locals, therefore, are to be congratulated on their showing last night, and will spring a surprise next game.

Mr. Wm. O'Brien, principal of the Peterborough separate school, who acted as referee in the absence of the expected Mr. Whitehead of the O.H.A. headquarters, Toronto, was impartial to both teams, although he did not satisfy the rail birds. He was a great deal better than some referees who have figured on local ice. True, he did not detect all the offsides, but the referee is not born who can do that. It can be truthfully said he did not favour either team.

The Petes were in better shape than the locals and were much heavier. The players worked together well and the team is a well balanced and speedy one. Their forward line was speedy, but not any more so than the locals. They have a splendid defence, and with Rolly Glover in his old position, it will be a very strong department. Derocher in goal played an excellent game, he having all manner of shots to watch, but he got the most of them and it was due to him that Lindsay did not double the score. On the other hand the locals were outclassed by the victors' weight, but made up for this one handicap by their excellent playing. They were faster than the visitors in every way the forward line, two-thirds of the time, having had the puck about the Peterborough goal and in the Peterborough territory. Lindsay's defence was somewhat disorganized but Green and Taylor, who played this position really are two forward men and throughout the game had a tendency to put themselves up to the front. Gamble, at goal, was good without a doubt and he guarded the nets in fine style. He is a splendid goalkeeper and is a valuable find for the Lindsay intermediate team.

The Warder.

The Lindsay Warder says: For the first time in four years the Lindsay intermediates, champions of the O. H.A., were defeated on their own ice by their old rivals, Peterborough, after one of the closest games played in the Lindsay rink for many years. The score at half time was 1-1 and at the finish 3-2. The result of the game was a disappointment to the local fans and supporters who expected that with four of last year's champions on the line-up a sure victory would be won on home ice.

The ice was anything but in good condition, and not much could be expected in the way of good fast hockey, but considering the soft ice the game was fast and interesting, both teams working their hardest for a victory. The puck refused to slide and it was up to the players to hammer or push it about the ice as best they could, and as a result some wild and erratic shooting was done by both teams, and the puck was overskated many times.

Both teams ewre evenly matched, although the Electric city seven had a shade on the locals in weight and condition and appeared to stand the pace better towards the finish of the game. The Lindsay champions appeared on the ice in new uniforms, and presented a very neat appearance. Their sweaters are blue and white with a large "L" and a pair of wings on the breast. Manager Captain Stoddard presented a lineup consisting of four of last year's champions, Green of the Bankers, Cain, of the C.L.S., and Gamble, the Peat Hope goal keeper, the latter having played on the champion team three years ago. On paper the champions look strong enough to win several districts, but their defeat can be attributed to the heavy ice. Had the ice been cool and fast there is no doubt but that the locals would have pulled out a victory. Stoddard and Blomfield, both fast men on hard ice, played at a disadvantage on the soft going and could not get away, overskating the puck many times.

The Electric city bunch possesses a team of intermediates, every man being a credit to the city. They played a good, hard, clean, consistent game throughout. The team consisted of five Strathconas, a West Ender, and McDougall, a hundred and seventy-five pounder from Keene, who used his weight to advantage. Only three of last year's intermediate players were on the line-up, viz., Dusty, Ray and Derocher.

Notes From Lindsay.

The most notable feature of the game was the manner in which Stoddard was watched. Every time he secured the puck the entire Peterborough team made for him and drove him to the corners, where he could not score. They were like a swarm of bees around the fast rover.—Lindsay Warder.

Lindsay won the toss and at the face-off secured the puck and kept in it in Peterborough territory for the first twenty-two minutes. They simply outplayed the Electric City puck-chasers and shot on goal dozens of times, but try as they would they could not score on the great Derocher, who played a sensational game in goal.—Lindsay Warder.

For Peterborough, Dusty, McMillan Ray, Derocher and McDougall were the stars. Derocher saved the game by his sensational work in goal.—Lindsay Warder.

Derocher in goal for Peterborough was the visitors' mainstay. He is a good one.—Lindsay Post.

The slogan "watch Stoddard" could be heard from the Peterborough rooters.—Lindsay Post.

Ray, of Peterborough is one of the cleanest and best hockey players in this part of the province.—Lindsay Post.

The best of feeling existed between the opposing teams. This is as it should be.—Lindsay Post.

McDougall, of the Peterborough team is a good heady player. Campbell also made a good impression.—Lindsay Post.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE WEST END T. A. S. GAME

The interest in the City League games this week centres in the fixture between the West Ends and T. A. S., which will be the second game of Wednesday night's double-header, at Brock Street Rink, and which has all the appearances of being one of the hardest contests in the campaign. The Abstainers have shown consistent improvement all along the line, and their progress has aroused the interest of the fans, many of whom will be pulling for them to win over the Westerners on Wednesday. The two teams met on the first night of the season, and, although the West Ends won by 7 to 3, they had a hard fight for the honours. The Abstainers led at half time 3 to 2, and held their lead until the middle of the second half, and then failed, lack of condition being ascribed as the reason for their falling to pieces. Since then they have been practising industriously, and now have rounded into the best of shape. "We are going to give the West Ends a fight that they have not been looking for," said one of the T. A. S. officers on Saturday." The boys are in shape now, and the changes we have made in the team have strengthened the line-up." The West Ends expect to win, but know that they will have a hard game, and will have to show their best form. Anything in the line of a slump on the part of ony of the players would prove disastrous, as the T. A. S. are right on edge.

The first game will be between the Strathconas and Keene, and the latter will make a big effort to break out of the maiden class by trimming the leaders. The Villagers have been breaking in bad luck so far, but they look for something better in the future and will go out determined to give the Commissioners a fight for the big end of the score. The Strathconas will not take any chances and will have a very strong lineup on.

Bill Rose will referee the first game, the Strathcona-Keene fixture, while the West Ends and T. A. S. agreed on Saturday night to accept Harry Morgan, for the second game. The latter, however, has declined to act, so that the referee question is not yet settled.

SPORTING NOTES

The Bell Telephone Hockey team challenges the Pill Pounders to a game in the immediate future.

The Knox Church hockey team is requested to meet at the Auditorium rink between 8 and 9 o'clock this evening for practice.

Walter Miller, son of Mr. Finch Miller, and spare man for the Edmonton Stanley Cup team, was in the city Saturday visiting his parents, after spending the past week in Ottawa.

The line-up that represented Peterborough in Lindsay on Friday was a purely City League one, comprising Derocher, Campbell, Ray, Dusty and McMillan, of the Strathconas, Dobson of the West Ends, and McDougall of Keene.

Several of the Peterborough players are lamenting the loss of some long green. Sneak thieves got into their rooms at the Benson House, while the team was at the rink, and one player was relieved of $17.

The challenge the junior T. A. S. hurled out on Saturday for a game of hockey at the Auditorium rink has already been snapped up by two teams. The Otonabees and the Colonials have to-day asked the Examiner to infor mthe T. A. S. that they would be pleased to taken on the young Abstainers.

The Collegiate Institute team and the Petgrborough Colts will play the third game of the series this evening at the Brock Street Rink. As the students have won the first two games it is up to the Colts to annex this one, or give up the race for the district. The Pete Juniors will have a strengthened line-up and hope to pull out a victory. The game is called for 8 o'clock sharp.

BASEBALL NOTICE.

The Bugle Band will play the Non-Coms. of the Garrison Mess at a game of baseball on Tuesday night, at 7.30.

Bring your friends to St. John's Young People's Social this evening. 10cts admission. Fine programme. Refreshments. Registration for Examination of Ladies Class. Come, but don't come alone, bring some one with you.

Coloring Billiard Balls Red.

It often happens that red billiard balls more or less completely lose their color and then present a disagreeable appearance. But nothing is easier than to restore their original color. To do this dissolve some dried cochineal, after having pounded and sifted it to assure solution, in a small quantity of water placed in a porcelain capsule large enough to take a billiard ball. Heat this liquid till it is tepid only and add as a mordant about ten drops of sulphuric acid. Put the ball to be colored in the capsule and leave it there about three-quarters of an hour on the corner of a stove, the temperature not being allowed to exceed from 40 degrees to 50 degrees C. At the end of that time take it away from the fire and let it cool.

The operation is complete in from two to three hours. Care must be taken to turn the billiard ball from time to time, so that it may be colored all over, for the coloring matter is deposited, and the part of the ball at the bottom would be too deeply colored.

When the ball is withdrawn from the liquid it only remains wiping and [illegible] ring to make it brilliant again. It may be further polished by means of chamois leather impregnated with colcothar.—Vulgarisation Scientifique.

Bread and Gloves.

"Did you ever notice that the man who brings bread to this place always wears heavy gloves?" asked the regular boarder at the hashery in addressing his guest.

"No; I don't get here often enough to notice it," answered his friend.

"Well, you see him now. He always wears gloves, especially in handling rye bread."

"Yes?"

"It's a fact. Maybe you would not believe me if I told you that he is more apt to get his hands torn and cut than I am working at machinery all day."

"Really?"

"I never have learned the real cause, but the bread seems to have rough edges which scratch and cut the hands if it is handled in large quantities. Of course one or two loaves would not have any bad effect, but hundreds of loaves a day passing through a man's hands seem almost as dangerous as sandpapered brick would be."—St. Joseph Gazette.

The Small Boy's Revenge.

A family whose means were limited was expecting company for dinner, and the thoughtful mother instructed her small son how to behave at the table and also told him there was one thing on the table he was not to ask for.

The appointed time came, and things looked very tempting, especially to the small boy, who suddenly said, "Say, ma, I want some of that," pointing to a plate of cheese.

The mother cast reproving glances upon him, but the child continued, "You going to give me some of that?" The mother again tried to attract the [illegible] upon her, but it was of no use, for he continued, "Give me some of that or I'll tell." Beginning to count, he said: "One, you going to give me some? Two, you going to give me some? Three, my pants are made of the old window shades."

Boswell.

From seaweed when reduced to ashes are gained some of the most beneficent preparations in use today. Some of these are iodine, bromine, hydriodic acid, iodides of sodium, mercury, potassium, magnesium and calcium. From it are extracted coloring matters, volatile oil, and its ingredients are used in photography.

Colonies as Kingdoms.

Queen Elizabeth was commonly spoken of as queen of Virginia. Virginia and Carolina were kingdoms under the Stuarts. Massachusetts was recognized as a "white kingdom" by Cromwell's parliament.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

An exclusive and wealthy woman's club in Chicago has a very novel programme for this year.

It has pledged itself as a club and as individuals to expend its energies in the effort to make its daughters good housewives.

These daughters, most of whom are society girls, are to be taught to be capable and economical house wives, to cook simple, wholesome, appetizing meals, to make nice dishes from left-overs, and to know how to select good meat and the right kind of vegetables.

It is a splendid programme and one that it seems to me that all the women's clubs in the land might take up some year to good advantage.

And before they go back to their Browning and civic reform and milk inspection I have another suggestion for them.

Suppose, after they have provided themselves with housewively daughters, they attempt to provide themselves and the community with some well mannered sons.

I wish some one would kindly tell me just why it is that although a woman of any breeding at all never thinks of attending to her nails anywhere outside of her own home, men who come of good families and, supposedly, have been well brought up, will walk up and down their offices or sit in the train, calmly filing their nails.

Suppose, after they have taught their daughters to make nice dishes from left-overs, they teach their sons to use dental floss instead of a toothpick, and to use neither in public.

Suppose they attempt to turn loose in the world a few men who never fail to rise when a woman—especially an older woman — enters the room, and who even occasionally go so far as to remain standing until she is seated.

Suppose they try to supply a few young men who never fail to say good-night to their hostess' mother and father at the end of an evening call.

Suppose they bring up a few boys who instinctively take off their hats in an elevator where there are women.

And suppose, if they have time to go a bit deeper, they see what they can do toward breeding a race of men who never allow themselves to speak slightingly of women.

On the whole, I think the community will be quite as much benefitted by such a programme as if its women's clubs had spent the winter reading Browning or trying to help keep their city's streets clean.

Maybe you think I am laying too much stress on manners!

Maybe you say manners don't make the man.

No, granted they don't, but the lack of them certainly mars him.

A Decision In The Christy Divorce Case Expected To-day

Wife Says She Reformed Howard C., But Henceforth Will Have Nothing to Do With Him—Is Cautioned by One Firm to "Get Down" to Business.

DISPOSAL OF DAUGHTER

"The best proof of my innocence is that I came out here to Zanesville, and faced the music. If I had been guilty of half the charges they alleged against me I would have shunned such a hearing. No guilty woman could have borne such an ordeal.

"Since this thing has come up my faith in mankind, and womankind, for that matter, has been rudely shaken. True, I had begun to suspect that Mr. Christy was a coward at heart, but I didn't think he, or any one else for that matter, would enter into such a plot against any woman, much less his wife, the mother of his child.

"I alone am responsible for his reformation. No one but me had a hand in that. And God alone knows what I suffered while he was drinking, how I pleaded and begged him to give up his vicious inebriety and return to his former self.

"Speak to Howard Christy? Not me, never again under any consideration. I am through with him forever. I never have had the least inclination for a reconciliation.

"I remember one occasion, when I became exasperated at Mr. Christy's drinking, that I said to him: "I think it should be back to the farm for you. There's where you ought to go and live and die. New York's too big for you. He didn't dare to go on the witness stand and try to defame me himself, but he hired a negro and a couple of models to do it."

By order of the artist, $2,000 worth of diamonds and jewellery, which Christy brought from New York for stfe-keeping, were turned over to her to-day, following a conference of opposing counsel. When she boarded the train she was wearing a magnificent jewelled necklace, a gold heart with diamond settings, the latter the artist's birthday present to his wife five years ago, and several jewelled stickpins, all Christmas and other mementoes.

The decision as to the custody of the child will probably be delivered to-day. Artist Christy received a letter to-day from a publishing house with which he has a contract to "cut out this nonsense at Zanesville and settle down to work."

Has The Cost Of Living Been Increased In Recent Years?

INVOICE OF 45 YEARS AGO

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—The Dominion trade for December shows a record increase of over forty per cent. as compared with the preceding December, there being no less than an increase of 15,563,386 in the exports of domestic products and $8,598,262 in imports. The total trade for the month was $72,527,465, an increase of $21,250,534. Exports of domestic products totalled $38,066,,086, and imports totalled $30,774,900. Of the increase in exports about nine millions is credited to agriculture, reflecting the results of the record harvest of last year. In every line of exports increase is shown.

For the nine months of the fiscal year the total trade has been $512,288,506. Imports have totalled $267,041,935, an increase of $58,381,762. Exports of domestic products have totalled $221,116,813, an increase of $26,533,626. During the nine months agricultural exports have increased twenty-three millions and exports of the forest have increased by sevn millions.

Customs revenue for the month totalled $5,087,580, an increase of $1,207,234. For the nine months the customs revenue has been $44,088,056, an increase of $9,417,303.

Woman Implicated In Murder Of Husband Weds Woman-Hater

Examiner Special.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The romantic marriage in London of the Baroness von Schonbeck, the heroine of the famous Allenstein garrison murder on Christmas Eve, 1907, and A. O. Weber, the foremost satirical artist of Berlin, has created a great sensation here.

Major von Schonbeck, an artillery officer, was murdered in cold blood in the garrison on the date mentioned by Capt. von Goeben, another army officer, who was the lover of Frau von Schonbeck. Capt. von Goeben was arrested immediately after the crime. At first he stoutly maintained his innocence, but later on broke down and made a complete confession in which he incriminated the Baroness.

He declared that the woman urged him to kill her husband. She was then arrested and charged with complicity in the crime. An hour after he made his confession Capt. von Goeben blew his brains out. Proceedings were at once instituted against Frau von Schonbeck. Her counsel set up the plea that she was mentally irresponsible and she was sent to a private sanitarium.

It was said at the time that the Government was not particularly anxious to have the woman brought to trial because of the possible scandals that might ensue. She was kept in the retreat for a year or so and then released.

Mr. Weber was formerly married to a Philadelphia woman who is now a resident in Berlin. He was divorced from her, re-married her and was again divorced. Since the last divorce Weber, who associates a good deal with the American colony here, has been always regarded as a woman hater. One of his last biting satires was entitled, "Above all things, don't marry."

Although Frau von Schonbeck was allowed her liberty the charge of being an accomplice in the murder of her husband at Allenstein is still pending against her.

WOMEN'S WOES

Peterborough Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John Wallace, of 323 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "I have suffered with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble for over two years and could find nothing that would benefit my condition. My back was weak and a dull, heavy pain settled across the small of it, extending into my sides and shoulders. I could not sleep at night as the kidney secretions were so frequent and irregular that I would have to leave my bed a number of times. I was dizzy and would usually awake with a dull headache. Booth's Kidney Pills procured at Wm. Madill's Drug Store, cured me when all else failed. I am stronger and feel better generally. I can conscientiously recommend Booth's Kidney Pills and I would not be without a box in the house."

AMBULANCE SOCIAL AT ST. JOHN'S

—This evening the Young People's Society of St. John's will hold a novel social in the form of an Ambulance Social. A specially interesting and instructve programme has been prepared and a large attendance should turn out. Refreshments will be served at the close of the programme. All members of the Ladies' Ambulance Class are asked especially to be present. Registration for the coming examinations will be completed at the meeting this evening, and the date for the examination announced, if possible. Members will be able to look over a specimen examination paper, which will give some idea of what previous examinations have been like. Admasion to social, ten cents, and it is hoped every young member of St. John's with their friends will be present.

HER BABY HAD ECZEMA

Mrs. F. Clark, Belmont, Man., writes:—"My baby had eczema on her ear. The sore was very bad and nothing seemed to help her. Hearing of some remarkable cures Dr. Chase's Ointment had made we began using it and with the third application the sore began to heal. The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

HAD MEDICAL AID.

To Editor of The Mail and Empire:

Sir,—A Port Hope despatch in your issue of this morning, concerning the death of little Lena Ennis, states that the mother of the child, who is a Christian Scientist, refused medical aid, also that the child was out sleigh riding on Saturday in a raging fever. Information just to hand from Port Hope absolutely denies both the above statements. A doctor was called in just as soon as the child was taken seriously ill, on Sunday morning, and his instructions were followed, and his medicine taken as prescribed. The child was not out sleigh riding on Saturday, as reported, but was in the house, up and around all day, and was not in a raging fever. The convulsions came on suddenly, as if often the case with children, and everything possible was done for the child. The doctor had previously been called in to attend a younger child on New Year's Day, and had called at various times since, and to give out the impression that there was an intentional negelect is most unjust. Christian Scientists are as strictly law abiding as any other class of persons, barring none, in reporting contagious cases and observing the laws of qunrantine, and they have no desire whatever to advocate or encourage carelessness, but they have a right to fair representation.

Yours, etc.,

C. R. MUNRO.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. PAUL'S S. S.

Held on Friday Evening Last—Reports Received.

The annual meeting of St. Pauls Sunday school was held Friday night, the superintendent, Mr. Madill, occupying the chair. After prayer the business of the evening was proceeded with.

The superintendent presented his annual report as follows:

In presenting the report for 1909 we have few changes to note, as the work of the school has been faithfully carried on. The teachers have been very regular in their attendance with the exception of the months of July and August. The total enrolment is 509 with an average attendance of 293 or 56 per cent. The record of the various departments is as follows:

	On roll	average
Intermediates	136	105
Adult Bible class	201	77
Young Bens' Bible class	25	10
Kindergarten	62	35
Primary	50	35
Teachers	29	26
Officers	6	48
Cradle roll	50

We regret the removal from our midst of one of our teachers, His Honour Judge Roger. He had been a faithful teacher for many years. Sheriff Hall who, seven years ago, was appointed superintendent of Mission Sabbath school, which is now Knox church, has again become a teacher at St. Paul's church. Forty-eight members of the school have united with the church. Our teachers are now better prepared for their work owing to the teachers' meeting conducted by the pastor, when many helpful suggestions are made for teaching of the lesson.

During the year prizes were offered for repeating the shorter catechism. One boy, Bruce Beavis, repeated the whole of it. Members under 12 years took only half of it, viz., Clare Mason, Hazel Davidson, and Wilma Nelson. Each of these received the General Assembly diploma for their work.

Our contributions to Missions during the year were substantially increased over last year as will be seen by our financial report.

Rev. Canon Davidson's Sermon on "The Marriage Relationship" Last Evening at St. John's Church Proved Very Interesting

PRACTICAL ADVICE

In the special course of sermons on "Spheres of Practical Religion," the subject last night at St. John's was "Marriage," following last week's address on Christian Courtship. The text was from the lesson of the day, "Therefore shall a man cleave unto his wife and they twain shall be one flesh., Gen. 1:24. Before the sermon the marriage hymn, "O Perfect Love" was sung. Appropriate prayers were also offered. Canon Davidson began by pointing out that marriage was God's own institution, and that the marriage ceremony was a solemnly religious act. There was a world of difference between this and a cold formal legal contract. Marriages should always take place in the church and the beautiful significance of a church wedding was pointed out, no expense or display or undue publicity being a necessary feature.

Enquiry was then made into the nature of love, as the foundation of marriage. It consisted of two distinct factors, a physical element connecting man with other creatures and an ennobling emotion connecting him with higher beings and the spirit world. The love which glorified marriage would be tender, pure, chivalrous and uplifting. The being "in love" need not be the passing gleam of courtship but a prelude to the deeper, stronger, sweeter love of married life. A wife or husband's affection has often to be won and retained as well as sweetheart's and is even more worth while. The speaker drew an attractive picture of the deep and mellowed love of married life, enriched by all its experiences born in common.

If this desirable state were to exist husband and wife must accept their distinct office and place in the home, divinely given and appropriate to nature of each. Quoting from the Bible, Rev. Mr. Davidson showed it was the husband's place to be "ahead" of the wife and the wife to submit herself to her husband. The ruling, however, was not to be despotic but Christian. While the submitting was not to be that of a slave but a gladly yielding acquiescence to the thoughtful will of one, to whom was given the headship and general guidance of the family. This submission of loyalty demeaned no one, but beautified the giver. Woman might be far more a queen in reality than her husband a king and exert much greater influence, but her rule would never be asserted as thus or allowed to be felt. Woman's triumph could only be won in woman's sphere, and the mannish woman must be as great a failure as the womanis man and an even more unbeautif distortion. Woman and man shou be complementary, not competin forces. A right understanding o these points contributed much to th effectiveness and happiness of hom life.

From the happiness of wifedom, th speaker went on to speak of even th greater glory of motherhood. As rule the home was not intended be childless and every patriot migh well bow with respect and admiratio before the mothers of large famili who were well worthy to be surroun ed by the love of their children, a ticipating their wants and suppor ing the weakening footsteps those who had so lovingly toiled f them. Such mothers should be r garded as public benefactors and the speaker's opinion, should ev receive recognition from the sta Children should never, however allowed to take the first place in eit er a husband's or wife's affection.

Rev. Canon Davidson went on deal with the increasing expense a difficulties in maintaining a hon and rearing a family. As a remed the simple life and abstinence fro luxury was urged. But men shou not to-day give way before the di culties incident to civilization a more than their fathers did who su cessfully built up homes in the fa of the hardships of the primitive lif "We should trust in a protecti Providence," he said, "and gird ou selves to bravely do our duty to o loved ones ,our homes, our cou try and our God."

Moved by Dr. McNulty and Edgar that the Secretary notify the physicians of the necessity of reporting all cases of infectious diseases that are not now reported.

THE PAINS OF THE AGED

Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prized by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigorate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches

Seed Judging Class Lead By T. G. Raynor, B.S.A., This Morning

The three day Short Course in stock and seed judging commenced this morning. The attendance for so early in the week and for the early hour at which the first session was called was most encouraging. Over 40 took adavantage of the instruction given in matters pertaining to seed grain. The leading farmers of the County were most in evidence. They not only came from nearby the city, but from Lakefield, Norwood, Westwood and Birdsall.

The session this morning was in charge of Mr. T. G. Raynor, B.S.A., of the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Of those in attendance that were interviewed, each characterized the session as being fine, interesting and profitable. The first part of the work was to analyze a grain of wheat, the different parts were shown and described by means of charts and from the wheat before those in attendance. A sample of feed wheat was then laid before each member of the class who picked out and detected the various weed seeds it contained. Among other things Mr. Raynor pointed out that Bladder Campion, seeds of which were found in this sample, is a common and most obnoxious weed in this locality. Oats were then dealt with, samples being examined thoroughly and judged by means of the score scard.

Another session in seed judging at which Prof. C. A. Zavitz, of the O. A. C., will be in charge, is called for 2.30 p.m. to-morrow. Citizens of Peterborough who are in any way interested in grains will find this session helpful and of much interest. All who wish to attend will be welcome.

The work this afternoon consisted of placing dairy cattle and a lecture on dairy cattle. The session to-morrow morning, opening at 9.30, will be devoted to Light Horses. Heavy horses will be taken up at 1.30 p.m., after which will follow the last session on seed grain. Every farmer in this county and every person in the city who is interested in live stock or in grain should take advantage of this rare opportunity to acquaint themselves with the types that are most desirable.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

An exclusive and wealthy woman's club in Chicago has a very nowel programme for this year.

It has pledged itself as a club and as individuals to expend its energies in the effort to make its daughters good housewives.

These daughters, most of whom are society girls, are to be taught to be capable and economical house wives, to cook simple, wholesome, appetizing meals, to make nice dishes from left-overs, and to know how to select good meat and the right kind of vegetables.

It is a splendid programme and one that it seems to me that all the women's clubs in the land might take up some year to good advantage.

And before they go back to their Browning and civic reform and milk inspection I have another suggestion for them.

Suppose, after they have provided themselves with housewively daughters, they attempt to provide themselves and the community with some well mannered sons.

I wish some one would kindly tell me just why it is that although a woman of any breeding at all never thinks of attending to her nails anywhere outside of her own home, men who come of good families and, supposedly, have been well brought up, will walk up and down their offices or sit in the train, calmly filing their nails.

Suppose, after they have taught their daughters to make nice dishes from left-overs, they teach their sons to use dental floss instead of a toothpick, and to use neither in public.

Suppose they attempt to turn loose in the world a few men who never fail to rise when a woman—especially an older woman — enters the room, and who even occasionally go so far as to remain standing until she is seated.

Suppose they try to supply a few young men who never fail to say good-night to their hostess' mother and father at the end of an evening call.

Suppose they bring up a few boys who instinctively take off their hats in an elevator where there are women.

And suppose, if they have time to go a bit deeper, they see what they can do toward breeding a race of men who never allow themselves to speak slightingly of women.

On the whole, I think the community will be quite as much benefitted by such a programme as if its women's clubs had spent the winter reading Browning or trying to help keep their city's streets clean.

Maybe you think I am laying too much stress on manners!

Maybe you say manners don't make the man.

No, granted they don't, but the lack of them certainly mars him.

A Decision In The Christy Divorce Case Expected To-day

Wife Says She Reformed Howard C., But Henceforth Will Have Nothing to Do With Him—Is Cautioned by One Firm to "Get Down" to Business.

DISPOSAL OF DAUGHTER

"The best proof of my innocence is that I came out here to Zanesville, and faced the music. If I had been guilty of half the charges they alleged against me I would have shunned such a hearing. No guilty woman could have borne such an ordeal.

"Since this thing has come up my faith in mankind, and womankind, for that matter, has been rudely shaken. True, I had begun to suspect that Mr. Christy was a coward at heart, but I didn't think he, or any one else for that matter, would enter into such a plot against any woman, much less his wife, the mother of his child.

"I alone am responsible for his reformation. No one but me had a hand in that. And God alone knows what I suffered while he was drinking, how I pleaded and begged him to give up his vicious inebriety and return to his former self.

"Speak to Howard Christy? Not me, never again under any consideration. I am through with him forever. I never have had the least inclination for a reconciliation.

"I remember one occasion, when I became exasperated at Mr. Christy's drinking, that I said to him: "I think it should be back to the farm for you. There's where you ought to go and live and die. New York's too big for you. He didn't dare to go on the witness stand and try to defame me himself, but he hired a negro and a couple of models to do it."

By order of the artist, $2,000 worth of diamonds and jewellery, which Christy brought from New York for stfe-keeping, were turned over to her to-day, following a conference of opposing counsel. When she boarded the train she was wearing a magnificent jewelled necklace, a gold heart with diamond settings, the latter the artist's birthday present to his wife five years ago, and several jewelled stickpins, all Christmas and other mementoes.

The decision as to the custody of the child will probably be delivered to-day. Artist Christy received a letter to-day from a publishing house with which he has a contract to "cut out this nonsense at Zanesville and settle down to work."

Has The Cost Of Living Been Increased In Recent Years?

INVOICE OF 45 YEARS AGO

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—The Dominion trade for December shows a record increase of over forty per cent. as compared with the preceding December, there being no less than an increase of 15,563,386 in the exports of domestic products and $8,598,262 in imports. The total trade for the month was $72,527,465, an increase of $21,250,534. Exports of domestic products totalled $38,066,,086, and imports totalled $30,774,900. Of the increase in exports about nine millions is credited to agriculture, reflecting the results of the record harvest of last year. In every line of exports increase is shown.

For the nine months of the fiscal year the total trade has been $512,288,506. Imports have totalled $267,041,935, an increase of $58,381,762. Exports of domestic products have totalled $221,116,813, an increase of $26,533,626. During the nine months agricultural exports have increased twenty-three millions and exports of the forest have increased by sevn millions.

Customs revenue for the month totalled $5,067,580, an increase of $1,207,234. For the nine months the customs revenue has been $44,086,056, an increase of $9,417,303.

Woman Implicated In Murder Of Husband Weds Woman-Hater

Examiner Special.

Berlin, Jan. 22.—The romantic marriage in London of the Baroness von Schonbeck, the heroine of the famous Allenstein garrison murder on Christmas Eve, 1907, and A. O. Weber, the foremost satirical artist of Berlin, has created a great sensation here.

Major von Schonbeck, an artillery officer, was murdered in cold blood in the garrison on the date mentioned by Capt. von Goeben, another army officer, who was the lover of Frau von Schonbeck. Capt. von Goeben was arrested immediately after the crime. At first he stoutly maintained his innocence, but later on broke down and made a complete confession in which he incriminated the Baroness.

He declared that the woman urged him to kill her husband. She was then arrested and charged with complicity in the crime. An hour after he made his confession Capt. von Goeben blew his brains out. Proceedings were at once instituted against Frau von Schonbeck. Her counsel set up the plea that she was mentally irresponsible and she was sent to a private sanitarium.

It was said at the time that the Government was not particularly anxious to have the woman brought to trial because of the possible scandals that might ensue. She was kept in the retreat for a year or so and then released.

Mr. Weber was formerly married to a Philadelphia woman who is now a resident in Berlin. He was divorced from her, re-married her and was again divorced. Since the last divorce Weber, who associates a good deal with the American colony here, has been always regarded as a woman hater. One of his last biting satires was entitled, "Above all things, don't marry."

Although Frau von Schonbeck was allowed her liberty the charge of being an accomplice in the murder of her husband at Allenstein is still pending against her.

WOMEN'S WOES

Peterborough Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. John Wallace, of 323 Water St., Peterborough, Ont., says: "I have suffered with many painful and annoying symptoms of kidney trouble for over two years and could find nothing that would benefit my condition. My back was weak and a dull, heavy pain settled across the small of it, extending into my sides and shoulders. I could not sleep at night as the kidney secretions were so frequent and irregular that I would have to leave my bed a number of times. I was dizzy and would usually awake with a dull headache. Booth's Kidney Pills procured at Wm. Madill's Drug Store, cured me when all else failed. I am stronger and feel better generally. I can conscientiously recommend Booth's Kidney Pills and I would not be without a box in the house."

AMBULANCE SOCIAL AT ST. JOHN'S

—This evening the Young People's Society of St. John's will hold a novel social in the form of an Ambulance Social. A specially interesting and instructve programme has been prepared and a large attendance should turn out. Refreshments will be served at the close of the programme. All members of the Ladies' Ambulance Class are asked especially to be present. Registration for the coming examinations will be completed at the meeting this evening, and the date for the examination announced, if possible. Members will be able to look over a specimen examination paper, which will give some idea of what previous examinations have been like. Admssion to social, ten cents, and it is hoped every young member of St. John's with their friends will be present.

The cure was thorough and complete and we give all credit to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

HAD MEDICAL AID.

To Editor of The Mail and Empire:

Sir,—A Port Hope despatch in your issue of this morning, concerning the death of little Lena Ennis, states that the mother of the child, who is a Christian Scientist, refused medical aid, also that the child was out sleigh riding on Saturday in a raging fever. Information just to hand from Port Hope absolutely denies both the above statements. A doctor was called in just as soon as the child was taken seriously ill, on Sunday morning, and his instructions were followed, and his medicine taken as prescribed. The child was not out sleigh riding on Saturday, as reported, but was in the house, up and around all day, and was not in a raging fever. The convulsions came on suddenly, as if often the case with children, and everything possible was done for the child. The doctor had previously been called in to attend a younger child on New Year's Day, and had called at various times since, and to give out the impression that there was an intentional negelect is most unjust. Christian Scientists are as strictly law abiding as any other class of persons, barring none, in reporting contagious cases and observing the laws of quarantine, and they have no desire whatever to advocate or encourage carelessness, but they have a right to fair representation.

Yours, etc.,
C. R. MUNRO.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. PAUL'S S. S.

Held on Friday Evening Last—Reports Received.

The annual meeting of St. Pauls Sunday school was held Friday night, the superintendent, Mr. Madill, occupying the chair. After prayer the business of the evening was proceeded with.

The superintendent presented his annual report as follows:

In presenting the report for 1909 we have few changes to note, as the work of the school has been faithfully carried on. The teachers have been very regular in their attendance with the exception of the months of July and August. The total enrolment is 509 with an average attendance of 293 or 56 per cent. The record of the various departments is as follows:

	On roll	average
Intermediates	136	105
Adult Bible class	201	77
Young Bens' Bible class	25	10
Kindergarten	62	35
Primary	50	35
Teachers	29	26
Officers	6	48
Cradle roll	50

We regret the removal from our midst of one of our teachers, His Honour Judge Roger. He had been a faithful teacher for many years. Sheriff Hall who, seven years ago, was appointed superintendent of Mission Sabbath school, which is now Knox church, has again become a teacher at St. Paul's church. Forty-eight members of the school have united with the church. Our teachers are now better prepared for their work owing to the teachers' meeting conducted by the pastor, when many helpful suggestions are made for teaching of the lesson.

During the year prizes were offered for repeating the shorter catechism. One boy, Bruce Beavis, repeated the whole of it. Members under 12 years took only half of it, viz., Clare Mason, Hazel Davidson, and Wilma Nelson. Each of these received the General Assembly diploma for their work.

Rev. Canon Davidson's Sermon on "The Marriage Relationship" Last Evening at St. John's Church Proved Very Interesting

PRACTICAL ADVICE

In the special course of sermons on "Spheres of Practical Religion," the subject last night at St. John's was "Marriage," following last week's address on Christian Courtship. The text was from the lesson of the day, "Therefore shall a man cleave unto his wife and they twain shall be one flesh., Gen. 1:24. Before the sermon the marriage hymn, "O Perfect Love" was sung. Appropriate prayers were also offered. Canon Davidson began by pointing out that marriage was God's own institution, and that the marriage ceremony was a solemnly religious act. There was a world of difference between this and a cold formal legal contract. Marriages should always take place in the church and the beautiful significance of a church wedding was pointed out, no expense or display or undue publicity being a necessary feature.

Enquiry was then made into the nature of love, as the foundation of marriage. It consisted of two distinct factors, a physical element connecting man with other creatures and an ennobling emotion connecting him with higher beings and the spirit world. The love which glorified marriage would be tender, pure, chivalrous and uplifting. The being "in love" need not be the passing gleam of courtship but a prelude to the deeper, stronger, sweeter love of married life. A wife or husband's effection has often to be won and retained as well as sweetheart's and is even more worth while. The speaker drew an attractive picture of the deep and mellowed love of married life, enriched by all its experiences born in common.

If this desirable state were to exist husband and wife must accept their distinct office and place in the home, divinely given and appropriate to nature of each. Quoting from the Bible, Rev. Mr. Davidson showed it was the husband's place to be "ahead" of the wife and the wife to submit herself to her husband. The ruling, however, was not to be despotic but Christian. While the submitting was not to be that of a slave but a gladly yielding acquiescence to the thoughtful will of one, to whom was given the headship and general guidance of the family. This submission of loyalty demeaned no one, but beautified the giver. Woman might be far more a queen in reality than her husband a king and exert much greater influence, but her rule would never be asserted as thus or allowed to be felt. Woman's triumph could only be won in woman's sphere, and the mannish woman must be as great a failure as the womanish man and an even more unbeautiful distortion. Woman and man should be complementary, not competing forces. A right understanding of these points contributed much to the effectiveness and happiness of home life.

From the happiness of wifedom, the speaker went on to speak of even the greater glory of motherhood. As a rule the home was not intended to be childless and every patriot might well bow with respect and admiration before the mothers of large families who were well worthy to be surrounded by the love of their children, anticipating their wants and supporting the weakening footsteps of those who had so lovingly toiled for them. Such mothers should be regarded as public benefactors and in the speaker's opinion, should ever receive recognition from the state. Children should never, however be allowed to take the first place in either a husband's or wife's affection.

Rev. Canon Davidson went on to deal with the increasing expense and difficulties in maintaining a home and rearing a family. As a remedy the simple life and abstinence from luxury was urged. But men should not to-day give way before the difficulties incident to civilization and more than their fathers did who successfully built up homes in the face of the hardships of the primitive life. "We should trust in a protecting Providence," he said, "and gird ourselves to bravely do our duty to our loved ones ,our homes, our country and our God."

No Action Taken By Board Of Health With Dr. Young's Account

The first meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning. There were present Mayor Morrow. Messrs. Murty, Edgar, and Dr. Young and Dr. McNulty.

Moved by Mr. Edgar and Dr. Young that Dr. Burnham be re-appointed chairman.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Edgar and Dr. McNulty, the Mayor was appointed chairman pro tem.

Dr. Burnham was unable to be present owing to injuries received in a runaway accident a few days ago. He is rapidly recovering and will be out again in a short time. The may be called the annual meeting, and Dr. McPherson, who was present, submitted his annual report, which will be found on page seven.

Moved by Dr. McNulty and Dr. Young that the Mitchell grocery account of $19.46 be paid. Dr. Young then retired.

A letter was read from the City Clerk, giving an extract from a report of the Finance Committee, adopted by the Council, returning an account from Dr. Young for $400.00, and stating that Dr. Young was not engaged by the Council.

Moved by Messrs. Edgar and Murty that no action be taken on account.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. McNulty and Mr. Murty that the Higgins Hardware account be paid when certified.

Dr. McPherson, M. H. O., read his annual report. Moved by Dr. McNulty and Mr. Edgar, that it be received and sent to Provincial Board of Health.

Moved by Dr. McNulty and Edgar that the Secretary notify the physicians of the necessity of reporting all cases of infectious diseases that are not now reported.

THE PAINS OF THE AGED

Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prized by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigora te the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches.

Seed Judging Class Lead By T. G. Raynor, B.S.A., This Morning

The three day Short Course in stock and seed judging commenced this morning. The attendance for so early in the week and for the early hour at which the first session was called was most encouraging. Over 40 took adavantage of the instruction given in matters pertaining to seed grain. The leading farmers of the County were most in evidence. They not only came from nearby the city, but from Lakefield, Norwood, Westwood and Birdsall.

The session this morning was in charge of Mr. T. G. Raynor, B.S.A., of the Seed Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Of those in attendance that were interviewed, each characterized the session as being fine, interesting and profitable. The first part of the work was to analyze a grain of wheat, the different parts were shown and described by means of charts and from the wheat before those in attendance. A sample of feed wheat was then laid before each member of the class who picked out and detected the various weed seeds it contained. Among other things Mr. Raynor pointed out that Bladder Campion, seeds of which were found in this sample, is a common and most obnoxious weed in this locality. Oats were then dealt with, samples being examined thoroughly and judged by means of the score scard.

Another session in seed judging at which Prof. C. A. Zavitz, of the O. A. C., will be in charge, is called for 2.30 p.m., to-morrow. Citizens of Peterborough who are in any way interested in grains will find this session helpful and of much interest. All who wish to attend will be welcome.

The work this afternoon consisted of placing dairy cattle and a lecture on dairy cattle. The session to-morrow morning, opening at 9.30, will be devoted to Light Horses. Heavy horses will be taken up at 1.30 p.m., after which will follow the last session on seed grain. Every farmer in this county and every person in the city who is interested in live stock or in grain should take advantage of this rare opportunity to acquaint themselves with the types that are most desirable.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. R. ORMOND.

Intelligence was received here by telegram on Saturday evening of the death at Victoria, British Columbia, of a former well known, highly esteemed and much beloved resident of Peterborough, Mrs. J. R. Ormond. Although no details are to hand it is probable the last illness which caused Mrs. Ormond's death at six o'clock on Saturday morning was of very short duration. The deceased lady whose maiden name was Elizabeth Struchan Blair, was a native of Scotland, born at "Blair Athol," Edinburgh. In early womanhood, she came to Canada and upon her arrival at Quebec was united in marriage in Quebec city to Mr. J. R. Ormond, he being in business in Montreal and subsequently removing to Peterborough, where they lived for many years, Mr. Ormond conducting a jewelry business. At the time of the Winnipeg boom about twenty-five years ago the family removed to Winnipeg. After a residence of about eighteen years, on account of the rigour of the climate, Mr. Ormond retiring from business, removed to Victoria, B. C., where they have since resided. Mrs. Ormond made a visit to her daughter in Peterborough in the fall of 1908 and was bright and active up to a few days ago, never having lost her love for youthful pleasure or the activities of younger days. Mrs. Ormond is survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. Thomas Mennies, of King Fisher, Oklahoma, U.S., and two nieces in Peterborough, Mrs. R. S. Davidson and Mrs. K. G. Lech. To Mr. and Mrs. Ormond were born three sons and five daughters; one son, James B. and one daughter, Dolly, are deceased. The surviving sons are Mr. A. E. Ormond and Mr. O. B. Ormond, of Victoria. The daughters living are Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Peterborough; Mrs. J. T. McDonald, Victoria, B. C.; Mrs. A. F. Gooding, Kenora; and Miss Ormond, Victoria. In religion Mrs. Ormond was a Presbyterian and while a resident of Peterborough, was a member of the congregation of St. Andrew's church. Her religion was not nominal, for, engrafted upon a naturally kindly nature and charitable disposition it found expression in countless deeds of kindness, that made her memory blest. She will be deeply mourned, not only by the large family she leaves behind, but by many others who will cherish the memory of her amiability of nature, beauty of character and nobleness of life. The funeral takes place at Victoria this Monday afternoon, at three o'clock.

LETTERS ON LICENSE REDUCTION

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Permit me to call attention to some absurd misstatements regarding license reduction, made by Mr. W. H. Moore in Saturday's press.

We do not accuse Mr. Moore of willful misrepresentation, but it is regrettable that a citizen of his standing is not better informed on a public question of this nature.

His first paragraph deals with a list of second-hand bar-room echoes, which he rightly says would be idle to discuss. Then why name them?

Mr. Moore claims that cutting off half the licenses will not lessen the appetite nor diminish treating.

The advocates of license reduction (the citizens of Peterborough as represented by over two thousand ratepayers, and not a few lobbyists, as some would like to infer) do not claim that reduction will lessen these evils per bar-room.

What we do claim is, that eight barrooms will not do as much harm as eighteen, ten men will yield to the temptation when passing a bar-room where one will go round a block to find one.

If "plague spots" are to be a compulsory evil inflicted on the majority, then the fewer the better. It stands to reason that eight will produce less pestilence than eighteen.

Mr. Ackerman testifies to a great improvement after the license was cut off in the vicinity of his factory. If Mr. Moore's argument was correct, they ought to have licensed two bars to produce this good result, as he states that reduction will "redouble the evil," and this is the man that talks about "reasoning backward."

Mr. Moore states that these eighteen or twenty bar-rooms are like a delta in a river. It is universally admitted that the bar-rooms are tributaries to this great stream of evil where the beginners start on the downward voyage. If you want to see the delta go to the deposits, the black list, the almshouse, the asylum, the prison, the sediment of wrecked character, and ruined homes, the finished article of the only business that is ashamed of its product.

We claim that the fewer the tributaries the smaller the stream and it is not "reasoning backward."

A Libel on The Farmer.

When Mr. Moore states that the farmers "to a great extent" come here because of hotel accommodation, he casts an insult on the farmer.

The farmer comes here for business reasons, regardless of hotel accommodation. Hundreds come in by train and boat; there is no class of men so eager for the overthrow of the liquor traffic as the farmer, and over one hundred teams were offered here for polling day—not a dozen as stated.

The farmer comes here because of better markets, better prices, greater variety of goods, etc., and if the hotel keeper is feeding the farmer's horse at less than a profit, he will still come when the price is right, and pay his way the same as any other gentleman. He has no desire to profit by licensing pitfalls for his city brother.

But then the whole thing is merely a horse-shed argument. Experience proves that in barless towns the farmer's wants are better supplied than ever.

As a last resort Mr. Moore appeals to the old revenue argument, if we must have the blood tax, the Council can submit a by-law to have the license fee increased to one thousand dollars or more.

If, as he states "the amount consumed will be much the same," the additional fee will not be a hardship on the remainder.

When cities like Toronto can get along with one bar to about three thousand, London, one bar to nearly eighteen hundred, Ottawa, one bar to fifteen hundred, Peterborough's present rate of one to nine hundred, is much beyond the limit of necessity so called.

It would be well for the Council to note if Mr. Moore is speaking from the standpoint of public welfare, or if as agent for one of the hotel properties, his remarks are merely a professional intercession for his clients.

Yours truly,
A. B. CUNNINGHAM.

Editor Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In your issue of Saturday, 22nd inst., there appeared a letter signed "George Leader," in which the writer seems very much agitated over what he thinks another has done. He says, I in my letter signed "Another Consistency," undertook to tell the "Moral Reformers" what they should do.

If Mr. Leader will open his eyes and read my letter he will see that I didn't refer ance to the "Reform League." I know better than to do so. I was well aware that many of the party could be classed with those whom Jesus addressed when He said, "Eyes have ye but ye see not; ears and hear not."

I do not know Mr. Leader. He may belong to the class spoken of by Consistency, "the fussy church members." One who has "not crossed the ocean to be laughed at," one of the goody goody people who wants to dictate to and reform everybody but himself. You must not intimate that there are any weak spots in me that need strengthening. "I am IT."

The class I addressed was the preacher of the Gospel: I chose this class because I could apply the same rod to myself. I am never afraid to take my own medicine. While I am not a member of the Ministerial Association, I am glad to say I have a small part in the preaching of the Gospel. Daily declaring the good news of a living, practical ever present Christ, "who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases," Ps. 103. 3. Any insinuation I made of weakness I apply to myself as well as others.

I am convinced a battle has been fought by professing Christians and met defeat at the hands of the enemy who seemed very quiet. This being the case, I believe as honest Christians we should ask ourselves, why the defeat. It was claimed to be God's cause; that he was on the side of Local Option. Isaiah says, "Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither His ear heavy that He cannot hear." 59. 1. We represent Israel of old and should profit by their experience. When they suffered defeat at Ai they found it was due to sin in their own ranks and they set to work to root it out. Where they got rid of the sin, or they had no trouble taking Ai. In my few harried remarks I had no intention of hurting anyone but hoped to reflect a ray of truth that might aid us all to do better in future.

I believed I was addressing those of the true Christian stamp who had demonstrated enough of the spirit of their Lord and Master to listen to a rebuke—if you would call it such—those who are listening to the still small voice calling them to higher planes of thought and spiritual power. I am satisfied there are many who will take what I said in kindness. They are aware that the world will never be saved by self-righteousness.

We are all in sympathy with the drunkard and his family; pity from our heart of hearts them, and the hotel keeper as well; well, we know, it is the wrong doer who needs our sympathy. "As a man soweth so shall he reap."—Jesus. There are two classes who are despised by everybody, a liar and the smooth tongued hypocrite. And, sir, I have just about as little respect for a man who would dare in the the name of Moral Reform to attempt to intimidate such men as our worthy mayor and the body of men he has around the council board by threats of what will be done to them in a year's time, if they do not sacrifice their judgment to satisfy the craving of Mr. Leader and others.

I say, let our officials have freedom to act as men. I believe the Great Architect of the universe governs the consciousnesses of men and I am willing to leave it with Him to dictate to our public officers whether it be the council or board of commissioners.

Rev. Mr. Potter seemed very much shocked over the little expression of Mr. Poussette at the last council meeting relating to stampeding. I wonder if he lived through this threat of his colleague Moral Reformer.

I may be very dull of comprehension, but if it is not a stampede of the worst type, then I don't know what it is, I can find no name for it in the English language.

The English poet said, "Where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Solomon says, Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou be like unto him. Prov. 26:5. Again he says, "Give instruction to a wise man, and he will be yet wiser: teach a just man and will increase in learning." Ibid. 9:9.

Jesus said, "Cast not pearls before swine, lest they turn and rend you."

I am through with this subject.

Thanking you, sincerely yours,
ANOTHER CONSISTENCY.

BIG ATTENDANCE OF FARMERS TO-DAY

At Meeting in Connection With Short Course.

Fully two hundred farmers turned out to the Dairy Cattle session of the short course this afternoon. Three fine cows from the herd of Mr. J. K. Moore & Son, Central Smith, were used as subjects for the class.

The quarters provided in Fitzgerald's carriage shop, corner of Water and Brock streets, are admirably suited for the purpose, and can accommodate still larger crowds, which are sure to be in evidence at the sessions to-morrow, when Light Horses will be judged.

The interest being taken in this short course exceeds the most sanguine expectations of those in charge of the work, and shows that the farmers of Peterborough County are much alive to their opportunities.

To-morrow Night

CONCERT

Don't fail to hear the Concert in St. Andrew's Lecture Hall to-morrow evening when the best available talent in the person of Mr. Donald L. Mcgregor, Baritone, and Miss Blanche Walter, Elocutionist will present a most enjoyable programme The Ladies' Aid Society would appreciate a large attendance.

The morning was very pleasant, but so far all the mornings had been pleasant at this delightful out of the way resort. Mrs. Bradford drew a long breath as she descended the hotel steps. Her physician had certainly been right when he recommended a change of climate. Already she began to feel the influence of the mild air and the long days spent out of doors. As she reached the sidewalk she paused with a questioning smile.

"Where to, Mildred?" she asked.

The little girl who was skipping along by her side looked up brightly.

"The plaza, of course, mamma. You can read, and I will play. This afternoon we'll go down on the beach."

The street was very quiet—an occasional dray with its load of trunks and baggage and here and there a group of pleasure seekers on their way to the plaza or the beach; overhead a few buzzards circled about, and from the direction of the plaza came a slight breeze which was laden with perfume of orange blossoms and the saltiness of the bay which glistened beyond the trees.

As they reached the corner a keen newsboy darted across the street, and his shrewd face broadened into a grin when his customer smilingly refused the change he offered.

Through the openings in the trees they could see the white sails of pleasure boats on the bay and beyond these the green shore of Promontory point. Near the extreme end of the point rose the tall white buildings of the state penitentiary. Mrs. Bradford shivered a little as she saw them. The grim buildings seemed out of place in this quiet winter resort.

It was not far to the plaza, but when they reached it they found that most of the settees were already occupied. They walked down one of the side paths and came back by the fountain. As they did so Mildred turned suddenly.

"There's a seat that's most all empty," she whispered eagerly.

It was a little off the path and half hidden by the low branches of a live oak. As they approached Mrs. Bradford noticed that its only occupant was a tall young man whose face looked strangely white and eager. He watched them curiously as they sat down, and his lips parted in a friendly smile. Then, as though conscious of impropriety, he got up and began to walk back and forth uneasily. For a time Mrs. Bradford scarcely noticed him, then something peculiar about his step caused her to raise her eyes from the book she was reading. The young man seemed to have forgotten their presence and was walking back and forth with bowed head. Every few seconds he wheeled sharply and retraced his steps.

Mrs. Bradford noticed with curious wonder that he always wheeled at exactly the same points. Then she saw that his left foot dragged behind the other as though it carried a heavy weight. At first she thought he was lame, but even while she was compassionating him he raised his head with a quick, startled movement, and for a time the lameness disappeared and the walk was extended to the end of the path.

Then his head once more sank upon his breast, the short turns were resumed, and the left foot again began its weary, dragging motion. Apparently he was conscious of his weakness, for several times she saw him recover himself impatiently and glance sharply around.

Overhead the mocking birds were calling to each other, and something in their notes seemed to arouse him from his reverie. Presently he stopped beneath the tree and glanced up with a rapt expression on his face. Mrs. Bradford saw it, and her eyes softened.

"You like the birds?" she said pleasantly.

"I—used to," he replied hesitatingly. Then, noticing the surprise in her face, he added apologetically: "I haven't seen any before for most ten years. They seem sort of strange." He stood still for a moment with the color deepening on his sallow cheeks; then he slouched forward and threw himself on the grass at the foot of the tree. Mrs. Bradford gazed at him curiously for a moment and then returned to her book.

Out in the path Mildred was playing with her ball. At length it struck a limb and bounded toward the young man. He picked it up eagerly and half rose to his feet; but, seeing the frightened look on her face, he tossed it back and resumed his slouching position on the grass.

After awhile the ball again rolled to his feet. This time he did not offer to return it. As Mildred approached he looked up, with a smile.

"The cover's coming off your ball," he said pleasantly. "If you'll let me I'll fix it. I know how."

"But mamma said I'd have to take it to a shoemaker," she answered doubtfully. "Leather's awful hard to sew."

"Not if you have things to work with," he said quietly. "See here." Taking a small package from his pocket, he opened it and showed her several curious needles and some coarse, shining thread.

"They gave them to me when I left the—the place where I learned my trade," he said in a low voice. "I don't suppose I shall ever use them. My folks will not let me do that. But I shall always keep them near me. Some time I may need advice, and this little package will be able to tell me a great many things—a great many sad things which you will never understand, little one," he added gently.

Mildred gazed at him wonderingly, but as she saw the skilled fingers draw the leather over the ball and fasten it securely in place her look of wonder changed to one of pleasure.

"I'm ever so much obliged," she said gratefully. "I'd hate awfully to lose the ball. Grandpa gave it to me." She watched him a few moments in silence, then added with a sudden burst of confidence, "Grandpa lives at our house, and we're going home soon as it gets warm."

The young man sewed on for a few moments in silence. At last the ball was finished, and he carefully replaced the needle in his pocket.

"I'm going home, too," he said gravely as he handed her the ball. "I'm waiting for the train now."

"And have you got a mamma?" she asked, with sudden interest.

"Yes, and she has been waiting for me a long, long time. Poor little mother!" the last too low for her to hear. As the little girl was moving away he called her with a sudden gesture.

"I wish you would take this," he said earnestly as he gave her a tiny box of exquisite workmanship. "I made it from a piece of ivory which was found on a battlefield and intended to give it to my sister. You make me think of her."

"But won't she want it?" Mildred objected.

"She is dead," was the grave answer.

The little girl's face grew sympathetic.

"I'm sorry," she said gently, "and I'd like to have the box ever so much. But I must ask mamma."

Mildred ran off to her mother. The young man occasionally looked that way and saw that the child was telling her mother about him. He knew that the mother was regarding him with suspicion. For some time a dialogue that he could not hear was going on between mother and child. Mildred was evidently arguing for her new friend, and her mother was quietly opposing her. But the mother stood firm, and at last the child returned with a disappointed air.

"Mamma says I mustn't take gifts from strangers," she said regretfully, "but I'm ever so much obliged, just the same."

The sun spots moved slowly across the grass and disappeared one by one in the thicker shadows of the trees. The young man watched them listlessly. At length a clock began to strike in the distance, and he counted the strokes carefully. When it ceased he once more got up and began to walk back and forth. But now his head was erect and his left foot had lost its dragging motion and on his face was a tender, expectant smile.

Mildred had grown tired of her ball and was watching the water as it fell splashing into the broad basin of the fountain. As the young man approached she looked up timidly.

"Are you going now?" she asked.

"Not for another half hour," he replied. "I would rather wait here than down at the depot." For some moments he stood gazing at her. Evidently her face brought up some memory of the past, for he sighed as he turned away.

A little later Mrs. Bradford was aroused by excited voices. Several figures rushed past her. For a moment she gazed around wonderingly; then she rose and followed. Near the fountain was a group of excited people. In the open space beyond she recognized Mildred playing with her ball. What was the matter?

A RIGID EXAMINATION INTO C.P.R. ACCIDENT IS DEMANDED

Attorney-General Foy Declares That First Hasty Investigation is Void Because Coroner is C. P. R. Official---Bodies are Being Recovered---Some May Never be Found---Seven Still Unidentified.

Sudbury, Jan. 25.—Another day has passed without bringing comfort to many anxious ones who are sad spectators of the work of the rescue of the bodies of wreck victims at Spanish River. The fact that the bodies brought to the surface yesterday are those of persons not previously reported as missing proves that the official list of the dead and injured is unreliable, and undoubtedly is far short of the actual number.

Bodies recovered from the river yesterday were:

Miss Agnes Milroy, 23 years old, Cache Bay, Ont.

Little girl, about a year old, dressed in black, light hair, apparently a Scandinavian.

Several bodies were raised late on Sunday night and brought to Sudbury early yesterday, among them being:

Miss Lorna Therien, Nairn, Ont.

Mrs. Henrietta Newman, Inverhorn, Ont.

Man said to be H. C. Williams, the Soo, and another said to be W. Ryan, address unknown.

The known death list is now 39.

Acting upon instructions from Attorney-General Foy, Crown Attorney Clary yesterday arranged for an inquest, which Coroner Howie will open to-day. Coroner Howie had previously expressed the opinion that no inquest was necessary, and had said he would not hold one unless information was laid before him.

An inquest on the five bodies which were taken to Webbwood from the wreck was held there by Dr. Jones Sunday. It is said that Dr. Jones is a C.P.R. doctor and not qualified to hold the investigation, and therefore the crown attorney will disregard the Webbwood inquest entirely and go thoroughly into the matter.

Coroner Jones' jury returned a verdict simply that the five men had "come to their death at about one o'clock on Friday, the 21st inst., by a railway accident at the Spanish River bridge, the cause being unknown to the jury."

It is understood the Railway Commission will hold an investigation as well.

The following message was received yesterday by Mayor O'Connor "To the Mayor of Sudbury, Ont.: As desired by the Governor-General to request you to convey Their Excellencies' sincere sympathy to those injured by the accident on C.P.R. They hope all are doing well. Arthur H. Slade, private secretary."

General Superintendent Gutelius and Local Superintendent Spencer are still directing relief work, and the repairing of the track and bridge. To a reporter Mr. Spencer said that the company would dynamite the ice and about the scene before giving up the search for bodies.

It is believed that the concussion may aid in bringing them to the surface or, if they are lodged against the ice, will reveal them to the divers who will be kept on the job to-day and will be directed to explore the river for some distance down stream.

Piles are being driven to support the eastern end of the bridge, which one girder, which was broken, is being placed. Passengers and baggage are still being transferred. All trains lose over an hour in making transfers.

Evidences are increasing to support the theory that some bodies have been washed away by the current. Two C.P.R. divers took turns and explored the bottom of the river yesterday, going down in three places, but succeeded in bringing up but one body. The others were brought up by pike poles.

The bottom was said to be smooth and gravelly, and the water fairly clear, making it possible to see for some distance.

THE COUNCIL RECOMMENDS A LICENSE REDUCTION OF FIVE

Shop Licenses Will Remain Four—Moral Reform League Asked for Ten to be "Cut Off"—Five Will Have To Go.

HOW THE VOTING STOOD

The committee of the whole Council recommend that the tavern licenses be reduced to thirteen, and that the liquor shop licenses remain as they are, that is, four. This was decided upon at the meeting of the committee of the whole Council last evening, at which all the members were present after several motions and amendments had been made and lost. To reduce the present number to thirteen, the vote stood, six for and six against, and his Worship was obliged to decide, his decision being in favour of a reduction of five. There are at present eighteen licensed hotels in the city.

Tavern Licenses.

The question of license reduction was the first to be considered at last night's meeting and the taverns and shops were taken up separately.

Rev. J. G. Potter's letter, and also one from Mr. H. P. Kennedy, setting forth reasons why the number should be decreased, were read by City Clerk Armstrong. Mr. A. B. Cunningham also wrote, stating on behalf of the Moral Reform League, that in regard to there not being sufficient accommodation for farmers' horses, in the event of some hotels being cut off, the George Street, Charlotte Street, and St. Andrew's churches were prepared to offer their sheds for the benefit of the farmers, and that in due time the League would erect and control sheds of their own.

Ald. Morgan commenced the discussion by stating that he was of the same opinion as he was at the meeting of the Council last week. He gave several reasons why the tavern licenses should be reduced to eight. It was the universal opinion that there were too many hotels here for the population. The vote on the Local Option by-law showed a large majority in favour of it. Mr. Ackerman pointed out that better industrial conditions existed where there were fewer hotels. It was better socially and financially, the difficulty could be met by doubling the fee of the existing hotels.

Ald. Morgan, therefore, moved that the tavern licenses be reduced to eight. Ald. Turner seconded the motion.

Ald. Bradburn thought that such a step was going too far. In the first place reduction would not decrease the drinking. It would merely concentrate it. He moved, in amendment, that the licenses be reduced to fifteen. This was seconded by Ald. Graham.

Ald. Batten though that the motion and the amendment were the extremes. He favoured a middle course. He believed that both sides would be satisfied with a reduction to twelve, and he moved an amendment to the amendment.

Ald. Duffus was a seconder to Ald. Batten. He thought in the best interests of the farmers that twelve would be most satisfactory. He could see no use of the bar and if such reliable men as Mr. Ackerman and Mr. Cressman would agree to provide ample accommodation for the farmers he was willing for a greater reduction. Eventually, he believed, the bars would be done away with and he favoured reducing them gradually.

Ald. Metheral suggested that the Council recommend a substantial decrease to the Commissioners, and to allow them to decide the number.

Ald. Hicks agreed with Ald. Batten that much of the incidental drinking would be done away with, but he did not believe in the Council going too far by putting the business into a few hands. He favoured reducing them to thirteen.

Ald. Phelan held to Ald. Bradburn's amendment.

Ald. Buller moved, in amendment to the second amendment, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the licenses be reduced to fourteen.

Ald. Bradburn then withdrew his motion.

The amendment to the second amendent was voted on first. It was lost. Ald. Batten's amendment was then voted on, and it was lost, six to six, and the Mayor casting against it. The motion was then put and lost.

The matter was then again voted. Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus, that the tavern licenses be reduced to thirteen.

Ald. Bradburn moved, in amendment, seconded by Ald. Buller, that the licenses be reduced to fourteen. The amendment was lost and the motion stood six for and six against. Those favouring it were Ald. Hicks, Duffus, Morgan, Turner, Gillespie and Batten, and those against were Ald. Bradburn, Buller, Metheral, Duncan, Phelan and Graham.

His Worship voted for the thirteen and the motion carried.

In regard to the shop licenses, Ald. Morgan moved that they be reduced to two. He was seconded by Ald. Turner. Ald. Hicks, in amendment moved, seconded by Ald. Metheral, that they remain at four. The amendment carried.

KILLED BY COMPANION

Special Wire to the Examiner.

Cobourg, Jan. 25.—A most brutal murder took place this morning about ten o'clock near the village of Grafton, seven miles east of Cobourg. It occurred at the camp of a gang of Italians, working on the construction of the Canadian Northern Railway. From details received it appears Geo. Meronto, who was on the inside of the house used by the Italians, fired with a Winchester rifle, instantly killing Frank Marino and seriously injuring two others of his countrymen. Meronto escaped after the shooting and so far has eluded his pursuers. Crown Attorney Kerr and Chief Ruse, of Cobourg, have left for the scene of the murder.

HELPING THE FARMER.

Farmers have a very deep interest if they would only realize the fact, in the efforts made to help them in their calling. One of these aids is brought to their very doors by the holding as in Peterboro', of a short course in stock and seed judging. Good herds cannot be got without good stock, nor good crops grown without good seed. Therefore, ability to detect and appraise the good points as well as the bad points of stock or seed is good, practical, paying knowledge. These short courses, which are held under the Department of Agriculture, and while they do not give a very great deal of information—though a good deal for the time — give the farmers a grip of the underlying principles and develop a thirst for knowledge which can be gratified by further study and research. Dairy cattle are placed before farmers, made the subject of a lecture by a skilled stockman, their points indicated and explained. This enterprise is something which farmers should appreciate. They will have laid before them the results that have cost thousands of dollars to ascertain and which they never could have arrived at themselves by the most diligent research.

THE FIREMEN'S SALARIES.

A matter that the Council will have to deal with shortly and that seems to be of considerable importance, is the re-adjustment in the wages of the men of the fire brigade. An application has been made to the Council for an increase, and the matter should be carefully considered. If, as is stated, the efficiency of the department is being seriously interfered with because the wages paid are not high enough to hold good men for any length of time, then it is imperative that the Council should at once grant a proper increase. Fire Chief Howard states emphatically that it is impossible to keep good men in the department any longer than such times as they can secure more lucrative employment elsewhere. The hours are long and irksome, and when these drawbacks are added to a low wage it can scarcely be wondered at that the men prefer employment that is less dangerous and more profitable. The Fire Chief points out that he just completes the education of his men and brings them to a point where they are of use to the community, when they leave to accept higher wages in some other line of employment. The wages paid are less than $10.00, and as the hours include practically every minute of the day, it would seem not enough, and if the Council wishes to have a brigade that is efficient in every detail, and not to be handicapped by a department in which new men are constantly coming in they must take action at once and place the scale on a proper basis.

LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE.

An interesting statement of the work of the Lord's Day Alliance during the past thirteen months is contained in their annual report for the period ending November, 1909. The report covers the operations of the Alliance in a field extending to the Yukon Territory and the Province of Ungava.

After reciting the work done with the aid of the labour unions to secure one rest day in each week for the working man, the report regrets that in no city in Canada is any definite arrangement in force to permit of policemen having one day's rest per week. The strain on the physique by service in all weathers is commented on, and the hope expressed that in the near future the authorities will be able to arrange that no Canadian policeman will have to work more than six days a week. The General Secretary, Rev. T. Albert Moore, reports that during the year he has travelled 41,813 miles on business for the Alliance; an average of 139 miles a day for 300 days out of the 365, it being assumed that there would be no Sunday travel.

FEEDING AND GROOMING THE FARM.

In regard to the conservation of our natural resources, sight is lost very largely of the importance of conserving our arable soil, which can easily be practically destroyed by overcropping, without regard to supply of the elements of fertility extracted by exhausting crops. No bank account could be so big, that with frequent withdrawals and limited or no deposits, it would not become exhausted. The same is applicable to the most fertile soil. It may long stand the drain, but in time, with continual depletion of fertility by crops, without complementary return of fertilizing elements, will become practically barren, and refuse to return the cost of seed and tillage. Before the advent of the dairy industry, which helped to restore the fertility of depleted farms, the process of destruction had far advanced. To get the best out of our farms we must feed them as we would our stock, and like stock, the better fed and tended, the better the results. Nor is neglect to conserve the fertility of our farms the only fault of our farmers. We not only neglect to conserve fertility, we take too much out of them, and at the same time, paradoxical as it may appear we do not take enough out of them, do not get as great a yield as we might do with proper grooming, so to speak. The vast value of underdraining as an essential of profitable farming is emphasized by the statement of the reports issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, that each acre properly drained yields on an average a profit of $20 per acre, more than before draining. The following extract from the report, though brief, will, if laid to heart, prove valuable reading to our farmers. The report says:

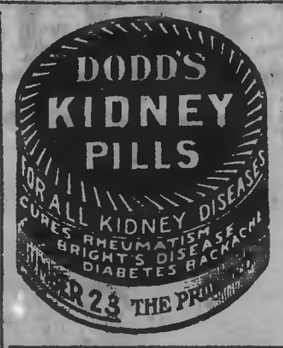
"The total number of acres drained during the years 1905-1909," is 193,436, the product of which, at $20 increase per acre, owuld be worth $3,868,720 more each year than before being drained."

Prof. W. H. Day of the Ontario Agricultural College estimates that at least one-third of the cleared land of the Province, or $4,710,000 acres, is in urgent need of underdrainage. If that were all drained and each acre produced $20 more than it does now, the increase in crop would be worth $94,200,000 annually. The value of all field crops in Ontario in 1908, according to the latest report of the Bureau of Industries, was $164,077,000. Thus drainage of all the cleared land needing it might increase Ontario's field crop about 57.4 per cent. At the present rate it would take 100 years to complete the drainage.

But that does not tell the whole story of the possibilities. Prof. Day adds:

"Ontario has 2,250,000 acres of slash land and 2,750,000 acres of swamp, marsh and waste land, or 5,000,000 altogether, much of which remains in this comparatively useless state only because it would be too wet for cultivation. Off much of the slash and marsh a comparatively small amount of labour would do the necessary clearing, and underdrainage would reclaim the land and make it equal to the best. The swamp, too, when cleared, would yield to drainage in the same way. Thus an immense area could be added to the arable land of the Province."

Extracting the surplus water from the soil by surface drainage, providing the conditions of increased productiveness by under drainage, and restoring removed fertility are indispensably essential means of conserving the greatest of Canada's natural resources, the soil of the farm.



BAD KIDNEYS CAUSE OF BLADDER TROUBLE

Backache and All Distress From Your Out-of-Order Kidneys Will Vanish.

No man or woman here whose kidneys are out of order, or who suffers from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Pape's Diuretic untried.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, dizziness, tired or worn-out feeling, and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting, discoloured water and all bladder misery ends.

The moment you suspect the slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatism pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless or will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of the trouble, distributing its cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected and completes the cure before you realize it.

A few days' treatment of Pape's Diuretic means clean, healthy, active kidneys, bladder and urinary organs —and you feel fine.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

WAS LAID TO REST

The funeral of Miss Katie O'Connell took place yesterday morning from her parents' home, 587 Concession St. A large funeral procession accompanied the remains to St. Peter's Cathedral, where solemn mass of requiem was offered by Rev. Father McColl, pastor of St. Peter's Cathedral. The remains were interred in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

The late Miss O'Connell was a young lady of rare ability and possessed such a sweet, amiable disposition that her demise will be deeply regretted by her family and friends. She taught for a few years in St. Patrick's Separate School, Ottawa, where she endeared herself to parents and pupils by her devotedness to duty.

Her loss is deeply mourned by the remaining members of her sorrowing family, who are her father and mother, Sr. St. Catharine of St. Joseph's community, Port Arthur; Miss O'Connell, of St. Peter's school staff, city; Miss L. M. O'Connell, of the Ottawa Separate school staff; Miss Marguerite O'Connell, of Toronto Collegiate Institute staff, and James and John T. O'Connell, real estate managers, city, all of whom were present at her funeral.

"DAVE HOLCOMB"

William Lawrence is coming to the Grand next Saturday, Jan. 29, presenting his latest starring vehicle, "Dave Holcomb." Mr. Lawrence is known from coast to coast as the successor of Denman Thompson, as "Uncle Josh in 'The Old Homestead,'" and will ever be remembered for his capable work in that character. He sticks to the farmer type, he says the public wants it, and he must be right in his assertion, for, while hundreds of companies that started out early in the season have gone back to New York financially crippled, Lawrence continues to glide along smoothly, please the public with "Dave Holcomb," and send the money home to "Aunt Maria." It is no trouble for Lawrence to put a succession of hearty laughs over the footlights to his audience, and the next minute he finds it just as easy to dish out a few touching pathetic scenes that bring forth the handkerchief and a few tears. When it comes to presenting a genuine down east farmer just as he is in real life, without the aid of chin whiskers make-up and burlesque capers, Lawrence is in a class by himself for he has no living rival in his particular line. His new starring venture this season, "Dave Holcomb," is a bigger success than his former rendition of "The Old Homestead." Boston liked it, Providence, R.I., liked it, and even staid old Philadelphia aroused itself and took a fancy to it, and when a play is strong enough to wake up Philadelphia there must be something to it. Lawrence, as usual, has surrounded himself with the very best company that experience and money could put together, and the entire production is elaborated with a special scenic and electrical equipment. It is safe to assert that Lawrence will receive a splendid ovation when he fills his engagement in our city, as he is a native of Canada and it is his first visit to the land of his birth as a star.

A NEW CAMPAIGN

Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. Will Get After Members.

The Cabinet of the Boys Department of the Y.M.C.A. decided at their meeting yesterday to open a campaign for members commencing the first of February.

Prizes have been donated by an interested Senior member for both School boys and employed boys and a large increase in membership is anticipated.

Evidently the Boys are serious in their intention to make their department grow as they have just completed decorating their rooms.

FARMERS' CLUB

Smith Organization Had a Most Successful Meeting Last Night.

A well attended and most successful meeting of the Central Smith Farmer's Club was held last evening. Mr. T. G. Raynor of the Seed Branch, Ottawa, who was in the City in connection with the Three Day Short Course now going on, gave a most valuable address. If the points raised were put into practice by the farmers of Smith, they would greatly increase the returns from their acres. He urged the careful selection of all seeds and showed that it paid to take out at least one bushel from four, or 25 per ent., of the grain as it comes from the thresher before using it as seed.

Mr. G. A. Brethen of Norwood, the young farmer and Holstein breeder who recently won the first place in the Good Farms Competition conducted by Farm and Dairy for Peterborough County and who also won fourth place for the district east of Toronto, was present and gave a most acceptable talk on things of prime interest to the farmers of Smith.

Mr. H. C. Duff of the Department of Agriculture, Norwood, and Mr. Chas. C. Nixon, Editor, Farm and Dairy, also addressed the gathering.

Nervous, Tired, Anxious, Thin

What causes nervous collapse? Most people say worry, anxiety, brooding but these are simply the outcomes of lowered physical condition. When strong we throw them off, but when run down they hold us as if by chains.

The true cause of nervous collapse is in the blood. When thin and watery it contains no nourishment for the nerves, no support for the muscles—result is collapse.

The truest food for the nerves is rich nourishing blood that Ferrozone forms. Ferrozone builds up the nervous and depressed, not by stimulation, but by the surer way of adding fresh blood and sinew. The whole system is vitalized; the nerves are fortified—you can sleep, work hard, and be free from brooding anxiety.

FERROZONE Makes Health

No health winner so certain as Ferrozone, no nerve strengthener more potent, no system tonic so well adapted to the wants of the run-down, nervous, sleepless. Ferrozone is certain to cure if you give it a chance. 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE SERPENT'S TONGUE

He should be boiled in oil, or hung, the agent with the serpent's tongue. He sells me traps I do not need; he sells me books no man would read; he sold a combination fork which drives a nail or pulls a cork, with which, he said, a man might shave, or shine his shoes, or dig a grave. He should be through the transom flung, the agent with the serpent's tongue. I'm always paying hard-earned cash for patent lamps or other trash; for music racks that are no good; for toilet soap that's made of wood; for dentifrice that doesn't dent, for fountain pens not worth a cent; forevermore I'm being stung by agents with the serpent's tongue. Each time I'm stung I vow a vow: "I'm done for good with agents now; I'll buy my doodads at the store, and chain old Tower by the door, and if an agent should arrive he will not leave the place alive." Alas! There is no dodging fate! He's laying for me at the gate; at my approach he will produce "The Life and Works of Captain Loose," or that illuminsting book, "The Voyages of Dr. Cook, With Maps and Charts Which Fully Show the Places Where he Didn't Go." The lid upon him should be sprung—the agent with the serpent's tongue!

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardiner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Maine.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

Real Estate Dealer Says There Will Be No Empty Houses In City By April 1st

Real estate agents furnish the report of conditions that if not already known will be appreciated throughout the city. This is the statement that there is a decided influx of people who are occupying the empty houses, bringing a feeling of delight to real estate agents, property owners and others. The Examiner secured the information from a reliable source and it was predicted that by the first of April there would not be an empty house in Peterborough judging by the rapidity with which those unoccupied are being taken up. The report comes from only one real estate dealer but is indicative of the conditions experienced by all in common. He states that since the opening of the new year he has sold or rented homes to twelve families who came to the city for the first time and with the intention of residing here. Some of the families have come from American cities and others from this side of the line, but in any case they are here and the fact that they have come as families gives substantiality to their presence, giving promise of permanence. An explanation of this increase to the city's population may be gained from the industrial activity of the past year and the fact that it has been unbroken with the new year. It is even stated that many factories are busier than ever and the gentleman who gave the information believes that the coming summer will be better than last year. He states that if the factories continue to receive more men, new houses will have to be erected and the indications are in favour of a banner year for the building trades.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE WILL CONSIDER THE PROPOSITION

The request from Mr. Denham, on behalf of the Quaker Oats Company for certain privileges, in order to erect a warehouse, costing $80,000, was taken up by the committee of the Whole Council at their meeting last evening. Mr. Denham was again present and Mr. J. C. Shook, in the interests of the Dickson Company, was also heard. The matter was referred to a special committee, consisting of Ald. Bradburn, Graham, Hicks and the Mayor to deal with and report at a meeting of the Council to be held on Friday evening next. In the meantime Mr. Denham and Mr. Shook will come to some agreement regarding the closing of Quaker St.

Mr. J. C. Shook stated to the committee that the Dickson Company owned a triangular piece of ground fronting on Quaker St., which would be considerably hampered if Quaker St. was closed. However, he did not wish to impede the progress of the city or that of the Quaker Oats Co., but he thought that probably some alternative could be decided upon. He suggested that a street might be opened along the bank between Brock and Murray Sts. The matter, however, will be finally decided upon on Friday night.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS MADE TO REV. FATHER KELLY

Rev. Father Kelly, of St. Peter's Cathedral staff, who is being transferred to Wooler, has been honoured by a presentation and address from the members of his Bible History class at the Normal School with the members of which he has been most popular. Mr. Grogan made the presentation to Rev. Father Kelly of a beautiful clock, while the following address was read by Miss Heenan: Reverend P. J. Kelly, Peterborough, Ont.—

Reverend and Dear Father,—Sentiments of regret and pleasure brought us here to-day, regret because of the thought that we are now to say adieu, Father, on your sudden departure from our midst, and pleasure because this opportunity has been afforded us to assemble about you and wish you well in your new field of labour, into which Almighty God has ordained that you should enter. While we, the members of "the Bible History Class," regret to say farewell, we feel gratified that your beloved Bishop has found you worthy of the promotion. We hope that in your new parish you may meet with the success that your zeal deserves, the great solace of a good pastor, a devout and faithful flock.

Would that we could repay you in the slightest degree for your zealous efforts in our behalf, but as that is impossible we shall pray our dear Lord, the bountiful giver of all good, to bestow on you His choicest favours.

We now ask you to accept this clock as a small token of our gratitude and esteem hoping as it tells the hours it will remind you of your devoted Bible History Class of 1910.

PROPOSES IMPROVEMENTS IN LOCAL EXHIBITION

Mr. W. H. Ruse Points Out Some Methods Which He Thinks Would Prove Decidedly Beneficial.

HIS SUGGESTIONS

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Having been more or less interested in farming since my early boyhood days, and actively interested in Agricultural Societies, in the meantime, since I have been a resident of Peterborough, I have taken observation of the work and results of the Peterborough Agricultural Society, especially the exhibition part of the game, and at various times I have discussed the matter with some of the prominent members of the Board of Directors, who requested that I attend the annual meeting of directors on Saturday, 22nd January. I availed myself of the opportunity and reached the Council chambers a little late. The meeting was in session and to me, a stranger to most of the members, and an entire stranger to their methods, there appeared to be an atmosphere of seclusion, and for some time, I hesitated as to intruding on them. I mention my personal feeling, and have wondered if there are others who have felt the same. If so, that is one of several reasons why there might be a doubt in the minds of the public and even the members of the Board of Directors, that suitable grounds and buildings cannot be secured this year or perhaps for several years. I believe, as many others believe, that if 20th century methods were inaugurated ,a much greater interest would be taken, and a Greater Peterborough Exhibition would be a reality in 1910.

Instead of 15 men, nearly all over 40, the most active over 50, and some over 70, I should judge, they should and would be replaced by the younger element. Farmers, mechanics, labourers, business men, professional men and hotelkeepers are all interested, and something should be done, as it is done in other places, to induce them to come out and help, not only at the Exhibition, but at the annual meeting and from then on to the close of the next annual Exhibition.

As briefly as possible I will suggest some things that have made other Agricultural Societies successful.

1. Engage a competent man to act as secretary and manager, at a liberal salary, whose duties are to arrange the many committees and assign their duties, correspond or interview manufacturers, breeders, and all who may make of grows anything that requires publicity. Interest three or more prominent men in each township in the County of Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham, and even our suburban town of Lindsay. Have them act as a committee to look after their respective districts, appoint their chairman, he to be a member of a general committee to meet or report to the manager once a month on blanks furnished by the Association. The secretary and manager to arrange excursions through several fraternal and other Societies at every town, within a radius of say Ottawa, Brockville, included, east, and Toronto, Collingwood, included, west, arrange transportation, confer with horsemen, Society to offer double or treble the amount in purses every offered before, have races every day at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., vaudeville or some attraction from 1 to 2 p.m. and between races; engage bands from each burg in the district tributary to the Exhibition, or arrange Choral Society and band contest to take place in the evening of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th, nights; to fill the amphitheatre 3 times each day, and numerous other matters that will take too much time and space to state in a letter.

The amphitheatre should be 2 storey, roofed, which would give 2,000 people the same advantages that only 1000 would have in a one storey amphitheatre. Build up track 2 to 4 feet with good hard clay, and top tress with proper soil, that with proper working will make it elastic and fast. Appoint competent men to attend to surveying, measuring and making contracts with concessioners on midway.

Society to issue at least 3,000 tickets at one dollar ,good to gent or lady to enter grounds each day for four days, if purchased before say May 1st. Every officer or committee man to take 10 or upwards to supply the demand in his territory, and have every town, village and hamlet interested in this Greater Peterborough Exhibition in such a way that nothing will keep the crowds from coming.

I could suggest scores of things that are necessary to make the whole machinery of the Exhibition to run smoothly and perfectly. All of which is necessary to insure absolute success. And with such an organization the City of Peterborough will not hesitate to purchase grounds, or the Association, will not hesitate to authorize an expenditure of say $15,000, as Welland Agricutural Society has odne this year, and Peterborough has many advantages over Welland or any other city outside of the larger ones. We should have the courage and business acumen to plan and work out a greater exhibition than any other city of our pretentions in Canada.

Now if you are "with us or agin us" any so, and keep the matter hot for a time, perhaps something good will result.—Yours sincerely,

W. H. RUSE.

MANY PAID LAST TOKEN OF RESPECT

The funeral of the late John Hurley took place this morning at nine o'clock from his late residence, Charlotte street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. A large number of prominent citizens was in attendance, including deputations from both the Peterborough C. M. B. A. and the Lindsay Order. The service at the church was conducted by Rev. Father McColl, and at the cemetery by Rev. Father McFadden. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. J. Lynch, J. W. Fitzgerald, H. Phelan, Jas. O'Brien, John Tremblay and Michael Quinlan.

Nervous prostration takes all the vigor and energy out of a person. It leaves you weak, helpless and without an interest in life.

Nervous prostration does not disappear of its own accord.

You must fill the system with new nerve force, new energy, new vitality by the use of

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food

In this great restorative treatment are combined the very elements of Nature which are known to form new rich blood and create new nerve force

You can feel yourself getting well and strong when you use this medicine. You can prove it by getting your lungsman in weight.

But to get Dr. Chase's you must be sure that you get the genuine, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author. 50 cts. a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Never Too Late To Put On

WEATHER STRIPS, like Fuel, are necessary in this climate. They keep the house cosy and warm, free from drafts and freezing, and save you fuel.

You won't be selfish if you spend the money necessary to fit Chamberlain's Metallic Weather Strips on your doors and windows.

We have had good cause to say thank you for the patronage of 1909. This month so far has surpassed that of last year by 50 per cent. We are sometimes so busy that we cannot wait upon all who come. To avoid this we advise that it is better to make appointments by phone or call, and this saves waiting your turn. Many do this and others will find it advantageous. 1910 has begun well with us. We are thankful, and promise to serve all to the best of our ability.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

I hear the newspapers say I am dying. The charge is not true. I would not do such a thing at my time of life," said Mark Twain the other day. "My time of life" incidentally was seventy-four years and twenty-four days.

There are few things that I have read or heard lately that please me so much as that characteristically delightful utterance of America's beloved old philosopher.

It seems to me that the very best way to defer death is to defy it, to regard it, as he did, as a thing you would not dream of doing at your time of life.

And the best way to defy sickness and helplessness is to regard them as things you have no time to indulge in and still less time to think about.

In nine cases out of ten it seems to me that excessive care of oneself, excessive attempts to conserve one's energies, are the quickest roads to illness and feebleness.

This does not mean, of course, that it is good to use one's powers extravagantly and carelessly.

It simply means that to the very entrance of the valley of the shadow one should constantly be using one's powers to their fullest, that even to the end they grow by use.

Men are more or less like watches in this respect. They run better if they are kept continually wound.

To be sure, regularity of life, obedience to the laws of health, and relaxation when relaxation is needed are necessary for the man as a regular time of winding, some care and an occasional overhauling are necessary for the watch. But he will just as surely defeat his end who attempts to prolong his life by putting a stop to his activity as he who attempts to make his watch last longer by leaving it unwound.

If a man ever fears, lest he is about to be engulfed in the foolishly self-saving feebleness of invalidism or old age, it seems to me the best motto he can take for himself is:

"It is better to wear out than to rust out."

And I think in nine cases out of ten the man who does make that his motto will not do either very soon. The very spirit of his determination will probably prolong his life.

Robert Louis Stevenson says:

"It is better to lose health like a spendthrift than to waste it like a miser. It is better to live and be done with it than to die daily in the sick-room. By all means begin your folio, even if the doctor does not give you a year, even if he hesitates about a month, make one brave push and see what can be accomplished in a week. It is not only in finished undertakings that we ought to honour useful labour.

All who have meant good work with their whole hearts have done good work, although they may die before they have time to sign it. Every heart that has beat strongly and cheerfully has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world and bettered the tradition of mankind."

Heartily I agree and even more heartily honour the way in which Robert Louis Stevenson lived those words.

MAYOR MORROW WAS THE HOST AT A VERY ENJOYABLE BANQUET

Entertained the Council, Civic Officials and Others to Supper at the Conclusion of the Meeting Last Evening.

THE SPEECHES

At the conclusion of the meeting of the Council last evening, His Worship Mayor Morrow entertained the members of the Council, the Water Commissioners, the City Trust Commission, and the city officials to a banquet at Hooper's palm parlors when a very enjoyable time was spent. After the excellent supper had been partaken of, a toast list was given. Speeches of a brief and interesting character tinged with cheery optimism as to the advancement of the city's best interests, and evidencing the harmony existing in civic circles, were made. Mayor Morrow acted as chairman and seated immediately around him were Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, a member of the Peterborough Council in the early days, W. H. Moore and T. F. Matthews.

The toast list was not long but there were several to respond and during the addresses many important projects were introduced and if the aldermen carry to a successful issue half of the matters spoken of they will certainly earn the public's gratitude. His worship spoke of the C.P.R. coming to Peterborough from the Georgian Bay, putting this city on a direct through route to the Canadian West and lessening the carrying distance by 10 miles over the other large centres of the Province. This he stated was of the utmost importance to Peterborough and the council would take it up with the C. P. R. at a very early date.

Ald. Bradburn expressed the hope that the council would keep within its appropriations this year. Last year's council did. All the committees kept within their appropriations although some were very small.

Mr. T. F. Matthews stated that the Water Commissioners had completed their construction work at the new dam and were now putting in the machinery. They found, on the authority of a Montreal engineer that they would have a surplus of 1000 electric horse power to be developed at the new dam.

Ald. Turner mentioned many important items he intended to bring up this year. The main feature was that the Power committee would be a live issue and he intended to have results to show at the end of the year.

Mr. W. H. Moore stated that the City Trust Commission completed their estimates for 1910 yesterday and the demand on the city this year would be $78,000 or $6,000 more than last year.

Mr. James Stevenson told of the very interesting times they had financing for the city away back in the early days.

Mr. J. H. Larmonth told of the extensions to their lines that are proposed for this year.

City Engineer T. A. S. Hay urged upon the council the necessity of a railway, especially an electric road, through the back townships.

The toasts honoured were, to the King, the Mayor, the Chairmen of the various committees, the Water Commissioners, the Civic Trust Commissioners, the City Officials, the Light and Power and Radial Railway Company and the Press.

ROUND TRIP ONLY $1.00

If you are a catarrh, asthma, or hay fever sufferer, what would you say if the above offer was made to you?

How would you like to go to the mountainous forest of pine and eucalyptus, where catarrh and asthma do not exist? Where people do not have to hawk every morning, to spit out the lump of disgusting mucus? Where the healing, antiseptic balsams purify the air and kill the germs?

You can't go to this ideal spot, of course. You haven't time, and possibly not money. But you can, for $1. bring the healing balsamic air from these forests right to your home; you can kill the germs of catarrh at home, without losing a minute's time.

Ask Wm. Madill about Hyomei, the Australian dry air cure. Get an outfit, which includes inhaler, for $1, breathe the same air that you would find in Australia, and if it does not heal the raw membrane and cure your catarrh, snuffles, cough, cold or asthma, you can have your money back.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent "Another Consistency," is like an ostrich with his head stuck in the sand, kicking furiously. He gets behind a Nom de Plume, and says: "I don't know Mr. Leader." Now, say, I did not rush into print either to assert or defend my personal character, which is well able to take care of itself. But, I would just like to say that in my opinion "Another Consistency" has yet to learn that he who descends to personalities violates the first law of debate. He does not know me and yet he proceeds to insinuate who and what I am. What I am is beside the question. I was fighting for a principle, not for myself, or my own glory. As for the squeal, re intimidation, all I have to say is that any one who could read such a thing into my letter is ignorant of the first principle of democratic government.

Government of the people, by the people, for the people. Apologizing for again taking up your space and thanking you for same, I am

Yours faithfully,

GEORGE LEADER.

APPROVES OF THE APPOINTMENT OF AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION

The committee of the Whole Council at their meeting last evening, passed a resolution approving of the appointment of an industrial commissioner and that an appropriation be made in the estimates for the maintenance of the same. A committee from the Board of Trade, consisting of Messrs. D. O'Connell, W. H. Moore, W. H. Denham, and J. H. Larmonth waited upon the Council in committee last night and discussed with them the appointment of a commissioner

Mr. O'Connell stated that they were anxious to cooperate with the city in the appointment of such an official. He said that they asked that the very best man be chosen. He briefly outlined the ideas of the board and stated that Mr. RyersonRitchie, late of Cleveland and Detroit, had consulted with a number of them and given them some very valuable information. Mr. Ritchie had been industrial commissioner or chairman of the Committee of Commerce at both the above places. He was now at Boston and had been very successful. He had a thorough knowledge of how to locate industries. He will be in the city in a short time and it would be well to get further information from him.

Mr. O'Connell said that in making an appointent they should select a young man of education and capacity, not necessarily one of experience, but one that could be trained. The Board of Trade would be very happy to meet with and discuss the details with the Council.

Mr. O'Connell spoke of the advantages and conditions of Peterborough as an industrial centre.

Mr. W. H. Moore agreed with what Mr. O'Connell had said.

Askey by the mayor what they thought would be required for the first year.

Mr. O'Connell and Mr. Denham thought that half a mill or about $4500 would be ample. The commissioner's salary would probably be $2500 and the balance used for his travelling expenses and for literature.

Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Turner heartily approved of the appointment of a commissioner at once. Better do it now than six months later.

A resolution approving of the appointment of a commissioner and a recommendation to the council that provision be made in the estimates for the necessary expenses was moved by Ald. Gillespie, and Ald. Duncan seconded it. The motion carried.

Charges Against The Women Were Heard And Dismissed

Mrs. Hattie Sullivan, her daughter Ethel and Lilian and Katherine Weaver appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning, the former being charged with being the keeper of a house of ill fame, and the latter three with being inmates of the same.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the accused and pleaded not guilty. After hearing several witnesses, including P. C.'s Newhall, Meharry and Meagher, His Worship concluded that there was not sufficient testimony to make a conviction and discharged the prisoners.

P. C. Meharry said that he knew Mrs. Sullivan since last summer. She lived on Wolfe St. Last Thursday night he saw a man coming out of there at twenty to eleven. Before that he saw a light upstairs and saw a girl bring it down just before the man came out. On Friday night he saw a girl leave the house with a young man. They were away about an hour and a half. He saw another man go in. When the police officers went in there were two men there. The house was generally characterized as one of ill-fame. To Mr. Gordon, witness stated that Mrs. Sullivan's husband had come to him and asked him to go down and arrest her and the daughter.

Western Man Searches For A Long-Lost Sister

As will be seen from an advertisement in another column of the Examiner Mr. Thomas Code, of Davidson, Sask., is seeking information as to the whereabouts of his sister, Maggie Code, who was a resident of Peterborough forty years ago. In a letter to the Examiner Mr. Code gives further particulars. He states that his family lived in Peterborough on Smith town Hill as the north-western part was called then and the children attended the Union school for some years. His mother married a second time, her second husband being a bricklayer by the name of George Reynolds who lived near the old market.

Mr. Code states that his sister, if living now would be about 52 years of age. He does not know how long she remained in Peterborough after he left here forty years ago, nor does he know if she is married or not. He is anxious to secure information as to her whereabouts, and those in a position to give the facts he is seeking are asked to communicate with him at Davidson, Sask.

Miss Mabel Jane Tighe, youngest daughter of Mrs. Wm. Tighe, 133 Sophia street, Ashburnham, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Newton Elliott, of Carbon, Alta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. R. Trumpour of All Saints church, in the absence of the Rector, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt. The bride and groom were unattended. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Stewart Tighe, looked very pretty in a travelling suit of brown, with a fur hat to match.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Elliott left on the 4.38 C.P.R. train, en route for Carbon, Alta., where they will in future reside.

WAS RE-OPENED

Boys' Department of Y. M. C. A. Held an Exhibition.

The public re-opening of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. took place last Friday evening. This event followed a campaign conducted entirely by the boys, to raise $250.00 for purposes of redecorating and furnishing their rooms. They collected $185.00, and although their full plans were not realized much has been done to improve the equipment by which it is hoped a thriving boys' work will be developed.

The programme consisted of an exhibition of boys' gymnasium work, a basketball game between the Collegiate Boys and Employed Boys, and a brief address by Mr. J. C. Shook, President of the Association, presenting the value of the Boys' Department and declaring the department re-opened. A large number was present, all of whom expressed themselves delighted with the entertainment and the prospects of this feature of Y.M.C.A. work.

There is a Difference

Scott's Emulsion is the original Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and has been the world's standard for 35 years.

There are thousands of so-called Emulsions, but they are cheap, worthless imitations and never half as good as the standard. They are like thin milk.

Scott's Emulsion

is like thick, rich cream. It is a concentrated food-medicine of the most beneficial sort. You can make it thin with milk or water, but don't buy the thin, worthless imitations.

JOHN THE BAPTIST

Formed the Theme of the Address at Meeting of Knox Church Guild Last Night.

The Knox Church Young People's Guild met last night, when a devotional time was spent together, with Miss Warren in the chair. A solo was given by Rev. H. J. Keith, which was enjoyed by all. A paper on the Life of John the Baptist was read by Mrs. A. A. Coates. His parentage was spoken of; he was a philosopher and lived under the power of the Holy Ghost. He was a hero; a great man; always speaking the truth. His bearing was fearless and independent. The apparel he wore was of camel's hair, and his food of wild locusts. Much was said of his life and great example. He was beheaded by Herod.

Miss Haney also gave a paper on the message of John the Baptist. She said true repentance is more than being sorry for your sins. It signifies a change of mind, conduct, views, and of heart. He that lived without God, and was not convinced of sin, his is not the true repentance. The cry of penitence is "Guilty! Guilty!" God be merciful to me a sinner. Let us consider the loss of the soul, of heaven and happiness. God is drawing you with the cords of love of you only accept Him.

The meeting proved very helpful. Next Monday, Jan. 31st, being literary evening, Mr. Roy Laing will be in charge.

GIVEN AN HOUR TO LEAVE THE CITY

James Monehan was given an hour to leave the city at the police court this morning. He was charged with being a vagrant. He is a one-legged fellow who sells boot laces. He said that he stopped at an hotel, but on being questioned admitted that he had no home and was without money or any means of support. He was given an hour to leave town.

James Newbury pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and was fined two dollars.

INVESTIGATION OF OF C.P.R. WRECK

A hat bearing the initials "O.S.M." and the traders stamp, "John Ritzer, Waterloo," is almost certain to be that of O. S. Martin, furniture traveler of Waterloo, who is missing.

The bodies of, three women, two boys and two men are still unidentified. The men are foreigners, probably French or Italian. Following is a full description of the others:

Woman, about 45, wearing heavy black coat and plain band gold on third finger of left hand, grey hair, with streaks of fair hair left, wearing gold-rimmed spectacles, black crepe blouse.

Woman, about 30, brownish hair turning grey, wearing a brown dress and jacket lined with brown satin, gold-filled bracelet of broad and elaborate pattern, two plain rings on third finger of left hand, gold-filled Elgin watch with thin chain, small plain gold brooch, black elastic belt with gilt buckle, grey eyes.

Boy, about thirteen, reddish brown hair, wearing long brown leather leggings with rubber overshoes, dark trousers, blue shirt, tartan necktie grey sweater, with green border.

Boy, about ten years, fair hair, large head, with high forehead, grey eyes, dressed in suit of underclothing that had been fastened with pins.

Woman, about 45 years, grey hair, dark complexion, green silk waist, with dark skirt, a belt with a tortoise-shell buckle.

No death of any of the injured occurred yesterday, and the nurses in charge say all are improving. C. Houde, the Soo; D. M. Brodie, Sudbury, and W. J. Bell, Sudbury, are doing well, and are expected to recover.

A WOMAN'S GRATITUDE.

A Mountain Woman Writes in Praise of Newbro's Herpicide.

"For several years I have been troubled with dandruff, causing me much annoyance, and my hair became very thin. I have used Newbro's Herpicide for a month and the dandruff has entirely disappeared and my hair is becoming much heavier than formerly. New hair is growing where there was none and I am very thankful to you for the benefit I have received from Newbro's Herpicide. Very truly yours,

A POWERFUL AND EFFECTIVE CURE

For Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Asthma.

Soothing Balsams Are Carried to the Sore, Congested Membranes — Cure Quickly and Completely.

Diseases of the breathing organs are, as you know, excited by germs so minute that only the microscope can reveal them; they are lodged in the tissues, develop there, and cause all the trouble. That is how consumption starts.

If the cause of the disease can be carried by air, why not the remedy? This conclusion lies at the root of the Catarrhozone treatment. The instrument through which you breathe fragrant, healing Catarrhozone splits up into minute particles this invaluable healing and curative agent, thereby enabling the air to carry it to the remotest ramifications of the breathing organs, and diffuses itself over their entire surfaces.

CATARRHOZONE ALWAYS CURES.

It would be absolutely impossible to breathe through a Catarrhozone inhaler without carrying this liquid to the remotest parts of the breathing apparatus. Upon healthy tissue it has no action, but upon diseased tissue and upon the micro-organisms which infect diseased tissues its action is so wonderfully curative that the disease is completely abolished. Then the tissue heals.

EARLY TREATMENT IS WISE.

Catarrhozone is an ideal remedy for diseases of the throat, lungs, and nasal passages. If you have catarrh, or bronchitis, or asthma, all are equally curable by Catarrhozone. These diseases are all modifications of an inflammatory condition of the lining membranes of the throat and nasal passages. Under these conditions we call it catarrh. When it extends to the bronchial tubes, we call it bronchitis. The condition is the same, the causes which produce the diseases are identical, and the remedy, Catarrhozone, acts equally promptly and efficiently upon the different forms of this disease. Your case is curable. Use Catarrhozone to-day. Two months' treatment (guaranteed) $1; small size 25c. Obtainable [illegible] or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

SESSION TO BE SHORT

Hydro-Electric Power Problem and the Dominion Government's Stand on the Matter Will Probably Be the Subject of a Pronouncement by Sir James Whitney—New Bills to Come To-day.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—This afternoon, with due pomp and ceremony, Lieut.-Governor Gibson will ascend the throne in the Legislative Chamber of the Parliament Buildings and welcome the legislators to the resumption of their labors.

While his honor will read the speech, a rumor is current that Sir James Whitney, and possibly some members of his Cabinet, are not altogether ignorant of the sentiments which will fall from the Governor's lips.

It is understood that, after a reference to the good harvest and the prosperous condition of the province, the speech will proceed to deal in a congratulatory manner with the recent visit of Sir Lomer Gouin and other members of the Quebec administration. It is not improbable in this connection that the question of provincial rights may get tangled up in the argument.

The reduction in the price of schoolbooks may be made the subject of a brief reference, which should cause Hon. Dr. Pyne's expansive smile to broaden.

The progress towards restoration of the library, with special reference to the generous assistance given by sister Governments and private donors will be touched on.

The unprecedented expansion of the mineral industry and the successful operation of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway will furnish subjects for congratulatory mention, with possible mention to future extensions.

The work of the Department of Agriculture, including the district instructors in agriculture, the agricultural college and the immigration office in London, during the past year will be commented on.

The completion of the labors of the milk commission will be mentioned with the intimation that the report may be expected to be laid before the House at an early date.

Probably the most important question dealt with in the speech will be the progress of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and the possibility, or rather, the improbability, of disallowance of the Government's power legislation. In this connection it may be mentioned that the Government has as yet had no word on the subject from Ottawa.

The alarming increase in the price of foodstuffs will be made the subject of comment.

Other points which may be dealt with are new Central Prison site, the progress made in the revision of the statutes, the report of the committee on the revision of the assessment law, the question of compensation to workmen for injuries and the buoyant state of the public revenue.

In connection with the revision of the statutes, quite a number of bills have been prepared by the revising judges. These, or the most of them, it is understood, the Premier will introduce on the opening day, after the departure of the Lieutenant-Governor.

An appropriation will be asked for in connection with the rebuilding of the portions of the Parliament Buildings destroyed in the fire.

The Government program of legislation is not a heavy one, and it is not anticipated that the session will last longer than two months at the outside. The main estimates for the current year were passed at the last session, and, it is believed, that the supplementary estimates can be got through at a single sitting of the House.

Another Indian Officer Shot Dead.

Calcutta, British India, Jan. 25.—Shamrul Alioma, a police officer, who was prominent in unearthing the Midnapur, Bengal, bomb conspiracy, was shot dead in the high court yesterday.

The murderer, a young Bengali, fled to the street, where he was pursued by mounted police.

When overtaken the assassin threw a bomb at the police, and when this failed to explode, drew a pistol, which, however, he did not have a chance to use, being quickly overpowered.

Ice Gorge Causes Bad Flood.

Port Deposit, Md., Jan. 25.—Over $200,000 damage was done to property here by flood, caused by the gorging of ice in the Susquehanna River. Practically every building in town except the few that stand on high ground, are destroyed or damaged. The Pennsylvania railroad tracks were covered with ice from 10 to 20 feet for four miles.

Big Thread Works Shut Down.

Pawtucket, R.I., Jan. 25.—Twenty five hundred textile workers were thrown out of employment yesterday when the five thread mills of the J. & P. Coats, Limited, were shut down for an indefinite period, due to the strike of "back boys," who want 60 hours pay for 55 hours' work.

Rubber Merger Denied.

Montreal, June 25.—Lorne McGibbon, president of the Canadian Rubber Co., and Col. Sani Colt, president of the United States Rubber Co., both deny the rumors of a merger.

For Flood Sufferers.

Paris, Jan. 25.—Following the appeal of Premier Briand, the Chamber of Deputies unanimously voted the $400,000 requested for the aid of flood sufferers.

No Cigarettes in Gouden.

Kingston, Jan. 25.—Calumet Village Council has availed itself of a bylaw on its books, and has wiped out a poolroom and also prohibited the sale of cigarettes within the municipality.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS

It Is Said That Premier Asquith and Colleagues Will Call For a Combined Conference to Deal With Lords' Question—May Also Alter Budget—England Still a Land of Free, Says Lloyd-George.

London, Jan. 25.—The Unionists gained another seat in the Southport division of Lancashire yesterday. Otherwise the few results announced do not change the party strength. The newly-elected members of Parliament now stand:

Unionists	220
Liberals	202
Laborites	34
Nationalists	69

The results of Saturday's elections, as announced yesterday morning, give the Liberals 15 seats, Unionists 1, and the Nationalists 1. The result of the bulk of yesterday's pollings will be known to-night.

With the cessation of the stream of Unionists' gains, the Liberal leaders are exhibiting a more hopeful spirit. Winston Spencer Churchill, at Poole, last night, claimed that the Liberals would return to power with a majority practically as great as Salisbury ever enjoyed.

Premier Asquith and Chancellor Lloyd-George, in their speeches last night, said they were convinced that the Government would have an ample majority to carry through the Liberal program.

Realizing the difficulty of carrying out its complete program while dependent upon the support of the Nationalists vote, it is reported that the Government will suggest that the reform of the House of Lords be undertaken by a conference of the two parties, and will further promise a modification in the spirit duties and the license duties in the budget of 1910-11 if the rejected budget is accepted as the financial scheme of the present year.

Lloyd-George, in Mid-Derbyshire, said he was proud to be on the Labor platform. He referred to the Conservative whip's statement to the effect that the Unionists governed the House of Commons' policy in the country, and said it was true, though never expressed before with such arrogance. With the majority they would get the Liberals would make it clear that England was a land of free institutions.

To Investigate Insurance.

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 25.—At a special meeting of the executive yesterday morning the appointment was confirmed of R. S. Lennie of Nelson, D. H. MacDowell of Victoria and A. B. Erskine of Vancouver to constitute a special commission on fire insurance matters.

The commission is to enquire generally into the business of fire insurance carried on in the province, including the placing of insurance in British Columbia, with companies or associations in the United States or other jurisdictions, and to report the results of such investigation, and to the advisability and best method of Government supervision of the operations and the financial standing of all the companies or associations in the business, and as to compelling them to obtain licenses from the province, and to furnish adequate security to British Columbia policyholders.

Bankers Released on Parole.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 25.—Paul O. Stensland, convicted president of the wrecked Milwaukee avenue State Bank, and Henry W. Hering, cashier of the bank, were released from the penitentiary yesterday, on parole. Stensland is in poor health and walked with difficulty.

New York's Unsolved Murders.

New York, Jan. 25.—Thirty-seven unsolved murders in twelve months was the record of New York for 1909; seven more have been added in the first three weeks of the new year.

Had a Bad Cough For a Number of Years.

Was Afraid of Consumption.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I have had a very bad cough every winter for a number of years which I was afraid would turn into consumption. I tried a great many remedies but only received temporary relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking two bottles my cough was cured. I am never without a bottle of Norway Pine Syrup."

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that when a person catches cold it must be attended to immediately or serious results may follow.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the foundation of all throat and lung complaints, relieving or curing all Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Sore Throat, etc., and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

So great has been the success of this wonderful remedy it is only natural that numerous persons have tried to imitate it. Don't be imposed upon but insist on getting "Dr. Wood's."

Reject Knox's Proposal.

Paris, Jan. 25.—France and Great Britain have decided to confirm the answers to Secretary Knox's Manchurian proposition to those of Russia and Japan, which have decline the proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways.

Although both Russian and Japan make reservations regarding the Aigun Taitsihar proposition, the Temps yesterday insists that the cession would be a violation of the Anglo-Russian convention of 1899 and the China-Japanese convention of 1905 and 1909, and consequently is certain of ultimate rejection.

Confesses to Brutal Murder.

Rochester, Jan. 25.—District Attorney Widener of Monroe County arrived from Portsmouth, N.H., yesterday, with a confession from Joe Hall, a naval convict under arrest at Portsmouth, N.H., that he has murdered Anna Schumacher, after assaulting her in the Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, just outside Rochester, on August 1 last.

He enlisted in the navy under a false name and was arrested when this was detected. Then he confessed to the murder. He is 27 years old.

100 Killed In Religious Fight.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—Over 100 persons have been killed and many wounded as the result of serious religious conflicts in Old Bokhara between the Sunnites and the Shiah during the past two days. The Sunnites demand the replacement of the Shiah officials by Sunnites.

COLTS UNCORKED SURPRISE BEAT COLLEGIATE 4 TO 3

Last Night's Junior Game Had an Unexpected Result---The Peterborough Juniors Outscoring and Outplaying the Collegiate, Who Failed to Show Their Previous Form.

The unexpected happened in last night's junior O. H. A. game at Brock Street rink, when the Peterborough Colts came back after a 11 to 4 trimming the week before, and handed out a beating to the Collegiate Institute septette, by four goals to three, after as an exciting game as has been pulled off at the Brock Street arena in some time. At the half the teams were on an even footing with two counters each to their credit. Eleven minutes after the half opened the students opened up a lead of one goal, which they held until the last few minutes, when the Colts came along with a magnificent rally that netted them two goals and the game. The contest was fast and as close as the score proves, and was by no means clean, both teams indulging freely in tripping and slashing, with the result that the door of the penalty box was very nearly swung off its hinges during the night. No one was hurt very much with the exception of Munro, who got a crack over the eye near the end of the fray and had to retire.

While the most exciting of the three played between the two teams, it was by no means brilliant hockey, although, at times the teams showed class. There was little combination in evidence, the players wandering from their positions too much to make team play a feature. The result was that individual efforts predominated, and the game was replete with lone-handed dashes that generally were wrecked before the firing line was reached, as both defences checked hard and effectively.

The result was a big surprise to the Collegians, who, after their easy victory last week, could see nothing but a repeat performance. They were up against a different proposition last night, however, the Colts unreeling a burst of speed and ginger that gave the students a plain case of the rattles, and the garnet and gray failed to show much traces of their previous form, especially in the matter of combination. They were looked after closely, and very rarely broke away together, while their shooting was also off colour. The Colts, on the other hand, were full of running and worked their heads off to beat the Students. They seemed to have more speed than their opponents, especially on the wings, and they never let up until the final gong. The defence played sterling hockey, refusing to be drawn out easily, while the forwards if they did not show combination, exhibited pretty stickhandling and fine speed. It was a great game and the fairly large crowd of fans nearly lifted the roof at some stages. The last few minutes were wildly exciting. What with penalties and Munro's injury the teams were down to four and five men a side at times, which opened the play considerably, and added to the hilarity of the occasion. Finding themselves behind at the last moment the Collegiate boys did not let up any, and were rushing in on the nets when the gong sounded, scoring just after time was up. The work of Pelton, in the nets, for the Colts, was a feature. Although he has had no practice he picked off shots in the first half like a veteran, blocking a number that looked like sure things. Munro and Hefferman, on the defence, checked vigorously, and their rushes always helped to relieve the pressure. On the forward line every one helped to win, but the two wings Giroux and Weir, were perhaps the most prominent. The former scored three goals the last two minutes on beautiful individual efforts, and his rushing and checking back could not have been improved upon. Weir was always at it, and his fast skating and neat stickhandling helped a lot. Allan Campbell was handicapped by the fact that he went through an hour's strenuous practice with the intermediates before the game, but in spite of that he showed good form and his checking helped a lot in holding the Students out. Hall was up to his usual excellent standard and worked unceasingly.

The Collegiate had a new line-up at the opening, with Denison at left wing and Minorgan at cover, and it did not seem to help very much. At half time they shifted things around putting Denison on the defence and Minorgan on the wing, but still things did not seem to work out right. In fact the Students were rattled by the unexpected opposition and failed to recover. Lees made some pretty stops in the nets, and Geale and Denison checked well. On the forward line there was no particular star. Crane and Burritt were checked too closely to have many opportunities to shine, and failed to show their usual form.

Referee Will O'Brien handled the game impartially. He had a difficult task and performed well.

The teams were as follows:

The Colts opened up the action with a burst of speed that surprised the Students. Giroux and Hall nearly got through from the face-off, but were checked before the necessary shot was forthcoming. The Collegiate came back with a rush and Burritt got close enough to hurl a waist-high shot at the nets, which Phelan blocked beautifully. Back went the Colts, and on a pass from Weir, Giroux put the young Petes one in the lead on a neat shot in two minutes.

Conroy drew a penalty for slashing, and Hall went off a moment after for the same offence. Denison came along with a nice rush, but Munro jarred him with a body check. Soon after Denison went into the penalty box for tripping. The Colts were working like beavers and buzzing around the nets, and when the Collegiate fine broke away the Cubs' defence refused to be drawn out, with the result that the Students failed to work in close. It was the Colts who finally scored after eight and one-half minutes. Weir, beating Lees from close in, after a combined rush, with Giroux and Hall. Score Petes 2; Collegiate 0.

The Collegiate rallied after this bad start and until the end of the half held their own. A mistake by one of the Colts in bringing the puck out in front of his nets gave Denison a chance to drive one past Pelton for the first Student counter in 4.30 mins. Petes 2, Collegiate 1.

Minorgan drew a penalty and Campbell was not long in following for a slash. The Collegiate were having a little better of the playing at this stage, and finally Burritt and Crane got away togther and on a combination rush Burritt shot one between the posts in 6.30 mins., tying the score at 2 all. Hall was banished and was hardly back when Hefferman was invited to take a holiday for dumping Denison. The latter was the next to go and then Giroux drew another exile for slashing.

Hardly had the second half opened when Hall was sent away and then Minorgan was caught loafing and went the way of the others. Denison was detected in the act of slashing, and the penalty box door swung open for him again. Referee O'Brien called the players together and advised them to "Go easy, Mabel" but just at the conclusion of the lecture Campbell and Giroux were banished together, leaving the Colts with five men to six. Geale was sent away for slashing, leaving the teams on an even five-a-side, but Denison came back, giving the Collegiate the advantage of the odd man. They seized their opportunity and on a combination rush Crane scored in eleven minutes, putting the students one to the good.

Conroy got a minute for loafing, and when he came back Denison drew three minutes for tripping Hall. Conroy went back for slashing and the Students were outnumbered, seven to five. Still they managed to hold the Colts out, a great stop by Lees helping some. Hall was penalized for slashing; Munro got a cut over the eye and retired for the rest of the game, Minorgan being dropped with him. For a moment the teams were four against five, the Colts having the odd man. The game was wildly exciting at this stage with the young Petes on the aggressive, and the Students working desperately to hold their lead. Finally, Giroux sewed up the game by a clever piece of work. Following in a shot he secured the puck behind the nets and coming around in front scooped one past Lees before the defence could size up the situation.

Thirty seconds after Giroux won the game by a beautiful individual rush from centre, during which he outskated the Collegiate defence and beat Lees with a scoop shot.

Score, Petes 4, Collegiate 3.

Geale was sent away for tripping, and just before time was up Campbell was exiled for a slash. The gong saved a tie game, as the Students swept down with a combination rush just as the bell rang.

The summary follows:

1—Colts, Giroux, 2 mins.
2—Colts, Weir, 8.30 mins.
3—Collegiate, Denison, 8.30 mins.
3—Collegiate, Denison, 8 1-2 mins.
4—Collegiate, Burritt, 6 1-2 mins.
Half-time.
5—Collegiate, Crane, 11 mins.
6—Colts, Giroux, 15 1-2 mins.
7—Colts, Giroux, 30 secs.

Penalties—First half, Conroy, Hall. Denison, Minorgan, Campbell, Hall. Hefferman, Denison, Giroux; total, Collegiate, 4; Colts, 5. Second half, Hall, Minorgan, Denison, Campbell, Giroux, Geale, Conroy, Denison, Hall. Geale, Campbell; total, Collegiate 6, Colts 5. Grand total of penalties, Collegiate 10, Colts 10.

Lindsay Hockey Enthusiasts Are Coming Down On A Special Train

The Lindsay Midgets, in command of Capt. Stoddard, with their best line-up, and a big crowd of fans on a special train, will be here on Friday night for the second intermediate O. H. A. game of the season, burning with anxiety to take the scalps of the Petes and wipe out last week's defeat on their own ice. The trimming has not set them back a bit and they are praying for a chance at the Peterboroughs on hard ice, blaming the soft going for their loss. Strange to say the Petes, too, are yearning for a slippery surface, and if the ice is hard the game should prove one of the fastest and hardest contests that has been seen here in many seasons. Lindsay has a beautifully speedy forward line, which works all the time, and too much must not be made of their defeat last week, as they had had very little practice together before the game. They have been working out at every opportunity since, and will come down in the pink of condition. The locals will have to be on their tip-toes all the way to beat off the Midgets, and the contest will be well worth seeing.

The Petes had a great practice last night and most of them will be out to-night with the Strathconas. They will be fit for Friday's game with another workout or two.

The Abstainers Confident Of Beating West End Seven

"We are going to beat them!"

That was the emphatic reply of a prominent supporter of the T. A. S. hockey team last night, when asked as to his opinion on the outcome of to-morrow night's City League game with the West End Club. "They caught us out of shape last time, and even then we gave them a run for their money. There's a big surprise coming to-morrow night, for the yellow and black, and it will be a game all the way." Most of the fans will agree with the last statement that it will be a hard game, but the other prediction that the Abstainers will defeat the Westerners is liable to meet with a lot of contradiction. Some fans figure out on the basis of the showing made by the two teams against the Strathconas. Two weeks ago the Commissioners ran away from the T. A. S. by an 11 to 3 score. Last week they just managed to nose out the West Ends by 5 to 3. On the other hand the West Ends just managed to beat the Abstainers last time out by a garrison finish, in which they scored four goals in the last few minutes. So adopting this dope the honours are more even. However, you can never depend on past performances any way. The game is one thing and the team that wins will know that it has been in a contest. The T. A. S.-West End game is the last of the evening, the Keene-Strathcona fixture furnishing the curtain raiser. Many people fancy that the Straths will have an easy task, but the Commissioners do not think so themselves. They view with respect the great defence game put up by McDougall in Lindsay last week, and know that they will have to work some to get around the big fellow, while Weir, on his showing last night is going faster than ever.

The games should be among the most interesting of the season, and no doubt there will be a big crowd of fans out.

JACK JOHNSON TALKS FIGHT

Toronto, January 25. — Jack Johnson, the world's heavyweight champion, arrived in town this morning from New York. He has a week's engagement at the Star Theatre here with good Joe Walcott, the Barbadoes negro, as his sparring partner.

Short Fight.

Johnson speaking of his coming fight with Jeffries, said:

"I don't think the fight will last more than 10, 12, or at most 15 rounds. Two big men like us—and we are both hard hitters—can't pound each other much longer than that without something happening in the knock-out line. There will be no stalling for fight pictures, or anything else."

Will Mix It.

"Jeffries will," I expect, "force the fight, and if he doesn't I will make him mix it by carrying it to him. It is sure to be fast and furious, whether Jeffries likes it or not."

Speaking of his style and rivals, he said he would quickly settle any talk of his having only one punch, and that by practical demonstration.

Jeff to be Favourite.

"I expect that Jeffries will be at least 10 to 9 favourite. Yes, I will have a good deal of money on myself. I have now $5,000 on at 10 to 9, and my brother has $5,000 more. And I will have as much more as I can get my hands on. That shows how confident I am of winning."

Begin Work To-day.

Johnson has yet ten weeks of his theatrical tour to finish, but he does not purpose waiting until after that to begin work. "I am at 221¼ pounds now, and I expect to fight at 198 or 200. I will do my first training work here this afternoon in a run over the road with Simpson."

"After this tour I will spend a month at Chicago in training, and the next five weeks just before the fight I will be in camp at San Francisco or Salt Lake City."

Rickard the Man.

"I expect the fight on July 4 to be at Salt Lake City. Rickard is pretty wise and I don't think he would go ahead and make the statements he has unless he felt sure of his ground. However, it doesn't make any difference to me. Either 'Frisco or Salt Lake will do me. I don't know who will be referee, but I think it will be Welch. He is a friend of Jeffries and I think he is the best and squarest in the business."

New York Fracas.

Speaking of his trouble at New York with a negro named Pinder, Johnson said that he didn't hit him, though he did strike at him. Pinder, he says, has gone out of his way for the past three years to insult him.

Johnson hasn't his auto with him, but he remarked that he would get one somewhere. Incidentally on his arrival he was met with a summons to settle a litttle auto-speeding controversy with the Brantford authorities left over from his visit last fall.

In fixing the place on the programme Johnson tried to go on any place but last. He argued that when he went on last he was surrounded after the show by admiring friends and jeering foes.

Little Joe Walcott, fat and pudgy with his 5 feet 1¾ inches, looks like a midget beside Johnson's strong healthy looking 6 feet ¾ inches, but Joe always did look a bit undersized at the start to grow like a giant as his fight progressed.

Could Not Sleep.

DOCTOR SAID HEART AND NERVES WERE RESPONSIBLE.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed.

Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rossmore, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down. I got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHITTY HAS A SOUVENIR

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—The members of the Renfrew hockey team will probably remember their experience against the Shamrocks at Montreal on Saturday. They passed through Ottawa early this morning, each member of the team bearing some sort of a painful souvenir, for all of which they claim to be indebted to "Bad Joe" Hall. Fred Whitcroft lost a tooth, and has a big lump on the right side of his head, while Lester Patrick has a two-inch cut above his left eye. Frank Patrick's nose is pushed out of position, and Bobby Rowe is suffering from an injured rib. Hall is blamed for it all. It appears that Whitcroft fired Hall off the Edmonton team last year, and there has been bad blood between them since.

Hall will be reported to the league, but if he goes to Renfrew on Friday when the Shamrocks go there he will likely come in for rough treatment unless police protection is provided.

"A deliberate attempt to rob us of the game," is the way Captain Lester Patrick characterizes the incidents following the disputes about Hall.

LECTURE TO-NIGHT

President Creelman Will Address Meeting in the Collegiate Institute.

Pres. G. C. Creelman of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, while unknown personally to many of the citizens of Peterborough, needs no particular introduction. His fame has gone before him. The fact that in recent years he has been addressing Canadian Clubs from one end of this province to the other will ensure a packed house at this evening's session of the Short Course, which is to be held in the Auditorium of the Collegiate Institute. President Creelman is not only in close touch with agriculture, but is very popular as a speaker. He is sure to please those who are so fortunate as to hear him this evening.

In addition to President Creelman, Mr. Jas. Thompson, M. P. P., for East Peterborough and Mr. C. M. MacRae, Ottawa will also speak. A feature of the evening will be the presentation of prizes to those who won in the Good Farms Competition conducted during the past year by Farm and Dairy, especially for Peterborough County. Miss Pringle, soloist, and Miss Kathleen Wallis, violinist, will provide the musical part of the programme. Mayor Morrow will occupy the chair. The meeting is absolutely free. All are welcome. Ladies are especially invited.

THE HEART A GREAT WORKER

What a wonder is the heart! Day and night it works away pumping tons of blood through the body and never tires or wears out so long as it is supplied with rich, red blood, such as is formed by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. While sending supplies of nutrition to other parts of the body the heart renews and rebuilds its own wasted cells and so retains health and strength.

BIRTH

ROBERTS.—In Peterborough, on Sunday, Jan. 23, to Mrs. W. Roberts a daughter.

The Strathconas City League team will practise to-night at Brock St. rink between 7 and 8 o'clock. A full practice is expected in view of to-morrow night's game with Keene.

GUARD THEIR HEALTH!

Children Who Grow Very Fast Need Careful Watching.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills would make her healthy and happy.

Next to infancy, the years between ten or twelve and eighteen are the most critical in life, especially for the boys and girls who grow too fast. Rapid growth and the physical changes that are taking place render them particularly liable to weakness and disorders of the digestive system, kidneys or lungs that very frequently, when allowed to run on, condemn them to a lifetime of suffering.

It is most important that at this period of life those organs which carry off the body's waste and impurities—the bowels, the kidneys and the skin—should be kept active and vigorous.

Nothing will do this more effectively than that good old-fashioned remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. It acts directly on each of these organs, enabling them to do their work properly, and thus keeps the whole system pure and healthy.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are still made from precisely the same formula as when our grandparents used them, for nothing better has ever been devised.

REEVE MOHER OF DOURO THE NEW COUNTY WARDEN

Opening Session of the County Council Began To-day at 2 o'clock—Mr. Moher's Nomination Was Unopposed—Warden's Address.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS

Mr. Frank Moher, Reeve of Douro, was the unanimous choice of the members of the County Council for the position of Warden for 1910 at the first meeting of the new year, held to-day. This is the initial session

WARDEN F. MOHER,

for the new term and the most important of the preliminary work was the selecting of a member for the Wardenship. This position was held last year by Reeve R. N. Scott, of Smith, who retired from municipal life for a time at least in December. The members of the County Council this year are as follows:

Last year's members returned:
Robert Shaw—Reeve of Harvey.
J. Knox—Reeve of Havelock.
Archie Breault—Reeve of Norwood.
W. H. Comstock—Reeve of Asphodel.
Frank Moher—Reeve of Douro.
T. Graham—Reeve of Smith.
W. B. Stewart—Deputy-Reeve of Otonabee.
C. J. Darling—Reeve of Dummer.
W. Tucker—Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther
W. Hales—Reeve of Chandos.
C. Coben—Reeve of Galway and Cavendish.
Jas. Russell—Reeve of Belmont and Methuen.

The following are the new members:
John H. Garbutt—Deputy Reeve of Smith.
W. Porter—Reeve of Otonabee.
John Young—Reeve of Ennismore.
E. A. Tanner—Reeve of Lakefield.
W. G. Howden—Reeve of North Monaghan.

Moved by Mr. Coben, seconded by Mr. Breault, that Mr. Moher be warden for 1910.

Mr. Elliott called for further nominations but none were forthcoming and Mr. Moher was thereupon announced Warden. He retired, accompanied by his mover and seconder and returned wearing the Warden's gown. He was greeted with a round of applause as he resumed the chair.

His Address.

Speaking to the Council Warden Moher said he appreciated the honour which had been bestowed upon him by his appointment. He would strive not to abuse the trust imposed upon him. "I am not presumptuous enough to think that it was on account of any exceptional qualities I possessed that you selected me as Warden, but because you were doing justice to the township I represent. I hope that the same good will and fellowship will prevail in the future as in the past, and that the county's business this year will be transacted with the utmost satisfaction to the people whom we represent. The standing committees will have to be chosen this afternoon, and while I believe none of the members to be inefficient I trust that the most efficient will be selected for the chairmanships. I again thank you, one and all, for this honour conferred upon me to-day.

The new councillors are all quite prominent men, and in practically every case have seen considerable service.

Mr. Graham moved up from the Deputy Reeveship to the Reeveship of Smith, and Mr. J. H. Garbutt was elected deputy. Mr. Porter, of Otonabee, succeeding Mr. John Fife, was on the Council in 1907, and 1908. Mr. W. G. Howden, E. A. Tanner and John Young were the other new men. They were formally introduced to the other members by Mr. Elliott, the clerk. The latter announced that all the members had shown themselves duly qualified and called the roll. All the members were present. Mr. Elliott then called for nominations for the Wardenship, occupied last year by Reeve R. N. Scott, of Smith.

A TOURIST IN SUMMER BUSINESS IN WINTER

Mr. Arthur Luetchford of Rochester a Regular Stony Lake Visitor.

Mr. Arthur R. Luetchford, of Rochester, New York,, is in the city on his first business trip on the Canadian side of the line, and while in Peterborough is meeting some of those gentlemen who are most interested in horticulture and landscape gardening. Mr. Luetchford is one of the many Rochester men who annually visit Stony Lake, and on his trip here last year was impressed with the possibilities of beautifying residences, and decided to return upon the first opportunity. He also remembered that Peterborough people in many cases take a pride in ornamenting their lawns, hence the reason of his visit. Mr. Luetchford will endeavour to introduce into Peterborough a number of specialties in the horticultural line.

THIS PRESCRIPTION CURES KIDNEYS

Makes Backache and Other Distress Disappear as if by Magic—Stops Bladder Irritation and Restores Healthy Conditions.

This excellent prescription sanctioned by Dr. Lewis Baker, formerly physician and surgeon with The British Medical Institute, can be readily prepared at home or by any well-stocked druggist, as it contains nothing of a harmful nature, and really makes backache, and kidney and bladder misery disappear as if by magic. It is recommended, that the moment anyone suspects any kidney, bladder or urinary trouble that this fine prescription be used.

Some symptoms are lame back, painful stitches, inflamed and swollen eyes, nervous headache, irritability, dizziness, swollen ankles, tired, aching limbs and frequent smarting or burning urination, especially at night. The reader, old or young, may take this preparation with the certain knowledge that there is probably nothing any where which will do so much good for the kidneys and besides it is safe and cheap to take regularly until all trouble ceases. Mix fluid extract buchu 1 oz., compound fluid balmwort 1 oz., and syrup sarsaparilla compound 4 ozs. Take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring.

DISAGREE ALREADY

Three Months Is the Length of Time One Critic Gives the New Government—Asquith Favors Abolishing the Lords' Veto on Finance Bills, But Radicals Would Go Further—Nationalists Sore.

London, Jan. 26.—Five hundred and fifty-nine members of the new Parliament have been elected. They are distributed as follows: Unionists 238, Liberals 213, Laborites 36, Nationalists 72.

Unionist gains continue with unbroken regularity. Out of 33 results declared yesterday, they had nine gains, of which one was in Scotland and one in Ireland. Against these, the Liberals were only able to set two gains in Scotland, Lanarkshire, Govan and N. W. The Unionists gained Renfrewshire East.

The air is full of suggestions of compromise, but nothing is likely to be decided until the Prime Minister calls a meeting of the Cabinet next week for a Parliamentary discussion of the terms of the royal speech for the opening of the new Parliament.

Various measures are expected to be promised in the King's speech, including Welsh disestablishment, unemployment insurance and the veto of the House of Lords. The veto question will be the first taken up after the address in reply to the King's speech is disposed of, according to rumor from a reliable source last night.

Premier Asquith's present idea is only to propose that the House of Lords be deprived of the power of vetoing finance bills, but it is practically certain that such a restricted measure will not satisfy the Nationalists, to say nothing of the Radicals, and unless the Government proposes to limit the Lords' veto on all legislation, it is exceedingly likely that there will be a split in the Liberal ranks.

Mr. Asquith's position promises to be one of great difficulty, says one writer, and although both sides denounce any suggestion of compromise, such a course is not improbable, but it is difficult to see what form it can take. Some suggest an independent neutral administration with Lord Rosebery presiding, but even if he would accept office, which is very doubtful, the parties would still be in an exceedingly precarious and restless state. If another election within the next three months is to be avoided, extensive concessions are imperative.

Meat Too Dear for Mrs. Green.

New York, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Hattie Green, who has more millions than most persons have hundreds, declared yesterday that meat is too dear for her, at present prices.

Mrs. Green entered a modest uptown restaurant and scanned the bill of fare. Steak she found at 50 cents a portion, and roast lamb and roast beef at 35 cents. She took halibut, at fifteen cents.

"Have you joined the boycott?" asked a friend.

"No," said Mrs. Green, "but meat is too high. You don't get your money's worth. People really can't afford to eat it. There are other things just as good and cheaper."

Notable Day In India.

Calcutta, Jan. 26.—The new Imperial Legislative Council through which the natives will be afforded a larger share in the administration of the affairs of British India, met for the first time yesterday.

Lord Minto, the viceroy, who presided, described the event as a "great historical occasion, opening a new era with the inauguration of broader principles of government." While admitting that "much of the existing political discontent is thoroughly justifiable," he declared that the "British administration will no longer tolerate the preachings of the revolutionary press and is now determined to bridle literary license."

Lightning Brings Wealth.

Dalhart, Texas, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Jos. Pettis yesterday declared that a bolt of lightning struck the ground on the mountain-side near her farmhouse recently and uncovered a spring of crude oil, which is now producing 200 barrels daily. The land hitherto barely yielded enough to support her

COMPANY'S ESTIMATE OF THE DEAD IS NOW PLACED AT 40

C. P. R. Official in Interview Gives Reason for Alleged Tardiness in Issuing Reports---Says it Was Not as Bad as Was Reported---No Idea Yet of the Cause.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—It was stated at the Canadian Pacific headquarters last night that five more bodies had been discovered in the river at Webb wood— that of Lavery, the C.P.R. fireman, J. Lucant, a foreigner from Rhinelander, Wisconsin; Frank Morrison, bound for Ekoba, Ont.; Dr. McLellan of Sudbury, and Charles Carey, the airbrake inspector, who was on the train. This brings the company's official list of dead up to forty.

Strenuous efforts are still being made by divers to search the wreckage under the ice in the river in case there should be still more bodies there, but this is difficult work, as the wreckage is under heavy ice, while the bottom of the river is soft mud, covered with wreckage.

The conviction is expressed by the Canadian Pacific officials that the list of dead has been almost closed, as the present list of dead, injured and others tallies closely with the number supposed to have been on the train. Exact figures are unobtainable, since it was not possible to find just how many people were on the train at the time the accident happened, while in the confusion after the accident a number of those who sustained minor injuries or were unhurt left the place without any record.

In an official statement yesterday afternoon regarding the affair Mr. D. McNicoll, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, said: "There is no truth in many of the reports which have been sent out regarding the Webbwood accident, especially as to the circumstances surrounding the death of the victims. We have reported the names of the victims as we were able to secure them, and we have taken every possible care of everybody who was so unfortunate as to be in the accident. I may say that the officials of the Canadian Pacific feel the blow ten times more severely than those who have been writing about it.

"It was bad enough, God knows, without making it appear worse than it was.

"As far as can be ascertained there was nobody, living or dead on the car when it was burned. I have met several who were on the scene immediately after the accident, before the wrecked car caught fire, and they all state that there was no one on the car when it was burnt. The stories of injured people being cremated are pure fiction. Our reports from the hospitals show that none of the injured suffered from burns, the only one who showed any signs of fire being a boy whose hair was singed. Since the accident everything possible has been done to look after the injured, and to treat the bodies of the dead with every consideration."

As to the cause of the accident, Mr. McNicoll stated that this had not yet been discovered. Mr. J. W. Leonard returned yesterday from the scene, but had not been able to find any evidence which would show what had derailed the car which caused the smash.

"I have seen half a dozen people," said the vice-president, "who were on the train, and they state that it was running sharp on time, and proceeding at its usual rate of thirty to thirty-five miles an hour. There is no ground for the theory that the train was running at excessive speed, and there are so many causes which might have led to the derailing of the car that it is impossible to theorize. An investigation will be held, both by the coroner there, and the engineers of the Railway Commission, and the C.P.R. will do everything in its power to bring out the facts."

TRADITION IS BROKEN

Many Illustrious Visitors Attend the Opening of the Second Session of the Twelfth Parliament — Premier Gives It a Business Touch by Starting Work of Sitting on First Day — New Members.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Leaden skies can hardly dampen the enthusiasm generated by social ambition in the breasts of the ladies fair, and perhaps in those of some of the gentlemen as well, who are wont to turn the Legislative Chamber at the Parliament Buildings on the occasion of the opening of the House into a bower of beauty, in which the triumph of the modiste's art are seen in a profusion and variety which fairly bewilder the senses.

The scene in the chamber was probably the most impressive of recent years. There might have been jostling crowds outside, but the sound of it was hushed to the fortunate who had the entree. Within all was decorum. Everything was as the most fastidious master-of-ceremonies could have desired.

Precisely at the stroke of three the approach of the Lieutenant-Governor was heralded by the strains of the National Anthem, played by the band of the Royal Grenadiers, 100 men from which regiment formed the guard of honor at the main entrance. His honor, Col. Gibson, was escorted by a mounted guard of 12 men and an officer of the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

A detachment of 70 men of the 9th Field Battery, under the command of Capt. C. H. Richardson, fired the general salute of 15 guns.

The Lieutenant-Governor resplendent in his gold lace and plumed hat, was proceeded up the aisle of the chamber by Major Macdonald, A.D.C., Capt. Douglas Young, A.D.C., and Lieut. Hope Gibson. Following his honor were Gen. Cotton and a brilliantly uniformed staff of some thirty or more officers of the Toronto garrison.

The speech from the throne, while not forecasting much in the way of public legislation, contained some notable declarations, chief among which may be placed the one dealing with the question of provincial rights in the matter of power legislation.

"Considerable progress have been made, the statement runs, in carrying out the construction of the transmission lines required for the distribution of electric power to the various municipalities that entered into agreement with Hydro-Electric Commission for supplies of power. Efforts have in the meantime been made by petitions in that behalf, and otherwise, to secure disallowance of the legislation of last session passed at the request of municipalities interested, having for its object confirmation of the contracts entered into between the municipalities and the commission. The answer of the province to these petitions, forwarded on 7th December, 1909, firmly resisted interference with legislation clearly within the limit of provincial jurisdiction, but up to the present time my Government has received no information as to a decision by the Dominion Government.

"In view of the remarkable and continuous advance in the price of foodstuffs, the attention of the Dominion Parliament is called to the situation created and an enquiry suggested."

After the Lieutenant-Governor had left the House the Speaker ascended the dias and read prayers.

Then the two new members who had been elected since the last session made their maiden bow to the Speaker. James W. Doyle, M.P.P. for North Middlesex, was introduced by Sir James Whitney. The sponsor of Robert M. Mason, M.P.P. for East Victoria, was Hon. Col. Matheson.

Mr. Speaker then announced in the moss-grown formula that "to prevent mistakes" he had obtained a copy of the speech from the throne, which he duly threatened to read to the House. Sir James, as usual, murmured "dispensed," and the assembly was spared the reiteration. On the motion of the Premier, seconded by Hon. J. J. Foy, a motion was introduced and carried to take the speech into consideration at to-day's session. Sir James Whitney then moved the usual standing committees.

Departing from the time-honored custom of introducing 'pro forma" a "bill respecting the administration of oaths of office to justice of the peace," in order to maintain the prerogative of the House to proceed to business before considering the address, the Premier announced that he intended to take advantage of the occasion to introduce some 33 bills prepared by the judges who have been engaged on the revision of the statutes. These, which were all in the nature of consolidations, were given a first reading, and will come up for the second reading this afternoon.

The House then adjourned till 3 p.m. to-day.

After the session nearly all the guests proceeded to the Speaker's apartments, where an informal reception was held.

TO EXAMINE THE CHARGES

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday moved a resolution calling upon the House to appoint a special committee of five members, to conduct an enquiry into charges of lack of faith made by Hugh Lumsden, former chief engineer of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission, against the engineers in district B, east of Quebec, and in district F.

The Premier read a letter from Hon. S. N. Parent, chairman of the commission, asking that a Parliamentary enquiry be instituted. Sir Wilfrid said that it would not be the duty of the House to fix the amount of overclassification, but to establish whether or not there had been bad faith and wrong classification, due to ignorance or to other causes.

Haughton Lennox (South Simcoe) presented the opposition view. Nothing would satisfy the country, he said, but an enquiry covering the whole line from Moncton to Winnipeg. Mr. Fielding had informed Parliament that the cost of the Moncton Quebec section would not exceed $25,000 per mile, and that the Winnipeg Quebec section would be built to $28,000 per mile.

Mr. Fielding: "I made the statement on the authority of Collingwood Schreiber, consulting engineer of the Government."

Mr. Lennox said that the actual cost of the line so far had been $53,000 per mile, on the portion construct ed by J. D. McArthur. The resolution was a gold brick. The progress charges had not been withdrawn, but had been stiffened. The power behind the throne which was causing the Government to institute what he regarded as a fake investigation, was the chairman of the commission. When Mr. Parent pulled the wires the Premier had to dance.

He moved in conclusion that a committee of seven members be appointed to investigate all charges and all other matters connected with or relating to construction of eastern division of the railway and the expenditure of public moneys thereon.

Hon. Mr. Graham said that Mr. Lennox's remarks were a splendid illustration of the necessity of having an independent tribunal to adjust disputes, as the one in question. Good progress had been made with the arbitration and since the retirement of Lumsden as chief engineer, there had been but one instance where two chief engineers had failed to agree.

While Waiting

A Chance Meeting and What Happened Between Trains.

By SARA G. IGLEHART

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

"Two days' limit," said Willis Bates as he looked doubtfully at the ticket. "Can I make it in that time?"

"Yes," and the agent pushed some change through the window and waited expectantly for the next man in the line, "we make close connections. Ten minutes stop at Columbia and twenty at Charlotte for dinner. Jacksonville? Nine-ten." And Bates felt himself pushed unceremoniously aside by a portly man, who was eager to exchange a banknote for the ticket which was being stamped.

"That's your train on the outside track," the agent called warningly. "Better hurry."

As this advice was accentuated by a sharp "All aboard!" and a rush of a few belated passengers toward the outside track, Bates snatched up his hand bag and sprang forward.

"Whew, that was certainly a close connection!" he said grimly as he swung himself on the rear car of the moving train. "If I keep on at this rate I'll get through in time for the sale, and that will mean a thousand dollars in my pocket. Lucky I thought of it."

The parlor car was full, so Bates went on until he found a seat with a loquacious, insistent hotel runner. Just across was a bright looking woman in a plain travelling suit, and he glanced at her with sudden, half recognizing inquiry.

But a traveler is always running across faces that look familiar, and his attention was soon engrossed in warding off the advances of the hotel runner.

The train rushed on with the vehement, noisy impetuosity peculiar to southern trains, as though striving to give an impression of terrific speed, and the fine South Carolina dust sifted in through the windows and spread thickly over the dingy plush seats, calling forth handkerchiefs and impatient exclamations from the passengers and swirling now and then into angry clouds at the feeble onslaught of the train boy's broom.

Once he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics and at Charlotte was glad to leave his companion and join the rush toward the railroad restaurant. As a general thing he avoided such places. There were apt to be poor food and service, and not infrequently one was served so late that he could only snatch a few mouthfuls before it was time to hurry for the train.

But here he was agreeably disappointed, and when he went to the desk near the door to leave his 75 cents it was with a feeling of satisfaction at not having been imposed upon. Outside he looked at his watch. It still lacked five minutes of train time, so he walked leisurely down the platform.

As he turned to come back he found himself face to face with the woman who sat opposite him in the car. For a moment they gazed squarely into each other's eyes, then both started forward.

"Aren't you Charlie Holbrook?" the woman asked eagerly. "I thought I knew you on the train."

"Yes, and you are, or was, Alice Durfee," Bates said, no less eagerly "My, but I'm glad to meet you! Let me see, it's eighteen years since I left the old village, and I haven't seen a soul from there since. How are they all—your mother, and Henry Taber, and my cousin, Bob Bates? Bob's the only kin I have, but he and I never did get on well together. Oh, I beg your pardon"—hurriedly—"I forgot."

"My mother died ten years ago," she answered steadily. "After that I came south and have only been back once since. Henry Taber had the postoffice the last I knew, and Bob"—

There was a significant movement across the platform, and Bates glanced at his watch.

"It's time to get on board!" he exclaimed. "We'll finish our talk in the car."

But the woman drew back.

"This isn't my train," she said. "I wait here two hours."

"Really?" with sudden dismay in his voice. "Why, I was counting on a good long talk. Is Bob—your husband—along?"

She looked surprised.

"I don't know what you mean," she answered. "I have never married. I came south ten years ago in search of work and have been teaching school ever since. You'll miss your train."

It was already gliding down the platform, but he neither noticed it nor her warning. In his eyes was an expression of incredulous inquiry.

"Isn't Bob Bates"—

She motioned toward the train.

"You'll miss it!" she cried again; then her hand dropped to her side. "There; it is too late! Was it very important?" anxiously.

"Yes—no—that is, I guess so," he answered indifferently. "A thousand dollars, I believe"

A man with the emblematic S. R. on his cap came down the platform, and Bates called him with a gesture.

"How long before the next train north?" he demanded.

"An hour and forty minutes."

"Good!" turning to her, with beaming satisfaction. "And you have to wait two hours. That will give us plenty of time to talk. Now," with a strange eagerness in his voice, "do you mean to tell me that you did not marry Bob Bates the fall I left?"

"Certainly I did not," wonderingly. "I never married anybody, much less Bob Bates. I never liked that man."

"Strange, and he told me"—

"What?" she demanded sharply.

"Why, that you were promised to him and that—well, what he told me was the cause of my leaving and of my not communicating with any one in the old village during all these years. And to think"— Here a truck load of trunks was pushed rapidly toward them, and they were forced aside. Bates caught the eye of a waiting hackman and nodded. A moment later the carriage stood beside the platform, with the driver holding open the door for them to enter.

"A station platform is no place to talk," said Bates genially. "Suppose we take a drive through some of the quiet streets of the city. We have plenty of time." Then he looked at her with a new thought in his eyes.

"I didn't see you in the"— he began, then added hastily, "You haven't had dinner, I suppose."

"No," hesitating and flushing a little. "I"—

"Oh, I understand," quickly. "You are like me and can't put up with the makeshifts of a railroad restaurant. Now, I'll tell you what," unblushingly, "I'm about as hungry as a man can be. There's a nice hotel in back somewhere. We'll go to that and have dinner, and then we'll drive about the city and talk until train time."

There was hesitation, almost refusal, on her face; but, feigning not to notice it, he urged her into the carriage and then sprang in himself and motioned for the driver to close the door.

An hour passed and then a half hour, and soon after a train rumbled into the station and then rumbled away. Twenty minutes more and another train arrived and departed. As it disappeared the carriage again whirled up beside the station.

"Has my train gone?" the woman asked anxiously as she reached the platform.

"I'm afraid it has," he answered, "and my train, too, with its possible thousand dollars. We've been gone a little over two hours. Driver," severely, "you ought not to have taken us so far."

There was grave concern in his voice, but in his eyes was a sly twinkle, which she did not notice. The driver twirled his hat apologetically in one hand, but into the other a generous tip had been slipped, so he was silent.

"It is really too bad," Bates continued sympathetically. "There is only one more train out today, and that goes toward Richmond. But I'll tell you what," as though struck by a sudden solution of the problem, "suppose we take that. You know what you have promised me at the end of three months. Now, what is the use of waiting that long? You have no pension, and I have none, and if you go back to that school you have been telling me about it will be to unappreciative employers and at wages that will scarce pay your expenses. I have a good house waiting for somebody to look after it and more money in the bank than I know what to do with. Now, my idea is for us to go to a minister. You know where a minister lives, don't you?" to the driver.

"Yis, sorr," grinning.

"And then come back and take the train for Richmond. It is a very nice city, and you are bound to like it. How does the scheme strike you?"

Evidently it struck her unfavorably or as something too astounding to admit even of a reply.

"Good!" he said beamingly. "Silence means consent. Now we will drive back to the hotel and write a couple of letters. You tell the school committee that unforeseen circumstances prevented your returning, and I will write that the same kind of circumstances have kept me from attending the sale. Come."

She parted her lips as though to protest and even tried to draw back, but her heart was with this man who had been so much to her youth and who had returned, and in the end she entered the carriage with him and the door was again closed by the driver.

It is said that the groom is usually the one to show trepidation at a wedding, but in this case it was the bride. In a twinkling the whole course of her life had been turned. She was being transformed from a schoolteacher to a wife. But in her breast was that satisfaction at being permitted to give up that struggle with the world which is natural to men and usually distasteful to women. Instead a vision glimmered before her eyes—a vision of home, husband and children—and, despite such gasps as one will take at being swung over a precipice, she was happy.

An hour later this driver was standing on the platform of the station watching the train rumble away toward Richmond. Not until it had disappeared did he climb back to his box and drive toward home. Bridget, his wife, was preparing supper when he came in from the stable.

"Och, Pat," she called in sudden apprehension, "how come yez so soon? It is bad luck ye've been havin' the day?"

"Troth, no, Biddy," catching her in his arms and swinging her about the room and then slipping a crisp new ten dollar bill in her hand. "That's for the new clothes the childers made."

Titanium.

Titanium makes up about two-fifths of 1 per cent of the earth's crust and exceeds in quantity all other heavy metals together except iron. The proportion of iron is about 5 per cent. The bulk of the crust is nonmetallic, 50 per cent being oxygen and 25 per cent silicon.

Iceland.

Iceland exports sulphur, Iceland moss, wool, dried fish, seal skins and oil, whale oil and baleen, eiderdown, birdskins and ponies. It manufactures are entirely domestic.

Eel and Catfish.

Both the eel and the catfish are generally supposed to be scaleless, which is far from the truth, as both bear scales, although these are so minute that they can be seen only with a microscope. In the case of the eel scientists are enabled to tell its age by the size of the scales with which it is covered.

Plymouth Breakwater.

The breakwater at Plymouth, England, contains 3,800,000 tons of stone, or as much as the great pyramid of Cheops.

The Great Bustard.

The heaviest bird that flies is the great bustard. In size it exceeds the Norwegian blackcock. The old males weigh about thirty-five pounds, but when food is plentiful the young males may weigh forty pounds. Great bustards were formerly as plentiful in western Europe as partridges. Now they are rarely found.

A Crimson Secret.

The inhabitants of Fair island, north of Scotland, for centuries have closely guarded a secret process for dyeing textiles a vivid crimson.

Comets.

Some comets have shown puzzling eccentricities. One broke up into five small comets, which pursued parallel paths. The tail of a second showed kinks as if it had been hit in the side by an invisible body. It is not unusual for comets to have two or more tails, and at least one has been observed which threw out lateral branches.

Roman Pottery.

The ancient Romans excelled in making pottery. They possessed regular mould ovens and even a sort of gas-driven gas oven.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

How Anglo-Saxons Lived a Century and a Half Ago.

Do we take our pleasures more sadly than did our forefathers of one hundred and fifty years ago? Tastes, of course, like manners and customs, change with the times, and there is a refinement about our life to-day which were certainly lacking in that of our forbears. But they were certainly none the less happy, and it is an open question whether they did not obtain more enjoyment from their rollicking, boisterous manners and amusements than we do from our more calm and quieter pleasures.

To the old-fashioned squire, for instance, there was only one word which had any meaning—sport. He would travel miles to see a cock-fight or a couple of pugilists batter themselves for $25, while fox-hunting was with him a sort of religion. The four golden rules which one of this class set up in his house and adhered to were: "Fear God; honor the King; love your neighbor; and preserve your foxes."

A certain sporting colonel chose Cambridge for his son because they made the best saddles and bridles there; while another fox-hunter entertained an adverse opinion concerning university education owing to seeing some young men in the hunting-field shirk the fences.

There are many other amusing hunting stories told in Mr. Ralph Nevill's book, "The Merry Past," of men who stood upon their heads to let the water run out of their top-boots; of uproarious hunt-suppers and speeches, the vigor of which was considerably increased as the port wine circulated. Mr. Nevill mentions the speech of one old squire, which is particularly interesting at the moment.

"'I'm for the King and Constitution,' said the old squire. 'I'm for the Church, but not for tithes, unless they go to the landlords. I'm for nobody but gentlemen learning to read. I'll vote for corn at one hundred shillings a quarter, and none of your mouldy foreign stuff; that every squire shall have as many horses and dogs as he likes without paying taxes, and that every poacher shall be hung or shot. God save the King!'"

There is a story told, too, of a gallant colonel who, being elected a representative of one of the eastern counties, gave a public entertainment to the electors after the fatigue of the contest, and, on his health being drunk, addressed his constituents in the following laconic speech:

"Gentlemen,—I am no orator, and therefore you must not expect from me a fine speech. That I can fight, I believe none of you can doubt; that I can drink, you shall all be assured of before we part. So God bless you all, and leave me to defend your rights."

"The drinking habits of the English in the past," says Mr. Nevill, "were of such a kind as to make the records beyond belief. At Harwich, for instance, three topers, determined to have a thorough soaking, set to one day and drank fifty-seven quarts of upright—that is to say, a quart of beer with a quartern of gin in it—within the space of six and a half hours. On their taking leave of each other for home one of them declared that he was still thirsty, and stopped, smoked a pipe, and drank a pint more to himself."

People With Queer Names.

A Liverpool lady named Mrs. Rose had a pretty daughter to whom she gave the name "Wild" — the name Wild "Rose" was so sweetly pretty. The young lady thought so too, until in course of time she married Mr. Bull, and then the signature, "Wild Bull," was neither sweet nor pretty.

But for real curiosities in the way of names we must go to the country from which so many other curiosities spring—America. A little local newspaper published at Cherry Valley (that's a pretty name), in New York State, lately printed the following paragraph: "A man up in Oswego County by the name of Burst gave the census enumerator the names of his three children in full. They were—John Wood Burst, Nellie May Burst, and Charles Will Burst. This is in line with Senator Hogg's names for his children — Ima Hogg and Ura Hogg."

The father of Lord Magheramorne was Douglas McGarel-Hogg, before he was made a baron in 1887. His wife was one evening at a dance, when some of the young gentlemen made references to her name. One of them, talking rather freely to a young lady to whom he was hurriedly introduced for a dance, and whose name he did not quite catch, said to her, in allusion to Mrs. Hogg, "The old sow is going to give a dance next week. I should like to meet you there." "Oh, if you go, you very likely will," said the girl. "I am one of the little pigs!" It was Mrs. McGarel-Hogg's daughter with whom he was dancing!

Good Gluten, Madam, is the Soul of Flour

Gluten it is that gives to your dough consistency and elasticity, which makes it expand, which compels it to rise fourfold in your oven.

The more and better gluten in your flour the more water it will absorb and retain.

The more bread you get for the same money and mighty fine bread it is.

So that there is such a thing as Flour Economy.

Gluten, Mistress Housewife, is the active principle in FIVE ROSES flour, the framework of your loaf.

Without which your bread and pastries would be heavy and soggy, putty-like; like lead on the stomach, like lead on your baking aspirations.

Some flours are white—even very white—yet make loaves in appearance poor and dingy, all for the lack of gluten.

Not so with FIVE ROSES, Madam.

Milled it is from the wholesome, polished Manitoba Spring Wheat berries, the cream of the kernels alone.

Therefore is it exceeding rich in gluten of the best color and strength.

There is no more glutinous flour than FIVE ROSES, as your results will prove.

And it's a word to conjure with, Madam.

Coming from your oven in delicious batches of glorious shapely loaves that gladden the eye—thin crackling crust that is tooth-teasing—a beautiful golden bloom crisp yet tender.

Evenly distented pile and yielding crumb of a smooth, velvety texture.

Loaves that are close-cutting, featherweight, that keep fresh for days without crumbling.

If you now feel ashamed of your baking, Madam, and want to know the joy of good work well done, time well spent.

If you want your money's worth, your labor's worth, your time's worth—

Surely, YOU will get FIVE ROSES.

WHAT CAUSES THE BLUES

London, Eng.—Doctors have discovered that the "blues" or "mental depression and irritability" is really a disease caused by defective circulation in the cells of the brain.

The "British Health Review" says "by improving the circulation, there is an immediate improvement in the mental outlook".

If this is the case, we Canadians do not have to wait for the foreign scientists to pursue their investigations any farther. We have the cure for the "blues" in those wonderful fruit liver tablets called "Fruit-a-tives".

It is doubtful if the greatest physicians abroad will ever discover anything to equal "Fruit-a-tives" to purify and enrich the blood and improve the circulation.

They go straight to the root of the trouble, stimulating the torpid liver and kidneys and regulating the bowels. Thus they cleanse the whole system and renew vitality, mental as well as physical.

MOST WEALTHY HUSBANDS.

Confessions of a London Matrimonial Agent.

The other day a reporter was having lunch at a famous restaurant in the Strand, London. Seated at the same table was a well-groomed gentleman, with whom he entered into conversation and secured a number of facts regarding matrimonial agencies which were quite startling.

"You would be surprized," said my table companion, "at the amount of money which is made in London and other large towns by matrimonial agents who succeed in marrying lady clients to wealthy husbands. After experience as a matrimonial agent extending over a period of fifteen years I have come to the conclusion that women are far more business-like and ambitious in their matrimonial projects than men. And they do not quibble about paying you whatever fee you may ask—within reason, of course—for securing for them the husband they want.

"About eighteen months ago a lady came to me and told me frankly that she was looking for a husband with at least $10,000 a year. She was extremely good-looking, accomplished, and to all outward appearance a lady She was, in fact, a governess in a titled family. To quote her own words, however, she was 'sick of the life,' and wanted to marry a man who could provide her with a fairly luxurious home, in return for which she would help him with his work and ambitions.

"Husbands with $10,000 a year, of course, do not grow on gooseberry bushes, but I felt sure that a lady with such personal attractions would have no difficulty in impressing any man looking for a wife. Ultimately I introduced her to a young iron manufacturer with a prosperous business, who was so smitten with her that they were married a few days after the introduction. The last I heard of them was that they were extremely happy together, and the husband was never tired of talking about his wife's clever business methods.

"I get a lot of letters from lady clerks, shop girls, and even barmaids, asking me to introduce them to well-to-do husbands; but as a rule they have little to recommend them, and I am obliged to tell them that I have no client who would suit. Of course, I know that many agencies run on fraudulent lines make a practice of taking fees from such girls with no intention whatever of finding them husbands. But it would not be worth my while to do business in that manner."

The usual procedure of a matrimonial agent is to send, in the first place, a letter on the following lines to a prospective client:

Dear Madam, I am in receipt of your favor, and am confident that I can bring about an early and desirable marriage for you. I have a number of clients who, I am sure, would be pleased to make your acquaintance with a view to matrimony. If you will forward remittance according to scale of fees stated in circular, I will at once place you in communication with a selection of most suitable clients.—Yours faithfully.

John and Hannah.

The late Bishop Fowler was a broad-minded man. Bigotry he abhorred. Creed, he claimed, should never hedge one good Christian from another. Sincere creeds, no matter how diverse, should, on the contrary, bind Christians together.

Bishop Fowler used to tell about a young couple, John Smith and Hannah Jones.

John Smith was a Presbyterian, Hannah Jones was a Baptist. They hesitated about marrying because they feared that in after life, when the little ones came, religious disputes might arise. Thus the years passed. Neither would renounce their church. John Smith grew bald and Hannah Jones developed lines about her mouth and eyes. It was a complete deadlock, the world said.

Then John was sent abroad for a year by his firm to buy fancy goods. He and Hannah corresponded regularly. Toward the year's end, by a remarkable coincidence, each received from the other a letter, the two letters crossing in the mails. They said:

"Friend John, The obstacles that stood in the way of our marriage have at last been removed. This day I was received in full membership in the Presbyterian Church.—Hannah."

"Dearest Hannah,—We have no longer any ground for delaying our union further. I united myself this day with the Baptist Church—John."

Considerate.

Muggins is not handsome, and he knows it. When his first baby was born he asked, "Does it look like me?"

Of course they replied in the affirmative.

"Well," said he, with a sigh, "break it to my wife gently."—London Tit-Bits.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

MONEY IN POLITICS.

British Statesmen Could Have Been Wealthy In Other Businesses.

"If I had stuck to my profession and left politics severely alone," the late Sir William Harcourt is reported to have said towards the end of his life, "I should have been a richer man to-day by at least $500,000, and I am quite sure many other men who have enjoyed what are called the 'plums of office' could say pretty much the same."

And no doubt the statement was perfectly true, for there is surely no profession which rewards its most gifted followers so poorly as that of politics.

For more than sixty years the late W. E. Gladstone devoted his great abilities and untiring energy to politics for a money reward which did not average the salary of some bank managers or newspaper editors; and this although he spent much more than a quarter of a century in office, and for sixteen of these years drew $25,000 a year. His official earnings during the whole of his long life-time only totalled, roughly, $575,000, representing an average of $8,275 a year. Had the great statesman devoted himself as enthusiastically to, let us say, the Bar, he might reasonably have trebled his revenue as a Minister of the Crown.

Lord Salisbury's political triumphs paid him only at an average rate of $250 a week, spread over his forty-seven years of labor, although for twenty years as Indian and Foreign Secretary and First Lord of the Admiralty his revenue was a yearly $25,000. If his lordship had even remained true to his clever pen during all these years of toil at statesmanship he might have hoped to fare as well financially.

The late Duke of Devonshire was nineteen and a half years in office, and drew $320,000 of Government money; but his average income from this source, spread over all the years of his political life, was under $7,000—or less than the pay of an Under Secretary. Viscount Cross was nearly half a century at Westminster for $370,000, or less than $8,000 a year—an income which he could at least have trebled in a profession. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain would never have grown rich from statesmanship as he has done from commerce; for in a quarter of a century all his takings were $195,000, a sum which he has probably made in a single year of business life at Birmingham. This, too, although he had more than his share of the "plums" in the shape of eleven years of office out of twenty-five.

Lord Lansdowne's long work at politics, covering forty-three years, has only added $170,000 to his exchequer, a sum probably less than his broad acres yield in three months. Lord George Hamilton has drawn $340,000 in forty-one years—or a yearly average of $8,300, which cannot be regarded as an extravagant reward for a man of his abilities. The late Lord Goschen was but little better off with $350,000 for a still longer service; and Lord Rosebery's share of the "plums," during forty years and more, is only valued at $88,000, the price he might pay for a couple of racehorses.

Of course, it may fairly be contended that many, if not all of these statesmen, are rich enough to be quite independent of their political earnings—to be able to treat statesmanship as a lucrative hobby. But it cannot be denied that such abilities as theirs would have commanded much greater rewards in other walks of life.

Why People Live Longer Now?

Unquestionably, under modern conditions, despite the added stress of existence, we live longer than our forefathers did. All who read this paragraph who are of average physique have a reasonable "expectation of life," something like ten years in excess of the others grandparents. The annual death-rate for the whole of Great Britain, is about nineteen in each thousand men, and seventeen in each thousand women. In 1838 it was twenty-three for men, and twenty-two for women. This improvement is not shown so much among old people, however, as among the young. These interesting figures are chiefly important because they show what the opening of hospitals and the great advances in medicine and surgery have done for humanity. We live longer because advancing science has shown us the way.

Lord Charlie's "Friend."

Among the stories told by Lord Charles Beresford when in Canada recently were several concerning "political friends." One was to the effect that he had just won his seat at an election, and a few days afterwards he was driving with the Prince of Wales through St. John's Wood, when they passed a frowsy-headed dame who was evidently under the influence of liquor. As she beheld the distinguished occupants of the carriage she bowed genially, and, waving her hand to the successful candidate, exclaimed: "Chawlie, I do declare! An' you've got Wyles with yer this marnin'!" His Royal Highness turned to Lord Charles Beresford and remarked: "Really, you seem to have made a great many political friends."—Westminster Gazette.

Read Diary Aloud.

A new method of raising money for foreign missions has been tried with success by a lady who resides in the far North of Scotland. She traveled during the summer in Austria, Germany, and Holland, and had kept a journal during her travels. On returning home, she invited her friends to hear the diary read aloud, charging sixpence to each person for admission.

"DOUBLES" IN REAL LIFE.

King and Lord Knollys, His Secretary, Have Exact Replicas.

The King might presumably lay claim, if he thought it worth his while, to being editor-in-chief of the "Court Circular," seeing that he inspires, by his acts or by his words, almost the whole of the matter contained therein. But it would be quite conceivable that, if an uninitiated person happened to call upon the real editor of that high-class newspaper, he might come away with the idea that it was actually and personally edited by the King of England.

Mr. David Tollemache is the editor of the "Court Circular," a man well known in press circles, but it is a strange coincidence, considering the appointment he holds, that he is so like the King that he has been mistaken for him times without number. Once when he was dining at a restaurant in Boulogne, a posse of gendarmes had hastily to be sent for to keep in order the huge crowd which had assembled to do honor to and to welcome the King of England, who they thought was paying a sort of surprise visit to the famous old seaport.

Quite a romance could be imagined with respect to two men who hold very different positions in the world, for if Lord Knollys, the urbane, tactful, kindly, polished private secretary to His Majesty the King, were to wish it to be understood that he was quietly engaged with his duties in his office at Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle, as the case might be, where he was occupied upon some strictly private business for his royal master, he could not do better than to install in his chair, pro tem, Mr. Oscar Parker, the editor of The English Illustrated Magazine. It does not follow that the journalist would be able to do the secretary's work, but he would serve as his substitute so far as appearance is concerned, for the two men are strikingly alike both in feature and figure.

There are two men in public life who could not be more alike if, instead of being absolutely unrelated, they had been twins, and—a most extraordinary coincidence —, these two gentlemen actually opposed one another in South Hackney in the General Election of 1895. Lord Justice Moulton—then Mr. Fletcher Moulton—Senior Wrangler and famous advocate, is a Liberal, and Mr. T. H. Robertson, who is also a barrister, is a Conservative, and, it goes without saying, they did not appear upon the same platform. But, had they done so, it would have been difficult to tell the one from the other, and when they appeared in their respective carriages on election day the people had to look, not at the candidate, but at the color of the ribbon upon the horses' heads and driver's whip before they could make up their minds as to whether it was their duty to cheer or to "boo."

The face and figure of Sir Edward Clarke, the famous advocate, are very familiar to the English public by reason of his Parliamentary eminence and the fact that he has been prominent in some of the greatest law cases of modern times. His side-whiskers and his strong, benevolent face would make him recognizable anywhere; but he has a double too, who, probably quite unconsciously, but nevertheless with extraordinary fidelity, reproduces Sir Edward's appearance. In face, figure, general build—even to the detail of side-whiskers—Mr. Pritchard, one of the best known of Parliamentary agents, is Sir Edward Clarke's double.

The closest resemblance between two present members of the House of Commons is that which exists between Sir James B. Yoxall, the urbane secretary of the National Union of Teachers and one of our foremost art connoisseurs, and Mr. Russell Rea, the member for Gloucester. Many a deputation, waiting upon Sir James Yoxall on some educational matter, has made a mild rush for Mr. Russell Rea, as he strolled into the lobby, wholly unconscious of what awaited him. The two gentlemen are constantly "mixed," but it is a remarkable fact that the member for Gloucester is more often mistaken for the member for Nottingham West than vice versa.

Whales.

Whales are not fish in the scientific sense, but it is interesting to note that these monsters swim at a rate of sixteen miles an hour when excited, although their ordinary speed is estimated at between four and five miles.

Bruidzuikers.

In place of wedding cake in Holland wedding sweets are given, bruidzuikers, they are called. They are handed round by children and are served in flower trimmed baskets.

Boils and Pimples.

Whenever your complexion is unnatural, your skin in an unhealthy condition, your face covered with blotches and pimples, when boils and festering sores abound then your blood is bad. You can best cleanse it with that purely vegetable compound, Burdock Blood Bitters, which safely and promptly renovates the blood and invigorates the entire system.

Boils Cured.

Mr. C. A. Mussen, Bawlf, Alta., writes: "I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as being the best blood purifier there is. About three years ago I was greatly troubled with boils and our druggist advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I have not had a boil or even a pimple."

Pimples Cured.

Mr. J. Morehouse, Zealand Station, N.B., writes: "My face and neck were covered with pimples, and I tried all kinds of remedies, but they did me no good. I went to many doctors, but they could not cure me. I then tried Burdock Blood Bitters and I must say it is a wonderful remedy for the cure of pimples."

APSLEY AND ITS CHARACTERS

Apsley still clamours for railway connection with the outside world. Every year or two the plea of the residents of Apsley, for railway connection, is revived, and only a week ago I read a lengthy letter in the Examiner from a resident of that village, making still another appeal for some one to come to their assistance. The letter went on to show that a great deal of money is each year sent from Apsley to Toronto, the people of the vicinity purchasing from catalogues, issued by the big department stores, owing to the fact that they cannot get to Peterborough, with which, politically, socially, and geographically it is otherwise associated.

Apsley, as most people of this county know, came very near having a railroad, once upon a time—so near that it has left the people of the neighbourhood sick at heart ever since. Some eight years ago, the C. P. R. had completed arrangements to run a line from Norwood to Stony Lake, around the east end of Stony Lake, and on to Apsley. It was anticipated that there would be a good revenue from the tourist traffic to Stony Lake, a large trade derived out of the working of the Iron Mines of Methuen and Burleigh, and a fair amount of trade from the vicinity of Apsley, to say nothing of the splendid hardwood district it would pass through. But when everything was ready to turn the first sod, word came from headquarters that the work was not, for the present to proceed and the anticipations of the good people of Apsley were once more dashed to atoms. Apsley therefore, has some reason to feel sore but its people through time, became resigned to their fate. Once in awhile, however, a resident of the district becomes enthusiastic again, and a letter setting forth the claim of the district for railway accommodation is issued. Whether or not steel rails will ever be laid into Apsley, the future alone can tell, but Apsley has lived for years without a railroad, and if the railroads can get along without Apsley, so can Apsley get along without a railroad.

Some Interesting Characters.

Who named Apsley, and how it got its name, I never enquired, but one thing is positively certain, and that is, that Apsley is a quaint old place, and it possesses some interesting characters. If you spend an evening at this unpretentious seat of Government, for Burleigh and Anstruther, the chances are that you will thoroughly enjoy yourself. The cordiality with which a stranger is met, and the hospitality that is extended to the visitor to Apsley, considering its possibilities, cannot be surpassed. At the same time the experiences that are related, make the visitor long to have been a resident of Apsley forty and fifty years ago.

While Apsley has its two churches, Methodist and Church of England, its village hall and general stores, no place is more popular than Zack Tucker's Village Inn. The Village Inn does not now possess a license, and, of course, no intoxicants are sold, but this was not brought about by any local option campaign. The Commissioners, some years ago, thought that Apsley could get along without whiskey, as well as without a railway, and the judgment of the Commissioners, in this respect, has been justified. But without trading in "booze," Zack Tucker's establishment prospers, and one is made to feel at home forthwith. Zack is an ideal host, deservedly popular, and keeps a first-class country stopping place.

The men of the village drop into Zack Tucker's in the evening, and soon the stranger is acquainted with almost the entire male population of the village. Perhaps Wm. Gallon is in from his farm for the evening. A fine old gentleman is Mr. Gallon, intelligent and kindly of manner. He it is who can tell of the rise and fall of the Norwood-Apsley railroad. Then there is Mr. McIlvena, the village blacksmith, who, after the day's work, calls in to welcome the strangers to the village and dilate upon the natural resources of Burleigh and Anstruther. Perhaps Ned. Wigg will be there, too; who does not know Ned Wigg? Big, tall, handsome and courteous, and who knows Jack's Lake, and every fish in it. Mr. McColl, who runs the saw-mill, may chance to be around, and Ben Cooney, the Tax Collector, and encyclopedia general, may be in Apsley for the night, and he, too, will drop into Zack Tucker's. Then there is Ben Windsor, the daddy of them all, who personally knows every muskrat in the township, and what yarns he cannot tell about hunting and trapping aren't worth hearing.

He Beats Them All.

Perhaps no more interesting gentleman calls into Zack Tucker's Inn, to greet the stranger than Dr. Bell, the Village medical practitioner. Every person in Peterborough County, I think, knows Dr. Bell. If they don't, they should. The Doctor is a real good fellow, and one can spend an hour or two in no more pleasant associations than in his company. No man has a more familiar knowledge of the northern portion of Peterborough County than Dr. Bell, and by reason of his profession he knows the residents very intimately. For many years Dr. Bell practised at Lakefield, and in his younger days was surgeon of the 6th provisional Infantry regiment, that was drawn from the Newcastle district. About eight years ago the Doctor moved to Apsley, where he enjoys a lucrative practice, and in his spare time also enjoys the fishing and hunting, for which the district is noted. The Doctor's field of practice is quite extensive, being from Lakefield on the south, to Madoc on the east, Wilberforce on the north, whilst there is no limit to the west.

Having practised at Lakefield and to the north of that village for many years, the doctor has an intimate knowledge of the early days of the lumbering interest, and the early settlement generally of Burleigh and Anstruther. As a story teller Dr. Bell has no equal, in the back country at least. He has them all beat for good stories, based on facts, and the genial Doctor enjoys telling them just as much as his friends enjoy hearing them.

Sitting in the front room of Zack Tucker's stopping place the other evening, the doctor adjusted himself comfortably in his chair and fell into a reminiscent mood. All was quiet, save for the doctor's pleasant voice, and the clatter of some of the female population of the village as they passed by the village inn, to attend a church society meeting of some kind. After telling a good number of amusing incidents, pertaining to early life in Burleigh and Anstruther, the doctor declared that he would tell one more before he would go.

Had a Law Suit.

"I remember quite well," began the doctor, as the bunch arranged themselves in such a manner as to not miss a word, "a suit I had against the Township of Burleigh and Anstruther. Dr. C—— was practising medicine at Apsley and I was practising at Lakefield. This was of course, a great many years ago. Dr. C—— was a man who occasionally imbibed too freely, and it was this fact that led to the incident I am about to relate. Dr. C—— was driving into Apsley one afternoon, and just as he entered the village he was thrown out of his carriage, and was picked up off of the road for dead. He was taken to his residence, and a messenger was despatched post haste to Lakefield for me. The messenger was given a note which he handed to me, upon his arrival at Lakefield. It was signed by James Goldburn, Reeve of the United Municipalities of Burleigh and Anstruther. Mr. Goldburn happened to be in the vicinity of the place where the accident happened, and thinking that Dr. C—— was about killed, he hurried to the nearest building where pen and ink were available, and hurriedly scratched off the note. What his motive was in signing his name as Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther, is really hard to say; it may have been merely for the purpose of identification. However, the note was signed in that way. I immediately had my team hitched up, and was soon on the road to Apsley as fast as my horses could take me. I was met at Sanderson's with a fresh team and the journey was continued in remarkably quick time. Finally I reached Apsley, and was soon at the bedside of Dr. C——. I had to take only a glance at him to discover his condition. To the anxious ones who were standing near at hand, I said, "Why the man is drunk, that's all. Dr. C—— rolled over, then glancing at me with a half laugh, exclaimed, "What in h—— did you give me away for," at the same time letting fly a pillow at me."

That Was Not All.

"That did not end the matter," continued Dr. Bell. "After a while I forwarded to the Municipalities of Burleigh and Anstruther, my account, amounting to $25.00, for my visit to attend Dr. C——. The Council did not consider the matter seriously, disclaiming any responsibility. I, therefore sued the municipalities for my account. The case came up before Judge Dennistoun. The municipalities pleaded no responsibility. Judge Dennistoun turning to me, asked me if I had anything to show that I had been engaged by the municipalities. I replied that I had, and produced the note signed by James Goldburn, Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther. "But that was not all," continued Dr. Bell, as the company began to laugh, thinking that the best of the story had been told, "that was not all. It so happened that when Mr. Goldburn ran into the nearest building to scratch off the note for a doctor, it was the building in which was located the office of the Clerk of the United Municipalities of Burleigh and Anstruther. The piece of paper which he had picked up, and on which he had written the note, was a stray piece of foolscap that was lying near at hand. It had evidently been lying there for some time. The seal of the Corporation had also evidently been lying carelessly near at hand, and some one for the want of something to do had been practising with the seal. As a matter of fact the piece of paper on which Reeve Goldburn had written his note to me contained about twenty-five impressions of the Corporation seal."

"Judge Dennistoun looked amazed to think that in such a case of emergency and requiring the immediate services of a physician, such care should be taken to place the Corporation seal on the message. James Goldburn, Reeve of Burleigh and Anstruther looked positively amazed. His signature, in his official capacity as Reeve, and the seal of the Corporation could not be denied. The case was over, and I got judgment against the Townships."

A hearty good laugh greeted the conclusion of the doctor's story, but he could not be induced to give us another. The night was getting on, and the dear old doctor left the village inn for his own fireside.

Yes, one can spend a pleasant evening in Apsley, and Dr. Bell can tell a good story. E. S. C.

MAY SECURE NEW SOCIETY QUARTERS

St. Peter's T. A. S. Officers Have to Solve Problem of Securing Greater Accommodation.

It is a well known fact that St. Peter's T. A. S. membership has outgrown the accommodation of its present quarters and as might be expected the officers have, during the past year or more, been on the lookout for larger club rooms. Many places have been considered and with the possibility of local option being enforced the officers thought of certain hotel properties which might have been turned into the real estate market in the event of local option or license reduction. Other places were examined and among them the property on Simcoe St., formerly occupied by R. Hall and Son and recently purchased from the city by Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P. While the question of securing new quarters is yet in its embryo form it is known that it will only be a matter of time until the Society secures a new location. At one stage the erection of a building was contemplated, but in any event the society's next home must afford ample accommodation for a large assembly room, bowling alleys, library, reading room, athletic club department, ladies' reading and recreation room, etc.

MAY A PAROLED PRISONER MARRY?

Question Raised in Topeka in the Case of Hal Murphy.

Topeka, Jan. 26.—Can a paroled prisoner from the penitentiary legally marry? This question has arisen to embarrass not only the State authorities, but also a young woman at Enterprise, Kas., and her family.

Hal Murphy was convicted of forgery in Geary County in 1908 and sentenced to a maximum of ten years in the penitentiary. In 1909 he was paroled. He has never been given his citizenship papers. On January 5, last, he took a license in Topeka to marry Miss Oakley E. Conant, of Enterprise, Kas. He gave his age as twenty-four. He made oath that there was no legal obstacle in the way of marriage. The couple were married the same day by Rev. Jas. Dolk, a mission preacher of Topeka. It is the first wedding ceremony Mr. Dolk ever performed in this country. The probate judge questioned his right to perform such ceremonies, but he declared that he was a regular preacher and had that authority. So the probate judge let the matter drop.

It developed that Murphy is a paroled convict. When a person goes to gaol he loses his citizenship. That must be restored to him by a pardon from the Governor. No citizenship pardon has ever been granted him. Not being a citizen, the authorities say it is a question whether he could legally enter into a marriage contract or any other kind of a contract.

The bride says that she knew that Murphy was out on parole when she married him, and that she "took him for better or for worse." She wants to let the marriage stand as legal.

There are two ways to cure the trouble. Either to go into court and annul the marriage, or have the Governor issue a citizenship pardon and let the couple be re-married. The authorities claim that Murphy can be prosecuted for perjury on account of his oath given when he secured the marriage certificate.

There is no law or rule of the parole board which prevents a paroled prisoner from marrying. Still, the general law in regard to marriage requires an applicant to make oath that there are no legal obstacles, and in this case, it is claimed, there were legal obstacles because Murphy could not enter into a legal contract.

The Governor, upon his own motion, can annul the parole and send Murphy back to prison. What will be done, is a question still unsettled by the authorities.

Women

Cannot be Strong and Healthy Unless the Kidneys are Well.

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble.

Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stoney Creek, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night and tried everything without any benefit. Meantime a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from Kidney Disease to try them."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

"Advertising in Newspapers is the Acme of Publicity.

"The Newspaper reaches every home. It is the welcome guest EVENING OR MORNING and is sought and perused thoroughly by each member of the family who is old enough to read. The frequency with which columns of a Newspaper are scanned naturally impresses on the mind---almost indelibly---the matter contained therein which appears often as does the average advertisement.

"The character and general reputation of the publication is of vital importance. The character of the Newspaper, the estimation in which it is held, and the class among whom it circulates should be the points of inquiry, and should have the proper effect in reaching the decision as to which papers are to be used." Newfoundland Events.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 26.—The Legislature will open Wednesday.

Thursday the Newfoundland newspapers will print their issues on the first paper manufactured in this colony from native stock.

W. J. Locke In Divorce Suit.

London, Jan. 26.—W. J. Locke, the novelist, was named as the co-respondent in an undefended divorce suit brought by Percy Close, an engineer, against his wife. A decree was granted the plaintiff.

James McShane Very Ill.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—James McShane, aged 76, harbor master and a minister under Mercier, is dangerously ill of pneumonia. Mr. McShane is probably the best-known man in Montreal.

New York Gets Cheaper Living.

New York, Jan. 26.—Milk, eggs and butter led the procession of receding food prices here yesterday.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The Manitoba Legislature has been summoned to meet on Feb. 10.

Newfoundland has experienced extraordinary spring-like weather during the past week. There is no snow.

Wm. L. Grant, son of the late principal, has been appointed to the new chair of colonial history at Queen's University.

A. W. Campbell, Deputy Minister of Public Works for Ontario, has been appointed Deputy Minister of Railways at Ottawa, to succeed Mr. M. J. Butler.

British Columbia Liberals are reorganizing, and propose to hold a provincial convention during the coming summer and invite Sir Wilfrid Laurier to attend.

Following in the footsteps of citizens and labor unions of United States cities a crusade was started last night by the Toronto labor unions, against the retail meat dealers.

Roman Tahirsky is dead in a New New York hospital. During a rough and tumble fight in a brass foundry yesterday a fellow-employe threw him into a tubful of diluted sulphuric acid.

Despite the fears of many fishing captains that Newfoundland west coast herring fisheries are becoming depleted, the catch for the season now ended shows an increase of 20,000 barrels over last year. The total catch amounts to 84,000 barrels.

The fact that Canada and the United States are engaged in a co-operative scheme for the establishment of an international park of about 50,000 square miles along the backbone of the continent in the two countries was developed in the U. S. Senate yesterday.

Floods In Paris.

Paris, Jan. 26.—The floods have brought disaster to a large part of France. The ordinarily modest and peaceful Seine is now a raging torrent and rising at the rate of more than half an inch an hour. It will continue to rise until to-morrow.

The victims of the flood number more than a hundred thousand, and the monetary loss is incalculable. Thousands of poor are hopelessly ruined and are fleeing to Paris.

In many cases the soldiers have been obliged to use force in compelling the inhabitants to evacuate their homes. Hundreds of them refused to leave, clamoring only for food and drink.

The flood in Paris is invading the compactly built area on either side of the Seine, undermining the residences and public buildings and forcing the evacuation of many houses. Every hour helps to complete the tie-up of the telephone, telegraph and railroads, and in every section gas and electric lights are failing. Paris is practically cut off south and west, and the question of food supplies will soon become menacing. The public relief fund is swelling. President Fallieres heads the list with $4,000. The Rothschilds have given $20,000, the Bank of France, $10,000, and the Banque de Paris et des Pays-Bas $10,000.

Kaiser at French Embassy.

Berlin, Jan. 26.—The Emperor and Empress, Crown Prince Frederick William and Crown Princess, Prince Henry of Prussia and some twenty other German royal personages spent last evening at the French embassy, where they were entertained. Yesterday His Majesty opened an exhibition of French pictures, bronzes and tapestries, loaned from public and private galleries in France to Germany.

This is the first time the Emperor has visited the French embassy since the Algeciras conference.

Famous Dr. Wiley Arrested.

Pittsburg, Jan. 26.—Dr. C. C. Wiley, the famous Thaw alienist, is a bankrupt through that case. He is known the country wide for his sanitary camp exploits in the Spanish war.

He was arrested yesterday for alleged larceny of jewels, the gift of a fiancee, from a woman patient. The theft will probably stop the wedding as well.

Montrealer Arrested.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 26.—Indicted in the District of Columbia on a charge of fraud in connection with the National Trust Co., organized to guarantee stocks and bonds, Samuel Graham, an officer of the company, was arrested at his home in Montreal, yesterday. He agreed to waive extradition. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

New Hotel for Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 26.—The site of the old down-town Carsley store has been sold for $650,000 and a company capitalised at $900,000 has been formed to establish a hotel called the Royal Edward. Frank Gallagher is to be the manager.

Will Sue For $10,000.

Woodstock, Jan. 26.—The parents of the Zuffelts, brother and sister, killed by a C.P.R. snowplow at Beachville, are claiming $10,000 damages from the company. The coroner's jury found that the warning signal had not been given.

Farmer's Fatal Slip.

Kingston, Jan. 26.—The Grand Trunk express, running east on Monday afternoon, killed Henry Orr, a farmer, Will its Holme, Pittsburg County, on a crossing near his house. He leaves a wife and five children.

Democrats Oppose It.

Washington, Jan. 26.—President Taft's federal incorporation bill will meet almost solid Democratic opposition, according to Republican Senators who have canvassed the situation.

Regulate the Bowels

"I have been troubled with constipation for several years, and have tried a great many kinds of pills, as well as medicine from the doctor. Nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. I found the little pills very effective, and I am thankful that at last I have a reliable remedy."

MRS. F. M. DUNKIN, LeRoy, Ills.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills

simply cause the bowels to move in a normal manner, and without the griping effects of cathartics and purgatives. That's why they are so universally used by women and children. The longer they are taken the less are needed. Natural conditions gradually being restored.

Sold by druggists everywhere. If first package does not benefit, your druggist will return your money.

MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Queen's to Teach Colonial History.

Kingston, Jan. 26.—A new chair, that of a course in Canadian and colonial history, is to be established at Queen's at the fall term. William Grant, M.A., son of the late Principal Grant, will be the professor. He is at present lecturer in colonial history at Oxford University.

It is understood that $50,000, promised by Dr. James Douglas of New York, will be utilized for the endowment of the new chair.

Another Mad Dog Scare.

Chatham, Jan. 26.—After Feb. 1 all dogs running at large in the city will have to have collars and tags or they will be shot or impounded. A few days ago a dog in Tilbury went mad and roamed as far as Merlin, where it bit several dogs before it was shot. Fifteen dogs in Merlin have since been shot.

Four school children at the Valetta school were also bitten by this dog.

Will Study Canada's Mint.

New York, Jan. 26.—To study the new mints at Philadelphia and Ottawa, Canada, Edward Rigg, superintendent of the operating department of the English mint in London, arrived here on the steamship Celtic yesterday. The question of fuel is an important one, as they use oil in Philadelphia and Ottawa instead of coke, which is still in use in England.

Four Years and Lashes.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Four years in Kingston penitentiary, and further, that ten days hence he shall receive 15 lashes, and again, at the end of six months, he shall receive yet another 15 lashes. This was the sentence passed upon Harry Morgan, 56 years of age, when he was convicted in the Police Court yesterday morning of an indecent assault upon two little girls, five and six years of age.

Life Imprisonment for Assault.

Sherbrooke, Que., Jan. 26.—After being out three minutes the jury in the case of Williams, charged with assault on a little seven-year-old girl at Stanstead, returned a verdict of guilty. Williams was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Simcoe's New Warden.

Barrie, Jan. 26.—Reeve A. C. Garden of Barrie was elected warden of Simcoe County yesterday afternoon, after a contest in which thirteen councillors participated. Eight ballots were cast.

The new warden is one of the most widely-known men in the Dominion, being vice-president of the National Drug Co. and their traveler in this district.

Extension of Railway Charters.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—The old question of the extension of railway charters without limit came up before the railway committee of the Commons yesterday morning, and upon the suggestion of Mr. Turriff of Assiniboia, a sub-committee was named to revise the rules so as to secure greater safeguards against unlimited extension of charters.

Cattle Prices Lowered.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 26.—Another reduction of ten cents on a hundred pounds was quoted yesterday on all live stock. While the price has been going down steadily at the stock yards, there has been no lowering of retail prices. Eggs fell off six cents.

Chinamen Caught In Potato Car.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 26.—Secreted in a carload of potatoes, five Chinamen were found twenty miles east of Malone by customs officials. They had a stove and wood, several cans of water and baskets of food. The car was billed to Springfield, Mass.
